HARVEY W. PECK.

"The tireless interviewer will at times make the most careful student and practical man say things that will not connect, and which look to those on the inside as if something were overlooked. This is very apparent in the interview with J. C. Sibley, published in an Eastern contemporary, where among other things the popular Pennsylvania breeder compares the relative merits of George Wilkes and Electioneer as follows:

"George Wilkes and Electioneer are sons of Hambletonian, and their dams are both by Clay horses. The dam of George Wilkes produced no other of note, but the dam of Electioneer, to the cover of Messenger Duroc and Middletown, neither of which are considered sires of the highest order, produced, besides Electioneer, seven with records better than 2:30, and another with a record of 2:31, with a strong probability that at least two others will enter the list. To me it seems a reasonable deduction that Electioneer may be expected to excel George Wilkes as a speed producer in about the same ratio as the dam of the one excelled the dam of the other."

To those knowing the facts it is plain that they will not admit of such an inference, for if individual blood lines are of any value George Wilkes was a better-bred horse than Electioneer. And aside from that who knows but that Dolly Spanker would have continued producing foals of as high class as George Wilkes proved had she been spared. The natural order of events, however, shows that she gave her life to her first foal, and that foal proved the greatest son of Hambletonian, both on the turf and in the stud. On the other hand, Green Mountain Maid had sixteen foals, only one of which was by Hambletonian. That seven of them should have entered the 3:30 list is remarkable, and places her in front of all other speed producers; but even with that brilliant array she cannot be pronounced the superior of a mare that produced but one colt, which after a turf career was retired to the stud and founded a greater family of successful performers than can be credited to Electioneer or any of his contemporaries.

George Wilkes has been dead seven years, and from nine seasons in Kentucky his greatness emanates. Electioneer has been twelve years in California, and while not in high favor at Palo Alto during all that time he was always used in the stud. The appearance of Fred Crocker brought him to the front, and since that time his get have been on the move. Time will eventually give him a longer list of performers than Dolly Spanker's son, but more of them will be asked to appear on the Eastern tracks and prove themselves better race horses on the wear-and-tear order like Harry Wilkes, Wilson, Ambassador, Baron Wilkes, Kentucky Wilkes and J. B. Richardson before the admirers of successful campaigners will admit that even in the first remove Electioneer can excel George Wilkes as a sire."

This is in some respects rather a singular Editorial. I am one of those who "know the facts" I think, and I am compelled to say that I do not consider Geo. Wilkes a better bred horse than Electioneer. In fact, I think I shall prove beyond controversy that Electioneer is the better bred of the two, performances and breeding of their immediate ancestors to be the test.

Neither do I consider Geo. Wilkes as great a sire as Electioneer! I mean by this statement his individual get, for all of Electioneer sons are as yet comparatively young, whether or no they will sire speed with the sons of Geo. Wilkes as time goes on, is a proposition that I do not, at this time, wish to enter into. It is sufficient to say that there could be no reason given why they should not. I am however, dealing with the immediate descendants of the two horses.

First, however, let us enter into an investigation of the breeding of these two great horses. (I will state parenthetically, that I am as warm an admirer of Geo. Wilkes as can be found upon any piece of sod that this earth turns to the sun! I shall deal only in facts and written history, which I think shows the preponderance of evidence to favor Electioneer, and the Horseman's editorial to be a mistake.)

Geo. Wilkes was sired by Rysdyks Hambletonian, his dam being Dolly Spanker by Henry Clay, 8, his second dam claimed to be by Baker's Highlander.

It is a well-known fact that the full breeding of this justly celebrated horse was not known until many years after his birth, and then after much tracing his second dam was discovered to be by Baker's Highlander. This point is immaterial at best, for Highlander has never contributed anything to the trotting turf, and so far as I am informed, his blood does not appear in the pedigree of any performer of note.

These two stallions then were sired by the same horse, thus being equal in point of breeding on the sire's side. The dam of Wilkes was by Henry Clay—the dam of Electioneer by Harry Clay, a great grandson of Henry Clay.

From the standpoint of breeding and individual merit, Harry Clay is certainly a superior horse to his great grandsire; just as Director is a better bred trotting horse than his grandsire; just as Guy Wilkes is a better bred trotting horse than his grandsire; just as Stamboul is a better trotting horse than his grandsire.

Henry Clay was sired by Andrew Jackson, a well-known old time trotter. His dam was a mare called Surry, a Canadian. To this mare Surry was attributed the faint-heartedness that for years kept the Clays in the background.

From Henry Clay came Cassius M. Clay, 18; dam Jersey Kate, (dam of the trotter John Anderson.) The horse sired George M. Patchen 2:23. He also sired Neavis Cassius M. Clay Jr., Amos' Cassius M. Clay Jr., Strader's Cassius M. Clay Jr., and Ballard's Cassius M. Clay Jr.

Neaves' Cassius M. Clay Jr. had for a mother a mare by Chancellor, a son of Mambrino. He sired four trotters, among them Harry Clay, 45. This horse Harry Clay made a record of 2:29, and was much the fastest of the Clays. His dam was by Imp. Bellfounder, the "Norfolk trotter," (sire of the dam of Rysdyk's Hambletonian.) Imp. Bellfounder was bred in England and imported in July, 1822. He was sired by Old Bellfounder, his dam being Velocity, by Haphazard, a racing bred horse. This mare Velocity was matched in the year 1806, to trot 16 miles on the Norwich road in an hour, the conditions being that every time the mare should make a break she should turn around. She broke 15 times in the 16 miles, but still won. Bellfounder himself when six years old is claimed to have been matched for 200 guineas to trot nine miles in thirty minutes, which he won easily by 22 seconds. His owner afterwards made a challenge to trot Bellfounder 17½ miles in an hour, but it was not accepted. Suffice it to say that the blood of Imp. Bellfounder is much prized and I consider it assisted Rysdyk's Hambletonian in rising to the summit of equine honors, in a very marked degree.

Harry Clay is one of the noted brood mare sires, having sired twelve mares that have produced twenty trotters. It is a fact that Harry Clay was a faster horse than Henry Clay, that his dam was a better mare, both in breeding and stamina than the Surry mare; Harry Clay's sire was a better bred horse than Henry Clay. He was in the stud but a short time, when he was destroyed in consequence of breaking his leg. He sired the mare Cora that obtained a three-year-old record of 2:37¾, and was afterwards lost in a fire. This record was made many years ago, when a three-year-old that could go that fast was thought a wonder.

We have now reached the grandams of Electioneer and Geo. Wilkes. The latter's grandam has never been claimed to have been a mare of great superiority. It is alleged that she lived—that's all. The grandam of Electionner was Shanghai Mary, a very game mare. Writers of her day claim for her a trial in 2:28. This mare when coupled with Sayre's Harry Clay, produced Green Mountain Maid, a mare with seven 2:30 or better trotters in the list, one in 2:31, one with a one-half mile trial of 1:08. There are at least two others that will get there in time.

But, says the Horseman, the dam of Wilkes died and Green Mountain Maid was bred for many years.

True, but had Wilkes' dam lived and been bred the same as the other mare, would she have produced the trotters the Maid did? The fact that no other mare in the United States has done so, (though many of them are better mares by long odds than Wilkes' dam) is presumtive evidence that she would not!

Let me illustrate. Green Mountain Maid has produced seven trotters, two have died that would have entered the list, and more are knocking at the portal.

Has any other mare by Harry Clay approached this showing?

No! Has any mare by any other stallion approached this showing? No! When this mare then, can show such a list, in addition to Electioneer, what sort of mare are we naturally led to believe her dam must have been? A mare inferior to the grandam of Geo. Wilkes? Well hardly! Figs do not grow upon thistles, nor grapes upon hazel-brush!

If Shanghai Mary had not been a mare of very great excellence and strong individuality, her daughter would not have been the brood mare queen. Or is it a feasible proposition to consider that it "simply happened!"

We will now take the horses as sires.

After as careful a computation as can be had without having the exact facts at hand, it appears that Geo. Wilkes has sired almost twice as many foals as Electioneer. Wilkes stood for years as a public stallion and had access to the best blood of the country.

But very few men in California have bred to Electioneer, and but few outsiders own horses by him. Every one will understand that all of his produce being owned upon one farm precludes giving all his colts as good a chance as they would have were they universally owned throughout California, for various reasons.

Although such is the fact, Electioneer has sired fifty horses that have beaten 2:30, two two-year-olds that made records of 2:30½, while Wilkes, from public service, sired a dozen more from twice the number of colts. It must be remembered that one-third of Electioneer's colts are less than two years old, while the progeny of Wilkes are aged horses. When all the youngsters by Electioneer are developed there is no telling how far, numerically, he will surpass Wilkes.

Electioneer is a much greater sire of extreme speed than Wilkes. To not go too much into detail, he has sired a three year old with a faster record by three seconds than the fastest of Wilkes' offspring.

He has sired a horse with a record of 2.12½ from a thoroughbred mare. No other horse has been able to impart such speed under similar conditions.

He has sired a horse with a record of 2:20 from a thoroughbred mare. No other horse has been equal to the task.

One of his sons sired a yearling that went a mile in 2:31½, the best record for that age.

He has sired nine two-year-olds that have trotted to records from 2:18 to 2:30½.

He has sired eight three-year-olds that have made records from 2:10½ to 2:27½.

As for campaigning, the very fact of nearly all his get being owned by one farm would naturally militate against them as against the get of a horse whose immediate get has been owned for years in almost every State in the Union. California is a comparatively young State—in years at least—and has but an insignificant circuit to trot horses through compared with the vast territory east of the Rocky Mountains, where horses are campaigned from New York to Texas, and for six months of the year.

Not every man can take trotters East, even were they very excellent campaigners, but when some of the Electioneers appear there in the future the Horseman may consider them very fair campaigners. Whenever a stallion's produce have speed enough to win in three straight heats there isn't much opportunity for the "wear and tear" kind to show their good qualities.

Some six years ago the Breeders' Gazette published a half column article on the greatness of George Wilkes. I excerpt the following:

"The fastest of the family, Wilson, 2:16¼, is not by any means the best, and it should not be forgotten that his record was obtained in a race which he lost to Director at Cleveland last summer, and in which he had the help of all the other starters in the race, barring the black stallion. In appearance Wilson is a horse that strikes one favorably, having plenty af size, a well molded body, set on legs that are not bad, and in these respects he has greatly the advantage of most of the family, the chief fault with Wilkes as a sire being the fact that his get come in all sizes, and that none of them were particularly handsome or well proportioned. Lumps, 2:21, a mere pony, is probably the fastes ttrotter of his inches ever foaled. So-So, 2:17¼, on the other hand, is a most ungainly animal, with a head that is almost a deformity. But in the great points of getting a uniform high rate of speed at an early age, Wilkes is, perhaps, the best of modern trotting sires, Electioneer always excepted."

If this was the opinion of the Breeders' Gazette six years ago, what would be its decision now?

A Vermont farmer and his wife on their first visit to the Capital at Montpelier, paused before the statute of Ethan Allen. They gazed long and thoughtfully, and then the silence was broken by the husband: "Gosh, mother, I allus thought Ethan Allen was a horse."

It would seem that Anteeo is pretty well thought of in the East. Mr. L. E. Simmons of Wilkes Lodge, Lexington, Ky., bred the following mares to him last season: Hattie Woodward, 2:15½, by Aberdeen; Eva 2:30¼, by Geo. Wilkes; Anglia by Geo. Wilkes, Lizzie Tracey by Geo. Wilkes; Louise Wilkes by Geo. Wilkes; Bella by Geo. Wilkes; Sallie Jay by Jay Bird; Beulah by Beverly Wilkes.

These mares are among the gilt-edged matrons of the country.

I understand that the Litton's Springs property owned by Mervyn Donahue is to be converted into a horse farm. For the truthfulness of this rumor I will not vouch. In case it proves true. it is to be hoped that Mr. Donahue will endeavor to raise horses of sufficiently good class that he can utilize a portion of them by hitching them to the cars between this place and Point Tiburon. There would be numerous advantages in the new system. First, the horses would make less noise than an engine; second, they wouldn't have to stop to "wood up"; third, and more important than all, they would be faster.

The Science of Horse Breeding.

WRITTEN FOR THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

Few men who have any knowledge of pedigree of race horses will deny that there is a considerable amount of scientific skill required to bring together those strains or elements in the blood of male and female in such a fashion that the chances are greatly in favour of producing a first-class horse from the combination.

The laws of Nature work so mysteriously that the student of horse breeding continually finds himself "tripped up," and it is no exaggeration to say that the pages of the English Stud book fairly teem with blighted hopes and cruel disappointments, indeed, out of the 3,000 or so colts and fillies bred every year, the first-class ones may be counted on the fingers of one hand, while the 3rd, 4th, and 5th to 50th raters make up quite 90 per cent of the year's out-put. This is all the more remarkable, because in England the breeding of race horses is mostly the pastime of wealthy and intelligent men who have every facility for studying the shapes pedigrees and running of successful horses, to say nothing of scores of men of leisure who make it a study of the subject and are always willing to hand over the result of their investigations for experiment. Failures may be traced to many causes, notably a want of skill in nicking, as the hitting off of strains is generally designated amongst breeders, and in nicking the student can only be guided by closely studying the genealogy of celebrated horses, having also due regard to the shape, running, constitution, and temper of the animals. And the term nicking must by no means be taken in the general acceptation of the word as applied by breeders to the blending (through sire and dam) in the offspring of such fashionable strains as "Stockwell," "Touchstone," "Melbourne," etc. The breeder may very often discover that he has two much fashionable blood in his sire, and in such cases he will find it advisable to look around for mares through whose veins run a preponderance of blood considered the reverse of fashionable. The breeding of those two great race horses, "Navigator" and "Trident," is a singular confirmation of this.

"Robinson Crusoe's" blood teems with fashion, having a close double train of Touchstone and one of Stockwell and Melbourne. The majority of the mares in the Terrara stud were bred on similar lines, therefore did not suit him. In the imported mare "Cocoanut" he was fortunate enough to get the extra nick he required. She had three or four strains of Whalebone in combination with such discredited blood as "Nutbourne," "Nabob," "The Nob," "Rattle," etc. To have mated her with a horse equally bred away from fashion would have been to court certain failure. Whereas in the "Robinson Crusoe" nick was found the happy blend which supplied to each those essential qualities which he or she lacked. It will be apparent, therefore, to those who have followed me so far that the very natural outcome of the breeders' experience is the golden rule: "When the right nick is found stick to it." The critic's answer to this will be—How do you account for so many cases of full brothers and sisters being so widely different in point of excellence? As the answer to this would occupy far more space than you could place at my disposal, I propose to touch slightly on only one or two reasonable suggestions as to why we see such brilliant and honest horses (over all distances) as "Chester" and "Richmond," succeeded by such indifferent animals from the same matings. In the case of "Maribyrnong"—Fawn cross—there can be no room for doubt that her 3rd foal, "Bosworth," although a very fair animal, was much inferior to his elder brother "Richmond," while "Palmyra," "Segenhoe," "Warwick," "Astute," "Superb," and "Genesta" and "Montem" dwindled down from second class to no class at all. "Chester's dam, "Lady Chester," may be said to have been, after her first foal, an absolute failure to "Yattendon," as neither "Roodee," "St. George," "Silver Bell," "Monmouth," "Grosvenor," or "Cleveden" ever showed anything better than third to sixth rate form. These two cases have been selected because they are so well impressed on the minds of racing and breeding men, and because, in both instances, the first foal was a pronounced success, the succeeding ones tapering off to absolute inferiority. These remarkable failures of Nature to sustain her representation may be traced to two likely causes, viz.—first, the failure in health of either sire or dam; or secondly, to the probability of impregnation of dam with the sire strains through foal's circulation previous to birth. This latter suggestion may not find acceptance with men who have not studied physiology, yet it is a well known fact amongst scientific men and practical breeders that the female is certainly tainted with the blood of her first mate as evidenced in the markings and peculiarities of the succeeding offspring. Medical evidence is forthcoming of numerous instances of the negro taint showing in the offspring of white men from women who have previously borne children to negroes; and in Blaine's Rural Sports there is a well-authenticated case of a blood mare having been put to a Quagga. The result was an animal with all the markings of the Quagga, and scarcely any mane; and when the dam was subsequently covered by a blood horse the progeny showed almost the same resemblance to the Quagga as her previous foal, and it took several crosses to eradicate the taint. In the face of such strong evidence as this, may it not be quite feasible to suppose that "Lady Chester" became considerabley impregnated with the blood of Yattendon," which filtered through her system from the yet unborn Chester.

If this is admitted, it becomes a comparatively easy matter to believe that each succeeding foal would be so saturated with the infusions of Yattendon as to be rendered far too inbred to race. Indeed, it is not stretching the comparison too far to say that Lady Chester, at the time of her last serving to Yattendon, stood as close in actual affinity to him as though she were his own daughter. How close the relationship might be; could only be determined by knowing the actual amount of his nature absorbed at each foal bearing; but Dame Nature so jealously guards her secrets, that the truth will remain a mystery until some Huxley of the future discovers a method of analysing the virgin blood, and afterwards testing for alien matter. "There are more things, Horatio," etc.

In support of the above theory, note the remarkable likeness often seen between man and wife, in old couples, where the wife has borne a large family. These ideas have been in my mind for some years, though never expressed in print; yet so long ago as 1878, I had a glimmering of what the consequences would be in Lady Chester's case, and wrote to the late E. K. Cox, pressing him to send her to Hawthornden for a change, as the flashy blood of that horse would tone her system down with those strains she (as well as "Yattendon") was very deficient in, viz., the brothers Castrel and Selem. That a dash of this blood was very essential to Yattendon may be noted by looking into the pedigree of First Lady, the dam of his greatest son Grand Flaneur." These strains have been always recognized by English writers (to wit, Nimrod) as soft and flashy; and following out my reasoning it will be seen that, as First Lady was persistently inbred to the two brothers (Castrel and Selem), she would predominate in her first two matings with Yattendon, and throw sprinters, until her system was invigorated and strengthened by the stout Yattendon impregnation, finally culminating in that galloping machine, Grand Flaneur. Thus we have similar causes working out opposite effects in two separate cases. Melos, who ran at the last V. R. C. Meeting in such first-class form, is another remarkable illustration of this interesting phase of breeding. His dam Melody (by the Barb from Mermaid by Fisherman) was put for four successive years to Goldsborough. One of the progeny, a chestnut colt The Broker, performed well as a two-year-old, and indeed won the Adelaide Leger; but, in point of racing excellence of good looks, he cannot be named in the same day with Melos, his full brother born after Melody had in the meantime thrown a colt and filly to The Drummer (imported). And I ask any impartial man to say whether Melos, in color and markings, is not more like that horse than his own sire Goldsborough. To my mind, the secret of his success lies in the strains deposited in the dam's system through The Drummer's stock, especially as Goldsborough's greatest success have always been with mares carrying a strain of Stockwell, so closely related to The Drummer.

In placing the foregoing remarks on paper, I do not profess to have made a discovery, because the physiological phase of the question has long been known to scientific men and observant studmasters, and yet, perhaps, have never properly realized its effects upon stock. I wish, therefore, to draw the attention of the individual engaged in the business of raising stud stock, to the fact that "things are not always what they seem;" or, to employ an illustration, it is quite probable that the Blair-Athol mare which has been bought expressly (and at a big figure) to nick with your stud horse, may, if previously covered by Kelpie for six or seven successive seasons, have retained only a very small fraction of that Blair-Athol force which you are seeking to utilise. And to the disappointed studmaster (as to myself) it may explain the cause of many a failure where all apparently necessary elements of success had been carefully brought together.

SIDNEY, Dec., 27, '89. C. BRUCE LOWE.

I take pleasure in saying that when my horses were sick with what was called lung fever, last Spring, I gave Simmons Liver Regulator (liquid) in one ounce doses, twice a day. They all recovered speedily.—E. T. MICHENER, Proprietor Michener's Express, Jenkintown, Pa.

A valuable horse of mine was taken with colic, and, after using all means available, the thought struk me (as I had no salts) to use Simmons Liver Regulator. One half-hour after giving it he had an operation and was cured. I think it valuable information to yourselves and stock raisers.—W. A. HALLAND, Jessusville, Ga.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horse and to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standard horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whose sire or dam is a standard animal.

Noonday.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I was in the East last fall with a view of buying a stallion to stand in place of Fallis (2:23), which I sold to the Riverside Farm, Bridgeport, Conn., but failing to find one that filled the requirements I thought a stallion should have for this coast, having in view more particularly an idea of getting one with a Belmont cross on his sire's side and a Pilot Jr. cross on his dam's side. My attention was called to the high-bred young trotting stallion Noonday, by Wedgewood (2:19), by Belmont, the sire of Nutwood (2:18¾), first dam Noontide (2:20½), by Harold, the sire of Maud S. (2:08¾), second dam Midnight, the dam of Jay Eye See (2:10), by Pilot Jr., third dam by Lexington, the sire of the dam of Ansel (2:20). I went to see him and found him just the stallion I had been looking for, being almost a fac-simile as regards size, color, form and gait of Goldleaf (2:19) by Nugget (2:26¾), a son of Wedgewood (2:19) that I saw trot last fall at Lexington one of the best contested races I ever saw in a large field of horses, in which he won in 2:19½ 2:19 and 2:19, but found Noonday was not for sale, so I have procured a lease of him for the season of 1890, after which he will return to Kentucky. I wish to call the particular attention of horsemen to this royal bred young trotting stallion, as his breeding is the cross we require on this coast, and it will be the only chance to breed to get this royal and game blood that a first-class racehorse requires. Yours, SACRAMENTO, Jan. 1, 1890. F. P. LOWELL.

The Canon.

The canon is of great importance, in fact is the key note to the judging of the limbs of a horse, and too much attention cannot be paid to them when purchasing. Henry Tweedley, M. R. C. V. S. of Buffalo, had a very interesting description of the canon in the Horse World, which we herewith copy, giving a specially prepared plate showing good and bad limbs, so that the reader can understand the Doctor's instructive essay without any trouble:

It now remains to describe the examination of the canon as to soundness, concluding with a few remarks on the diseases that most frequently affect this part. In proceeding to the examination of a horse for soundness, the veterinary surgeon derives the greatest advantage from employing a method; that is to say, he follows a certain routine. It is only by employing a method that the various affections can be detected with the least chance of error.

The method usually employed is to begin at the head, on the near side; then the front of the fore limb is examined; the position is then reversed, and the back of the limb considered; proceeding along the trunk, down the front of the hind limb; then back of the limb, finishing at the hind foot. In examining these parts the fingers are chiefly employed. In all examinations of parts we must, first of all, be aware of the anomalies that are usually to be found there. To confine our remarks to the canon, the method of procedure is as follows: The examiner stands near the shoulder, looking toward the same direction as the horse; he then bends down and passes his thumb and fingers down the front of the canon bone, the thumb grasping one side and the two fore fingers the other. In this way any unevenness in the canon bone, even the slightest, can be detected; what we are looking for at this part is usually a splint; the slightest splint is easily detected, and it may be added that any unevenness on this part, of a bony nature, is termed a splint. Frequently, also, we find the entire canon bone enlarged and thickened, this being very frequent in young horses that have been worked excessively; this is an affection of the nature of splint, and consists of an inflammation of the covering of the bone (periosteum). In examining the front of the canon bone for splint, particular attention should be given to that part situated immediately below the knee, as a splint at that situation may be very easily passed over. Splints are more commonly found on the inner surface of the bone. On the front of the fetlock, and sometimes extending a considerable way up the canon, we observe a considerable swelling, soft and fluctuating in consistency; this is of the nature of a wind-gall, and consists of a distention of the mucous sac situated under the extensor tendon of the foot as it passes over the fetlock joint. The examiner then turns and faces the opposite direction and proceeds to examine the back of the canon. The previous anatomical description will show clearly the parts we have now to examine; these are the canon bone, the suspensory ligament and the back tendons. We invariably proceed to a second examination of the canon, as we can in this position examine more minutely the small canon bones, the parts where splints are more usually found. We proceed exactly in the same manner as before, but here I have to refer to my previous remarks on the button of the small canons which, as I said, when excessively developed may easily be mistaken for splints. Having examined the canon bones and found everything correct, we next pass our fingers down the suspensory ligament and observe that it is quite even, with no trace of thickening; also observe its tense, firm feel; consider how it stands in relation to the canon bones and back tendons. Lastly, we proceed to the examination of the back tendons, and it is probably here that most uncertainty will be felt. The back tendons, as I have previously mentioned, should stand out clearly and distinctly, and be, at least inferiorly, at a certain distance from the suspensory ligament, like this latter, in a sound state they should be perfectly clear and distinctly perceived by their feeling of denseness and rigidity to the touch; they should likewise be perfectly even from immediately below the knee, till they pass over the fetlock joint. While it is the very simplest matter to detect an extensive injury to the back tendons, it is not always easy to the novice to distinguish slight affections of this apparatus. A horse, for example, is placed before you for examination; you find him, perhaps, standing a little straighter on the limbs than you would like, and at the same time you find the back tendons are not so distinctly perceived, but possibly a little thickened or stocked. In this case, how are you to decide whether there is a serious defect in the tendons, or whether this connection is only transient, perhaps the result of excessive labor? In proceeding to examine the condition of the back tendons, the method we employ is as follows: As mentioned previously, we run our fingers down the tendons, and on observing any thickening present, we grasp the part firmly between the thumb and forefingers and compress the tendons as tightly as possible. When there is the least pain present, the animal at once shows it by elevating the limb, and when the pain is excessive and the pressure be continued, the animal rears off both fore limbs. In this manner we can detect the very slightest pain in the tendons, and according to the amount of pressure requisite to evince these symptoms, so great is the pain in the part. I may add that the part requiring most attention is that situated immediately below the knee, as a slight affection may there exist and not be easily noticed on examination. Of course any excessive pain in the tendons is accompanied by lameness. But even with the lameness present you may have some difficulty in telling whether the cause resides in the tendons or not.

A word of warning may be necessary. It does not follow that although the back tendons are swelled and pain is manifested on pressure, as above directed, that the back tendons are necessarily diseased; and here I may remark that the disease most affecting the back tendon is "sprain" or "strain," and it may be necessary to tell how this may be distinguished. The back tendons are sometimes swelled and painful on pressure, whilst in reality they are not at all diseased. This swelling may proceed from disease situated in quite another part. For instance, a horse may be pricked with a nail; this causes a considerable inflammatory effusion that may mount up along the back tendons and lead to the belief that the tendons are affected, whilst this is not so; or an animal may receive an injury to the region of the fetlock with similar results. How, then, are we to distinguish a sprain of the back tendons? In sprain of the tendons the swelling is limited to a certain part of the tendon and is frequently well circumscribed, the pain being only felt in the region of the affection, whilst in swelling of the back tendons symptomatic of disease residing in another part, the swelling is diffused all along the tendon, this latter being painful to pressure over all its extent. This simple distinction will, as a rule, be sufficient to differentiate these affections. If I might give a valuable hint to those who have followed me in these remarks, I would impress on you that in every case of lameness, no matter if you think you have discovered sufficient to point to the seat of disease, have the shoe taken off at once and the foot thoroughly examined. This is a rule that even veterinary surgeons frequently neglect, and a short story to show its importance may be of service. A horse whilst at work near a house that was being erected, fell over into some excavation that was proceeding. On being taken out he was found to be so excessively lame that he could not walk. The veterinary surgeon diagnosed an injury to the shoulder; the animal was taken to his infirmary, the shoulder fomented and afterwards a strong blister was applied to the shoulder. At the end of six weeks he was found to be as bad as ever, and on a more minute examination being made, a splinter of wood was found which had penetrated the sole of the foot and had remained there all the time. The splinter abstracted, with subsequent attention, he recovered immediately.

As an adjunct to the above I have to say, do not believe too readily when you are told that your horse is lame in the shoulder; I care not who it may be that says it. This region, as I have elsewhere remarked, is the invariable resort of the ignorant, and hundreds of horses have been tortured for disease of the shoulder when no disease was there present. When teaching students, I have been in the habit of telling them not to believe in shoulder lameness. By this I do not mean it to be inferred that shoulder lameness does not exist; but I do say that when it does exist there is usually no difficulty in detecting it. Frequently people point to an atrophy, a wasting of the muscles of the shoulder, as evidence of disease existing at that part, but this is no proof that such is the case, as lameness of any part of the limb, if existing for any length of time, is invariably accompanied by this wasting of the muscles, due to diminished action of these muscles.

A still more common affection of the region of the canon is that commonly termed "windgall." At the present day, I need hardly say, this designation is entirely misleading, windgall being simply an exasperated collection of synovia in the sheaths of the tendons. This is in health the pathology of most of those soft, fluctuative swellings found on various parts of the frame, rejoicing in the names of thoroughpins, capped hock and elbow, etc. I will conclude the description of the region of the canon with a few remarks on the diseases most commonly affecting it. These, as I have said, are splint, sprain and windgalls.

Splints are characterized externally by the relief which they form under the skin. They are accompanied or not by lameness, according to the date of their origin and the sense in which they are developed. At the beginning of their formation they always cause manifest lameness, because then the bones are the seat of a pretty intense inflammatory action. But later this lameness may disappear, although the splint may have acquired a pretty large development. The lameness arising from a splint is usually only permanent when the bony tumor is situated on the margin of the articulation between the knee and canon bone. I have already pointed out the necessity of examining this part, more particularly for splint, as owing to the natural prominence of the knee, that formed by a splint is liable to be overlooked. Another position in which splint causes persistent and often obscure lameness, is when it is situated within or on the inside of the small splint bones, in which case, as will at once be observed by those who have studied the previous anatomical sketch, it produces pain by pressing on the suspensory ligament. In both of these cases even a very small splint may produce an intense and persistent lameness.

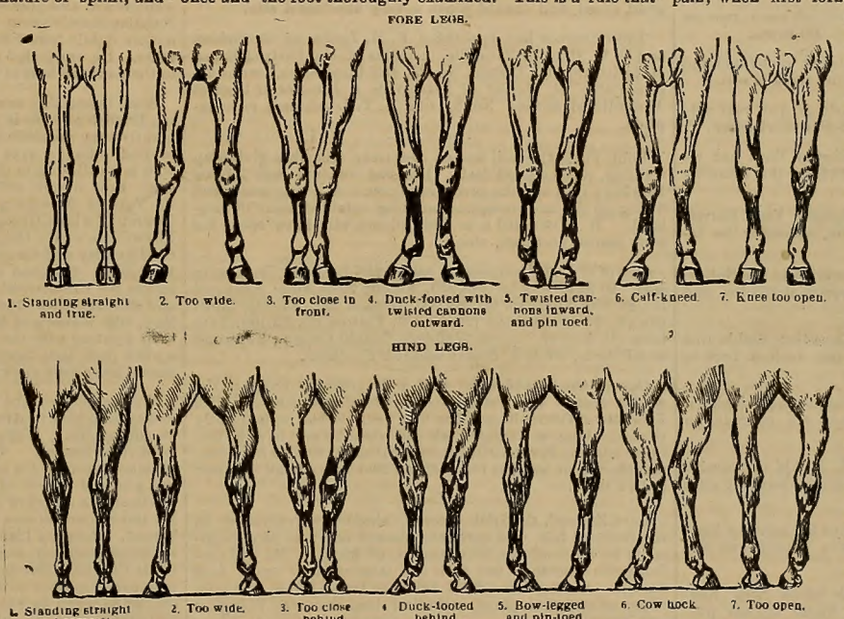
Splint is more commonly developed on young animals, owing to the fact that active growth is going on in the bones at that period; still, old horses are not exempt from it.

The treatment for splint is to apply cold applications for a few days, and afterwards blister with biniodide of mercury ointment, 1 part of mercury to 6 or 8 of lard, or vaseline. Should this not be successful, firing, by means of the pointed irons, may be resorted to.

To detect whether a splint is the cause of lameness, by pressing firmly with the fingers upon the part it will cause pain; when first forming, the splint has not the hard, bony feel it afterward possesses. The lameness of splint is also characteristic. A horse lame from a splint will be found to walk tolerably sound, but when he is forced to trot he is found very lame. In other words, the lameness observable in the trot is out of proportion to that noticed in the walk. Frequently also the horse points—a pretty good index that the lameness is situated under the knee.

I have already sufficiently indicated the means of detecting a sprain of the back tendons. The lameness from a newly produced sprain is very evident, but after the acute inflammation is passed, the lameness greatly lessens. With regard to the treatment of sprains, I have only to add—do not allow ignorant blacksmiths and farriers to apply their nostrums, rubbing the part with hot vinegar and such like, but at once have it attended to by the veterinarian, and this is the more urgent the longer the injury has existed. The reason of the above advice is this—if the horse be allowed to go for any considerable time suffering from a sprain, he will invariably end by becoming knuckled over at the fetlock, and when this takes place to any extent, the horse is almost useless. The cause of this is easily explained; owing to the pain of the tendons, the horse raises his heel and frequently stands on his toe, this continuing for some time; changes take place in the relations of the tendons, changes which become permanent and are equivalent to a shortening of the tendons, although this, contrary to what is frequently taught, does not, and, indeed, cannot actually take place.

Changes at the same time take place in the hoof, the heels not being used as before, grow much faster and deeper, thus they tend to contract, and the whole bearing in the foot being greatly altered changes take place in the hoof, which are likewise irremediable. These are the reasons why a sprain should be at once attended to, and those changes frequently do not require very long to be produced. If the owner wishes to undertake the treatment himself, let him apply cooling lotion for two days, such as Grulard's extract, and apply a Cantharides blister, one part of Cantharides to six of lard and vaseline. This blister may be repeated in a fortnight—six week's rest will be necessary to complete the cure. In very heavy draught horses suffering from sprain the application of the actual cautery, together with a blister, is followed by the happiest results. Innumerable means have been tried for the despersion of those swellings, termed windgall, counter-irritation in some form or other, forming the basis of them all. Knowning that such is the case, the application of the biniodide or the oleate of mercury should form the best of preparations, and this I have little hesitation in say they do. The biniodide of mercury can be made as above directed for splint, the oleate may be purchased in the oleate of mercury cum morphia 10 per cent. A small quantity of these may be applied daily until a scurf is formed; intermit for a few days until the parts regain their usual appearance applying lard or oil in the interim, then apply the treatment as before; this may be continued as long as the swelling exists. One of the best means of treating some of these synovial enlargements is to withdraw the excess of fluid by means of an aspirator, and afterwards apply the ointments as above directed. This however requires a competent vetinary surgeon as the operation requires knowledge which can only be applied by such.



TURF AND TRACK.

W. Lakeland is training Fordham at present.

£10,000 will be added to next year's Melbourne Cup.

Longfish has been fired. He has a badly bowed tendon.

Mr. McLaughlin distributes fines and suspensions with a lavish hand.

Garrison is said to have refused an offer of $8,000 from the Dwyers.

Capt. Franklin (Kennesaw Farm) is said to have a slashing sister to Stuyvesant.

R. Tucker, Nashville has bought the yearling brother to Madstone, for $2,500.

Jas. Carter, ex-trainer for J. K. Megibben, trains for Ruddy Bros. next season.

J. B. Haggin has no jockey engaged, and may possibly trust to disengaged riders.

Budd Doble, 2:13½, will be offered for sale on Feb. 8th at Abdallah Park, Cynthiana.

Fitzpatrick is mentioned as McLaughlin's successor with the flag at Guttenberg.

Axtell's apartments at Terra Haute when completed will be the most luxurious in America.

Five hundred pounds even was bet on Surefoot, Le Nord, Heaume and Riviera, mixed for the English Derby.

E. J. Baldwin's $5,000 bet that he would not see a race on an Eastern track was probably less than 5,000 cents.

The old half-mile track at Clifton is being renovated and will be used to exercise on when the regular track is soft.

Naturally one hears of many fast yearlings (two year olds now). Barbee is said to have the best in New York State.

Secretary Brewster is elated. Washington Park has received 132 entries, to Coney Island's 129 for the Friendly Stakes.

Baron Alphonse de Rothschild has engaged Fred Barrett to ride on Sundays in France, next season, whenever he requires him.

Secretary Lawrence has attached a codicil to the Suburban to the effect that all horses handicapped at 126 lbs. and over escape all penalties.

Matt Feakes will probably train the Canadian Stable this season W Hendrie Jr., having made a trip to New York to make arrangements with him.

The English sporting papers say, despite their looks, if Matt Dawson makes a move, tons of money will pour in on the Australian colts for the Derby.

E. Rossiter, who rode Robert the Devil, in his memorable Derby against Ben d'Or, died in an asylumn in Germany after riding there for the last two years.

Congressman W. L. Scott is looking out for another English stallion. Rayon d'Or has proved a success and Mr. Scott should secure another bargain.

Captain S. S. Brown will remove all his stock from Kentucky to Brownsville, La Fayette Co., where he has purchased 2,000 acres for a breeding farm.

August Sharpe, of Louisville, Ky., sells in the Woodard sale, Electrotype, five years old, by Electioneer out of Addie, dam of Woodnut 2:16¼, and Manon 2:21.

The Hough Bros. have secured Day—who is rapidly recovering—for next season. It is said Garrison offered his services, but his terms were too exhorbitant.

Milton Young has paid James Galway $7,500, for the stallion Macduff, ten years old, by imp. Maccaroon out of Jersey Lass by imp King Ernest, grandam by Australian.

The American horse show lately held in Chicago was only a superficial success, resulting in a loss of $16,000. The Directors are said to have displayed very little business instinct.

Col. Stryker of Springfield is in hard luck. Only a few weeks ago he lost two horses by fire at Louisville, and last week his stallion Monon (Nutwood—Verbena, by Princeps) died of lockjaw.

It is said that Chev. Ginistrelli has only to name a price for Signorina and the nitrate king (Col. North) will sign the cheque. But the Chevalier is thoroughbred and money cannot influence him.

George Kinney's book for 1890, is full at $150, consequent on the form shown by his youngsters last season. John Happy (his full brother), at Rancho Del Paso, is showing great promise as a sire.

Abercorn won the Metropolitan stakes at the A. J. C. meeting and on the same afternoon Mr. White ran one, two for the Derby and wound up by taking the Oaks with a sister to Abercorn called Spice.

August Belmont, W. L. Scott, Pierre Lorillard, Ben Ali Haggin, A. J. Cassatt, John Brewster and other prominent racing men, in a recent article in the N. Y. Spirit, are all in favor of more long distance races.

W. R. Brasfield & Co., among other stock, will offer Elected 7598, 5 years old, by Electioneer out of Cora by Don Victor, and Commoner, 4 year old stallion by Electioneer, dam Mollie Cobb by General Benton.

Senator Hearst and E. J. Baldwin head the list of entries to the Chicago end of the Friendly Stakes with six each, while Longfellow enjoys the pride of having nine of his get entered. Billet is second, with seven.

Rudolph, the winner of the Caulfield Cup, is by Martini Henry out of Rusk by Brown Bread out of Lady Sophia. Senator Hearst's imported Borbus is by Darebin, dam Sophietina, who is a full sister to Rusk.

Experiments are being made in Germany with paper horse shoes. Rubber has not been found practicable to replace metal horse shoes with, but paper is said to solve the puzzle. It wears rough for one thing, and is an assurance against slipping.

A new quadruple telegraph board was used for the first time at Kempton Park a few months ago. It indicates the placed horses on four sides, and worked so well that it is likely to become generally adopted on the English racecourses.

The winter edition of Ruff's Guide shows that the yearling sales in England last year had a greater average, greater total, more stallions bred, and more yearlings sold than in any of the past five years. 662 yearlings by 189 sires averaged 300 guineas.

The Langtry Farms' mare Miss Josephine, by Struan, dam Maid of Harris by Flageolet, granddam by Adventurer, slipped a colt foal by Friar Tuck (Imp). With the double Newminster also and treble Touchstone cross, the colt should have proved invaluable.

The Hon. T. J. Megibben has purchased imported Moccasin by Macaroni, dam Madam Straus by King Tom, and will use him in the stud. Moccasin covered a few mares at Rancocas prior to going to Canada and got several winners, among them being Amazon and Disdain.

Wilber Smith, who was in town last Monday, says Thapsin is improving but is not yet well enough to be removed. By the way, Wilber has charge of Al Farrow, who was attached by the Sheriff for a debt of $1600 owed by the new owner, W. H. E. Smith, to the Sonoma Bank.

Chinn & Morgan have leased from Charles H. Maguire of New York the services of the stallion Fond du Lac, by Glengarry—Hop (dam of Kirkman), and will use him in their stud near Harrodsburg, Ky. Fond du Lac was a horse of great speed, and should prove a very successful sire.

The Governor has appointed F. M. Loeber of St. Helena and L. W. Buck of Vacaville members of the District Board of Agriculture for District No. 25, vice themselves, terms expired; also, R. McKay of Placerville a Director of District Agricultural Society No. 8, vice A. T. Leachman, term expired.

Robt. Peck, the well known ex-trainer, has since giving up training, raced a good deal. His last venture was leasing Howbury Hall and the surrounding land on a long lease, and fitting up the most complete breeding establishment in England. It is situated near Bedford and will have room for sixty mares, yearlings, etc.

One of the most successful sales ever held was the Dwyer sale. 21 head sold for $43,950. Among them were: Kenwood (2), $6,150; Fordham (4), $5,900; Oregon (3), $4,000; Meriden (3), $3 500; Printer (2), $3,250; Folsom (2), $3,100; Tayiston (3), $3,000. George Walbaum bought Oregon, Kenwood and Folsom, while S. Emery secured Fordham.

One of the best planned and well executed coups of the winter season was Peter Weber's Christmas handicap with Vendetta at Guttenberg. The four year old had been quietly worked along at Jerome Park and when he got in at 87 lbs. Peter and the Fordhamites thought it about time to cut loose, and though he went to the post at 30–1 every book was said to be a loser.

Lord Zetland, the Irish viceroy, should revive racing in the Emerald Isle, and certainly should not lose any popularity by his fondness for the sport of kings. He will probably run a horse or two with the famous Aske spots next season. Among his effects taken to Ireland were the gold cups and racing trophies, including those won by Voltigner and Vedette.

The English Royal Commission after considering all the evidence offered with regard to hereditary diseases or malformations has decided that any of the following are sufficient for disqualification, roaring, whistling, ringbone, unsound feet, navicular disease, spavin and cataract. Curbs, as will be noted are not included in the list.

It is probable that the bookmakers who do business at the winter tracks, and especially those who have held stands at Elizabeth, will be forced to combine at an early date and fight a common enemy. They have sustained some heavy losses of late by the payment of forged or bogus tickets. The common enemy they are called upon to battle with is a gang who have evidently joined hands for the purpose of swindling the pencillers.

D. A. Honig recently selected out Jakie Toms as about the worst plug he had in his stable, and desiring to compliment his friend and fellow trainer renamed him James McCormick. Not to be outdone in these little delicate attentions, J. H. McCormick, in selling General Boulanger recently, stipulated as a clause of the sale that he should be renamed Dan Honig, and threw off $25 of the purchase money for the fulfilment of the agreement.

The list of winning jockeys in Austria-Hungaria is headed by Busby who was once attached to the Ashgill stable, and the rider of Thorn in some of his races. Rawlinson stands second, W. Smith third and H. Huxtable fourth, those immediately following the horsemen mentioned being C. Jones, G. Bell and W. Wyatt. E. Rossiter was successful on twelve occasions, and A. Lemaire, Goodway and C. Bowman scored nine, five and four wins respectively.

Would it not be a seasonable time for the various racing organizations, Los Angeles, Fresno, San Jose, Blood Horse, Sacramento and others to come to some arrangement by which the same starter could be employed and paid for the whole of next season. This would give the official a chance to effect good starts and obtain control of the boys and at the same time have some knowledge of the horses. As matters stand now anyone is starter pro-tempore, a state of things which exists nowhere but in California.

L. D. Parker, Secretary of the National Breeders' Association, is said to be very much against what are called "in-cup" records, and thinks the Board will decide to allow only horses that have trotted in 2:30 in an actual race to enter the standard list.

Ex-Governor Bowie, President of the Maryland Jockey Club, in a letter issued to the members of one of our oldest racing associations, states that there will be no more racing under their management at Pimlico. The reason given is that they could not afford money to draw large fields with so much racing going on all through the winter. Baltimore is not to be without a meeting though, for the Maryland Agricultural and Mechanical Association have decided to hold a spring meeting and have trotting in the fall.

An incident showing the power of memory in a horse is told of the great trotting stallion Almont. His disposition was of the most kindly nature, and he would permit any one to stroke his glossy hide and play with him. One day his groom struck him severely and was discharged for so doing. Almont showed no change, but more than two years after, when the groom returned, he suddenly became vicious and would not let the groom come near him. He evidently remembered the groom and the blow of two years before.

It has been calculated that the American turf gives employment to 50,000 people and indirectly assists 50,000 more to a livelihood. The thoroughbred stallions and brood mares on the great stock farms are valued at $6,000,000 and the sons and daughters of these stallions and brood mares earned above $2,000,000 more during the past season, the value of the stock now employed for racing being valued at $7,000,000 while the the capital invested in race tracks and stables is $6,000,000. The stock farms embrace 140,000 acres of the finest land in the country, and last year the yearlings sold footed up to $1,000,000, while the the attendance at race courses numbered over 3,500,000.

The Sporting Chronicle says: A great point of difference between English and Australian sportsmen is that the latter seldom, if ever, shoe their horses; and Mr. White's colts, Kirkham and Narellan, who are now at Newmarket, will run next season without shoes. Australian breeders aim at size, combining speed with strength. Remembering this, they invariably choose a limestone foundation for their pasture land. They are also believers in strong bracing air, and as a consequence the large racing establishments, Mordialloc and Williamstown, are close to the sea. Both are bright chestnuts, well grown, and possessed of all the qualities of racehorses. Narellan stands about 15½ hands, while Kirkham, who is a more lightly-boned horse than Narellan, is fully half a hand taller. He was foaled on January 24, 1887, and is expected to turn out the best of the two.

Some interesting news about the "wintering" of the leading English jockeys is given by a London contemporary. Evidently they are sliding into society, for John Watts has been invited to have a week or two in Cheshire with Lord Dudley, who is hunting from the neighborhood of Tarporley this season. Fred Barrett will put in his off time with The Baron in the Vale of Aylesbury, with an occasional day with Mr. Lowndes; whilst George Barrett, when he is not with the Fitzwilliam or the Oakley on their best side, will hunt with the Pytchley and Quorn, and probably for a week or two in Yorkshire. Sam and Tom Loates, who share the same quarters in the Exeter-road, are hardly so aspiring in their tastes, and although they may have a day on the grass occasionally, they, like Warne and Rickaby, will do the principal part of their hunting with the Newmarket and Thurlow, a two-day a week pack that deserve supporting, and that so far this season have been showing excellent sport.

William Archer, the father of Fred Archer, the famous jockey, and Charlie Archer, the well known trainer, died on December 5th. William Archer was, in his younger days, a good rider himself. One of his first engagements was to Alderman Copeland for one year, renumeration for the year £6 and a suit of livery. In 1843, he went to Russia to ride for the Czar at a salary of £100 per annum and all expenses paid. He stayed two seasons and as the climate did not suit, returned. Between 1849 and 1858, he was in grand form across sticks and country, winning the Grand National in 1858, on Little Charlie. His death removes one of the old-time horsemen contemporary with Tom Oliver, Jack Mytton and others, while when he was born Sam Chifney, Buckle, Robinson and others were in full swing, his reminiscences of them being particularly interesting.

The New York Spirit of the times, in its carefully arranged and exceptionally interesting Christmas number has among other readable and instructive articles, one entitled "Some Foreign Horse Dealers." The London, Provincial French and German dealers are mentioned, but where is the Irishman? Certainly he is entitled to a place for his blarney, while as a horse trader he is about the deadest of the whole profession. At home his colts are all out of mares that were leppers sure, while one cannot get a horse that has not Irish Birdcatcher blood in him—if you believe Paddy. And when he gets to a fair—well, if you beat him, why, you will have earned it. All Yorkshire men have heard the tale of Paddy S——, who went to Howden fair with twenty head, and one long pedigree written out. A well known hunting and steeplechasing farmer bought (Paddy said he gave him them) a five and a six year old, own brothers, after two day's dickering, and put the pedigree in his pocket. "Hould on a bit," said Paddy, "How am I to sell the other eighteen if you take the bit of paper wid yez?"

"There is," says "Borderer," in Baily's Magazine, "one thing which now stares all breeders in the face, more clearly, perhaps, than it ever has done before, and this is that the value of a good sire is, in these days, something marvellous. It is suicide to allow the foreigners to buy and carry off a well-bred and sound horse before he has had a fairly good trial in his own country, where his value most certainly is double what it is in any other country in the world. We have suffered in years gone by from this haste to sell—Buccaneer and The Flying Dutchman to wit; and whether we have done wisely in parting with Ormonde, roarer though he be, has yet to be proved. Personally, I think the Duke of Westminister was right, for there will always be the possibility that the tendency may be reproduced in Ormonde's stock. Nothwithstanding this, I unhesitatingly say that there are fewer roarers among our fashionable sires of to-day than I have ever known before. This is a healthy sign. Let us stick to it." Borderer might have mentioned Gleneoe, Leamington, Bonnie Scotland, Prince Charlie, Glenelg and several other stallions who have left their mark here, while Fisherman, Traducer and Musket in Australia have left undying traces of their merit, two of Traducer's sons, Sir Modred and Cheviot, being now in this country.

Hamliton is visiting St. Louis now.

Hindoocraft has undergone a slight blistering.

Kilkenny is another winner by George Kinney.

H. Blaylock has signed with the Beverwyck Stable.

Banker, 2:26½, is said to be ringing in South America.

F. Walbaum about won Oregon out last week at Guttenberg.

Firenzi is looking wonderfully well now, having wintered nicely.

Did Senaton Hearst ever say he would give $250,000 for Sunol?

The New York Jockey Club now has over eleven hundred members.

Mr. J. A. Morris has built a new stable of 28 stalls outside the Brooklyn Track.

S. W. Street has named the Powhattan—Call Duck, two-year-old Mohican.

The erstwhile Plunger, Walton, is back again in Philadelphia, hotel keeping.

Good pole horses are in great demand East. The record is liable to be lowered next season.

The Belair Jockey Club, Montreal, Canada, has decided to admit the public to the track free.

Robt. Steele of Philadelphia expects to give Antevolo a record of 2;14 or better next season.

William McMahon has purchased his son-in-law Garrison's interest in all the horses jointly owned by them.

Nashville claims the second week in June for their Spring meeting, which is the next week to Terre Haute.

Brown Dick has a two-year-old brother to Outbound, who is said to be better at his age than Protection was.

The latest report 'in re' Garrison is that he, Pittsburgh Phil and two or three of that ilk sail for Europe to-day.

Mr. Marcus Daly claims for his colors a copper colored jacket and cap, probably in memory of the Anaconda Mine.

Messrs. Weatherby say that Davenport was sold for export, price, 3,000 guineas, and not 4,000 as was generally circulated.

Mr. B. C. Murray still owns Pontico, the half brother to Pontiac, although he ran several times lately in J. J. Dwyer's name.

Johnny Corlett the well known editor of the 'Pink Un" has a high opinion of the Australian canditates for Classic honors.

The Chicago Stable removed to Lexington and were turned over by B. J. Johnson to Leigh & Kiley, Mr. Hankins' new partners.

A colt by Bermuda, 2:20½, dam Baby Mine, 2:27¼, is said to have paced an eighth in 22½ seconds when five and a half months old.

Starter Caldwell set Horton down for the year, Lewis and Blaylock for the rest of the day, and Farren for life last week at Guttenberg.

J. B. Todd, a prominent Lexington horseman, took a lot of horses to Central America and thinks of staying there, the prospects are so encouraging.

Lottery, formerly Lothair, has been re-named Jim Irwin. His owner, Mr. E. R. Griffiths, has also changed Jack Homer's name (formerly Wheat) to Ed Cole.

Mr. W. Lakeland has returned Peg Woffington to her owner, Mr. George Clay, Balgowan Stock Farm, Ky. Mr. Lakeland had a lease of her running qualities.

Spokane got loose on the Louisville track, and while galloping about stepped on some broken glass, but is said to be not much worse, although the cuts festered.

H. R. H. the Prince of Wales has sent seven yearlings (two now) to John Porter, Kingsclere to be trained for next season. They were raised on the Sandringham estate.

While the horses were at the post for the first race at Clifton last Saturday, Cullen on King Arthur had his ankle fractured by Adonis, who let out savagely with both hind feet.

W. R. Brasfield and J. W. Samuels have leased four hundred acres near Lexington, Ky., and will have a trotting breeding farm with Bonnie McGregor, 2:13½, as premier stallion.

George Middleton, the well known Chicagoan, offers to match Jack 2;15, who is at present in Fresno in Doble's string, for from $5,000 to $15,000 against any trotter in the world.

Two well known English racing men, the Duke of Montrose and his brother-in-law, Lord Houghton, left England for the Cape of Good Hope. They will stay a short while there.

Walter Gilbey, who is one of the most extensive breeders of heavy draught horses in England, has had a heavy loss in the death of his Shire stallion Spark, who cost him 800 guineas a few years ago.

The New York Sportsman almost surpasses itself in its Christmas number. Among other interesting features is a striking portrait of J. H. Goldsmith, who was the leading driver out East last season.

C. W. Williams in his interesting article in the Chicago Horseman, on Axtell, says he could not show better than a four-minute gait as a yearling, further that he never trotted a trial and his best work-out was in 2:27.

The local pool rooms are said to have been done up again all round by the sure thing combination who tapped the wires last Tuesday and backed King William for the 4th race at Guttenberg at tens heavily after they received the result.

During 1889, Mr. William Astor has lost (dead) the stallion Baden Baden, a suckling by Kingston (imp)—Aranza, a suckling by Kingston (imp)—Prude, a suckling Baden Baden—Naiad, and the mare Australind (Australian—Dolly Carter).

Wheelock, who was in F. J. Black's employ a few years ago out East, and a season ago ran a book which was supposed to be backed by E. J. Baldwin, is reputed to have won $150,000 bookmaking on his own account at Saratoga, West Side and Nashville this year.

Matt Allen, Senator Hearst's trainer, has a lot of the most promising yearlings—now two—in America on the Sheepshead Bay Track. He is particularly impressed with Warpath by Warwick or San Fox out of Second Hand and Fireworks, a slashing sister to Dewdrop.

Several yearlings were worked over the Kentucky Association Track last week. The best performance by far was by a brown colt imported in utero, by The Rake out of Flora McDonald, who worked three-eighths with his shoes on and 120 pounds up in 38 seconds. The colt was foaled at Woodburn.

Mr. John A. Morris, after a careful examination of Texas, has bought a ranch for a stud farm in Gillespie Co., 150 miles north of San Antonio, and will try the effect of the native grasses (mesquite, etc.,) upon young stock. The altitude is greater than most California ranches and the experiment will be carefully watched.

C. H. Nelson has three trotters working on the snow at Waterville, all of whom can beat 2:20. He is willing to match Nelson against Jack for any reasonable amount, the match to be two in three, one to take place at Buffalo, another at Fleetwood, and another at Mystic Park. Mr. Middleton says he is looking for a match with Jack. Why do not they put up?

Hearst, after many unsuccessful attempts, has at last earned a winning bracket, beating a field of eleven at Guttenberg in a five furlong dash with 103 lbs. up. Hearst is one of the Australians imported by Mr. Newton and later sold in New York. Another of the imported Australians, Gertrude by Somnus—Geraldine was sold to Senator Hearst on her arrival and has won a race at San Luis Obispo this fall.

Garrison's exalted opinion of himself is well known. Among many tales of the flattering comments on himself, the last is probably the best. After Raceland—Garrison up—defeated Firenzi— with Hayward in the saddle—a mile and a furlong, at Jerome, Mr. Belmont asked: "Did you win easily?" "Well, I had some to spare, but to tell you the truth, Mr. Belmont, if I had been on the mare I should have beaten your horse." One of our best posted California horsemen says old Bill has forgotten more than Garrison ever knew.

Senator Hearst will have a large enough stable at San Simeon to take out on the Western circuit. W. L. Donathan, who went down to the ranch last Monday, will have about twenty to work on including the imported horses, True Briton, Somnus—Geraldine filly, Somnus—Maid of the Hill colt, and Baggage. Almont, a sister to Joe Courtney, Evalita, and others as well as half a dozen promising two year olds. The stable will probably take in the Blood Horse prior to going East.

The Rosslyn Heights Farm, Pennsylvania, have bought in England the eight-year-old stallion Bonnie Charlie by Petrarch, dam Bonnie Leith by Rataplan, grandam Bonnie Bell (dam of Beauclerc) by Voltigeur, grandam Queen Mary. His breeding is something extraordinary; his sire, who was one of the handsomest horses in England, has a double Touchstone cross and is the sire of a host of clinkers, while Rataplan, besides being a successful sire is an own brother to Stockwell, and no one should inquire any further than Queen Mary.

There is said to be a large band of wild horses, led by a thoroughbred known to the stockmen as the "Outlaw Stud," ranging between Truckee, Nevada county, and Peavine, Nev. Years ago the stallion, a fine thoroughbred escaped to the mountains, and has since defied capture. By desperate riding stock men manage to get into the band every year and drive out the colts. The horses range on the highest peaks, beyond where cattle and sheep often go. They only go to water once a day, and then in single file down the mountain trail as fast as they can gallop. They go back at their leisure, feeding by the way.

The number of horses, remarks a British contemporary, that suffer from the disease of "roaring" seems unhappily to be on the increase. Certainly it is so among thoroughbreds; but it is painfully common at the first check, after a sharp burst with hounds, to hear the sound, and if one gets into a procession of carriages on the way to a race meeting, or elsewhere, the chance of the poor brute in the carriage behind roaring badly is very great. Statements as to an intra-laryngeal operation, which was said to be a perfect and permanent cure for roaring, were, therefore, received with much interest; but unhappily these statements are not borne out by an investigation of facts. The op ration has been tried on several animals, and in each case without the least satisfactory result.

Jockey Stoval appears to have been demoralized by the example of the backsliding Brotherhood ball players and is likely to become a bone of contention between two owners of racing stables. Early last month he is alleged to have signed regular contract to ride for the Clover Stable in 1890. Now report has it that he has made another contract to ride next reason for his old employer A. G. McCampbell. The report may be unfounded, but if it is true Stoval is likely to find himself in hot water before the racing season opens, as jockey clubs have a straightforward fashion of enforcing agreements and are dead set against contract jumpers. Stoval made a fair record last year, and is a very capable jockey, very popular with western race-goers.

Mr. Jas. Galway has decided to sell Belvidere. The brother to Sir Dixon, by Billet out of Jaconet, who is a sister to Iroquois, should prove a success in the stud, for there is a Billet (Voltigeur), Leamington, Australian, Boston and Glencoe cross one on top of the other.

"What is the use of p ying large prices for stallions and breeding horses for the sole purpose of staying a distance when there is so little opportunity for them to show their quality?" says Glen Cairn in the N. Y. S. In the case of short distances, such as half a mile or five or six furlongs, any common-bred stallion is liable to be the sire of a colt or filly that would prove a world-beater at these distances, but when asked to go a distance would be beaten off by 'selling platers.'" This is what some people say, and we agree with them if they mean to aver that there is no use breeding four-mile horses simply because there are no four-mile races; but, for goodness sake, is it not going a little too far to say that any common-bred horse is liable to sire a great winner of races at the present distances? Over 90 per cent. of the winning horses on the turf during the past season—these very no account sprinters, as they are called—are direct descendants of Boston and Lexington, long distance champions of the most approved strains of staying blood. This only leaves about 8 or 10 per cent. for the common-bred fellows, and research tells us that even they for the most part are from high-bred imported stock. Does not this prove conclusively that the old four-mile blood is just as necessary for the racehorse to-day as ever it was in the past? The horse that can run a mile in 1:40 or three-quarters of a mile in 1:11 needs something more substantial than the blood of a plebian sire. They tell us that it is the pace that kills. If such is the case, and we have always held that it is, does it not seem remarkable that these degenerate sprinters are cutting down, year after year, records at distances where pace, and keeping it up, is everything. So far, at least, the common-bred sire or dam have not figured prominently?

In a long article in the Fortnightly Review William Day the famous English racehorse trainer, who is also well known to American race goers as the trainer of Foxhall, has the following to say about the increasing value of thoroughbreds:

At Middle Park, about 1867, or soon after, yearlings fetched extraordinary prices, as much as 1,060 guineas and 2,400 guineas were given, and out of a lot one year the average price was 500 guineas, or 20 000 for the 40. Such prices no one thought would be exceeded, or even ever reached again. But prices have still gone up, and broodmares have increased in value as much as the yearlings, and, in fact, every sort of racehorse has augmented in value in like proportion, till now over 3,000 guineas are given for a brood mare and over 4,000 guineas for a yearling. Stallions have fetched 16,000 guineas, 20,000 guineas have been offered and refused for a horse in training, and 5,000 guineas was a sum not sufficiently attractive to secure a yearling that was offered for sale at private contract this year. But these facts and figures, gigantic and surprising as they are, dwindle into utter insignificance when compared with the value of Hermit. This wonderful and lucky horse stands alone as a racehorse and stallion, for Hermit has won in stakes and bets for his owner, Mr. Chaplin, somewhere about £150,000, and has since earned at the stud at least as much more, and may still further augment this almost incredible sum. Again, Donovan up to the present time, has won in stakes more than any horse ever did, and may, and most likely will add many more thousands to his record. He has already secured £39,963, and many yet even surpass the mighty deeds of Hermit at the stud, as he has triumphed over his performances on the racecourse. Ayrshire, another lucky horse, has won for the same ducal owner nearly as much as Donovan himself, having secured in stakes alone over £36,000 up to the present date, and may, like him, yet increase largely this magnificent sum before his racing career is terminated, and afterwards be at the stud as great a success as either of the two extraordinary horses just mentioned. These few cases, to which many other horses may be added, will show us the present value of our racehorse, and how greatly it exceeds the worth of those of any other age or country.

William of Wykeham is credited with the statement that "Manners maketh the man." So-called jockeys here are too ready made. A boy, after exercising for six months, feels injured if he is not put up in a race, and very soon suffers from the big head. In England, where boys have to undergo a regular apprenticeship, a jockey knows his position better, and as an instance the N. Y. Sporting World says, speaking of the late Fred Archer: "Archer without doubt had amassed a considerable fortune by his riding, and at the time of his death was probably a five times richer man than most of those for whom he constantly rode. Should any owner, no matter who, ask him to ride his horse, Archer would raise his hat in reply and answer civily (without venturing to ask any such impertinent question as to whether the horse had any chance or not) 'Thank you, sir, I'm engaged for that race;' or, 'Thank you, sir, with pleasure.' Here was no idea of conferring a favor; the boot was on the other leg, and this man, too, a prince in his profession. The difference which apparently existed between him and many of our own jockeys was that as he rose and got rich at his calling like many self-made men in business, his manners rose to the occasion. Another difference, too, in his case was that his mind was set wholly on his duties and not on betting. He recognized the fact that owners and trainers had been mainly instrumental in assisting him to the position he held, and had good sense enough always to bear it in mind." And in speaking of the modern American jockey the same journal says: –

At the present day it would seem as if the majority of jockeys, by reason of their successes in the saddle, and the money thus brought to them, considered themselves fully the equals, if not of a truth the superiors, of those who employ them. They become victims of that fell disease, which too frequently follows in the wake of success—the big head. Take the instance of an owner or trainer (who has no specially retained jockey) asking one of these professionals to ride for him. Does the boy consider it a compliment? Not much. Rather he will think he is confering a favor, and before accepting will want to know: "Has the horse a chance? How has he been working? Does the owner intend to back him, etc.? A list of impertinent questions, which by rights should not affect him in the slightest. They do affect him, and for this reason jockeys are not contented nowadays unless they can bet, and bet, too, in big money. It is a pity that it should be so, and that they should learn to think far more of their betting than they do of their duties, but some jockeys at the head of the profession have set the bad example, and the lesser lights must needs follow it. As a consequence, matters have come to such a pass that for an owner to ask a jockey to ride, unless it is a horse prominent in the betting, is to mount to asking the jockey to do him a favor. Big [illegible] rampant, and it seems difficult to know how to cure the disease or make jockeys understand their position.

A Reminiscence.

A party of racing spirits were sitting talking horse in one of San Francisco's fashionable hotels a few evenings ago when a tall, powerful, athletic-looking man walked by. Every eye was turned on him and the question was asked:

"Who is he?"

"Why, that's Mr. C——, from Chicago."

"Boys, pass that decanter and I'll tell you something about that handsome man that would have turned any one's else hair gray."

The speaker filled his glass, held it up to the light as if trying the past through the sparkling fluid, swallowed the contents, and began:

"It was the 10th of July, 1886. Place: Washington Park, Chicago. I was sitting in the grand stand. I had had a good day, so I was going to have a good dinner, and let the other two races alone.

"The bell rang for the fifth race. I was making myself comfortable, when I saw the gentlemen that just passed come into the stand and take a seat by the side of a beautiful woman. Strange, I thought to myself, I had not noticed her before. You all know my failing; I like to look at 'em—from a distance. She looked fit to run for a man's life Beautiful chestnut hair, brought smoothly back from a broad, intelligent forehead, and snugly tucked under a dark velvet Princess cap. Her forearms of snowy whiteness could be plainly seen through a pretty summer dress. Her barrel a little too small to be a good feeder; but her foot, neatly encased in racing plates, looked to belong to a pastern of beautifully modeled spring steel. Her foot was beating the devil's tattoo on the floor from evident nervousness when the gentleman came up. She looked the question she could not ask:

"'What did you play?'

"He was very pale—but a forced calmness—that one could see he was highly excited.

"His answer was 'Hopedale.

"It was a mile heat race with eight starters, though from the betting there were only three in it; and so it proved. Hopedale. Irish Pat and Bootblack; Stoval, Murphy and West up, in the order named. The first words that I heard the lady speak, were: "My God, if Stoval will only ride to win!"

"They got the flag well bunched, and made a pretty race in the stretch. Stoval brought his mount to the front and won easy enough, but he did not see Murphy go to his whip. Pat was coming like a hurricane, and if Murphy had sat still he would have been second; but when he hit him Pat bolted to the inside, West getting second, Biddy Bowling third and Pat fourth. Time, 1:43.

"I looked at my neighbors. The gentleman's face was flushed with hope; but his fair companion was as pale as death.

"'What's the matter, darling?' he whispered.

"She turned a pair of heavenly brown eyes to him, and answered: 'Irish Pat, or rather Murphy, will win the next heat.'

"'Why do you think so?" he asked.

"'You know that Hopedale does not like a distance, and that Irish Pat has as much speed when he'll run. Stoval did not see Murphy use his whip, and if Murphy ever gets near enough to collar Hopedale he'll win, for Murphy will not use his whip, for he knows Pat won't stand it. Stoval will not use his because Murphy won't."

"Then I fear we are lost, for I have played every cent that I could get hold of on Hopedale, and if Pat wins a heat I'm afraid he'll win the race.

It was then that I saw the most beautiful expression I ever saw on a woman's face. It was worth living a life for. With a quick move of her hand towards her breast she handed a bill to her (I was certain now he was) husband, and quietly asked him if he would try and put it on Irish Pat for the heat. Hopedale was a top-heavy favorite, so he soon returned and told her he got $500 to $100. I had become intensely interested in the pair before me and watched the race with unusual interest.

"Hopedale and Biddy Bowling was the order at the quarter. Pat had worked up to Hopedale at the half, and led into the stretch by a neck. Then commenced one of the most terrible finishes I have ever seen Murphy gave Pat a shake, but Stoval was after him and was soon alongside. They rode as I have never seen men ride before or since. At the eighth pole the entire stand rose to their feet. You could hear a pin drop in that immense structure. Some fellow spat on the floor and it sounded like a clap of thunder. On, on they came, as if riding for their lives. The others were out of it. Neither would take his whip, but rode it out with hands and legs. It was as the fair stranger had feared. Stoval would not use his whip, because Murphy didn't. There was the stillness of death all over the grounds. No one knew who had won, when Irish Pat's number was hung up. Then commenced one of the wildest scenes it was ever my fortune to witness. Could the noble red man or the cowboys of the great and golden West have heard those yells, they would have died a death of agonized envy. My blood seemed on fire. The yelling was contagious. I rose from my seat and gave a yell as only a man who is half frantic with sympathy for a beautiful woman can give. As I started with a mad rush for the paddock, I gave one hasty glance at my fair stranger. I caught her eye and then I was mad. Never had I seen such soul-thrilling orbs in the head of a human being. That look burned into my brain and set it on fire. There was the one word written as in letters of gold in those glorious orbs—hope. Down three steps at a time I flew until I reached the paddock. I saw Irish Pat first, and could plainly see he was terribly distressed. Then Hopedale was closely scanned, and, while his sides were bleeding, I could see he was the freshest of the two. I started for the boys' dressing room, and found both men being as vigorously rubbed down as were the two horses. Both were fearfully tired. Great drops of perspiration were rolling off them Murphy was the strongest, as his condition was far superior to Stoval's. Little Eddie West was guying Stoval, and the first words that greeted my ears were:

"'If you waits for Isaac to go to the bat, nigger, you'll git left. Why, Stokes, Pat'll bolt if you go to the bat. Isaac'll fool you, ha, ha!'

"It was evident that 'Stokes' was out to win. So, to relieve my own charged feelings, I bought all the auctions on old Hopedale I could get. Pat was a good favorite. When I got back to my seat my strangers were as I had left them—the lady hopeful, the gentleman seemed resigned to his fate for he was now certain Murphy could win. I took my seat, leaned over the shoulder of the big man and said:

"'Hopedale's a cinch.'

"What his answer was I have never heard. Again those great brown eyes looked thanks at me, and I forgot the world and all its troubles until a yell from the spectators brought me to my senses and my feet at the same time. The two horses were coming into the stretch, and I did not know they had gone to the post. But now I saw what the howl meant. As they swung into the homestretch Stoval drew his whip, and with a couple of raps old Hopedale ran away from Pat, and as Isaac began to ride Pat, his tail went heavenward, and those who knew him knew he was done for, and was coming gamely on when a wail caught the air. He was seen to falter at the sixteenth pole. Murphy saw it and redoubled his efforts to catch him. But Stoval was not to be outdone so close to home. He had too much of a lead. He got home five lengths in front of Pat, but it was well he had not another quarter to go. Hopedale was bleeding at the nose, having burst a blood vessel. He ran the race in the slow time of 1:45. The track was like greased lightning.

"Though there was another race to be run, my handsome strangers got up as though they were leaving, and as they walked down from the stand and straight for the train, I have never laid eyes on either of them until to-night.

"The eyes of that beautiful woman have haunted me from that day. I have searched the world over for a pair like them and should I ever meet a woman to be won with eyes like those of my dream my name will be 'McGinty' if I don't win her."

With a nightcap of California's generous vintage we bade each good night and went to dream of a pair of eyes like those our friend wishes to possess. Doc.

BOARD OF REVIEW—OFFICIAL REPORT.

In accordance with By-Law Article VII, Section II, a regular meeting of the Board of Review was held in the City of New York, on Dec. 3, 1889, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Present—Judge P. P. Johnston, President; Governor M. G. Bulkeley, of the Eastern District; George W. Archer, Esq., of the Atlantic District; L. G. Delano, Esq., of the Central District; Hon. John L. Mitchell, of the Western District, and the undersigned Secretary.

The President called the meeting to order at 7 P. M., and the following is a report of the proceedings during the several sessions held until adjournment at 3 P. M., on Thursday, the 6th.

The Secretary reported the resignation of Mr. J. McM. Shafter, of San Francisco, as second Vice-President.

The Treasurer's report of receipts and expenditures from May 1st to Nov. 1, 1889, with vouchers therefor approved by the Auditing Committee, was presented, showing a balance on hand of $19,526 90, which report was accepted and approved. A printed copy of the same has been mailed to all the members

A list of suspensions for unpaid entrance dues was presented, which were ordered canceled on the records, as per By-Law XI, Sec. 2.

The Secretary also presented a list of new members enrolled since the last meeting in May, which was approved.

The cases on the docket were then considered and the following decisions rendered:

1585.—The National Trotting Association (by T. J. Vail, Sec'y) vs. W. B. Wright, Lachine, P. Q., Can. Application for an order.

At a former meeting on May 8, 1888, it was ordered that the respondent return unlawful winnings to the amount of $280, and himself and horse be suspended until the order was complied with and the case be continued The order not having been complied with and the case as to violation of Rule 6, Section 4, and Rule 14, appearing clear, it is

Ordered, That the temporary re-instatement granted at the December meeting of 1887, be continued until the next meeting.

1763.—M. M. Morse, Secretary, vs. M. T. Downing, Boston, Mass., and Prince. Application for an order as to identity, eligibility and change of name

At the meeting in May, 1889, the respondent was ordered to return unlawful winnings of the b g Champion John L., to pay a recording fee of $50, and a fine of $100, as per Rule 6, and to be suspended until the order was complied with. No attention having been paid to the above it is now

Ordered, That he and the horse be expelled.

1788.—Cleveland Driving Park Company, Cleveland, Ohio, vs. L. F. Hunter, Warren, Ohio. Complaint and application for an order to punish defendant for charging the company with falsifying time.

It appearing that applicant gave the first information leading to the detection of a fraudulent entry it is Ordered, That he be paid the reward of $50.

1831—M. M. Morse, Sec'y, vs. Anderson and McIntosh, Marietta, Ga. Application for an order under Rule 13 for return of money wrongfully obtained.

Parties remain suspended until the order of the Board is complied with.

1832.—The National Trotting Association vs. A. M. Wilson, North Jackson, Ohio, Frank Jackson, C. C. Williams, St. Clairsville, Ohio, and br m Frank, alias Grandmother Grace, alias Grace. Application for an order under Rules 6 and 14.

1860.—W. H. McCarthy, et al, Lexington, Ky., vs. Hudson River Driving Park, D. B. Herrington, manager, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., C. J. Hamlin, Buffalo, N. Y.; and ch m Mocking Bird. Application for an order under Rule 2, Section 2, as to the eligibility of the ch m Mocking Bird in the 2:30 race August 21, 1889.

The plaintiffs protested the ch m Mocking Bird in the 2:20 class as not having been named in accordance with Rule 2, Section 2, her name not appearing on the list of published entries. The evidence of Mr. Herrington, the manager of the driving park, is to the effect that while at Buffalo, Mr. Hamlin read off his entries to him, and he copied them in writing on the regular entry blank, but failed to fill in the class for Mocking Bird, in consequence of which the acting Secretary failed to place her name on the list.

It is held that the nominator cannot be held responsible for the mistakes or neglect of the Secretary, and therefore the application is dismissed.

The applicant started his horse in a three-year-old race as Nicodemus, after which he applied to the editor of the trotting register to have him registered under that name, which was refused, the name having already been chosen. He was then registered under the name of Ben Clifford, and afterwards entered under the same name with the member at Orwell, Ohio, as formerly Nicodemus, and claim for recording fee sent from the office of the National Trotting Association.

While the Board is fully aware of the apparent hardship involved, yet Rule 6, Section 4, is absolute in its character, and any other interpretation would open the door to frauds without number. It is, therefore, decided that the recording fee must be paid before competing on members' grounds.

1834.—W. R. Brasfield & Co. (owners), W. R. Brasfield, (driver) Lexington, Ky., ex parte Application for permanent relief of themselves and the b m Linnie from expulsion imposed by order of the Bourbon Trotting Club, Paris, Ky., July 1, 1889, under Rule 17

All the papers and evidence in this case were sent to the President who granted temporary re-instatement under By Law Article, and it is now upon recommendation of the member, made permanent.

1885.—Budd Doble, Chicago, Ills., vs. Driving Club of New York Morrisania, N. Y. Application for release of himself and the b g Ed Annan (pacer) and the ch m Amy Lee from suspension imposed Oct. 3, 1889.

The application is granted upon the ground that the suspensions were not imposed within the time limited, as per Rule 3, Sec. 8.

It appears the plaintiff had a subscription in the $10,000 Stake race; that he paid up the subscription and named the b s Nelson by arrangement with the owner. The horse won second money, which was $2,500 The owner, Mr. Nelson, was paid $1 500 by the association, and they also paid De Noyelles $1,000. The plaintiff had previously notified the association in writing, through its Secretary, protesting against the payment of any part of the purse which the horse might win, except upon his written order.

It is claimed by the Association that the plaintiff and Mr Nelson were virtually partners and therefore the payment to either one or a part to each was valid

On the other hand it is claimed by De Noyelles that, as he made all the payments, refused to transfer the subscription and named the horse, the association had no right to pay any money to any one but himself He also claims it is usual in such cases to divide the net profits and that he should, therefore, receive $750, out of the amount paid to Nelson. After an exhaustive hearing and examination it is Ordered, That the Charter Oak Driving Park Association pay the plaintiff $750; that C. H. Nelson refund that amount to the Charter Oak Driving Park, and the Treasurer of the National Trotting Association is ordered to reserve said amount from any money in his hands belonging to Mr. Nelson and pay the same to Charter Oak Driving Park in satisfaction of this judgment.

1896.—James Linden, Sacramento, Cal., ex-parte. Application for permanent relief from expulsion imposed by order of the Capital Turf Club, Sacramento, Cal., July 30, 1889, under authority of Rule 46

The applicant was temporarily re-instated by the President September 4, 1889, upon recommendation of the Judges who expelled him upon a suitable apology being made to them, and the re-instatement is now made permanent.

1915.—Hamilton Busbey, New York, N. Y., vs. C. W. Williams, Independence, Iowa, and br s Allerton. Application for an order as to the eligibility of said horse in the 2:27 stake race at Chicago, Ill., August 23, 1889.

The plaintiff protested the b s Allerton as not being eligible in the 2:27 Subscription Stake race of the Northwestern Association of Trotting and Pacing Horse Breeders, alleging that Lady Mack was named and appeared on the printed entry list, and that Allerton had no right to start in her place unless Mr. Williams or the Secretary could show a letter bearing post-mark on or before the day set for naming the horses. It is claimed by Williams that he bought the subscription from Wilson & Stanley and sent a letter in time, naming Allerton, but misdirected it to Janesville, Iowa, instead of sending it to Janesville, Wis., the residence of the Secretary. He sends press copy of letter, naming the horse, which is dated the 5th day of August, the date set for naming, and also a certificate from the cashier of a bank that he bought on that day a draft for $100 payable to the Secretary, as last payment on the subscription.

There is a discrepancy in the evidence as to the original misdirected letter. Mr. Williams states that after it was returned to him from Janesville, Iowa, he immediately forwarded it to Secretary McKinney at Janesville, Wis. The latter says he received the letter, but not the original misdirected envelope, which Mr. Williams had inadvertently destroyed. The original letter of entry with the envelope is the best evidence of the validity of the nomination, and these not having been furnished, the protest is sustained, as the defendant failed to produce legal evidence to sustain his entry.

1935.—The National Trotting Association vs. C. H. Nelson, Waterville, Me., and b s Nelson; F. L. Noble, George G. Robens, Grand Rapids, Mich., and gr s Alcryon. Application for an order in the matter of alleged fraud in the $10,000 Stallion Stake race, trotted at Beacon Park, Boston, Mass., on September 23, 1889.

After consideration, this case was continued at the request of the respondents, and they were ordered to be notified to appear at a special meeting of the Board, to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., on Tuesday, February 11, 1890, at 2 P. M.

No other business appearing, the Board adjourned.

M. M. Morse, Secretary

A Sensational Lot.

The Kentucky Stock Farm has the following in reference to the horses taken East by Col. R. S. Strader:—

We had the pleasure a day or two since of looking over the great consignment of Electioneer stock just received by Col. R. S. Strader from Palo Alto. Unless we greatly over-estimate its value it is destined to exercise a very potent influence upon the breeding of trotting horses in Kentucky. Col. Strader has long been identified with the breeding interest, and his recent venture proves that he has lost none of the enterprise for which he has always been remarkable.

The oldest horse in the lot is Clay, 2:25, by Electioneer; dam Maid of Clay (dam of Carrie C, four-year-old record 2:24, Clay, 2:25½, Capt. Smith, 2:29, and Clay, 2:25), by Henry Clay, sire of the dam of George Wilkes; second dam by Dey's Messenger; third dam by Bald-face Consul. Dey's Messenger, by Liberty (son of imp Messenger); dam by imp Messenger. Bald-face Consul by Bond's Consul; dam by Corlander (son of imp Messenger). Clay was foaled in 1879. He is a black horse, tan flanks and muzzle, 15 hands high, bred at Palo Alto. He has a Hambletonian top cross through Electioneer, and is inbred to Henry Clay through two mares whose 2:30 performers aggregate 11. He is himself a fast trotter and his sire and dam are great speed producers. Clay has very much the conformation and appearance of George Wilkes with higher finish. He is a horse with very remarkable bone, his legs being broad and flat, gaskins and forearms very strongly muscled, canon bones and pasterns short, stifles remarkably full, loins exceedingly strong, body very large for its height, shoulders sloping, back short, neck of good length, head finely finished. He is a very strongly-built horse, and his muscular development is something wonderful.

There are two fillies by Clay in the consignment, one a brown filly, dam Lady Ellen 2;28 (dam of Ella, four-year-old record 2:20), by Carr's Mambrino 1789, son of Mambrino Patchen; second dam Ida May Jr., by Owen Dale, son of California Belmont; third dam Ida May by Belmont. The other a bay filly dam Sallie Hamlet, by Hamlet; second dam Sal (dam of Coaster, 2:26½), by Canada Chief. This is a pair of very elegant weanlings, having fine size and quality and would be a credit to any sire.

Conrad 5381 is another of the horses in this consignment. He is a full brother to Anteeo, 2:16¼, and Antevolo 2;19½, by Electioneer; first dam Columbine, by A. W. Richmond 1687, sire of Romero, 2;19½. Conrad was foaled in 1886 and is 15¾ hands high. He is a horse of elegant appearance and great substance. The fact that both Anteeo and Antevolo have shown such remarkable speed affords a strong presumption that the other members of the family will also be fast. Conrad is as yet unbroken to harness. He will make a model stock horse,

Another horse that will attract attention is Wellington, full brother to the great California filly Sunol, 2:10½. Wellington is a bay horse, five years old, and stands 15 hands 2 inches high. His pedigree is well known, and if it were not, the fact that he is a brother to Sunol would be pedigree enough. He is an excellent individual.

Warlock is a bay colt, foaled in 1885 by Whips son of Electioneer; 1st dam Nellie Walker (dam of Peruvian Bitters (pacer) 2:23½) by Thorndale, or a son of Alexander's Edwin Forrest; 2nd dam Rosalind, 2:21¾ by Alexander's Abdallah; 3rd dam Burch mare (dam of Rosalind 2:21¾, and Donald 2:27) by Parker's Brown Pilot This fellow has a great deal of the thoroughbred finish combined with plenty of bone and muscle. He is 15 hands 3½ inches high. His pedigree is very rich in blood and speed lines.

Ellison is a black colt foaled in 1886 by Electioneer; dam Lady Ellen 2:28 by Carr's Mambrino; 2nd dam Ida May Jr., by Owen Dale, son of California Belmont, etc. He is 15 hands 2½ inches high, and in every respect an excellent individual While in California Col Strader saw a yearling sister to Ellison trot a quarter in 36 seconds. Ellison has not yet been handled for speed.

Del Mar, 2:30 (brother to Commotion, 2:30), is a bay colt, foaled in 1887, sired by Electioneer; dam Sontag Dixie (dam of Commotion, 2:30, and Sonnet, 2:24½), by Toronto Sontag; second dam Dixie by Billy Townes; third dam by Sir Charles.

Monica is a bay colt, dam half sister to Bonita, 2:18¼, foaled in 1887, sired by Ansel, son of Electioneer; dam Mecca by Mohawk Chief (sire of Lot Slocum, 2:17½); second dam May Fly, 2:30½ (dam of Bonita, 2:18¾), by St. Clair.

Col. Strader will keep Clay and Conrad in the stud. Their service fee, we understand, will be $150 each. We have no doubt their books will fill rapidly, as the breeding and individuality of the horses cannot but attract public attention. It will require no urging to induce the horsemen of this vicinity and visitors to the city to go to Col. Strader's place and examine this grand lot of California stock.

Grim's Gossip.

John Mackey who has been very ill at Sacramento is rapidly recovering.

What has become of the base ball Gala Day, that was to be held for the purpose of starting the California League Base Ball S.ake?

Miss Josephine by Straun, dam Maid of Harris by Flageolet, slipped a horse colt by imp Friar Tuck December 23rd. She was owned by Mrs. Langtry.

C. H. Corey owner of Almont Patchen has repurchased the Lick House in San Jose and it will become as before the Garden City horsemen's headquarters.

C. H. Nelson says that the charge of fraud made against him in the Balch stallion race is a case of personal spite and will be seen in that light by the public before long.

Dr. C. W. Aby manager of the Guenoc Stock Farm, has been in town during the week, and has secured a number of mares to be bred to St. Savior and imp. Greenback.

Primrose, one of the brood mares at the Woodburn farm is now carrying her twentieth foal and yet the oldest of her family is but twenty. With a single exception they are all alive.

Wilbur F. Smith reports Thapsin 2:21¼ as being considerably better than last reported. The horse is still at the Bay District track and will not be taken to Sacramento for some time.

Two stories. Scott Quinten has left the employ of Marcus Daly. Scott Quinton has not left the employ of Marcus Daly. Both reports are rumored in horse circles, so you can believe which you please.

Mina West, who has been at Village Farm, near Buffalo, N. Y., for some time past, has accepted a position as trainer for George Robinson of Los Angeles, and will leave for the Pacific Coast the first of the year.

A large influx of the Eastern Bookmakers may be expected in San Francisco almost any day. Some of them will remain over until the Spring meeting of the Blood Horse Association to have a go at the "Dear Public."

I am pleased to announce that the Valensin Stock Farm will have the services of Ed Bither as trainer and driver for the coming year. Mr. Bither telegraphed yesterday morning that he accepted the offer of Mr. Valensin.

Mr. E. Topham has at his Milpitas place a nice string of trotters that will be heard from next season on the California circuit. A good trainer and driver will be engaged. and the Topham colors will be carried to victory many a time.

J. L. McCord has a singlefooter that is the admiration of the residents of the capital City. Mr. McCord will bring the animal to San Francisco next week and surprise some of the Park equestrians who imagine their horses cannot be excelled.

Mr. R. Murphy of Santa Rosa was in the city last Thursday, and he says he feels confident that S. A. Brown & Co. of Kalamazoo will have to pay him $200 this year, for he has two Anteeo youngsters that will go into the list without fail.

Secretary Crickmore of the Monmouth Park Association says that the work on Monmouth's new track is progressing to the satisfaction of all, and that race goers will be delighted with the grounds that will be thrown open to them on Independence Day of next year.

Edwin C 2:15 by Elector 2:21¼ is the fastest green pacer that appeared in 1889. He will now have to contend in the free for all class, but as he has got over his bad habit of breaking, Mr. Johnson feels confident that 2:15 will be cut down considerably next season.

C. V. Sass, for many years editor of the N. Y. Sporting World, but now Secretary of the Clifton Association, has earned the thanks of all race goers by inaugurating longer races than are now usual. One such contest is enjoyed as much as half a dozen five furlong dashes.

When the Sunny Slope horses are sent East for sale B. C. Holly will also send some good ones, and the Valensin Stock Farm will be represented by some choice Sidney youngsters. The eyes of the trotting world are now turned toward California and the three large consignments should bring top prices.

Adonis has been turned out to give him a needed rest prior to entering on an extensive campaign next season. When the Sidney gelding strikes the free for all class back East next summer, there will be weeping wailing and gnashing of teeth among the backers of Gossip, Jewett, etc., on more occasions than one.

Uncle Jim Guest, of Danville, Ky., has purchased from S. H. Baughman, of Stanford, Ky., a yearling by Concregan, dam Olena (dam of Santaline) for $1,200. For the season of 1890, J. W. Guest Jr., will train his father's horses. There are many who wish that there may be another Terra Cotta in the stable.

P. A. Finigan, Treasurer of the Pacific Blood Horse Association felt annoyed at the vaporings of a reporter in one of the evening papers, and on going to the office of the paper in question, and showing the falsity of the report the writer was instantly discharged. Stick to facts, boys, and you will not get into trouble.

Gold Leaf 2:11¼ will be bred next spring to the premier stallion of the Pleasanton Stock Farm, Director 2:17. It is probably needless to say that the progeny of such a union will command a "top of the tree" price whenever it is offered for sale, but Mr. Salisbury will want to develop that kind himself before he lets it go.

S. L. Akins, of Newman, Stanislaus Co., has sold to Holbert & Smith, of Indepenpence, Inyo Co., the magnificent, two year old colt Antare by Anteros, dam by Iowa Chief 528; 2nd dam by Tornado 502. This is a great addition to the fine horses of Inyo County and those having good mares in that section should not overlook him.

Mr. John W. Martin, of Yolo, Yolo County, offers this week for sale, the handsome young colt Alexander Button Jr. He is well bred and can show high speed. He can be bought at a reasonable figure and it is well worth while to read the advertisement containing his pedigree, and then write to Mr. Martin.

It is now in order for the new Directors of the Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association to meet and select a date for the opening of their spring meeting as there are several other associations who desire to make their announcements but wish to wait and see what fixture the older organization will take.

B. C. Holly, of Vallejo, has made an offer of $8,000 for Billy Thornhill 8707 by Bevelry Wilkes 8706; dam Emily by Geo. Wilkes 519; 2nd dam Sue Stout by Ashland 47; 3rd dam The Lear mare by Sir William, he by Sir Charles. James Boyd, the owner of Thornhill, is reported to have refused the amount. The horse is a well bred one, and as there is such a demand for Wilkes blood, should command a large number of mares.

Marcus Daly, who has appeared so prominently as a purchaser of trotters and thoroughbreds, during 1889, is at present in Philadelphia, having his eyes looked after by a prominent physician. There is a current rumor that he will not have his trotters trained in 1890, but several persons who claim to know the gentleman, say that he will have more of them out than ever.

In the Budd Doble String at Fresno, is the gray gelding Jack 2:15, which is owned by George Middletown of Chicago. Mr. Middletown is anxious to make a match for his horse against any trotter in the world for from $5,000 to $15,000 a side, and will trot almost anywhere, What a good chance this is for J. C. Hamblin to show what his mare Belle Hamblin can do, and from this far off point it looks as though Jack would be the favorite in a match race.

Samuel D. Prather sent me word from Forest Meadows, under date of December 20th, of the death of Imogene, by Norwood 522, dam by American Star 14, 2nd dam by Henry Clay 8. Imogene is the dam of Del Wood by Del Sur, Imona by Steinway, and Guide 2:23½ by Director, and three very promising colts by Admar, a son of Admiral. A. T. Hatch bought her from the Cook Stock Farm some years ago and he retained an interest in her till her death.

Who says that Wilbur Smith will not go back into the running business. When the sheriff attached Al Farrow a week or two ago at the instance of the Bank of Sonoma, that official placed the celebrated crack in the stable of Wilbur for safe keeping, and now the owner of Thapsin 2:21¼ can be seen any morning at the Sacramento track, sitting on top of the fence with a split second watch in his hand, timing the handsome horse quarters and halves. The early love will crop out at times.

We have been asked quite a number of times if Stamboul 2:12¼ would stand in public service during the coming spring. Mr. Hobart being asked the question, stated that positively no outside mares will be taken for Samboul, and that he has had to refuse at least fifty mares from friends who wished to patronize the stallion. What the arrangements may be for another year the ownes does not know, but it will save trouble and bother for this season, as the rule laid down will not be deviated from.

Mr. M. Salisbury, of Pleasanton Stock Farm, Pleasanton, Cal sold four head, two fillies, and two mares, one Echora 2:23¼ the dam of Direct, at the Kidd, Edmonson & Morse Combination Sale at Chicago in November for almost $12,000 an average of nearly $3,000 each. Mr. Salisbury was so well pleased with the results of the sale that he told Kidd, Edmonson & Morse who hold a great sale commencing March 17 to 23rd at Chicago, that he would always sell in the future there, that it was preferable to either Kentucky or New York.

L. J. Rose Esq informs me that he will send every one of his brood mares, with the exception of Minnehaha and a few non-standard ones, to his sale which will take place in New York March 6th and 7th. He will also send on all the colts and fillies by Stamboul and Alcazar, which will make the Rose sale of 1890 one of the best ever given by a California breeder. No doubt there will be very lively competition when Alcazar is brought forward and Mr. Kellogg asks the question, "Now then, gentlemen, what am I bid for this great son of Sultan?"

Sam Gamble has taken full charge of the Hobart breeding establishment. and none better could have been selected for the responsible position. Sam is earnest and enthusiastic, still does not allow his enthusiasm to lead him astray in matters appertaining to the great problem of breeding. As a Christmas present, his employer Mr. Hobart, made him a present of an elegant split second time piece, of remarkably good workmanship and exquisite design. There is no truth in the rumor that a trainer and driver has been secured by Mr. Hobart.

Considerable correspondence has been indulged in relative to a match between Roy Wilkes and Almont Patchen but nothing has come of all the talk as yet. As a final proposition, Mr. Davies offers to pace Roy Wilkes against Almont Patchen, mile heats, three in five and wager $2,500 against $2,000. The race can come off on any track within one hundred miles of San Francisco any time up to February 15th Mr. Davies suggests that if the offer is accepted that each of the parties select one person each, and those two select one other, the three to determine whether the track be fit to race on on the day appointed.

At the recent meeting of the New England Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, the question was raised in regard to the reduction of expenses at the annual fair usually held at Mystic Park. It was suggested by one of the members that the bill for advertising, which last year amounted to more than $1,000 be reduced, but Mr. J. S. Davis, the well-known soap manufacturer of Cambridge, Mass., was on his feet in an instant, and sternuously opposed anything of the sort He said that he owed a greater part of his success to advertising, and thought that every class of business would profit by judicious advertising.

"I believe Stamboul is the greatest trotting stallion in the world," remarked the popular trainer, James Golden in the American Cultivator office a few days ago. "He is the best made one all over that I ever saw. California is a great country for horses," continued Golden. "I did not see a poor animal while there. It seems to me, however, that their climate and soil are not so conducive to sound, well-shaped feet as ours in New England. The finest mares that I ever saw," said Golden, "were at Palo Alto, got by Senator Stanford's trotting stallions, and out of thoroughbred dams. They have a finish and quality superior to any others that I ever saw."

The law with respect to racing in Vermont is absolutely prohibitive of betting. The act legalizes racing for stakes and premiums offered by individuals. The penalty for betting on a horse race in Vermont is $500.

Billy Vioget's picture, in a Montgomery st. store has attracted a good deal of attention, but it looks to the ordinary observer as if his trousers were too short, and what have you got on the bottom of them, Billy?

Orville Appleby a brother of W. L. Appleby has started a training stable on his own account and has already the runners belonging to T. F. Montgomery of San Jose. Orrie is a good careful man and should command a large run of trade.

I had a pleasant call from Willie Thornton this week and his report from the Rancho Resaca, is full of hope for the future. The yearlings are all in fine fettle, many of them showing extremely high form. The many friends of Col. Thornton will be pleased to see his colors again to the fore.

Sometimes a rather ungracious letter is received at this office from some one who has become tired of waiting for an answer to some query, and yet we are just as anxious to give them the information desired as they are to receive it. At times a dozen or more letters have to be sent out in order to get an answer to a single question.

The Du Bois Bros. of Denver, sustained a severe loss on Friday night of last week in the death of the brood mare Administratrix. She was by Administrator 357, dam by Nonpareil. This mare was highly prized by the Du Bois Bros., and what makes her loss doubly severe, she was heavy with foal to Superior, 2:19½.

The San Jose Blood Horse Association are bound to be early on the scene of action with their dates, and a meeting will be held on Tuesday, January 14th to elect officers for the ensueing years and also to fix the time for the spring meeting. The association is composed of energetic men and they will offer a brilliant programme with large enough purses to warrant the attendance of the best horses in the State.

Mr. Holly is keeping up the Vallejo end of the market in horse sales. During the week past he has sold to a Colonel Thompson of New Jersey the converted pacer San Diego (pacing record 2:21) by Victor, for $1,500, the br g J. R. by Elector, dam St. Lawrence. record 2:24½, for $2,000, the ch m Allaretta by Altoona, dam Nellie for $2,500. I do not know Col. Thompson, but there is one thing sure he has secured three very serviceable animals all of whom can beat their present records and should prove good winners during 1890.

An Arizona correspondent sends me the information that there will be three days racing between Christmas and New Years, at Phœnix A. T. He also encloses the following clipping from a local paper which shows the "hoss" knowledge of the Editor.

Mr. B. F. Baker, probably the smallest man in San Bernardino, brought in last week two of the largest stallions lately seen. "Bismarck" is a Hambletonian Clydesdale, about 16 hands high and weighing 1,435 pounds. "Drako" boasts of Norman Percheron descent from Black Hawk and Morgan. He is a splendid fellow, 17 hands one inch high, weighing 1800 pounds and aged eight years. His neck curves handsomely and he is as gentle as a lady school teacher.

It would seem that during the long winter months the wives of trainers who have been accustomed to the city. and are living partly isolated lives on a race track would find something of monotony therein says the N. Y. Sporting World. Not so, however, with Mrs. Allen, who has cultivated her artistic ability, and finds considerable pleasure with the brush and pallet. Although an amateur, and simply developing her gift for her own amusement, Mrs. Allen's efforts would put to blush the work of some of our professional artists. She has nearly completed a fine portrait of Gorgo, and is busy now portraying on canvas one of Joseph Cairn Simpson's trotting horses from a likeness produced in his paper. Should King Thomas make his name famous the coming season, the hand that has often patted him will probably paint his likeness.

One of my Australian correspondents sends word that Childe Harold 414 died on October 27, from the effect of bursting a blood vessel. He was by Harold 413 dam Young Portia by Mambrino chief, 2nd dam Portia by Rosebuck, 3rd dam by Whip etc. He was taken to England about 1877 and proved himself by performance to be one of the fastest trotters outside of America. He won the Intercolonial Stakes in Liverpool in 1878 winning in three straight heats of two miles each, in 5:05; 5:04, and 5:11, with a standing start. He also won the Handicap Sweepstakes at Alexandria Park in 1879 in which there were twenty four horses placed in front of him, some of them as much as 700 yards ahead, still he won easily. He was afterwards taken to Berlin where he won four races and then to Hamburg where he won three races. In 1880 he won the champion stallion race at Alexandria Park, and in 1882 was taken to Australia where he has stamped himself as a great producer of speed. Childe Harold was the property of Andrew Town of Hobartville, Richmond, N. S. W.

A letter from New York conveys the intelligence that the Hearst stable at Sheepshead Bay, are all in excellent condition and wintering in good shape. The three-year-old contingent certainly are very promising. Headed by that grand looking colt King Thomas, there are the colts Tournament by Sir Modred—Plaything; Ballarat, by Sir Modred—La Favorita, and Anaconda by Spendthrift—Maid of Athol; while specially strong is the stable with three year old fillies, with Golden Horn by Spendthrift—Constantinople; Gloaming, by Sir Modred—Twilight; Miss Belle, by Prince Charlie—Linnet, and Everglade, by Iroquois—Agenoria. Another good looking one is the daughter of Isonomy, Gorgo. She seems to have grown materially, and her long, black, silken coat looks like a sealskin robe. Tournament is a big fellow, too. Mr. Allen also has several yearlings, just now coming to, including Sir Lancelot, War Path, by Warwick or Ban Fox, out of the dam of Exile, and an apparent gem in Fireworks, a full sister to the mighty Dew Drop. Then there are among the others Atlas, by Hyder Ali—Fidelity; Ægenon, a favorite with Mr. Allen, who knew his sire, Joe Hooker, so well in California. This colt is out of Faustina, and his half brother, Sir Lancelot, by Sir Modred, occupies a near by stall. Babicora, named after Senator Hearst's Mexican ranch, by Hyder Ali—Graciosa, is another of the yearlings. Besides Senator Hearst's string there are but few other horses at the track. J Shields has a few yearlings, but it is soon expected on with the full stable, and others are likely to arrive about Christmas time.

El Rio Rey.

The racing stable of Theodore Winters won $63,000 during the season just closed, says the Breeder's Gazette. Of course the bulk of this large sum came through the performances of the great two-year-old colt El Rio Rey, he having an unbeaten record and winning some of the most valuable stakes in the East and West. In spite of the fact that on several occasions when rich prizes were at his mercy, El Rio Rey was prevented by rain from starting, his trainer not caring to take any chances with such a valuable colt, his gross winnings for the season were $47,485, and had he been started in all his engagements irrespective of weather conditions, and won them, the amount to his credit would have been close to $60,000. Whether or not El Rio Rey will be of any account as a race horse next season is a question that will be discussed by horsemen all the winter. It is almost the universal experience that when a colt has lung troubles of the kind that attacked El Rio Rey a couple of months ago, and brought him so close to death's door, it is seldom the animal ever fully recovers its vigor, especially to the extent that it is again capable of running or trotting good races. On the showing made during the season of 1889, El Rio Rey should easily head the list of American three-year olds in 1890, and as he is entered in all the principle stakes for his age, including the American and Kentucky Derbies, the question of whether or not his lungs have been permanently injured is an important one to the owners of other colts that are nominated in the same events, but that if the Californian is in tix might as well be in the barn on the day of the race, so far as any chance they might have of beating him is concerned. It seems certain that from now until say the first of next June, by which time it will be possible to tell something about the real condition of the colt, the owner of El Rio Rey will have a chance to do as much thinking as any man in the country. If his colt has not been permanently injured it is practically certain that he will win $50,000 in stakes next season. If he has been permanently injured he won't win anything at all. It is quite like a lottery for Mr. Winters.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

SUMMARY.

The athletes are jubilant over the prospect of a dry spell. In a few days the ground will be sufficiently dry to allow the runners and walkers a chance to resume practice. From present indications it is safe to assert that the Spring of 1890 will be a memorable one in the history of amateur athletics on the Pacific Coast. Athletes, oarsmen and wheelmen are already beginning to make preparations for the coming season, and it is a foregone conclusion that many of the coast records will be lowered during the present year.

TO THE ATHLETES.

In this, the first issue of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN for 1890, we would like to address a few remarks to the athletes. This department is now several months old, and is generally acknowledged to be the best edited athletic department west of the Rocky Mountains. From the start it has been the aim of the editor to publish only such news as would interest the athletic readers of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. Except under the headings of "Jottings from all Over," the notes that have appeared in this department from time to time have all been strictly original. The athletic, rowing and bicycling jottings have always been the chief feature of our athletic columns, and our readers can always rest assured that our notes are perfectly authentic, and can be relied upon as true facts. We have, through our large and universal acquaintance with the athletes, been able to obtain news that the reporters of the daily press have failed to gather. As a genuine proof of this assertion, we would like to call the readers' attention to the fact that fifty per cent of the athletic news appearing in these columns is utilized by the sporting editors of other local journals. The athletic prospect ahead is indeed very bright, and in the course of the present year there will be quite a large amount of news to publish. Our readers can rest assured that after they have perused the athletic department of this paper, they will have become acquainted with all the news worthy of attention. In the future, as in the past, it will be our chief aim to present our readers with such news as will particularly interest them, and they can rest doubly assured that when criticising any performance or exhibition, our opinion will be based on an upright and unprejudiced foundation, and we will make it our special duty to ferret out fraud and expose it to our readers.

ATHLETICS 1889—1890.

We are on the verge of a new season. The one just passed was anything but a pleasant one for the athletes. Fewer athletic meetings were held during the year 1889 than during any other year since athletics first began to creep into favor on the Pacific Coast. The cause is easily explained. In the first place, the athletic clubs, outside of the Olympic Club, took more interest in "slogging matches" than in amateur athletics. In comparison with the noble fistic gladiator, the amateur athlete was a mere nothing. It has been fights, fights, fights from one end of the year to the other. For the professional "sloggers" the amateurs have been cast aside as it were, but realizing the danger which threatened their pastimes, they have boldly struck out for themselves and the result of their uprising was the organization of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club.

In forming this club the athletes did a very creditable piece of work. They proved that they were no longer willing to remain in bondage. They manifested their disapproval of being members of clubs run and owned by corporations. Taking, for instance, the Golden Gate Athletic Club as a criterion, what has it ever done in the interest of its out-door amateur members? True, a picnic was twice held under its auspices, but last year its owners were too much absorbed in prize fighting to afford any of their time in the interest of amateur athletics. When the did hold a field day the medals awarded the winners were so wretched that the athletes vowed never again to compete in the club games. And yet the club, month after month, subscribes sums ranging from $500 to $1,500 for "fake" slogging matches. We are surprised that the P. C. A. A. ever permitted such an organization to become one of its associate clubs. There are many other clubs of the same description in San Francisco which are also owned by a body of men and run in their interests and not in the interests of the members. However, we are highly pleased to think that these bogus clubs will soon dwindle into insignificance. The citizens of San Francisco are beginning to grow heartily sick of prize-fighting.

Every morning at the breakfast table, on picking up the daily paper, the first item that attracts a person's notice is prize-fighting. Sometimes this branch of news is disguised under the heading of "Athletics." Be that as it may, our wives and daughters, as well as our sons, have their attention repeatedly called to nauseating reports of brutal fights.

Such newspaper articles are perfectly demoralizing to our youth. After the Sullivan-Jackson fight, if it ever takes place, the interest in fighting will suddenly die out, and with perhaps one exception the clubs will all break up.

Amateur athletics will then receive more attention and legitimate sports, both indoor and out-door, will soon be booming. With three first-class clubs in the field on May 30th next the battle for the Champion pennant should be a hot one. Each club will urge its representative to train—and many of the long standing records will possibly make room for better ones.

The club that will win the banner this year will certainly be a champion club. At present it would be hard to name the winner, but there is no telling what changes may occur during the months that will intervene between now and May. The athletic meetings during the present year will be numerous. There will be several in-door meetings in addition to the usual field days, so that the outlook for the amateurs is indeed very encouraging.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, etc.

McDonald, the young Olympic sprinter, states that he will appear on the track in fine condition on February 22.

Jarvis should not compete in the Washington Birthday games unless he can spare time to get into good condition. A man out of condition who is heavily handicapped generally finds it a difficult task to win a race.

Charley Hill, the ex-champion walker, has informed us that he will never appear on the track again.

James Sexsmith of the Alpine Athletic Club, should make a new record in the pole vault at the championship games.

Charles Vultie of the Alpine Club, will try for second place in the high jump. With judicious and faithful practice this promising young athlete should come next to Moffitt.

The amateurs of the California Athletic Club are still wondering if the club will ever do anything in their interest. Many of them have joined the Alpine Athletic Club.

Without Purcell and Schifferstein the Olympic Club will make but a poor showing at the championship games. The chances are that both men will train a little in order to keep their club out.

H. C. Cassidy, the mile runner, has made up his mind to returned to Wooland. He will visit the City every month in order to compete in the Alpine Athletic Clubs. Members handicap meetings at Harbor View.

The absurd report that the Olympic Club contemplated donating a prize of $1500 for a professional sprint race at its opening games on February 22nd, is deserving of ridicule. The club will find it hard enough to pay for the medals to be awarded the amateurs without throwing away $1500 on a couple of professional "fake" sprinters.

P. N. Gafney has been elected official handicapper of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club.

J. J. Larkey has been elected field captain.

THE WHEELMEN.

The weather having modified somewhat, the wheelmen are commencing to get their wheels into shape for the coming season.

George P. Wetmore and Sanford Plummer, both of the Bay City Wheelmen, have joined the Alpine Athletic Club.

Henry M. Lichtenstein, of the San Francisco Bicycle Club, has also joined the Alpines.

The Alpine Athletic Club will probably add a bicycle race to their programme for February.

The coming carnival at the Mechanics Pavilion is causing great excitement in wheeling circles. A prize of $150 is offered by the Directors of the Mechanics Pavilion for a competitive drill among the wheelmen. Clubs from all over the State will be represented and the competition will most undoubtedly be close.

The Stockton Club is to send sixteen men to compete.

AT THE OARS.

H. O. Farrell has resigned from the Ariel Rowing Club. He has joined the Alpine Athletic Club.

Several other prominent members have joined the Alpine Club and will resign from the Ariel Club in the near future.

The Lurline Club gave an athletic and aquatic exhibition at their club house on Sunday last. The boat races were hotly contested and the indoor exhibition was unusually good. About 1,000 persons were present.

It is rumored that Long Bridge will be deserted by the rowing clubs before present season is over. For the regatta purposes the location is certainly out of the way and Alameda would be a much better locality for the clubs.

All the members of the Amateur Champion Crew have joined the Alpine Athletic club and Harbor View will be used as a training station for the present. When the club grows stronger the chances are that the S. P. Co. will build a boat house for the club at Alameda.

The charter of the Pacific Rowing Association is now open in order to give all the clubs a chance to join.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

There is but little chance now that the track at the Olympic clubs new out-door grounds will be in first class condition on Feb. 22. The ground is in a terrible condition and it will require at least two weeks drying before the track can be finished.

The Olympic club will give one of its enjoyable "Ladies Nights" about the end of the present month. The medals won at the late field day of the club held at Berkeley will be presented to the winners on that evening.

The California Athletic club appears to be followed by bad luck. Nearly every month one of its booked fighters gets disabled so that the exhibitions have to be constantly postponed. The same luck that attends the fighthers appears to have overtaken the Amateur Champion Wrestler of the club, Gus Ungerman, who badly bruised his finger a couple of days ago. He was to wrestle a match in a few days but owing to his injury the match has been declared off.

Work was begun on the dressing rooms for the Alpine Athletic Club's members at Harbor View athletic grounds on Sunday last. Half a dozen carpenters, assisted by over twenty volunteers from amongst the members of the club worked like Trojans all day long. By sundown the main building was almost finished. The club members who were at the grounds when the work commenced attached their names to a sheet of paper, placed it in a bottle and buried it beneath the building. The following names were attached to the paper: E. H. Moody, T. J. Cunningham, J. J. McKinon, Charles Armbruster, M. C. Giry, F. Howard, Jas. Sheehan, P. N. Gafney, J McLaughlin, C. A. Eldridge, George Simmonds and John D. Garrison. The grounds will be finished by January 15th.

The Modesto Athletic Club has disqualified itself as an amateur club by offering money as prizes for boxing matches. There are no strictly amateur clubs now on the Pacific Coast outside of San Francisco, barring the University Athletic club.

JOTTINGS FROM ALL OVER.

T. P. Conneff, the crack runner, is lying dangerously ill. It is thought that he will not be strong enough to run again for many months.

H. H. Baxter of the New York Athletic Club, the holder of the outdoor and indoor records for pole vaulting, 11ft 5in, and 11ft 3in, respectively, has entirely recovered from the effects of the accident which befell him some months ago while competing at an athletic meeting. Owing to the injury to his arm he was obliged to refrain from competing during the summer months.

The annual election of officers of the Athletic Club of the Schuylkill Navy, Philadelphia, took place on December 14th, the regular ticket being carried by a large majority. The officers for 1890 are as follows: President, M W Phillips; vice-President, the Hon. John E Reyburn; Secretary, W E Wallace; Treasurer, Harry McMillan; Captain, John F Huneker; Directors, George R Crump, Joseph H Baker, William Carey Brown, Dr. Thomas H Fenton, J B Mingus, Edward Milligan, George W Grove, Walter Cunningham, James B McCutcheon, William M Benerman, Dr. Bernard Berens, Brandon L Keys, H B Langworthy, Eugene Zieber, Alonzo R Parsons; Elective Committee, N L Toy, Walter Nagle, W E Jenks, J D Ferguson, Dr. Conrad Berens, H Y Mageoch, B L Robinson. The report of the retiring Board was a most satisfactory one. In the hands of the treasurer there is a fund of $20,000, saved from the receipts of the current year. The membership to date is 1,775, and when the list reaches 2,000 the initiation fee will be increased from $15 to $25. The question of an outdoor athletic grounds is certain to be solved ere long, and a location is now in view which has good facilities in regard to access.

A few figures concerning the Thanksgiving Day football game on the Berkeley oval between Yale and Princeton, may open the eyes of some who probably have not thought of the financial part of that great college event. Dr. John S White, president of the Berkeley Athletic Club, furnished the figures. He says the receipts from admission tickets and seats were $14,307, and from gate money and coaches $1,000 more, making a grand total of $15,307. The respective college teams received in the neighborhood of $6,000 each as their share.

ALPINE AMATEUR ATHLETIC CLUB.

The second meeting of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club was held at 539 California Street, on Friday evening, December 27th.

The committee on club rooms reported progress.

The committee on out-door training grounds reported that the Harbor View Athletic Grounds had been secured and would be ready for occupancy on January 15th. The committee were given power to have suitable bathing and dressing rooms built for the use of the members. It was decided to close the charter roll.

H. O Farrell made a long speech in which he stated that the club was now an assured success, and that the turning point had just been reached. His remarks im brief were these:

"Gentlemen, there is not a person in this room to-night who can say otherwise than that the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club is a success. What other club at present existing in San Francisco can claim to have started out on such a solid basis as this one has? Just think of it, we have over 150 members and yet we have been organized but two weeks. There remains now for us either to go ahead and prosper or remain stationary and perish. Let ambition carry us forward to victory. Rome was not built in a day, neither can we expect to build our reputation in a day. If we make ourselves known inside of one year, I think we will be doing well. If each and every member would only be ambitious, we will not only be known but feared inside of twelve months. The first stepping stone to success in a club like this one should be show. We have got to make a show or we will never succeed.

Let us hold a monster indoor athletic tournament in the Mechanics Pavilion, embracing all the in and outdoor past times. Let us offer valuable prizes for competition, and every amateur athlete on the Pacific Coast will help us out. The public will patronize us on account of the inducements offered and our treasury will be made richer.

The co-operation of the members is necessary to insure success, and I feel confident that every man who has signed his name to our charter roll will acquiesce in my ideas.

President Giry ably responded to Mr. Farrell's speech, and asked some of the members present to express their opinions on the subject. It was finally decided to appoint a committee of ten to make careful enquiries into the cost of holding the tournament proposed by Mr. Farrell. The following gentlemen were named by the president as a committee to investigate the matter and report back to the club at large: T. J. Cunningham (chairman), Charles Valtee, E P. Moody, J. P. Bean, P. N. Gafney, J. J. McKinnon, H. O'Farrell, E. Sullivan, John D. Garrison and Felix McKenna.

It was decided to hold a handicap meeting for members of the club only at the Harbor View training grounds about the second Sunday in February. Valuable medals will be presented to the winners. Only members of the club will be allowed to witness this exhibition.

The following investigation committee was appointed: J. P. Bean, T. J. Quinlan and Rudolph Brewer. The following athletes were nominated for Field Captain: E. P. Moody, J. J. Larkey and R. J. Luttringer. For the position of Official Handicapper, the following were nominated: P. N. Gafney, E. J. Goodwin and W. J. Jefferey.

The Board of Directors will make the appointments.

On the Charter roll are the names of several prominent oarsmen, wheelmen, and general athletes. The initiation fee for the next three months will be $2 50. The monthly dues have been fixed at $1.

Until such time as the rooms of the club on Tenth Street are finished, it will occupy temporary rooms.

The club will probably be admitted to the P. C. A. A. A. before Washington's Birthday.

THE FARM.

Breeding Herefords.

In his address before the American Hereford Association, Adams Earl, its president, urged his hearers not to be discouraged at the present low prices of beef or breeding stock. In his younger days, he said, even lower prices prevailed. Stock raising, the breeding of Hereford cattle in particular, he declared to be a good and profitable business. He urged a more frequent use of the knife, and that pure bred steers be exhibited more frequently. Of late steers had not taken so active a part in shows as they should, grades in particular, as they, above all others, showed what could be done by a good Hereford sire.—O. J. Farmer.

Shall Milch Cows Breed Annually?

Practically I find that where cows are kept in milk over eleven or twelve months, they are quite sure to convert more of their food into flesh, and less into milk than when bred to come in annually. The best of cows will often thus take on flesh and become dry before the close of the second year, though fed on the best of milk-producing rations. A good dairy cow, with proper food and care, will continue to yield a large amount of milk during nearly the entire year when in calf every twelve months. Without these conditions of food and care, she will dry off as when in her natural state, or if, by reason of a superior milking development, there should chance to be a continued flow, it would be at the cost of debility in the mother, and a weak and imperfect development in the calf. Under favorable treatment both the mother and progeny may be healthy and strong, though the former may continue to give a good flow of milk for eleven months out of the twelve and yield a much stronger aggregate amount of milk in two years than when in calf but once during the time. By allowing our cows to remain in milk so long after calving, we get too far from those natural conditions which underlie a large and healthy product of milk, which maternity alone supplies.—[F. D. Douglas, in Rural New Yorker.

Cattle Firms Join Issues.

It is now a settled fact that two of the biggest beef and cattle firms in the country, the Monroes of Boston, and the Hammond Co., of Hammond, Ind, have united, and that in the amalgamation the live cattle industry has lost one of the heaviest dealers, while the dressed beef industry has been increased by one. It was rumored Saturday that the Monroes had purchased a big amount of stock in the Hammond dressed meat corporation. Monday the story was to a certain extent verified by the fact that the stock purchased by W. H. Thompson, Jr, the Chicago representative of the Monroes, was weighed to Hammond & Co.

Mr. Thompson stated yesterday that the firms had consolidated and that he was sending his purchases to Hammond. Beyond that he could give no particulars. The change gave rise to considerable speculation in stock circles when it became known. The Monroe firm was one of the heaviest buyers at the Chicago yards to-day, having shipped stock on hoof to Albany and Boston They have been engaged in the dressed beef business for about two years, but did all the slaughtering at Eastern points. The Boston dressed beef plant has, it is understood, been turned into the new company, and it is understood that the Monroes will be eastern representatives of the Hammond Company. The Hammond concern is one of the most extensive in the country. It is one of the alleged "Big Four."—Chicago Herald.

Ayrshire Cattle.

The Ayrshire breed has taken a well-defined place in American husbandry. While, on the one hand, no one expects from an Ayrshire cow any phenomenal records in the production of milk or butter, on the other she maintains a good average production, both in quality and quantity The milk is less rich in butter-fats than that of Channel Island cattle, but shows on an average about thirteen per cent. of solids and four, to four and a half per cent. of butter-fats, and selected cows have far exceeded this. The yield of milk is never phenomenally great in quantity, but an average of five thousand to seven thousand pounds per year may be depended upon. While making no claims as a special beef breed, the Ayrshires "kill well," steers at two or three years old weighing twelve hundred and fifty to fourteen hundred pounds. The dressed carcass does not show so large a per cent. of weight compared with the total when alive, as the Short-horns, Herefords or Aberdeen-Angus. But the beef, when well fattened, is finely marbled, palatable and of good flavor. They are good feeders, and an Ayrshire bullock or dry cow will fatten on feed that would scarcely keep a pampered animal of the larger breeds alive. But the distinguishing excellence of the Ayrshire is that it is hardy, largely exempt from disease, and easily kept. It is this which makes it the "farmer's cow" all around the world.—American Agriculturist.

Diplomacy With Kickers.

It sometimes seems as if the horns and cloven hoofs of the cow were significant of a legacy of evil-mindedness from a personality generally pictured with such equipments. Everyone knows that a cow always acts the meanest and most obstinate when one is in a hurry or out of patience. The obvious moral is—not to be in a hurry or out of patience in dealing with a nervous cow. One can always draw more milk from her than he can pound out. Cows have more than one reason for lifting a foot in protest against the milker. It may be fright, nervousness, real pain or an old habit. The last is the hardest to manage, but each cause needs to be studied and treated in its own peculiar way. With one cow that persistently started, stepped and kicked it was at last discovered that she did it when the teat was grasped high up in beginning to milk. The pressure of milk there caused pain. The milking at first with but two or three fingers on the end of the teat and drawing downward so as to elongate it and relieve the pressure above, the cow was got to stand perfectly quiet. This plan may mollify a number of "kickers." An old farmer's remedy is to strap a surcingle tightly around the cow's body just forward of the udder. Whether it is the feeling of restraint that it gives or some effect of the pressure at the upper extremity of the udder, or the constriction of the muscles that draw the leg forward is difficult to say, but the plan is often successful. There are, too, appliances for drawing back the leg and holding it, clamps to screw on the joint, etc. But half the battle will be ours if the confidence and good will of the animal can be won by kind treatment and such conciliatory advances as rubbing her neck and the offer of a handful of meal.—Charles H. Crandall in N. Y Tribune.

Axioms for Beef Growers.

Some kinds of cattle will come to maturity sooner than others. Some cattle will return a larger amount of weight for a given quantity of food than others. Some cattle will give a larger percentage of desirable and valuable meat to the undesirable and invaluable than others. Some cattle will be eagerly sought after and greedily bought by butchers, while others, which have really cost more money to raise, will be shunned, and if bought at all, only at an unremunerative price. The present beef markets are the most eloquent advocates of intelligent improvement in beef production. The differences in prices of the desirable and undesirable types are too great to be longer ignored by our cattle raisers. A new fashion in beef animals has invaded our land, and in this as in everything else, fashion is a despot. Its mandates must be observed, its orders must be obeyed.

Breed in accordance with the requirements of the fashion, whether you like the fashion or not. Beef cattle are low in price, but poor beef cattle are much lower than good ones. It costs no more, nor as much to raise the good than the poor. Cattle we must have, our farms demand them, they are one of the foundation stones of fertility. The necessity acknowledged, it is folly to hesitate regarding the kind of cattle to grow. Breeders adapted to the present demands of the beef market are at hand, and of their capacity we need have no doubt. There never was a time when the desired blood could be so cheaply introduced into our herds as now, and probably will not be again for many years to come This fact coupled with the almost positive assurance that the margin of price between the desirable and undesirable types is rapidly growing wider in our markets, pleads "trumpet tongued" for a universal improvement in beef cattle. I can not afford to buy a blooded bull, nor ever pay for the service of one while cattle are so low in price," is neither good logic nor good business. Better reasoning is this. "Cattle are low in price; the best are low enough; the poorer then are out of the question. The times demand the best, and if at present prices the best show no prospect of profit, why should I invite heavy loss by raising the poor?—Farm, Stock and Home.

New Blood in Poultry.

New blood in poultry is the basis of beauty, vigor and prolificness. It is more essential to successful poultry culture than all else combined. Fowls that are inbred, that have been bred in line several years without the addition or infusion of fresh blood from other strains of the same variety, but to which they are not directly related, become inactive, diminutive and unprofitable.

It has been said that inbred fowls breed true to feather, and that for this reason, because they all come alike and are therefore best suited to exhibition, inbreeding is desirable, and this is true to a very great extent, for we have tried it. They do come alike in more respects than one. They breed true to feather, it is true, but they also have the same inactive, stupid and unattractive appearance. Their very life seems to have been dulled. They are slow to develop in form and muscle, and they are slow to lay.

While inbred fowls may be suitable for exhibition purposes, they are certainly unprofitable, and for this reason with the person who is keeping poultry for profit, they should have no part or lot.

Far more desirable is the fowl that by its very appearance, its very move and action manifests the fresh, new blood that it embodies. There is an activity, grace and vigor about it that is refreshing.

The male bird that comes of fresh blood is the one that is ever on the alert to make himself attractive and agreeable to his mates. Every choice bit of food that he finds he saves for them, and he calls them about him with a gallantry that is admirable. He leads them to the nest over which he crows with a satisfactory crow, that seems to manifest a knowledge of its value in the poultry world.

A male bird of this kind crows from the top of the fence with a flap of the wings that always gives notice of the bugle call that is to follow.

Equal to the male bird of fresh blood is the hen that comes of a similar parentage. She is keen and active, healthy and vigorous, and one of the best layers of her kind. In truth, in no way does new blood manifest itself more strongly than in the laying qualities of our hens.

It is absolutely necessary, in order to have our hens lay profitably, that is, to lay enough eggs to pay for their keep and a profit besides, that we introduce fresh blood in our flocks every year. The writer has kept a record for several years, and observed closely, and in every instance the pullets of the newest blood that come of the flock in which a male absolutely un-akin to the females had been introduced the spring previous, were always the first to lay, in point of age, and make the best layers generally.

To have healthy, vigorous and profitable poultry we must then, without any question, introduce new blood annually in our flocks.—Southern Cultivator.

A Study of Merinos.

For more than 2,000 years prior to the beginning of the present century the Spaniards bred the Merino sheep and kept the blood pure. The government did not allow any of them to go out of the country. The Napoleonic wars opened the way for their dissemination by confiscating the property of the nobles and princes, they owning the best flocks. It was then that importations of these sheep arrived in this country. Several flocks went to Vermont. The animals were wrinkly and somewhat greasy. These features being considered evidences of "royal blood" the subsequent breeding there was to that end. Wrinkles and weight of fleece (which in this case largely means grease) were bred for at the expense of size of body and vigor of constitution, and to-day "Vermont sheep" and "wrinkles and grease" are synonymous. These are properly the Spanish merinos. One lot of the earliest importation found its way to Ohio, where subsequent successful inbreeding from them has ever since been conducted with other ends in view—to breed off the wrinkles, to secure longer wool freerer from grease, larger carcass and more vigorous constitution. Flocks of similar breeding have sprung up in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and other places. These improved sheep can be rightfully classed under the one general head of American Merinos. Some of the sub-divisions are the Dickinson, Blackton, Delaine, and Mutton. Breeders of these different families claim direct descent from the Humphrey importation of 1802; whether this be really so or not, the animals of the various flocks appear alike and their powers of prepotency are well established.

It is rightly claimed for the American Merinos that they are the best combination of wool and mutton, with the quality of early maturity, herding, feeding, vigor of constitution and prepotent power of reproduction. The bucks are largely in demand in California, Texas, and on the Southwestern ranges for several reasons: Merinos will eat ten to twelve more kinds of herbage than any other breed, in a continuously warm climate nature goes to work at once to relieve them of their surplus fleeces, if Northern blood were not constantly introduced the average weight of fleece would soon shrink to a minimum. So long as sheep are grown for profit in the warmer sections of the United States, there will be required a constant in-pouring of Northern blood where nature provides the animals with a finer and denser coating their protection from the ever changeable weather. The sheep in warmer climate are shorn twice a year, principally because at the close of the hot dry season the wool takes a new start in growth and if not short then there will be a weak spot in the wool fibre, seriously imparing the value of the fleece The American Merinos possessing so great a weight of fleece and length of fibre free from gum and surplus grease is found to be desirable in such season. An inch or even half an inch, increased length at the semi-annual clipping adds largely to the prices obtainable for the out-put of wool.—Galen Wilson in New York Tribune.

Grading Up.

If we realized how little it costs to have good animals we would certainly possess them. For the shambles, the dairy, or work, high grade are fully as good as pure bred animals. In fact a majority of feeders prefer high grade cattle, sheep or hogs to full blooded animals for feeding for flesh. They put on flesh as economically and rapidly as pure bred stock, and a touch of native blood makes them a little less fastidious about their food and a little better adapted to "rustling." But this touch of native blood should not exceed one-eighth. That is, for the animal to be as desirable as a full blood for all purposes other than breeding it must have at least seven-eighths good blood.

Now how long and how much money will it take to get this? Not a reader of this paper has perhaps a scrub animal; all our stock has at least a little improved blood. But to make the worst possible case for grading up, so that none can object, we will presume that our animals are scrubs. A full-blooded boar can be bought for ten dollars more than a scrub. He will not have a fancy pedigree, but he will have an undoubted and a good one—he will be a registered hog; and he will be a first-class animal in individual merits. This boar will, with fair care and feed, serve thirty sows in one season and get at least 250 live pigs. At the end of this season he will sell for more than a scrub; but we will not count this, and therefore the cost per pig of the improvement he has made is four cents. That is, a half blood pig costs four cents more than a scrub. Using a pure bred male on the half blood sows will produce three-quarters good blood pigs, at an additional cost of four cents per pig; and a further expense of four cents per pig will bring the pigs up to a seven-eighths grade. Thus the total cost of a seven-eighth grade pig above a scrub is only twelve cents, and the improvement can be made in about two years and a half. How very cheap this improvement! No sensible man can doubt that it would be highly profitable.

How much will a seven-eighths grade calf cost above a scrub? I can get a good Shorthorn, Holstein Friesian or Jersey bull for $40 more than a scrub will cost. This animal will not have a fancy pedigree, but it will be a good, registered one; and for our purpose such an animal is just as good as one having a fancy pedigree. During the season this bull will get fifty calves, and he may be used a second season. Hence the cost of the improvement he puts on each calf will be only forty cents. The first forty cents will make the calf a half blood; the second will make it a three-quarter blood, and the third forty cents will bring it up to our standard—seven-eighths improved blood. The total cost per calf is $1 20! The value of the improvement, when the animal is three years old, is not less than $12—at least ten times what it has cost. Certainly realizing one thousand per cent. on an investment is good business.

If a farmer has not fifty sows or fifty cows he can purchase a full blooded boar or bull in partnership with some neighbors. Likely a purchase on the co-operation plan is best. Let one of the purchasers be paid so much for taking care of the animals, and all parties pay so much per service; then at the close of the season the margin of receipts for services above expenditure for care is divided among the purchasers, in proportion to the amount of purchase money contributed by each. Of course it will be very desirable to purchase a full blooded female also. Her produce being full blooded can be used as breeders, thus keeping at home the money that otherwise would be sent elsewhere for pure bred males, while a herd of pure bred animals would be built up. The service of a male could be exchanged with some neighbor if necessary, to avoid too close in-and-in breeding.—Stockman and Farmer.

The annual meeting of the American Poland-China Record Company will be held at the Grand Hotel, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, beginning Wednesday, January 15, 1890.

Last year the December receipts at the Chicago stock yards were 211,861 cattle, 5,436 calves, 447,075 hogs, 135,833 sheep, and 3 287 horses. It is estimated that this month's receipts of hogs will be at least 200,000 head in excess of the number received last December.

The New York Sun says that the following are standard quotations in the New York horse market: "Pairs of matched carriage horses from $800 to $1,600, pair of coachers $800 to $1,200, saddle horses $300 to $1,000, teams of truckers $600 to $900, express pairs $600 to $800, single drivers (or light roadsters) $250 to $750, business horses $175 to $250 roadsters $100 to $150.

The progress of Aberdeen-Angus cattle is indicated by the fact that 11,260 have been registered by the American Association having this breed in charge—1,396 during the last year.

The number of hogs packed between November 1st and December 17th at leading points is 2,190,000, against 1,785,000 a year ago, showing an increase of 405,000. As compared with two years ago there is a moderate decrease for the season.

A Breeding Theory.

On another page will be found a letter from C. Bruce Lowe, of Sidney, New South Wales, a gentleman who has paid a good deal of attention to the breeding problem, and is considered by Australians the peer of any man living in the knowledge which is so highly essential to those who study and carry out practically the various theories which are from time to time brought before the public by the many writers for the sporting press. Mr. Lowe advances a theory that is not altogether new, but presents it so forcibly that it is well worthy of the consideration of every breeder in this country. We should be pleased to hear from our readers what they think of Mr. Lowe's idea, as there cannot be too much said or written in regard to any new suggestion that will tend to enlighten those who are breeding to get the best.

P. C. T. H. B. A.

Next Wednesday evening is the time selected for the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, and every member should make it a point to be present. The annual election for officers is the most important feature of the meeting, and it is to the interest of each and every one that a suitable Board of Directors be chosen. A Breeders' Association should not be one only in name, but should be controlled by those who have the interests of breeders at heart; in fact, should be directed by gentlemen actually in the business. There are plenty of live, wide-awake breeders who can be selected as Directors from among the following names. Leland Stanford, Wm. Corbitt, G. Valensin, M. Salisbury, F. H. Burke, F. W. Loeber, D. M. Reavis, S. N. Straube, R. Gird, W. Page, J. H. White, G W. Guerne, Irvin Ayres, E. Topham, A. Gonzalez and Gilbert Tompkins. These names are simply taken at random, and without having a list of the members to select from, gentlemen who are in the business to make money, and it is only natural to suppose that they would guard the interests of the association as they would any of the details of their own private affairs. It is from such as these that the Directors should be taken, and if this suggestion is acted upon, the breeder's meeting of 1890 will be the most successful ever held in California.

If a fair representation from various portions of the State should be present, it will be a favorable opportunity to start the Pacific Coast Trotting Association, which was talked so much about last Fall. In fact, there are so many important matters to be looked after, that every member should be present. Remember, Wednesday evening, January 8th, at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco.

The Breeder and Sportsman Futurity Stake.

As has been predicted in our columns for several weeks past, the Futurity Stake is a grand success. Every mail brings further additions to the already large list, and many are still expected from the southern portion of the State, the washouts preventing the arrival of the Los Angeles mail up to the time of our going to press. Every prominent breeding establishment has sent in a reasonable quota of nominations, and scores have sent in as entries the produce of one and two mares. In the next issue of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN the full list of entries will be given, so that all may know what there is in the stake.

A Meeting Necessary.

Some weeks ago we called attention to the fact that it was necessary in the near future to have a meeting of delegates from each of the associations in the State, to name dates for the fair season of 1890. Since the first mention was made of the matter several gentlemen have discussed it pro and con when visiting at the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S office, and one and all seem anxious to prevent the clashing that occurred last year. As is readily understood, each and every association cannot have a week all to itself, but arrangements can be made so that there will be various circuits formed which will not interfere one with another. There are now so many horses trained annually in California that there are plenty and to spare for all the meetings if the Directors of the same will only arrange them properly. We should like to hear from the Secretaries of the different associations as to the views of their Directors, and would also like to have suggestions made as to the most advantageous place of meeting for the delegates. From present appearances it seems highly plausible to suppose that there will be at least four circuits, two in the South and two in the North, and if due attention is paid to the fixing of dates no trouble should be experienced in making each of the meetings a financial success. There is no time to waste now; the dates must be arranged very soon, and it is to the interest of every association to take time by the forelock and have it understood what dates each city and town will claim. Letters bearing on this subject are now in order and we hope to hear from every section of the State, especially from the officers of the Agricultural Societies.

California vs. Kentucky.

For many years the Golden State has been recognized as the principal horse breeding State in the Union, and it does hurt the feelings of a Kentuckian to hear peons of praise raised in favor of California. The Eastern journalists, to a man, declare that the particular State in which they reside is the equal of the Pacific Coast States when the breeding of colts is called in question, and yet every now and again a wail goes forth from some one of the writers that tends to show that the shoe is pinching terribly. In a late number of the Kentucky Stock Farm the well known "Iconoclast" says.—

"Aurelius in a late communication intimates that the Californians trot their horses till half past eleven o'clock on the night of December 31. While this is rather a strong statement, it embodies the truth with substantial accuracy. Long after the season is past in which it is possible for Eastern people to trot or train their horses the work of record making and record breaking is proceeding on the Western Coast. This gives the Pacific breeder an undue advantage over those east of the Rockies, and enables them to obtain marks for their horses, particularly their youngsters, long after our trotting season is past."

Undue advantage, forsooth. You are trying on a child's method, taking advantage of the baby act, Mr. Iconoclast, and it is not manly. Come out openly and say to your readers that the climatic influences of California are such that Kentucky cannot hope to compete with California in horse breeding. Say also that the rich and succulent native grasses are so nutrative that a yearling in California is fully as large as a two year old raised in Kentucky, and do not take our word for the assertion, but ask any honest and fair-minded Kentuckian who has visited this glorious State during the winter that is now in progress. There is not a month in the year passes but what some Eastern breeder visits California and carries away, as the result of purchase, one or more of our native grown foals. Can you believe it possible, Iconoclast, that Col. Strader, W. H. Allen, Sibley & Miller, S. A. Brown, W. H. Wilson, R. Steele, J. I. Case, Robert Bonner and other well known breeders would come to this faraway State and buy horses if they could secure what they desired in Kentucky? No indeed; they recognize the fact that just what they want is raised in California, and as a consequence they come here to buy. When the Haggin yearlings are offered for sale annually in New York the prices realized are far larger than for those sent from any other section of the country. Why? Because the colts and fillies are so superior in size and hardiness that the eye of the expert is taken at once, and the conclusion is forced upon prospective purchasers that there is not the same element of chance in buying California yearlings that there is in bidding on those sent on from Kentucky. Every breeder who visits this State is a walking advertisement for California, and the day is fast approaching when breeders from the Eastern States will endeavor to secure eligible locations in this State to start stock farms, and thus enjoy the advantages which have made the name of California known from one end of the world to the other.

St. Louis Jockey Club.

Entry blanks and advance programmes of the June race meeting of the St. Louis Jockey Club may be had on application to this office or to the rooms of the leading pool sellers. Under the management of President Chas. Green and Secretary C. W. Bellairs the meetings of the Club are most successful, beside being very rich from a racing standpoint.

A Fight on Hand.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING HORSE BREEDERS,
Secretary's Office, 1 Broadway, New York, Dec. 13, '89.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—It becomes my official duty to notify you of the following action of this association:

Whereas, It appears that a certain agricultural paper published in Boston, Mass., called The American Cultivator, has assumed, without any authority, to administer a garbled and incorrect form of the standard of this association, and issue certificates of standard rank thereon; and

Whereas, These irregular and unauthorized certificates have conferred fictitious standard rank on many animals that are not standard, and cannot be registered as standard, thus encouraging dishonesty and inflicting a wrong upon the unwary; therefore

Resolved, That the compiler of Wallace's American Trotting Register be requested, as the most direct means of abating these evils, to decline to accept pedigrees from any breeder or dealer who knowingly or wilfully seeks the benefit of registration under an unauthorized and garbled standard, wherever sought to be administered.

L. D. PACKER, Secretary.

A Good Pedigree.

Many years ago the name of Nathan Coombs was known of all horsemen. His thoroughbreds were of the best, and at various times thousands have watched his colors come under the wire first. As time wore on, and the "Coombs Boys" grew to manhood's estate, Frank L. and Nathan contracted a fondness for the trotting division, and from the beginning have endeavored to breed only the very best. Their success, like that of many others, has been varied, but now they have one, that from the great producing blood lines shown, should prove a veritable wonder. We give below the tabulated pedigree of

The stallion advertisements will from now out be a source of interest to all who own brood mares and from week to week the announcements will be read with intense eagerness as every one desires to breed to the best. In the proper column this week will be found the card of P. J. Williams, an old turfite, than whom there is no better judge of breeding and form for many a mile around. He has purchased the young stallion Silver Bow, one of the highest bred trotters in the State who comes from speed producing lines on both the top and bottom crosses. An examination of the pedigree will convince the most skeptical. His sire Robert McGregor, has a host in the '30" list and is also the sire of Bonnie McGregor 2:13¼, and that surely should be recommendation enough for those who are looking for fast stock. Silver Bow is only three years old and Mr. Williams has very wisely limited his service to fifteen approved mares. Those who are looking for a gilt edged pedigree should not fail to examine the tabulation of Silver Bow.

Mr. H. P. Rennie, of Oakland, advertises cocker spaniels in another part of the paper. His dogs are of the best breeding and are winners.

Answers to Correspondents.

Answers for this department must be accompanied by the name and address of the sender, not necessarily for publication, but as proof of good faith. Write the questions distinctly, and on one side of the paper only. Positively no questions will be answered by mail or telegraph.

A. J.
Who owns the horse Baywood by Nutwood?
Answer—E. S. Smith, 119 Empire St. San Jose.

F. K. Lewis.
Please answer the following questions. Has Chieftain 721 any record? What is the address of the party to send to for blanks for registering horses.
Answer—No. We have forwarded the necessary blanks to you.
The other queries you sent will be answered in all probability next week.

Milton Medium.
Several week ago a subscriber asked whether Milton Medium was still alive and we said yes This was a mistake as Milton Medium, died at Walla Walla in 1883.

E. W. C.
Answer—Arno has none of his progeny in the 2:30 list. He has no record.

S. D. P.
Will you kindly give breeding of Grey Dale, dam of Silverthreads. Is she standard? Is Newlands Hambletonian standard?
Answer—Grey Dale by American Boy Jr., he by American Boy the sire of Belmont; dam Grey Poll by Winfield Scott, he by Edward Everett; 2nd dam Sorred Poll by Sir Henry; 3rd dam by Printer. She is not standard. Newland's Hambletonian is not standard.

Inquirer.
Will you kindly give me the pedigree and number of "Belvoir" and record, if he has any. I believe he is owned in Cheyenne, Wyoming
Answer.—Belvoir 6150, foaled 1880, by Belmont 64, dam Puss Prall, by Mark Time, son of Berthune, 2nd dam by Daniel Webster, son of Lance, etc. He is not in the 2:30 list. He is owned by G. B. Goodell, Cheyenne, Wyoming Territory.

A Subscriber.
Is a mare sired by Mambrino Wilkes, 6083, dam by Chieftain, 721, eligible to be registered?
Answer.—Yes.

San Jose.
Chieftain is the sire of Flora, with a record of 2:36 and trial 2:28. She campaigned against Ajax and others; her dam is by Wilson's Lemon. Is this the same Flora that is accredited to Chieftain with a mark of 2:30? If so, please state where and when she made the record, and oblige.
Answer.—The records do not show that the Flora you allude to has a record of 2:36, but 2:39¼. The Flora accredited to Chieftain is a pacer with a record of 2:30, made at San Francisco August 29th, 1872.

J. H. O.
What qualifications does it require for a stallion to take a premium at a fair as a roadster, and what would bar him.
Answer.—According to the rule as laid down by the Directors of the State Fair Association, any carriage horse which is not standard bred, is eligible, for a roadster premium. Being standard bred would be a bar. However, different associations have different rules.

Horseman.
Please give the breeding of San Bruno and his record. Also the breeding of Algerine.
Answer:—San Bruno by Geo. M. Patchen Jr., dam not traced. Record 2:25¼. Algerine, by Capt. Fisher, dam Maria Mink. Record 2:45.

J. L. W.
Will you please answer through your valuable columns the following questions: 1st. What is the number of Carr's Mambrino? 2nd. Give names and records of horses that he has sired. 3d. Is Dan Voorhees registered? If so, give number. Also give names and records of horses he has sired. 4th. Is the sire of Bella Alta, Williamson's Belmont, trotting bred or not?
Answer.—(1) 1789. (2) It would take too much space to give the names of the horses he has sired, but he has in the 2:30 list Lady Ellen 2:29¼, and is also the sire of the dam of Ella 2:29. (4) Yes; Dan Voorhees 887. He has in the list Jim L. 2:20½. (4) Belmont was a thoroughbred.

Subscriber.
Please inform me of the pedigree of Silver King, bred by Alvinza Hayward.
Answer.—Silver King 3622 by Hambletonian 725, dam Harvest Queen, 2:29½, by Hambletonian 10, 2nd dam Dubois mare by American Star 14, 3rd dam by Abdallah 1.

S. C. J.
Will you please tell me what Alfalfa is.
Answer.—Lucern (Medicago Sativa), a forage plant of the family leguminoseæ, and related to clover (trifolium) not only in its botanical characters but in its agricultural uses. The derivation of the word is obscure, but it is supposed by some to be from the Swiss canton of the same name; it is known in Spain as alfalfa, which name it bears also in Spanish American countries, and is still retained in California and New Mexico. The root of lucerne is perennial, from which arise erect, smooth, branching stems, two feet or more high; the leaves are triple, the flowers instead of being dense head as in clover, are erect and the corolla violet purple, and the many seeded pod spirally coiled. It was probably cultivated several centuries before Christ, and came into European agriculture through the south of France and Spain. Lucern has never been much grown in England or in the older parts of the United States, but on the continent of Europe and in our far Southern and Western States it is regarded as of great value—its reputation on the Pacific Coast has led agriculturalists at the East to experiment with it. The experiments of Chancellor Livingston near the close of the last century called the attention of farmers to lucern as a valuable forage plant, but our agriculture was not then sufficiently advanced to make its culture profitable; it is only when draining and improved tillage are practiced that its value is manifest. The plant has very long roots, sometimes penetrating to twelve feet or more, hence it is quite unsuited to light, thin soil, with a poor subsoil.

J. F. Merced.
Did Mr. S. Whipple have in 1879 a horse called Shafter and a mare called Harvest Queen? If so, can you give me the pedigree of the horse Shafter? I believe that he was bred by Mr McCracken of Consumne, Sacramento County, and was by David Hill.
Answer.—A letter sent to Mr. J. L. McCord has been replied to as follows:

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 28, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 26th duly at hand, and in reply to the horse Shafter I don't know him by that name. He might have been named after leaving the ranch. Give me his age and description and I can tell you if any such horse was foaled there since 1875 as I have obtained the old Stud book that was kept by J. G. McCracken that far back.

We have every occasion to believe that the horse you refer to was originally called "Butte" and was owned at one time by Judge J. McM. Shafter of this city. He passed through several hands and was finally taken to your section of the country. If it is the same horse, we imagine he was by David Hill, dam a printer mare.

J. B. G.
Please inform me if my filly, sired by Fallis, dam by Tilton Almont, second dam a running mare, is standard. If so, what will I have to do to have her registered? What is the best method for laying out a mile track where you have plenty of room? Please answer in your columns.
Answer.—Your filly is standard. Send full address and we will forward you the necessary blanks.
For a mile track draw a line through an oblong center 440 yards in length, setting a stake at each end. Then draw a line on either side of the first line, exactly parallel with and 140 yards from it, setting stakes at either end of them. You will then have an oblong square 440 yards long and 280 yards wide. At each end of these three lines you will now set stakes. Now then fasten a cord or wire 140 yards long to the center stake of your parallelogram, and then describe a half circle, driving stakes as often as you wish to set a fence-post. This half circle, commencing at one side and extended to the other, will measure 440 yards. When the circle is made at both ends of your parallelogram you will have two straight sides that measure 440 yards each, and two circles of exactly the same length, which, measured three feet from the fence, will be exactly a mile. The turns should be thrown up an inch to the foot.

Lorena and Starlight.

I had occasion a few days ago to visit Capt. Harris' stable, corner of Turk and Steiner streets, and there I saw two of my favorites, Lorena and Starlight. The former is now three years old and the latter two, yet both of them are campaigners and earned laurels last year. Lorena has filled out wonderfully and gives every promise of being as speedy as a ghost. Only a few days ago her owner drove her half a mile in 1:08½, and the Captain feels sure that he has a coming world beater. There is no one that will begrudge him his luck, for he has been a persistent breeder for many years, and it seems that at last luck has smiled on him. Starlight has improved as much in proportion as has Lorena, and the chestnut filly shows every indication of great speed. As their names will appear prominently before the public this year, I herewith give their pedigrees:—

LORENA. Foaled 1887.
- Jim Mulvenna
  - Nutwood
    - Belmont
      - Alexander's Abdallah by Hambletonian 10
      - Belle, by Mambrino Chief.
    - Miss Russell
      - Pilot Jr., by old pacer Pilot.
      - Sallie Russel by Boston.
  - Jennie McLane.
    - Budd Doble.
    - By Geo. M. Patchen Jr.
    - Lady Clinton, formerly Lady Champlain, from a daughter of Gray Mess.
- Elmorene
  - Elmo
    - Mohawk
      - Long Island Black Hawk, by Andrew Jackson.
      - Not traced.
    - Daughter of Sir Richard, by John's Sir Richard by Diomed.
  - Princess
    - Woodford Mambrino, Mambrino Chief, Mambrino Paymaster.
    - Jennie Simpson.
      - Autocrat, by Democrat.
      - Golddust Belle, by Dorsey's Golddust.

STARLIGHT. Foaled 1888.
- Dawn
  - Nutwood (See pedigree above).
  - Countess
    - Whipple's Hambletonian
      - Guy Miller, by Hambletonian 10.
      - Martha Washington, by Burr's Washington.
    - Lady Hamilton, untraced, but brought across the plains in 1863.
- Lena Bowles
  - Vicks' Ethan Allen
    - Ethan Allen of New York, etc.
    - Harris mare by Hambletonian 2.
  - Lady Schafer
    - Williamson's Belmont.
    - Daughter of Paul's Abdallah, by Hambletonian 10. (At San Jose).

Miss Mary Garrett, of Baltimore, Md., the millionaire spinster, has lost a valuable blooded horse under unusual circumstances, says the Horseman. The gelding was pure white and was a favorite with his owner. He was by Adrock and his granddam was the celebrated white Arabian mare which William McDonald imported and which was afterward the property of Jno. W. Garrett. The skeleton of the Arabian mare is mounted, and is now at Druid Hall Park. The gelding had been sick a short while with spasms. The doctors discovered that there was no chance to save the animal and came to the conclusion it had an abscess or tumor on the brain. Miss Garrett gave the animal to Johns Hopkins University professors for the benefit of science. The professors killed the horse with hypodermic injections. The autopsy which was held by the professors revealed a tumor on both sides of the brain. The one in the right lobe was pronounced the largest ever found, and surgeons were surprised that a horse could live under such circumstances.

The Valensin Stock Farm.

As another year has rolled around, we again have to announce to our readers that the Valensin Stud Farm stallions, Sidney and Simmocolon are as usual to stand for the coming season, for a few select mares at the farm at Pleasanton. While the new arrival has not the reputation of the premier stallion, still he has many friends, those who have seen him in his work, and while it is highly probable that Sidney's book will fill very rapidly, still there is every reason to believe that Simmecolon will also have plenty of custom.

Mr. Valensin has tabulated the pedigree of Simmocolon so that breeders can see at a glance what grand blood flows through the veins of the late arrival Simmons, his sire, is one of the most fashionable sires in Kentucky to-day, and he already has nine or ten in the 2:30 list. Simmocolon has a record of 2:29½, and in making that he actually walked under the wire, his mark being no criterion of his speed. Examine the advertisement and then select what mares you can spare to send to the Valensin Stock Farm stallions.

A Rumor Probably Founded on Fact.

Since the first of last year prominent breeders whose stock farms are in the Eastern States have been snapping up all the stallions in California that money could buy. There is not a horse of any note whatever but what someone has wanted the owner to price, and it has only been by the use of the emphatic NO that any of the better known are still retained in the State. And now comes a rumor, too late for verification this week, that Mr. Guerne of Santa Rosa is in negotiation with parties in Kentucky for the services of Alfred G, and also with the understanding that he shall put a purchasing price on the colt. His record of 2:19¾, made under the most adverse circumstances, stamped him as a horse of rare speed at the trot, and those who witnessed the performance are fully aware that the son of Anteeo can beat his present mark all to pieces.

The story as it is told, is, that J. W. Knox, who took Anteeo to Kentucky, is in negotiation for Alfred G., and that Mr. Guerne has put the price at $25,000. It seems that parties from the same State are also after Redwood, 2:24½, he another son of Anteeo, and the gossipy witch, Dame Rumor, says it is very likely that California will lose the services of both these colts.

Stock Farm Problems.

Care of Brood Mares and Foals.

II.

SOUTHER FARM, SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 1, 1890.

The entire life of a colt may be changed for better or worse by the treatment given the mare when in foal. A reasonable amount of work is a benefit; but overwork or overdriving robs the embryo foal of a part of its life. At least two months rest should be given before the time the mare is due to foal.

The surroundings of a pregnant mare have considerable influence on the future of the foal. The best and strongest children come from happy marriages of healthy people; and the best colts may reasonably be expected from well selected mares that are well fed and sheltered. Keep them happy, if good care, feed, and shelter will do it, and the strength and vigor of the new born foals will well repay the work.

If the weather is pleasant and the nights are not too cold a mare may foal out of doors as well as anywhere else; but as mares should foal as near the first of the year as possible, and as our beautiful winter and spring climate may be broken in upon by storms, good shelter should be provided. Last season my brood mares were kept in boxstalls twelve feet wide and sixteen feet long; although these proved satisfactory, I am now building a row of boxstalls which will be sixteen feet square, with a paddock sixteen feet wide and twenty-four feet long to each stall. This gives plenty of room, and the paddocks are good places for the colts to stay until they get the full use of their legs, when they may be turned out if the weather is pleasant and the feed good. Colts should be kept on level ground for a couple of months; after that nothing does them more good than a reasonable amount of hill-climbing, which hardens their legs and feet wonderfully.

Watch every mare and colt, and if either is not thriving take them up and give extra food—bran with ground barley or crushed oats makes fine milk food. Unless alfalfa fields are at hand the long dry summer almost invariably tells on both mare and colt. When it does, put them in at night, give mixed feed and feed again in the morning before turning out. The colt soon finds out what the soft feed is for, and when weaned will take all the comfort it can in a well filled feed box, forgetting in short order the loss of its mother's milk. This greatly reduces the chances of any set-backs at the time of weaning, when many a good colt loses several months of growth.

Colts must be watched, and watched carefully and systematically. Every colt that dies may be considered to use up the amount it would sell for when grown. A stock farm does not feel the feed and care of one colt, and the mares and stallions must be cared for anyway. Then the colt that dies may be the best one on the ranch and the one that would make his family famous—if he only lived. Death is thoroughly impartial and comes to every farm sooner or later, but it comes the more often to where it is invited by carelessness, poor food, lack of shelter and general neglect.

As a friend of mine once said, there are only two satisfactory ways of raising horses. One is the range, where the stock have never know shelter, and the colts grow up after the manner of goats. This range stock is useful on street cars, butcher carts and delivery wagons, but is practically worthless when safety and steadiness are required without working to death to get these qualities. These horses sell cheap, but can be raised at a very small cost, and the business is profitable in the right place and under good management; but there is very little middle ground that can safely be used between the range system and the good care required to bring up large, honest and safe track, road and family horses.

Mares accustomed to warm stables cannot be turned loose on rocky hills in cold and storms and thrive, nor can they begin to produce the colts they should and would produce, under proper care. The colt has an awful lot to do with the making of the horse—neglect its mother, neglect the foal in the early spring and at weaning time let it rustle for a living on goat pastures during its first winter and you may raise a second quality street car horse if it doesn't die. Nothing but a wonderful triumph of individual greatness over unfortunate surroundings will ever make it anything better

The meeting was called to order at 1:15 P. M, Vice-President Terry in the chair.

Present: Associates, Dr. Perry; Philadelphia Kennel Club, J. H. Winslow; Southern Field Trial Club, J. L Anthony; Great Dane Club, G. Muss-Arnolt; Michigan Kennel Club, J. M. Taylor; Westminster Kennel Club, T. H. Terry; Collie Club of America, G. B. Cromwell; St. Paul Kennel Club, A. D. Lewis; Mascoutah Kennel Club, J. Mortimer; American Spaniel Club, J. Watson; New England Kennel Club, F. B Fay; New Jersey Kennel Club, A. C. Wilmerding; Fox Terrier Kennel Club, W. Rutherford; Beagle Club, H. F. Schellhass.

Minutes of the previous meeting read and approved.

The Secretary's report was read as follows by the Secretary:

To the Delegates of the American Kennel Club—Gentlemen:—Since my last report I have received an application from the Continental Kennel Club of Denver, Colorado, for admission to this Association. This application was duly forwarded and received in accordance with the rule laid down in your Constitution, and said applicant is eligible to membership and is hereby recommended. As this Club held its first Bench Show December 5th, and has complied with all the requirements of our rules, I would respectfully recommend the adoption of a resolution at this meeting by which the awards made at said show shall be recognized by the American Kennel Club. At the last meeting of this club the application of the California Kennel Club was laid on the table until your Secretary could correspond with the Pacific Kennel Club on the expediency of admitting another member from San Francisco. Your Secretary mailed communications to both the Committee of the California Kennel Club and the Secretary of the Pacific Kennel Club, to which he received in due course a reply from the latter, which will be laid before you at this meeting.

The Brooklyn Kennel Club was promptly notified of their rejection at our last meeting, and upon its order the dues forwarded to me with the application was returned, and the receipt for the same is on file in this office. The Southern California Kennel Club was duly notified of its election to membership, and of the fact that the awards at its show held prior to its admission would not be recognized, to which no reply has been received from any of its officers, but under date of December 6th President Belmont, Jr., forwarded me a communication from Mr. J. B. Martin of San Francisco, an exhibitor at said show, asking this club to reconsider its action, so far as the recognition of the awards is concerned, upon the ground that as the show was advertised to be held under A. K. C. rules, many entries were made by exhibitors from a great distance, expecting that wins would count, and that the action of this club is a hardship to innocent parties. And further, such action on the part of the American Kennel Club would encourage and assist dog shows on the Pacific Coast. This matter is now before you for further action if you deem it advisable. The special committee on the "revision of the rules," appointed at the last meeting, completed its labors and published its report and recommendations in the November Gazette. In this connection I would advise you that Mr James L. Anthony was appointed on said committee in the place of Mr. F. R. Hitchcock, who resigned on account of absence from the city. A communication from the German Mastiff or Great Dane Club of America, submits a copy of its Rule 29 as follows: "This Club adopts the Standard of points and the scale of measurements as approved September 4 1889, as the correct standard and scale of points for judging in this country, and this club will not, through its membership, exhibit German Mastiff or Great Dane dogs at bench shows, unless they are to be judged by standard points and scale of values as adopted by this club." The German Mastiff or Great Dane Club requests the American Kennel Club to take action in this matter. The members feel that their standard is correct, and in order to make it effective in this country would respectfully ask this club to adopt the same for the judging of this breed of dogs at all shows held by members of the American Kennel Club. I have received from Dr. J. Frank Perry notice of proposed amendments to Article IV of the Constitution, and published same in the November issue of the American Kennel Gazette. It will be submitted for your action at this meeting. Charges have been preferred by Mr. Lorenzo Daniels against Mr. William Graham in the matter of the St. Bernard dog Visp II. Mr. Daniels claims that Mr. Graham misrepresented the dog, and owing to such misrepresentation said Daniels was put to an expense that should in his opinion be paid by Graham. In a letter following said charges Daniels states that he can produce witnesses to testify to the above mentioned misrepresentation. I also received a letter from Mr. Graham requesting the return of all papers deposited in this office as part of the testimony in a previous case between these gentlemen respecting the dog Visp II. This correspondence will be submitted to you at this meeting. Under the provision of Article XVIII of the Constitution, the annual dues of active members must be paid at or before January 1st of each year, under penalty of forfeiture of all right to representation in this club; and such delinquents may be suspended or dropped from the roll., I would respectfully request this meeting to adopt a resolution delegating the power to the Advisory Committee to suspend or drop such clubs as may be in arrears on January 2d next, if in the judgment of said committee it should be deemed proper. Your Secretary would recommend and urge the adoption of a resolution at this meeting, whereby the American Kennel Club shall donate at each show held by its members in the year 1890 a special prize, consisting of a complete set of the Stud books, to be competed for by members of the Specialty Clubs that are members in good standing of the American Kennel Club, and to be given to the best kennel of four owned by one exhibitor. The choice of club, to which this special shall be first awarded, to be determined by its date of membership in the American Kennel Club; that is, the oldest specialty member to compete at the first bench show of 1890, and as the shows progress the special to be designated according to seniority of membership.

As Treasurer of this club, I would say that I could see no good reason why I should depart from my usual custom in presenting the Treasurer's report and will submit the usual one, showing the gross amounts received and disbursed and the balance on hand, but would ask the adoption of a resolution at this meeting, directing the publication of a detailed financial statement of the club for the year ending December 31, 1889, and to appear in the Kennel Gazette of January, 1890. In conclusion, I have to advise you that I am just in receipt of the resignation of the Fort Schuyler Kennel Club of Utica, N. Y., which will be submitted to you for action. And by the same mail I received the application of the Duquesne Kennel Club of Pittsburg, Pa., for admission as an active member. The application enclosed the necessary papers and annual dues in proper form, and the club is eligible to membership. As this application did not reach me until 5 o'clock this day, that portion of the rule requiring it to be filed at this office at least ten days previous to election has not been complied with. I submit this application with the above remarks. Respectfully submitted,

A. P. VREDENBURGH, Secretary.

Adopted.

The Treasurers's report was read as follows:

NEW YORK, December 18, 1889.

The Treasurer begs to report as follows:

Receipts from all sources from January 11th to date	$7 649 41
Expenses for same period	6,482 30
Balance on hand	$1,167.11

Respectfully submitted,

A. P. VREDENBURGH, Treasurer.

Adopted.

Mr. Anthony—In connection with the recommendation made by the Secretary, I would like to offer, it it is in order at the present time, before any other business is proceeded with, the resolution that he has embodied in his report, namely, that he be required to prepare and publish in the January Gazette, a detailed statement of the financial condition of this club, and of every account upon his book showing exactly the sources of revenue derived and the expenditures, on account not only of the club, but the Stud Book and all other accounts that the Secretary and Treasurer has charge of I sincerely hope the resolution will prevail, because we desire the public and every delegate here to know exactly what has been done this year. I am at liberty to say to you, because I have examined the accounts, that after the items have been charged to their proper account, there is shown a surplus, a thing that I do not believe has been accomplished before by any club under similar circumstances.

The report of the Advisory Committee was read and adopted, and is as follows:

MEETING ADVISORY COMMITTEE, DECEMBER 19, 1889.

Present: T. H. Terry, Dr J. F. Perry, J. L. Anthony. Absent: A Belmont, Jr.. J. S. Wise.

Meeting called to order at 11 o'clock. Mr. Terry in the chair.

In the matter of American Pet-Dog Club, the Secretary having advised us that at a meeting of said club, it was voted to abolish the entire list of dogs as now designated as Pet Dogs in their list. On motion said club was recommended for election.

In the matter of the non-payment of the prizes by the Albany Kennel Club, the Secretary was ordered to suspend said club, and to notify the officers that if the several amounts now due exhibitors are not paid within 30 days, that the penalty under Rule 28 will be enforced.

In the matter of the charge made by Andrew Laidlaw against H. P. Rennie, the society was ordered to notify said Rennie, that if proper explanation or defense be not made or the matter satisfactorily adjusted between the complainant and defendant within 60 days, the prayer of the petitioner will be granted.

In the matter of the appeal of Jas. Watson against the action of the Rochester Kennel Club in not allowing the protest against the entry of the collie Metchley Surprise in the challenge class, was laid over until such time as Mr. Watson produces evidence to sustain his appeal.

In the matter of Mr. Huntington's resolution asking the A. K. C. to pay the travelling expenses of their associate delegates to and from meetings, it was resolved that said resolution be referred back to the full ex committee of the A. K. C., to be acted upon by them.

The following resolution was offered and adopted:

Whereas evidence has been received from Mr. Wm. Graham, informing this club that Mr. L. Daniels has failed to pay the amount due said Graham as per decision of this committee of June 10, 1889 amounting to $50.10.

Resolved, that Mr. Lorenzo Daniels be and hereby is suspended. That he be given 60 days within which to pay the award as made by this committee to Mr. Graham; that if said award be not paid and evidence of said payment is not furnished this committee on or before the expiration of said 60 days, said Daniels shall be disqualified.

(Signed) T. H. TERRY.
J. FRANK PERRY.
Adopted. J. L. ANTHONY.

The application of the California Kennel Club, which was laid over at the September meeting until advices were received from the Pacific Kennel Club, if in their judgment it would be advisable to admit two clubs from the same city, was submitted. The Secretary read a communication from the Pacific Kennel Club in reply to his communication on the subject, in which it was stated that there being a plan now on foot to consolidate the said California Kennel Club with the Pacific Kennel Club, in the opinion of the members of said Pacific Kennel Club it was deemed that it would be to the best interests of both the American Kennel Club and the doggy matters on the Pacific Coast to delay action on the application of the California Kennel Club, until further notice. On motion said application was laid over for future action, pending advices from the Pacific Kennel Club.

The report of the Special Committee on Rules was made, and the matter laid on the table for a subsequent action.

Applications from the American Pet Dog Club and the Continental Kennel Club were read by the Secretary, and on motion, both clubs were admitted to membership in the American Kennel Club, and on motion the awards of the show held by the Continental Kennel Club on December 5th, were recognized.

A communication was read from an exhibitor requesting a reconsideration of the action taken at the last meeting in the matter of not recognizing wins at the Southern California Kennel Club Show.

Major Taylor moved to reconsider such action.

Motion lost.

The Secretary then read a communication by Mr. Lorenzo Daniels, preferring charges against Mr. William Graham, in regard to the St. Bernard dog Visp II, Mr. Daniels claiming that Mr. Graham misrepresented the dog, and owing to such misrepresentation, he (Daniels) was put to considerable expense.

On motion of Mr. Anthony the communication of Mr. Daniels was laid on the table.

The following resolution by Dr. Perry was adopted:

Resolved, That attested copies be made of all documentary evidence furnished by William Graham in the case of Lorenzo Daniels, and the original be returned to him, as he has requested.

A communication was read from the Great Dane Club, the Secretary stating that they had furnished a copy of their standard and scale of points adopted by that club, and also a copy of their rules, and that they requested the American Kennel Club to recognize that standard at their show.

Mr. Muss-Arnolt: I offer a resolution that only dogs which shall conform to the standard of the Great Dane Club shall be registered in the Stud Book, regardless of pedigree.

Motion lost.

The request of the Great Dane Club for the American Kennel Club to enforce their standard was refused.

The Secretary called attention to the resolution offered at the last meeting by Mr. Huntington in regard to the American Kennel Club paying the traveling expenses of the associate delegates, which resolution was referred to the Advisory Committee. The Secretary stated that that committee had decided to refer the matter back to the Executive Committee, refering that they should act upon the matter.

Mr. Anthony: It seems to me it would be proper for the Secretary to be instructed to make an appropriation of $100 per annum from money received from the associate members, which amount should be used to pay the expenses of the delegates coming here to attend any meeting on business, and I make a motion to that effect.

Motion seconded and carried.

The President: I think I shall have to leave you shortly, but before I go I should like to bring up a subject that seems to me of some importance. The Kennel Gazette is published under the auspices of the American Kennel Club, but its officers are responsible for it, and the form and the matter has been in a great measure left to their discretion, and they have acted as best they could. There has been some criticism made with respect to the editorials in the Gazette, and that criticism was of such a nature that I thought it best at the time to shoulder the blame personally, so as to put a stop to it, and then refer the matter to you, and ascertain whether in your judgment, it was best to eliminate that feature from the Gazette entirely, or continue it. If you look at the editorials I think you will find that they have never referred to any subject which did not concern the American Kennel Club itself, and I personally have felt that the Gazette ought at times to speak for the American Kennel Club. The Advisory Committee through its meetings, feels the pulse constantly of what is going on, and there are attacks made upon the club, or misinterpretations appear in the public print which the breeder and exhibitor desires to have cleared up. I do not see why it should be necessary for the Secretary or the President, or for any officer of the Kennel Club to go in print over his own signature in the way of sporting papers.

If the subject is to be treated from a club point of view, I don't see why it should not be treated in the Gazette. If other official organs speak for their organizations, I do not see why the Gazette should not. It need not be personal. I don't think any case was personal, although it seems to have been taken so No names were used. The principle only was treated of, and I should like to ask the delegates for action on the subject. It has not been brought up before the Advisory Committee at all. The subject was discussed by letter to a certain extent, with the members of the Advisory Committee, and also talked over, and some were in favor of continuing the editorials, and others were not; but it was never settled, and really it was not in the province of the Advisory Committee to settle that question. Inasmuch as the matter has been made the subject of discussion, I should like to ask your action on the question, and if you will allow the matter to come up now so I can retire, I shall be obliged to you.

Maj. Taylor—I move, in order to get the views of the delegates here, that the action in this request in the past be approved, and continued in the same line.

Motion carried.

At this point Mr. Terry takes the Chair on the departure of Mr. Belmont.

Mr. Anthony—I move that the Treasurer be requested to make an itemized statement to be published in the January Gazette, showing the receipts and disbursements from all sources, and also showing the amount of credit on each account, the sources from which the revenue was derived—in other words, a complete itemized account, so that anybody who is familiar with figures can take it and see how we stand.

Mr. Watson thought before being published, the account should be carefully examined and verified.

The Secretary suggested that he should make out his statement for the year 1889 for publication, and that the Chair appoint a committee who would endorse on the bottom of his account that they had examined his accounts and found them correct, as stated.

Mr. Anthony—In order to comply with the suggestions made by Mr. Watson and Mr. Vredenburgh, I will add to my motion, that before publication, an auditing committee consisting of Messrs. A. C. Wilmerding, Major Taylor and F. B. Fay be appointed to audit the accounts. I name these gentlemen because they are ex-officio, and I ask that they be appointed to audit the accounts and to state whether they are correct, whether they have been correctly kept, etc.

Motion carried.

A communication was read from the Fort Schuyler Kennel Club, tendering their resignation from the American Kennel Club.

On motion the resignation was accepted.

The Secretary called attention to the recommendation contained in his report in regard to the matter of special prizes to be competed for by members of specialty clubs, and on motion of Mr. Anthony, his recommendation was adopted.

The Bench Show rules, as published in the Gazette, were then read and slightly amended, and on motion adopted.

The following amendment to the Constitution was adopted:

That all articles of the Constitution, and all rules and regulations affecting associate members or referring thereto, be cancelled, and that Article IV. of the Constitution read as follows:

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1—Any person vouched for in writing to the Secretary of the American Kennel Club by not less than two members of any club a member of this association, or by two associate members, shall upon payment of $5 annual dues, and the endorsement of his application by the Presidents of the American Kennel Club and of the associate members, become an associate member and be announced as such in the next issue of the Kennel Gazette.

Sec. 2—An associate member shall be entitled to the Kennel Gazette and Stud Book for one year, and to two free registrations in the Stud Book.

Sec. 3—The annual dues of $5 shall be payable on the first of January of each year to the Secretary of the American Kennel Club, and any person whose dues are not paid on or before January 30th, shall thereby forfeit his right to be included in the list of members eligible for election to office, and to vote for officers for the ensuing year; and if his dues shall remain unpaid at the next annual meeting of the associate members, his name shall be stricken from the roll, provided, however, that upon remitting the $5 dues with an application of membership, he shall be re-instated upon the endorsement of his application by the two Presidents as hereinbefore provided.

Sec 4—The annual meeting of the associate members shall be held on the day preceding the annual meeting of the American Kennel Club, at which meeting the reports of the retiring officers shall be presented, which together with a copy of the official minutes of the meeting, shall be filed with the Secretary of the American Kennel Club.

Sec. 5—The officers of the Associate members shall be a President, vice-President and Secretary. The President shall be a member of the Advisory Committee. The Associate members shall have the right to be represented by three delegates, to which position the officers may be elected; and for every one hundred members over three hundred, they shall elect an additional delegate.

Sec. 6—No Associate member shall be eligible to hold office or sit as delegate who is a member of any club a member of this Association other than a specialty club.

Sec. 7—That all elections shall be by mail vote, and the annual election of officers and delegates shall be conducted as follows:

On January 21st. of each year the secretary of the American Kennel Club shall forward to each and every associate member in good standing a printed list of all members eligible to hold office, together with an addressed envelope for return, on which the word "vote" is legibly printed or written. The member receiving such printed list shall mark thereon his choice for president, vice-president, and secretary and the delegates to which the club is entitled, in such manner as may be indicated, and return the same in the envelope provided.

Fifteen full days after the mailing of such slips to the associate members the secretary of the American Kennel Club shall in the presence of the presidents of the American Kennel Club and Associate Members, or such person as either of them may deputize to represent him, open all such mail votes, and the result of the election shall be certified to by the three officials present.

Immediately upon the signing of such certificate the secretary of the American Kennel Club shall notify each and every person of his election and also send notice thereof to the president of the associate members.

In the case of a tie vote for any office the tie shall be decided by a majority vote of members present at the annual meeting, and in the event of an officer elected declining to serve, the member receiving the next highest number of votes shall at the annual meeting be declared elected.

Votes for additional members as each quota of one hundred additional members is filled shall be conducted upon the same principle as the annual mail vote for officers and delegates, the vote being taken as soon as the one hundred additional members have qualified. The same rule shall also hold good in event of a vacancy in the ranks of officials or delegates.

Adjourned,

A. P. VREDENBURGH, secretary.

Girls' Dogs.

One of our popular novelists writes up her heroine, a slender sylph of the Big Smoky country, as having for a companion and friend a large, gaunt, yellow dog with knobs for joints and a decided stamp of inferiority in his hulking movements.

This fair young girl, "loves Watch kin behave ez much like folks ez any dog kin," and she pleats his scraggy, yellow ears with as much pride as if he were of nobler blood, while another girl, trim, tailor-made, esthetic, cultured, is pictured in a farther part of the sunny South as tripping forth for her daily walk with two sleek, perfectly-proportioned mastiffs bounding at her side. It may be the Big Smoky girl loves Watch with that feminine sympathy women so often mistake for the nobler fire. It may be she would have a preference for him right under the very noses of the high-bred mastiffs were they her to have and to hold, but depend upon it, when you find a girl owning and caressing a mongrel cur of low degree, there is something soft in that girl's head as well as in her heart, for our girls are looking dogward these days with the eyes of connoisseurs.

They pity the abused and neglected, but when it comes to the point of possession, they are far more critical than boys rejecting the "poor man's dog" and preferring the animal of fine pedigree, beautiful parts and superior intelligence.

Boys are flattered by a dog's devotion, while their sisters love the beautiful and talented in dogs. It may be much after the same fashion that they will make any sacrifice for husbands they can be proud of, and who will serve to make the "other girls" envious.

Our grandmothers, those dear old ladies whose manners and customs are so often held up as a lasting reproach to us, gave their allegiance to lap dogs, insignificant little creatures that knew nothing above dainty bits to eat and an embroidered blanket to keep out the cold.

Is it not a sign of a stronger generation of women that those little dogs are no longer carried about in the pocket, fondled on the best sofa, or led through the streets by a string, but that the noble Newfoundlands, the colossal mastiffs or the graceful hounds have become the pets of the ladies?

Our own Matilda Lotz did not scorn to have herself photographed with her huge St. Bernard, and one of her best pictures is the painting of Offenbach's dogs.

An intelligent girl can judge correctly of the merits of any work of art and she ought to know how to tell a fine horse or a talented dog when she sees it, for truly do they bear the impress of the Divine hand

It is an exploded idea that it is vulgar for a woman to know a spaniel from a poodle, or a pug from a pointer. A woman who does, need not be a hoyden nor what is objectionably called "fast." All our finer judgments are the outgrowth of training.

Then train the girls to know a blooded dog when they see it. Take them to the dog shows, what harm? You take them to see the ballet, do you not?

Only let me beseech you, my dear brethren, to change the name. The man, woman or child who can invent and succeed in fastening upon not only the dog show, but the dog himself a new name shall be worthy a place in history, and some day, perhaps, a corner in Westminster Abbey, for despite our revered Shakespeare's flouting, there is much in a name, especially when it comes fraught with ugly tradition, and you know the dog is spoken of, in both the old and new testaments with abhorrence, being ranked among the unclean beasts, and the Mohammedam could not apply a more opprobrious epithet than "dog," "cur" or "hound."

Let us annihilate the cure, which alas! make up the majority of the canine population and are responsible for the spread of hydrophobia, and fill their places with beautiful dogs for which people will be willing to pay, instead of regarding each new dog as an additional burden to the family, being unwilling to receive him even as a gift.

Were dogs fewer and more precious, how many a boyish heart would be spared the anguish of "drowning the puppies."

When ladies become properly interested in the proper kinds of dogs, there will be less barbarous treatment of ears and tails, which practice is not only inhuman, but often injurious. Dogs are often made deaf from having the ears cropped in fanciful shapes. A lady in a natty little cart, drawn by a fine dog, whose pleasure in her service is plainly to be seen, is one of the alluring pictures which we hope will soon materialize into a pleasing reality.

Leibnitz says dogs have been taught to speak. He says he heard a dog in Saxony articulate no less than thirty distinct words.

When a dear little pug puppy can be taught to talk, parrots will be banished from the boudoir—harsh voices, dirty ways and all.

Dogs have held their own in history. Alexander the Great built a city in honor of a dog. Emperor Hadrian buried a dog with imposing and solemn rites. Pythagoras caused a dog to be held to the mouths of the dying, saying, as a departing human soul must enter into some animal, a dog was the most worthy to receive it and to perpetuate its virtues.

Pliny wrote of people in Africa who elected a dog as their king, and were governed entirely by motions of his body which they interpreted by signs. Fancy being ruled by the wag of a dog's tail!

The favorite lap-dog of Mary Queen of Scots accompanied her to the scaffold, and continued to caress the body after the head had been cut off. The poor little creature died of grief a few days afterward.

Sir Walter Scott sings, in beautiful verse, the praise of a faithful dog found after three months, worn almost to a skeleton, still guarding the remains of his master, who had fallen over a precipice in the Helvellyn mountains.

The Dog-star is said to have been named from a star which appeared just before the inundations of the Nile as a signal to remove the flocks to higher ground.

The Romans fattened the dog for the table, and many people in Asia, Africa and Armenia still raise him expressly for food. Carts are drawn in Paris, sledges in Lapland, and timber in Newfoundland by dogs, and until forbidden by law, hauling was done by them to quite an extent in London.

In large cities valuable dogs are never safe from thieves, who break through and steal with an eye to large rewards. Narcotic balls thrown to the dogs soon silence objections.

One of the cleverest schemes for defeating the aims of the Pound took form in Virginia City, Nev., not long since. The arm of the law in a spasmodic attack of attention to duty, gathered the untagged dogs together in a large shed, or rather he paid the enterprising small boy (not of the county treasury) thirty-five cents per head for victims. When dogs became scarce on the streets, one youth let down a neatly sawed panel from the back of the shed, coaxed out and secured half a dozen of the poor, half-starved beasts with bits of meat, and promptly sent them around to the front by his "pardner," to be sold to the dozing official. The plan repeated at judicious intervals robbed Peter but paid Paul quite handsomely.

Tigress, pure fawn colored mastiff bitch pup with black points whelps July 7, 1889, by mastiff dog Dick, A. K. A. (10549) and Juno, to Dr. J. H. Bayliss, San Bernardino.

Sale.

California Spaniel Kennels (H. P. Rennie, Oakland), has sold:

Red cocker dog puppy, by black cocker dog Giffee and Woodstock Belle, to Echo Spaniel Kennels, (Dr. A. C. Davenport, Stockton.)

Mr. L. L. Campbell has sold Irish red setters, whelped August 28th, '89, by Barrymore, (Elcho Jr.—Maid) ex Belle C. (Mike—Lady Elcho T).

To Dr. C. F. Grant, Healdsburg, a dog.
To J. J. Bowen, San Francisco, a dog.
To R. J. Stenson, San Francisco, a bitch.
To George March, San Francisco, a bitch.

Names Claimed.

Echo Spaniel Kennels (Dr. A. C. Davenport, Stockton) claims the name of "Red Robin" for red cocker dog puppy whelped September 16, 1889, sired by Giffee and out of Woodstock Belle.

Mr. George March, San Francisco, claims the name Jennie for an Irish red setter bitch, whelped Aug. 28th by Barrymore—Belle.

Mr. R. J. Stenson claims the name Lady Mack for litter sister to preceding.

Mr. W. B. Lafferty claims the name Nora for litter sister to preceding

Dr. C. F. Grant claims the name Lou G. for litter brother to preceding.

Mr. L. L. Campbell claims the name L. B. Cooper for litter brother to preceding.

Two weeks only to field trial time, the best event of the year. The round trip to Bakersfield can be made for a fare and a third, the Southern Pacific Company having conceded so much to the club. To secure the reduced rates certificates must be procured from the Secretary of the club, at 313 Bush street, San Francisco, and presented to the ticket agents at the various starting points.

The Gopher Hole Dog.

Those who have had experience in sending out dogs for training, may recall a dozen form of weakness in their animals, as stated by breakers, but it has been left for Mr Ned Bosqui, of this city, to discover an erroneous impression in a dog returned as yard broken, which differs materially from any recorded hitherto. The dog had been eleven months in the hands of a trainer, and was then handed over to Mr. Bosqui at the trainer's instance as yard broken, and broken to the gun within the meaning of the terms "yard" and "broken" as ordinarily construed. Mr. Bosqui was very proud of his pointer, a handsome white and lemon, of rare breeding, and fine form, and soon after receiving the animal took it out to show his friends, Mr. Will Kittle and Harry Golcher, how elegantly the beast could perform. It ranged tastily over a lot of ground, flushed as many birds as any plug, and finally exhausted the patience of the owner, who shot at one of the birds flushed by the dog. The high-headed, free-sterned thing of beauty, was transformed in an instant to an apologetic, sneaky, slinking caricature of pointer style, which speeded like a ghost until it was hidden by cover. The owner strolled in that direction a little way, failed to discover his dog and was about to give up the search, when Mr. Kittle called his attention to something which looked like a dog's tail projecting from the earth a short distance away. Closer examination showed that Mr. Bosqui's fine pointer, in his eagerness to get away from the gun, had attempted to go down a gopher hole. The dog was soothed and encouraged and at last ranged freely until Mr. Bosqui again discharged his gun, when the gopher hole was again sought and no art could induce the dog to leave his shelter.

Mr. Geo. T. Allender left for Bakersfield on December 26th with nine dogs, of which five will go in the field trials. They all looked well and keen.

Mr. C. H. Kobicke of this city has sent his imported bloodhounds to Mr. F. L. Wilson, master of Mr Murphy's kennel of foxhounds, near Gilroy. Mr. Wilson is just the man to enter the hounds upon game or to train them to trail human scent. We hope they may thrive.

Messrs. Nelson, Aldrich and Pyle, chosen to judge the coming field trials, have accepted and will serve, bar the act of God or public enemies. We commend them and their judgments to the candid, considerate reception to which the honor and painstaking of the men entitle them, and hope the judging may cover all of the points suggested in the rules.

There are men and men, reporters and reporters, kennel editors and kennel editors, but there is only one Hammond, and we hope he may flourish like a bay tree and make Forest and Stream just what it should be in a doggy way. Friend Waters of the American Field calls a spade a spade, and when he had to describe the absurd judging at the Central Field Trials he did so in fervid terms, but Major Hammond damns the judges beyond redemption in this fashion:

"This was the last heat of the preliminary series, and the judges, in selecting the dogs to remain in, performed their duties in a praiseworthy manner, keeping in some that had shown considerable merit."

BILLIARDS.

Frank Ives does not believe he has been treated right by Frank Maggioli, who is now in Chicago, because the latter has seen fit to challenge him for a contest for the light weight medal which Carter won in the tournament held at the Madison Street Theater last fall, at balkline billiards, and which was forfeited to Ives by Carter. Ives claims that Maggioli challenged him at a time when he (Ives) has entered in two tournaments at balkline billiards, and has posted a forfeit of $500 to play in both New York and Chicago, with $7,500 in sight in prize money, and that he is now called upon by Maggioli to play for $250 a side at fourteen inch balkline billiards, and on an entirely different cushion than the one on which the two big tournaments are to be played. Ives further states he is so sure he can beat Maggioli that he will play a match with him within two weeks after he has played in the Chicago tournament, and that he will concede Maggioli 200 in 1,000 points up at eight inch balkline billiards for any part of $2,500 a side.

A correspondent of a contemporary, referring to the coming tournaments and the difficulty with the experts, writes as follows: "Professional billiard experts are essentially as thankless as they are ungrateful. They are selfish, jealous and vindictive; integrity and honor rarely, if ever, play any part in their professional life, and the story of woe is written on every billiard manufacturing firm that has ever depended on their friendship and sincerity." Whew!

Harvey McKenna, the phenomenal Western billiard player, died at the New York Hospital three weeks ago of consumption. Mr. McKenna was only 27 years old, but had already made a name for himself as a player of extraordinary ability.

Capt. B. E. Harris, the old time horseman, is an enthusiast at billiards and he takes especial delight in "downing" any of his old friends Cap never plays outside of his own residence, where he has an elegant Strable table, and many are the large runs that have been made on it.

Some persons have an idea that horsemen are of no account except when handling equines. Any one can have that notion disabused by watching Major Du Bois of Denver and L. A. Davies handle billiard cues. Both of them are experts and the Palace Hotel is frequently the scene of their con-

THE GUN.

Taxing Deer.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Last week the Examiner published an absurd paragraph to the effect that, in violation of the Game law, at a butcher's shop on Market street, was the carcass of a deer dressed for the market and on sale; and that the deer was killed in Sonoma Country, not in violation of the law, but that it had been supplied by a man living in Sonoma who had authority of law for the out-of-season killing. It was thus: This man, every year, in giving in his assessment to the County Assesser, made statement to the ownership of "seventeen head of deer." The particulars as to where the deer were to be found were mentioned. The Assessor did not exact statement of locality. The man made no exact statement. All he claimed was that every year he returned statement of "seventeen head of deer" in his annual assessment, and paid thereupon—privileged, of course, to kill his deer, as he might see fit to kill his chickens or his turkeys at any time of year.

I have remarked that the story was absurd, but this is not quite enough. It is worse, and in a measure scandalous. The County Assessor is involved. To do that which is imputed in the paragraph on the part of that officer, would cause him to be regarded by any who do not know him as an incompetent in office.

William Longmore is County Assessor of Sonoma. He possesses the qualifications for office set forth by Thomas Jefferson—he is honest; he is competent. He has the respect and confidence of every citizen of Sonoma, without regard to difference of opinion on political matters. He is a faithful public servant, an estimable citizen. Assessor Longmore has not, in his term of office, accepted the assessment of deer, nor have any of his deputies in office done so. The proposition is too preposterous for consideration. Only the gullible will give credence to the story in the Examiner; but as it is the unexpected which always happens, it seems to be, nowadays, the gullible who make up a considerable sum of public sentiment. It is against the tendency of this sort of public sentiment that this communication is directed.

As to the game law this:—No pet deer are owned in Sonoma County, in defiance of the law. Assessor Longmore is a faithful steward of his official duties and a strict observer of the laws in protection of game, and in Sonoma "the goose hangs high" in the season. ONE OF OLD SONOMA.

Payne Shafter's Idea.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—We have had rain, rain, rain, until the reign of King Pluvius has been complete. Swollen streams, sodden plowed lands, slides on the county roads, all attest the fury of the storms. The hand of man is stayed; when the storm king rides the blast, he sits by his fire place, speculates and wonders at the fury of the storm, or airs his opinions

> "When village statesmen talk with looks profound,

As a rule, with the first heavy rains, salmon run up the streams to spawn. Boys and men with guns and spears patrol the banks, and what few eggs the salmon "deposit in the bank" they do on the sly; in the shades of night or very early in the morning. Coons, four-footed, patrol the stre ms by night for the eggs which they dearly love. King-fishers and cranes watch their chance to destroy the germs of commencing fish, and altogether they (the fish) have a hard time. Never have coons, foxes, wild-cats and coyotes been so abundant as now. Why? I will tell you.

The American pioneer has moved further away from settlements or grown old, like his pack of hounds. The demands of his family keep him busy to earn the fulfillment of prayer, this day our daily bread. On Point Reyes, next the ocean, hardly a hare or quail is left by the ravages of the coyote The cunning bandits often attack and kill freshly born calves. Now what will the result be so near San Francisco from the depradations of men and wild animals. Both of these are after food animals. The average hunter from the city has no time nor inclination to hunt bear, panther, wild-cats, foxes and coons; he wants roast duck, broiled quail, snipe, etc.; so do the predatory wild animals. Result in a few years without fearless, wise protection, no game birds, nor fish for the true sportsman who, out of what he earns, is willing to put up a reasonable amount to protect the wild game which gives him an outing with his dog and gun.

We are all children of the giant Antens. We belong to mother earth, and must for health and strength of mind and body, leave the ease, surfeit and confinement of the great cities for the green fields, the ozone, oxygen, plain, wholesome food and early hours of the country. The freedom of America, the cry against restriction is all rot (excuse the expression) (ne plus ultra).

Liberty is not license, but the right to do as anyone chooses so long as he does not infringe on the rights of anyone else. Look at the Golden Gate Park (San Francisco). It is for the free enjoyment of the public. How free? Why so free as to keep and preserve it and its possessions for the use, not abuse, of all mankind. You may not drive very fast in the park; you must not pull flowers, nor drive upon the grass; you may not shoot the deer, quail, nor other wild animals; and still this park is for the free use of the people. Take the police away and let the dear people, "without restriction," have the free use of the park, and Sodom and Gomorrah would be a paradise compared with these results. Self control makes good and great men and women, and wise protection fosters all our industries, preserves our animal life, and in truth, makes us a nation. P. J. SHAFTER.

With its current issue the Kern County Californian published at Bakersfield, owned by A. C. Maude and edited by C. E. Sherman, enters upon its twenty-fifth volume, twenty-fifth year, and the tenth year of its present management. The owner is a brisk, progressive business man, who makes a newspaper that people must have, by employing the most brilliant and conscientious editorial assistant and staff that money will procure. We wish lots of good wishes to the sterling journal and all connected with it.

Mr. Fred Watson of Colusa has had a challenge standing for a month to shoot any man in Colusa or Sutter Counties (John Clough preferred), any or all of the following matches at live pigeons for $100 a side.

Introduction of European Game.

I plead guilty to being a crank on at least one subject, viz., the introduction of foreign game. It seems to me that the New England States are neglecting so long, what must surely come to pass in time—the importation of hardy non-migratory birds and beasts, says a correspondent, writing to an exchange. And why should we not cull the cream from every land, so far as the circumstances of the case will permit? Is not Europe indebted to America for one of the most delicious birds that fly, the turkey? True, as we see the Thanksgiving gobbler strutting around the barnyard shortly before his untimely decease, we realize that now, however imposing in his splendor, he is, in many sections, no longer a game bird. Nevertheless, he was a very worthy gift from the New West to the Old East, and merits a return in kind.

The peculiarities of our climate, with its sudden and savage changes from balmy springlike weather to a temperature that makes the benumbed brain think almost impatiently of the practical advantages of Tophet as a winter retreat, renders the introduction of only the most hardy game desirable. Giving due weight to these considerations, I have narrowed the list of possible additions to our fauns, to the following animals and game birds: Beasts— wild boar, fallow deer, roe deer. Birds—capercalie, black game, partridge, ditto red leg, hazel hen, willow grouse, pheasant. This is but a small list, but what an increase it would make to our scanty total of non-migratory game.

We have now in New England practically the deer, ruffed grouse, American hare and fox. If we could double our available quadrupeds and increase the varieties of birds at present existing eight times, it would surely be a noble result. All these creatures are non-migratory, except that they, following the promptings of instinct, shift their ground a little with the seasons, seeking shelter and food adapted to the time of year, but to no greater extent than do our indigenous deer and grouse.

I shall briefly consider in turn the claims of each of the above enumerated beasts and birds to American citizenship, beginning with the fallow deer.

THE FALLOW DEER —(Cervus dama.)

In olden days, when Robin Hood and his "merrie men" were making free with the deer in the royal forest of Sherwood, their game was the fallow buck. It was undoubtedly once a fine game animal, although at present, owing to confinement in paddocks and parks of limited area, it is hardly considered as such in England to-day. But I would risk a small sum that once this deer was acclimatized in New England, with scope to run, and increase, and multiply, he would become the sport-furnishing animal his ancestors were in the days of Cedric the Saxon.

In weight the bucks run from 100 lbs. to 120 lbs., although one was killed at Eastwell in Kent, in 1863, that tipped the beam at 176 lbs This was, however, an extraordinary weight. In Europe a fallow deer to one acre of rich grass land is considered a correct allowance, provided no sheep are permitted upon the same ground. Horses and cattle do little harm, as they feed on the coarser herbage rejected by the deer.

In stocking a ground a proportion of one-third bucks and two-thirds does has proved satisfactory when tried. The lay of the land must be carefully considered, as upon it the success of the effort will hinge. Shelter is necessary, even in England, hence it is hardly likely the deer would succeed north of Boston or away from the sea. Further south, say about the latitude of Maryland and Virginia, the climate would appear admirably adapted to the habits of the fallow deer.

Outside of the natural food produced by the ground the deer inhabit, it is well in hard weather to provide them with some extra food (this is supposing there is a very large stock for the size of the ground), and of artificial foods, hay is the best, say three tons to 100 deer per winter, and, after hay, the branches of deciduous trees cut down in the summer and dried with the leaves on like hay, and stacked in the forest, makes an excellent and cheap winter feed. It has been found best to surround each rick with a deer proof fence, which can be removed when the season has arrived to give artificial food.

"Cry" does are in season from November 1st to February 1st, and the bucks from July 15th to October 1st; hence it can be seen how the importation of this deer would extend the legal period for the use of the rifle.

The doe brings forth her young in the month of June, and in two days they can follow her about. The bucks lose their horns in April and run in October. The fallow buck never exceeds 20 years of age, and rarely lives as long unless carefully fed and sheltered in a paddock. The venison is delicious, as I can state from personal experience, having in years gone by, through the kindness of the "ranger", often partaken of a haunch from the royal herd that graze round Hampton Court Palace

It will be found that this deer will succeed best in a broken country, variety of surface being necessary. Wood and old pastures should succeed one another on a typical fallow deer range. Make it a rule never to kill a deer that is under six years of age, nor to allow them to live much after nine years if good venison is desired. New blood is requisite every few years in a closely preserved herd, but would probably not be required under the conditions that exist in this country.

The habit of this deer is to cease feeding about 11 A. M. and lie down in the open. About 5 o'clock P. M. they resume feeding, and feed all night long.

The fallow deer are gregarious, but the bucks and does keep apart except during the pairing season, and during cold weather when they assemble promiscuously.

It is stated by good authority that when the teams of experts that are to tour the country reach San Francisco, Messrs. Budd and Stice will shoot a match at 35 live birds each, and Messrs. McMurchy and Heikes at 25 birds each. The first of the inter-team matches will be shot at Dayton, Ohio, on January 27th.

The most pleasurable moments vouchsafed to us are those passed in listening to tales of sport in earlier days, from the lips of such vivid narrators as our friend Mr. John K. Orr, and men of like tastes.

The other day while Mr. Orr was sitting in our office, the name of Mr. C. S. Schenck was mentioned, and with the mention of the "Boss," Mr. Orr's face lighted up and he said: "Mention of that finest of shots and most thorough of sportsmen brings to mind a day we spent together when three hundred sharp-tailed grouse were bagged. It was in 1866, when on a visit to Portland, Oregon, that myself and "Boss" were invited out to the Dalles for a day's sport. We went and found the rest of the party ready, Messrs. Will Bradford, George Nagg, Frank Dodge, Lawrence E. Coe, Victor Trevet and Mr. Buchanan. Starting early one day in August, we drove out to Thirteen Mile Creek, and Frank Dodge, "Boss" Schenck and I were put down about three miles from Modes House, where we were to camp.

We shot along the creek lined by willows, and when we reached the house had about a hundred of the sharp-tails. I was using a little 13-bore Westley Richard muzzle loader, three drams of powder, and an ounce of sixes. With that outfit I scored forty seven grouse in fifty-one shots. Next day five of the party began shooting at early dawn and at three o'clock returned to camp and counted heads, the score being three hundred and twelve grouse, all fine fat birds.

The plan was for half of the party to walk along each side of a willow-lined creek and take the birds as they flushed from the trees or from corn stalks standing along the fields on either side.

The grouse would break cover with a rush that was embarrassing, but were easy marks after a few had been knocked over. In those days "Boss" Schenck had no equal on the Pacific Coast as a shot unless it was Tom Estey, of Nicasio.

As the birds were killed they were drawn, stuffed with dry grass and hung to the willows, to be gathered by the wagon later in the day. In the afternoon on returning to camp a royal dinner was prepared, Mr. Coe furnishing a pan of crisp brook trout, which together with unlimited baked grouse, and such little tumblers of something as "Boss" Schenck is famous for, made mere existence a delight.

After dinner the grouse were festooned about the wagon in half dozens, and when the Dalles were reached a large portion were distributed to acquaintances, the remainder going to friends in Portland. The grouse could then be found in packs of two or three hundreds, but now one is lucky if on that ground a day's tramping returns a dozen birds."

Duck shooters might as well clean up their guns and stow them away for the season. The rain it raineth every day and the duck disperseth so variously that the man who encompasses more than a half dozen in a day is thereby marked as of rare ability.

The additions recently made to Messrs. Clabrough, Golcher & Co.'s store-rooms at 630–632 Montgomery Street, city, have placed the firm in a most advantageous position, both as to carrying increased and more varied stock, and as to handling their very large and rapidly increasing trade. The latest feature of the store is a miniature gymnasium, fitted to show the exhaustive line of athletic appliances carried by the house. The idea is a brilliant one, and the room affords interesting study. The new lines of fishing tackle just beginning to come, are of such superb quality as even the Golcher's, for years the best tackle purveyors in America, have not had in other years. In fine gut and trout flies particularly, there is so much to be seen that hours do not suffice to exhaust interest.

The gun material of the firm remains at the high standard fixed many years ago by Mr. Clabrough and that prince of gun makers, William Golcher, now at rest.

On January 18th and 19th, at Traver, Tulare County, there will be held a real old-time shooting tournament. Live bird shooting, rifle shooting, bow and arrow shooting and everything else is to go. The time is just that at which the field trial men will be travelling toward Bakersfield, and President P. C. Jurgens of the Traver Gun Club especially invites the doggy men to visit the tournament, the invitation being joined in by Mr. E. Miles, the Secretary of the club.

This is the Manchester, Eng., idea: "A party of sportsmen set off from Bourbon, U. S. A., for a ten day's shoot, and being partial to the drink of their native town, took a good supply of whisky with them. But, unfortunately, the whisky gave out at the end of the fifth day, and great was the distress which was suffered by the gallant sportsmen. However, they determined not to return until the expiration of the ten days, and, when they did return, eager was the rush to the saloon, and loud the call for drinks. Then came the story of the privations they had undergone, when a stranger interrupted the narrative.

"Guess," said he, "you couldn't have suffered much. Why, there was a river alongside you all the time."

"Oh," replied one of the sportsmen, "don't show your derned ignorance. How do you expect a man to pay any attention to his personal cleanliness when he is suffering from such an infernal thirst?"

Says the Kentucky Stock Farm: It is worth a visit to W. H. Wilson's Abdallah Park to see the order and system with which all the operations of the farm are conducted. His office contains all the appliances for the rapid despatch of the vast business of the farm. On entering it the first picture that greets the eye is a portrait of Mr. L. J. Rose, the great California breeder. The walls are covered with handsome and finely executed pictures of distinguished horses. A telegraphic instrument connecting with the Western Union lines is one of the recent additions to the facilities in his office for the despatch of business.

The following statement comes from the Express, published at Terre Haute, the home of the unbeaten Axtell: "Our California friends are having a terrible time in their endeavor to beat the stallion record set by Axtell. When the weather was good their horses did not have the speed, but the weather is bad. Never mind, we will give you a new record next year, and your tracks will have to be made more like a toboggan slide than they are now to beat it." It was a fortunate thing for the Terre Haute reporters that Axtell was taken there to winter, as every third item in the local department has something to say about the great young stallion, which tends to fill space when there is no chance to get other news. Things are very dull in Terre Haute.

"Jefferson" writes from Hartford as follows: "Sunol may be the only trotter to have made a quarter in 30 seconds, but that is not the fastest quarter ever made by a trotter, as the brown gelding Dart, owned by Mr. M. B. Smith of New York City (formerly head of the R. G. Dunn Mercantile Agency), has trotted a quarter over the Fleetwood track in 29 seconds. The horse is known in New York as a phenomenal quarter and half mile horse, and has been trial miles in 2:16 and 2:17. He was put into John Turner's hands last season to further develop, but has never trotted races, as his owner would not consent to have him entered."

How Death of Horses by Suffocation May Be Averted

Congestion of the lungs is usually caused by over exertion, especially when the animal is out of condition, and sometimes by defective ventilation in the stable or by cold.

The distress is caused by the lungs becoming gorged with more blood than they can purify and return back to the heart. Death in this disease occurs from suffocation. Air is taken freely into the lungs, but the circulation almost ceases in them, and in spite of this hurried breathing, as shown by his panting sides, he is almost as completely suffocated as if a cord were tied around his neck. On examining his eyes and nostrils they are seen to be turgid and purple, the vessels being filled with carbonized blood, while the heart beats rapidly and feebly, and the countenance is expressive of anxiety and distress.

Another symptom is indicated by very rapid breathing, amounting in some cases to 50, 60, or 70 a minute, the nostrils being distended and cold air expired Very rarely is there a decided beat of the pulse to be felt under the jaw; the artery is distended with blood and the fluid seems to creep through it by separate impulses. The animal stands with forelegs apart, and, nothwithstanding the distressed state of breathing, seems to object to fresh air, as they always select a corner furthest from an opening. This habit of seeking remote corners is observed in most cases of sickness among animals.

A proper treatment is to give a stimulant, such as a wine glassful of tincture of arnica, or a quarter of a pint of whiskey or brandy (if the arnica is not at hand) in water, or sweet spirits of nitre three ounces, which should be mixed with cold water. These stimulants may be repeated after fifteen or twenty minutes. Allow the horse plenty of fresh air to breathe and water to drink. Use warm fomentations to the sides, place the legs in warm water, hand rub the body and clothe comfortably, and if the symptoms be not relieved, bleed to the extent of about a gallon.

Diffusable stimulants, by quickening the general circulation, tend to relieve congestion. Alcohol in small and repeated doses is a stimulant and diaphonetic (a medicine which increases the action of the skin); in large doses it is a narcotic. Arnica seems to have a special action in stimulating the small vessels of the surface of the body, hence its probable value in cases of congestion of the lungs.

I received a letter early in the week from an old friend in Yorkshire. Among other news, etc., he says: On Tuesday, December 10th, the Gimcrack Club held their 123rd anniversary dinner. A characteristic letter was received from the Hon. Jas. Lowther, usually known as Jimmy Lowther in which he regretted his inability to be present and congratulated the members on the beneficial effects of their last meeting. Lord Wenlock proposed the stewards and members of the Jockey Club which was replied to by Lord Downe. The 'piece de resistance' then followed. The Hon. Reginald Parker proposed the toast of Stewards and Patrons of York races, referring in highly eulogistic terms to Lord Durham, who responded to the toast in what has generally been described as an excellent, gentlemanly, frank, manly speech. He first of all spoke in high terms of all old and time honored institutions, such as York races, and truly said that Yorkshire men were showing their appreciation of and fondness for racing, and particularly Yorkshire racing by the tremendous crowds who always witnessed the meetings on Knavesmire. The speaker then in eloquent terms regretted the death of the late Lord Falmouth, whom all Yorkshire delighted to honor for his integrity and straightforward racing. Then referring to his last year's speech, Lord Durham said he made it with his eyes open, regardless of whether he gained or lost friends. The reason he spoke there instead of in the Jockey Club was because he was sure it would have more effect. His speech all through was a justification of his previous actions and wound up with many good suggestions for the future, among them being one that the Jockey Club should have among its active members, men more closely connected with turf pursuits, more racing men and men who were willing and not afraid to speak, and that the Stewards should in future hold their meetings with open doors, allowing reporters to be present and give a correct report of the proceedings.

New York Sales of Trotting Stock

PETER C. KELLOGG & CO.'S

CALIFORNIA COMBINATION SALE OF

-TROTTING STOCK-

in New York will commence

Tuesday, March 11,'90

At the American Institute Building.

For Contracts, giving terms and full particulars, and for Entry Blanks (state number of horses to be consigned) address the firm as below.

Buyers who desire to increase their lines of choicely bred brood mares, or to secure stallions suited to the mares of California, can, by spending the month of March in New York, have opportunity to select from hundreds of offerings in our sales, the choicest blood and the best assortment in the country. It should be borne in mind that the climatic crosses which have been most prolific of great results in California (and also in Kentucky) have been secured in the colder climates of the North and East. If you are to use a home-bred stallion, obtain mares that are bred and reared under radically different climatic influences. If you use home-bred mares get your stallions from widely different climatic sources. While there are exceptions to all rules the more you study this subject the more irresistable will be the conviction that the greatest success has most often resulted from this plan. It is just as important in breeding to obtain a proper climatic out-cross as to obtain a good blood out-cross.

One or the other seems absolutely necessary. To combine both is doubly effective

WHETHER YOU ARE BUYER OR SELLER NEW YORK IS THE PLACE TO BE NEXT MARCH.

Our second sale will close out the celebrated Rosemeade Stud belonging to Mr. L. J. Rose of Los Angeles, Cal., with its brood mares and its youngsters by Stamboul and Alcazar.

Both these sales will occur the first week of March, to be followed throughout the month by others of great importance; representing California and the most important Eastern States; concluding the last week of March with an extensive consignment from Palo Alto.

Bids executed without charge, in the interest of absent buyers who remit in advance; but we greatly prefer their presence or that of their agent.

Address all correspondence to

INTRUDER

Will make the Season of 1890 at Agricultural Park, SACRAMENTO.

By Crater, Son of Orlando and Vesuvienne by Gladiator.

1st dam Lady Bountiful by Rataplan (Rataplan is own brother to Stockwell, and winner of 42 races, including the Doncaster Cup and 19 Queen's Plates, and proved himself the most distinguished race horse of his day in England).
3d dam Plenty by Bay Middleton (winner of the Derby and Two Thousand Guinea Stakes).
6th dam by Selim, winner of the One Thousand Guinea Stakes.
7th dam by Pypilina, by Sir Peter.
8th dam Rally, by Trumpeter.
9th dam Fancy, by Florizel. Fancy was full sister to Diomed, the first Derby winner in England, and after his importation into this country, sired the illustrious Sir Archy, etc. See English Stud Book.

Imported INTRUDER is a beautiful bay, standing fully 16 hands high, of great length and substance, and descends through close and strong currents from the most illustrious winners and winning lines of blood of which the English Stud Book bears record.

A careful review of the first six crosses of the pedigree of INTRUDER will show nine Derby winners; five St. Leger winners; two winners of The Oaks; two winners of the Two Thousand Guineas; two winners of the One Thousand Guineas; one Goodwood Cup winner; one Cæsarwich Cup winner; one Cambridgeshire Stakes winner, and four Doncaster Cups, in addition to a great number of Steeplechases and other races of less import.

INTRUDER, at the great fair held at St. Louis, Mo., in 1876, was awarded the highest stallion honors—the blue ribbon and the $500 purse—in the sweepstakes ring for stallion of any age or blood. The list of competitors embraced the large number of thirty-three animals, and they represented England, Canada, Kentucky, Tennessee, and other states. He also took first premium in his class and in sweepstakes for the best stallion of any age or breed at the State Fair at Peoria, Ill., 1882. He is the sire of Tidal Wave, George Hakes, Bernice and April Fool.

INTRUDER is the sire of Interpose, who is the dam of Spokane, winner of the Kentucky Derby, in which he beat the great horse Proctor Knott and broke the record

TERMS: $50 for the season. Mares not proving with foal can be returned the next season free of charge. Good pasturage at $4 per month. Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire, and fed on hay and grain, either or both, at reasonable rates. While every precaution will be taken, no responsibility will be assumed for escapes or accidents. Mares sent from a distance in care of the undersigned, will be met and taken to the park. DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2½ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level headed, seldom making a break; wears 7-ounce shoes in front. His record 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

Limited to 15 approvedmares.
Season to end June 1st, 1890.

SANTA RITA....2:39
MEMO, two-year-old (three-year-old trial 2:20½)....2:49
And many others.

SIDNEY is the sire of Faustino 2:35, and Fleet 2:36, the two fastest yearlings the world has ever known by one sire, and his slowest yearling is faster than the great Electioneer's fastest.

    - Colon, Dam of Caliban, sire of 3 in 2:30 list

As will be seen, Simmocolon is by a performing and producing son of George Wilkes, 2:22. He has back of him three producing dams, and combines the blood of the great sire George Wilkes handsomely blended with the blood of the greatest broodmare families. On the dam's side Mambrino Patchen, Strathmore, Clark Chief and Clay. A fine individual himself, pure gaited and very fast.
Terms, $150, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

THE IMPROVED NOYES ROAD - CART.

PATENTED JULY 17, 1883, AND JUNE 8, 1886.

Some of the Advantages of the Noyes Cart Over All Others.

There is no bar for the rider to climb over in getting in or out. The horse can be hitched eighteen inches nearer than any other road-cart made. You can get in or out with perfect safety—no danger of being thrown into the wheel—a great advantage in breaking colts. THE EASIEST CART FOR ROAD OR TRACK. The only cart that a horse can be speeded to within one second as fast as to a sulky. All our carts are made of the very best materials and are warranted. Manufactured by the NOYES CART COMPANY, Kalamazoo, Mich.

They are indorsed by the following horsemen, all of whom are using them. Ask their opinion of the Noyes Cart: John Splan, who drove Guy a full mile in 2:17¼ and Chanter a half-mile in 1:10½ to a Noyes Cart, says he would not take $250 for it if he could not get another; W. GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used.

Very respectfully yours,
S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop'ts.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),
And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

ALFRED G, 2:19¾.

Owned by G. E. Guerne, - - Santa Rosa.

It is hard to say farewell and almost as hard to write it, but from the present aspect of affairs, the horse-loving community of California will, within a few days, bid farewell to Alfred G., 2:19¾, the first trotting grandson of Electioneer to enter the 2:20 list. Last week we mentioned that it was extremely likely Alfred G. would be sent to Kentucky, and an interview with Mr. Guerne, the owner, verifies the report. The Sonoma County Stock Breeder's Association were the owners of Anteeo, and were prevailed upon to send their great young horse to the celebrated blue grass region of Kentucky, and that their advisers were not wrong in the estimate that the Eastern horse breeders would put upon the horse, it is only necessary to say that in less than six days his book was filled for the season of 1889 at a service fee of $200. J. W. Knox, who took Anteeo East, as is well known, finally sold him to the Kalamazoo Stock Farm, and to-day he is considered by many the greatest stock horse in the western States. It is only a few weeks ago that Peter V. Johnson, the well known trainer and driver, said in our presence that he fully expected to see Anteeo one of the greatest sires of the age. An opinion such as that, and coming from competent authority, carries sufficient weight to warrant the belief that Electioneer's son has a grand future before him.

Mr. Knox has made a contract with Mr. Guerne, by which he takes Alfred G. to Lexington, Ky., where he will stand for public service at $200, and the lessee also has the privilege of selling the horse, the price placed on him being $25,000. It is hardly to be presumed that a young horse like this will ever have a chance to return to California, as there [illegible] ern buyers always on the outlook for rare bargains [illegible] is as good a one as was ever offered.

Alfred G. is a handsome bay, with four white feet and a small star in forehead. He stands 15.2 in height, and weighs 1050 pounds. His conformation is exceedingly good to the eye, and he will please any judge of horse flesh. As a three-year-old he made two appearances, the first of which was at Santa Rosa on August 15th, where he met Ben Davis, Redwood and Anti-Coolie. He won the first and third heats, but was ultimately beaten out by Ben Davis. The next appearance of the colt was at Petaluma, where he had as antagonists Redwood, Ben Davis, Anti-Coolie and Alice, but he failed to do better than get third money, the largest end of the purse being taken by Redwood, another son of Anteeo.

Napa was the first of the circuit towns in 1889, and there we find him battling against his old opponent Redwood, Lookout, Nono Y. and Flora B. He won the first heat by a head in 2:31½, Redwood being second. Lookout, who had considerable local backing, won the second heat in 2:27¾, and the third and fourth heats were won by Redwood in 2:24½ and 2:27½. In the fifth heat a change of drivers was made, J. A. Dustin taking his place behind Alfred G., and from the start it was seen that the alteration was beneficial. Hickok, with his master hand, was driving Redwood, and it was all he could do to win the deciding heat in 2:25, Alfred G. being a good second. It was now evident that, barring accident, Alfred G. would make a name for himself on the circuit, as he had shown speed enough to beat his class if handled properly, and the colt was turned over to Dustin's management. The change was noticeable at San Rosa, where he won in straight heats, in 2:29¾, 2:23½ and 2:24½. Again, at Petaluma, he repeated the trick in the District four-year-old race, where he again won as he pleased in 2:36½, 2:30¼ and 2:27½. Oakland was the next objective point, and here we find Alfred G. pitted against Atto Rex, Lord Byron, Pink and Express. Atto Rex, the San Diego horse, had made such a showing on the circuit, that he sold favorite in the pools at $60, Lord Byron $55, Express $27, Pink $20, and Alfred G. was almost neglected, at $10 and $11. Rex won the race in straight heats, but Alfred G. was second in each; the first heat he was only beaten by a nose in 2;21¾.

At Sacramento the game young horse was overtaken with the prevailing disease, the epizootic, and was far from being in winning form, still he managed to get third place in four heats out of five, each of his miles being trotted inside of 2:21. When he appeared at Stockton the following week, he was a very sick horse, and it seemed a shame to turn him loose in the company he had to face, the field consisting of Hazel Wilkes, Emma Temple, Mary Lou, Pink, Lorita, and the subject of this sketch. Alfred G. won the first heat in 2:23¼, but was beaten by Hazel Wilkes, by half a length, for the second heat in 2:20. Even the constitution of a horse could not stand the excessive strain, especially in view of his trouble, and he had to be content with third money, Emma Temple ultimately winning the race. At San Jose he was still under the weather, and was again unable to do better than get third money, in the 2:23 class, Hazel Wilkes proving the victor.

At the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeder's Association meeting, we again find Alfred G. contending against Nono Y. and Balkan, he winning easily the first, second and fourth heats in 2:24, 2:23½ and 2:23. He was now sent back to Santa Rosa, where he was given an occasional jog, but the weather was so bad that he could not even be given a work out.

When the news was flashed over the wires that an attempt would be made to lower a lot of the records at Napa, Mr. Guerne's horse was sent overland, and there joined the great band of horses that were about to add another laurel to the wealth of California. Arriving on Saturday morning, Alfred G. was sent for a record that afternoon, Marvin driving the grandson of Electioneer, and notwithstanding the lack of necessary work, the celebrated Palo Alto driver had no difficulty in sending Alfred G. a mile in 2:19¾.

When the exhibition was concluded, the fifteen hundred spectators fairly made the welkin ring, as both owner and horse are very popular. It was another grand victory for the advocates of the Electioneer blood, and stamped the fact solidly, that Electioneer does breed on in generation after generation. We are extremely sorry to think that our neighbors further East are going to have the advantages of Alfred G.'s breeding, but what is a loss to California is a gain to Kentucky. The following is his pedigree:

"Abe."

H. G. Crickmore relates a touching incident in the life of Abe, the colored jockey who rode Bayswater, the winner of the first race at the opening of Jerome Park in 1866. Abe was never known to have a surname. The world knew him only as Abe; he rode at New Orleans, Saratoga, and Jerome Park as Abe, and the turf reporters wrote of him as Abe. He was a clever jockey, his methods in the saddle being described as a combination of the methods of Garrison, Hamilton and Murphy. He was neither beautiful nor graceful, but had a knack of "getting there." In slavery days Abe was a chattel of Ducan F. Kenner, of New Orleans, the man after whom the Kenner Stake at Saratoga was named. When the war began Mr. Kenner went to Europe, where he remained till after the days of reconstruction. Abe became a freedman, and in 1866 journeyed to the North to pursue his calling as a jockey, riding wherever and whenever he could get a mount. His savings in a year or two amounted to some $4,000, which he deposited in a bank in New York. Already an old man when he left Dixie, he could not resist a longing to return; so one day, without saying a word to anybody, he set out for New Orleans. Going to the bank he presented his book and asked for $100. "Ise gwine away fer good," he informed the teller; "gwine back to deplantashun." "Going away for good, eh?" said the teller, counting out $100 and entering the draft on Abe's book. "What are you going to do with the rest of your money?" "Leave that byer for my ole marster. He mout need it w'en 'e gits back." When Abe died Mr. Kenner buried him at the head of the home-stretch on his private training-ground near New Orleans.

A young western horse which had evidently been pampared up and drugged for sale, was completely let down and suffering from much fever. Finding it necessary to employ an active purge, I, at the request of the owner, used Simmons Liver Regulator, giving one pint doses twelve hours apart; and as soon as he could eat giving it in powder form in bran. In one week he had fully recovered.—Geo. W. Rodfong, V. S. Germantown, Pa.

THE PROPERTY OF A. McFADYEN.

The fame of Anteeo has gone abroad, the splendid performances of his progeny last year, stamping him as a great producer of speed and as a natural consequence those of his sons who are in public service this season will receive a large number of mares. Parties in Kentucky wanted to secure a lease of Redwood, but the owner absolutely refused to allow him to go East, having determined to give the breeders of California a chance to avail themselves of Redwood's grand breeding. A look over the pedigree will prove to any one that Redwood should also transmit speed as he is fleet of foot himself and has not had a chance to get anything near a paper mark for himself. Year before last, as a three-year-old he appeared twice, first at Petaluma where he met Ben Davis, Alfred G., Anti-Coolie and Alice. He won the third, fourth and fifth with considerable ease in 2:35, 2:31 and 2:30¼. His last work for 1888 was as a contestant in the Occident Stake at the State Fair Meeting at Sacramento. Sol Wilkes was the only other starter and both of the animals were dead lame. Sol Wilkes won the first heat in 2:47 but Redwood cut the matter short by taking the next heats in 2:39½, 2:36½ and 2:40½.

In 1889 he again appeared, the first time at Napa, where he faced a strong field of horses, and although his half brother won the first heat, and Lookout won the second, still, guided by O. A. Hickok, he won the third, fourth and fifth heats, repeating his performances of the year before, and winning a large sum of money for his backers. In this race he got his record, 2:24½, and it is no exaggeration in stating that he could have reduced that mark by a second or two. He only appeared once again, the epizootic having taken a strong hold of the young colt, and he was in no condition to do himself justice. Mr. McFadyen is positive that during this year he will make a very low record; in fact there are some that imagine he should almost touch his sire's mark. In color he is a beautiful bay, with black points, the relief being one white hind foot. His dam, Lou Medium, was a very fast trotter, being able to show a mile in 2:25 at almost any time; in fact she was one of the best of the progeny left in this State by Milton Medium. The grandam of Redwood was "Fly" the sorrel mare so well known in the Ralston team, The Late Banker, frequently showing the speed of his fast pair to the road frequenters. Fly was undoubtedly well bred, and it seems sheer nonsense that the pedigree of such a fast mare should never have been established. Mr. Ralston was very negligent in the matter, or the word "untraced" would not be there to-day. However, Redwood is as fast as a bullet and will stand for the season of 1890 at the Oakland Trotting Park, where the best of care and attention will be paid to all mares sent to the embrace of this great son of Anteeo.

The Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeder's Association held their annual meeting on Thursday evening at the Palace Hotel, with J. H. White (Pres.) in the chair. Acting Sec'y, W. Page, read his report, showing the good financial status of the association, there being $1,354 to their credit. The treasurer and secretary's reports were adopted. A long discussion then took place as to whether the association should be incorporated, it being eventually referred to the Board. The election of officers resulted in the selection of J. H. White, F. W. Lober, G. Valensin, F. H. Burke, M. Salisbury, A. T. Hatch, W. Page, W. S. Hobart, Irvin Ayres, F. L. Coombs and G. Tompkins.

The newly elected Directors met immediately after the adjournment, and elected the following officers: President, J. H. White; vice-Presidents, F. H. Burke and F. W. Loeber; Treasurer, N. T. Smith. The election of a Secretary was deferred until after the revision of the by-laws.

The new Board of Directors met on Thursday morning, with President J. H. White, F. H. Burke, W. Page, I. Ayres, G. Valensin, F. L. Coombs, F. W. Loeber and G. Tompkins present. The morning session was devoted to the constitution and by-laws, the most noteworthy being the initiation fee which was fixed at $25 and the annual dues at $10. In electing officers no proxies are eligible; the Secretary was instructed to have a sufficient quantity of copies of the By-laws printed.

When the Board of Directors met for the afternoon session, the first and most important discussion took place over the Secretaryship. Mr. Wilfred Page, who was one of the originators and instigators of the association, had acted as temporary Secretary, but being unwilling, owing to his other engagements to continue, Mr. J. P. Kerr was after some discussion unanimously appointed Secretary, and the offices will in future be in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN office. The Directors decided to give at their next meeting, the date of which was not fixed, yearling, two-year-old, three and four-year-old stake races, purses for three-year-olds who have not beaten 3:00, four year-olds that have not beaten 2:40, and also purses for the get of stallions who have no representatives in the 2:30 class, and a purse of $1,000 for 2:30 stallions.

The Stanford stakes were called up for rediscussion, and it was decided to accept the stakes. It will be trotted in 1892 by foals of 1889. The entrance was reduced from $175 to $100.

Pacific Coast Blood Horse Association.

The new Board of Directors met on Thursday evening Mr. Lathrop taking the chair. Messrs. Thornton, Williams, Gunst, Carrol, and Finigan, in fact all the Directors, were present. The Secretary, E. S. Culver, was duly reappointed without a dissenting vote, as was the Treasurer, P. A. Finigan. Mr. Lathrop then appointed the various committees, including several new ones, notably a Handicapping Committee of three, composed of Messrs. Thornton, Williams and Finigan, and another of Messrs. Williams and Gunst, to induce the tradesmen, hotels and railroads to give added money to several stakes in the fall.

Considerable discussion took place about fixing the date of the spring meeting. Saturday, April 12th, was eventually selected as the opening day. Whether the race would take place at the Bay District track or not could not be definitely stated, as probably it would be turned into building property at any time. If they could not secure it Oakland is almost sure to have the races there. The Pres. then proposed that the Association should secure suitable offices. The Secretary presented an offer from Mr. James P. Kerr to provide them with office room free in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN offices. A vote of thanks to Mr. Kerr for his liberal offer was passed, but as some of the Directors were unwilling to accept the room on Mr. Kerr's terms, preferring to pay for the [illegible] Mr. Lathrop was appointed a committee of one to [illegible] with Mr. Kerr. The Board then adjourned.

TURF AND TRACK.

St. Blaise will only serve his owner's mares this season.

Dave Pulsifer thinks Tenny will be invincible next season.

Kingston is red hot just now, i. e. will be when the flag drops.

Tucker & Cherry have engaged the light weight Fox for next season.

Frank McCabe trainer for Dywer Bros. at Gravesend has 46 horses in training.

S. P. Stroud, Los Angeles sent the last entry to the Chicago end of the Friendly Stakes.

John Watts, the well known English jockey, has started a stud farm at Exning, England.

D. B. Goff, New York, purchased from Lynn Bros. Stock Farm Ohio, Lynn 2:21¼.

Sir Henry Hawkins was by acclamation elected a member of the English Jockey Club last month.

A mare is said to have dropped dead in Bangor, Maine, within six months of her 42nd birthday.

They hold running and trotting races every Sunday afternoon on the half mile track at Audubon Park, New Orleans.

The spring meeting of the Hartford Trotting Association will take place at Charter Oak on June 24th and three following days.

There are employed in E. E Eagles coal yard at Lexington Ky., eight clerks who were formerly employed in the various pool rooms.

C. W. Williams, late owner of Axtell, and W. H. McHenry, a well known driver and colt handler, have gone into partnership in a stable of trotters.

Frank Patros, one of the smartest two-year-olds seen out in the north of England last season, has been sold privately for £2,000, his destination being Italy.

The Directors of the Sonoma and Marin Agricultural Association elected the well known veterinary surgeon, Dr. T. MacClay, Secretary for the ensuing year.

It is reported that T. J. Dunbar may handle Maud S. next season. Dunbar is head trainer at Fashion Farm, and his contract does not expire until next fall.

Gypsey Queen 2:19¾ by Rushville, has been sold for $10,500 to A. J. Feek, of Syracuse, N. Y. Messrs. Johnson and Perry, of Nebraska, were the former owners.

Lisle Simpson's three-year-old colt Milton, (Onondaga Smilax) is said to have improved wonderfully. The Sire Bros. wanted to get a price on him, but failed.

D. G. Dolson of Arcata, Humboldt County, has lately purchased two splendid Percheron stallions (Country gentleman and New Orleans) from W. H E. Smith.

The regular fee for registration of colors in England is five shillings a year or £5 for life. Under Grand National Rules five shillings per annum and £2 for life.

J. P. Starmu, New Mexico, has bought the two fillies Gertie and Ethel, foaled in 1886 and 1887 by Kinlock (by Cuyler) dam Mollie Douglass (sister to Fred Douglass 2:24¼).

Ed. Corrigan is reported to have a speedy yearling in Connie Buckingham, a filly by Powhattan—Hattie Harris. She is wintering at Memphis, and is two years old now.

The Memphis races will commence on April 12. If there is a matinee day it will be ten days prior to their regular meeting, and horses that are in winter quarters only are eligible.

Numerous operations have been performed lately by English veterinaries to cure roaring by removing the arytenoid cartilage but the result is now officially declared to be a failure.

Last week Pike Barnes bought the speedy bay mare Mollie Hardy (6) by Jack Hardy—Tar River, from W. K. Cherry for $700 Barnes has placed the mare at the Avondale Stable to be trained.

The Brighton Beach Association some years ago purchased a full set of surgical instruments, bandages, etc. The case was removed to Clifton and proved very useful when Cullen was injured.

George E. Monroe, Massachusetts, is now sole owner (having bought Mr. Herrick's share) of Electwood, three years old, by Whips, 2:27½ (son of Electioneer) out of a sister to Woodnut 2:16¾ and Manon 2:21.

The Leicester Royal Handicap did not prove such a success as was at first anticipated. Only 133 entries turned up instead of 250. The stakes were therefore reduce to £6,000. Col. North has eight nominations.

On account of the prolonged drought at New Orleans all the water tanks at the Fair Grounds have been emptied. The tables are supplied with water from the public fountain at a charge of twenty five cents a barrel.

There is still hope of a National Jockey Club. Mr. Withers has written to England for the rules govering the turf there, and when he receives them, the Eastern and Western clubs may unite in a set of rules that will be of benefit to racing.

Fred Barrett, one of Englands crack riders, sailed on Christmas eve for Buenos Ayres. He will ride a few races there and return to England in the latter part of February, expecting to be back by the 6th of March.

Maori, West & Co.'s imported filly by Poulet—imp. Queen of Cypress, who showed Saratogans such speed last summer is wintering well at Memphis, and her owners anticipate more speedy work from her another season.

The new English racing rules insist on horses being named at or before time of entry, and also partnerships, sales with engagements and leases are to be registered before the animal is eligible to be entered or run for a race.

Mr. John A. Morris has lost a fine yearling, a filly by Tom Ochiltree out of Faithless (the dam of Britannic), by Leamington. She recently broke away and injured herself so badly that it was found necessary to destroy her.

News has been received from Gabe S. Caldwell that his health is greatly improved and he is likely to thoroughly recover. He is now contemplating going North early in February to take the starter's flag again at Clifton.

The present trainer of the Union Stable, Frank West, has worked a revolution in the form of the horses since he has had charge of them. Wynwood and Ilma B both showed last week the effects of West's labors with them.

The local bookmakers have been in a sad plight for several days as owing to receiving no early betting reports they have had to figure the odds for themselves in the morning. I do not hear though of any of them being badly hurt.

The Grand Prix de Paris will this year probably take place on the 29th of June, a fortnight later than usual, which will give the English racing fraternity a chance to run their horses at Ascot, prior to taking chances across the channel.

Roseburg merchants subscribe $3200 to the capital stock of the Douglas county fair association. The association has purchased 100 acres of land for $5,000 and increased its capital stock to $20,000, in order to properly improve the grounds.

It is estimated that within the last six weeks 200 horses have been stolen from Middle Tennessee and taken into Kentucky. It is said they are then taken to Cincinnati. General Jackson, Col. Overton and the Cockerills will probably form a Farmers' Association and employ a strong force to rout them out of the wild, unsettled portion of Kentucky which they fly to.

The Duke of Westminster charges one shilling for the right of inspecting Eaton Hall, and forwarded last month from that source of revenue £500 to the Chester Infirmary, and £200 to the Grosvenor Museum and School of Arts in Chester.

District Agricultural Association No. 6 Los Angeles is to the fore in fixing the date of their spring meeting which will take place from April 14th to April 19th inclusive. There will be two running and one trotting (or pacing) race each day.

The Exposition Driving Park Association, Kansas, will hold their early trotting meeting the last week in May. Secretary R. W. Cunningham is hustling around to get up a good meeting, as it is the initial meeting of the Northwestern Circuit.

The Canadian trotting faculty struck a bargain when they purchased Muscovite in Kentucky. He stood a season near Quebec, and has lately been sold to a gentleman near Chicago for $15,000. He leaves almost a dozen promising younsters in Canada.

The judges at Clifton made a blunder last week when they claimed that a horse was not in the starter's hands until he made a break away. To decide when a real break was made would indeed prove a difficult question even for judges to determine.

The annual meeting of the Santa Clara Valley Agricultural Association was held on Wednesday last week when reports were submitted and William Backley was elected President for the next term. Wm. Quin and T. S. Montgomery were elected directors.

R. Tucker has bought of Lyle & Parmer, of Nashville, the yearling Turner brother to Vermont by Vanderbilt out of Gertrude: price not stated. It is understood he was bought for a well-known Nashville turfman, for whom Mr. Tucker will train next season.

Polo Jim, the well known colored assistant to Starter Caldwell, died last week from pneumonia. He was one of the best known characters on the American race tracks and deserves a good deal of the credit given to Caldwell. His real name was Ambrose Jefferson.

Of the horses that have sold for $10,000 and over this year, John E. Madden of Lexington Ky. formerly a citizen of Pennsylvania, has owned three of them—Bosque Bonita, Bluegrass Handletonian and Warlock. He also owned a half interest in the Wilkes stallion Macey.

Prince Charlie (dead), who stood second in the list of winning sires this year, only cost Mr. Swigert about $4 000. He was bought at the earnest solicitation of Mr. B. G. Bruce, who argued that although a failure in England he would be a success crossed on American-bred mares.

It is said that at the last meeting of the Kempton Park (England) Directors, a very large bonus was given to the shareholders, in order that the company should not declare too high a dividend There is an income tax in England, which probably influenced the Directors.

1884 was Hammond's year in England. St. Gatien ran a dead heat for the Derby, and Florence wound up the season by carrying 127 pounds to the front in the Cambridgeshire Handicap. Last year Florence was bred to St. Gatien, but unfortunately slipped her foal last month.

Pepper and Riley have re-named their late purchase 'Elias Lawrence,' Melbourne. It looks a little late in life to change the old horse's name, and most certainly changing horses names should be stopped. The horse was originally named after the first Secretary of the Latonia Jockey Club.

Among the Tennessee thoroughbred stock farms are something over 200 youngsters, yearlings who will be sold at auction this spring. Belle Meade has sixty, Cliff Lawn twelve, all by Saxon; Fairview about 45, Richland fifteen, Bonaventura five, by Vanguard; Kennesaw ten and Peytona ten.

This office will pay Twenty-five Cents for copies of the Breeder and Sportsman of the following dates: January 26, 1889; April 6, 1889; July 27, 1889; and for two copies of August 10, 1889; and will deem it a favor if readers who do not care to preserve files will forward the numbers mentioned.

Alf Estill was in Nashville on the 27th, and arranged stable accommodations for the Winters' Stable Mr. Estill came on to Sacramento and will go to Reno in time to take the two, year-olds back to meet McCormick with El Rio Rey, Don Jose-Joe Courtney, and the rest of the Eastern stable in Nashville in the latter part of February.

The Governor has commissioned as Directors for District 12 C. W. Aby (the well known manager of the Guenoc & Langtry Stud Farms), vice Q. V. P. Day, resigned; David Alexander of Lake County, vice self, term expired. District No. 19—Charles P. Low of Santa Barbara County, vice self, term expired; A. Hayman of Santa Barbara County, vice F. M. Sentenny, removed from the district.

There is to be a new race course in the vicinity of Paris 318 lots having been purchased at Suresnes, near the Bois de Bolougne. The Chairman is W. G Craven, a well known member of the French and English jockey clubs, while two of the Kempton Park Directors are on the board. It is intended to have a club house, on the Sandown Park plan, fitted up for the members.

Jockey Bergen finds himself in a dilemma just now. The Dwyer Brother have increased their original bid, which was made for his services next year some time ago, several thousand dollars, but each time Walbaum has stood the raise. Now that both parties have reached the top figure Bergen is forced to name his future employer. All things being equal it is more than probable that Bergen will next year wear the red and blue sash.

The most popular races in India used to be the Hyderabad. Last year they were not so well patronized by the owners of the large Arab stables. The totalisator was very little used, the innovation not having nearly as much play as the old pari-mutuel, which was worked on the credit system. It has been suggested that a money lender be on hand to keep things on a cash basis. There were two firms of bookmakers who did great business.

On being asked if he anticipated a union of the National and American Associations, President Johnson said: 'That, I cannot say, but a state of affairs now exists which leaves no obstacle in the way of union. The personal relationships between the leading members of the two bodies are of the most friendly character, and I believe that the breeders and the principal horsemen of the country realize that it would be to their advantage to be governed by one body."

The Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association opened four important stakes, which closed January 1, 1890. The Stallion Representative Stake of $5000 is for foals of 1889 the get of stallions which may be nominated in this stake to trot as three-year-olds at the autumn meeting of the association in 1892. The Lexington Stake of $1000 is for two year olds. The Kentucky Stake for three-year olds and the Blue Grass Stake for four-year-olds are also for $1000 each.

While talking to Wm. Coombs about Dolly McMann slipping her colt, he told me that he originally bought her and bred her to Nutwood, but being away from home when she was about due to foal, she got among some mares and colts and foaled all right, but not being taken up at once (owing to the neglect of the employes) the colts kicked and trampled on the chestnut colt, breaking his back. His brothers got the old mare then and bred her to Whippleton, the result being Lillie Stanley 2:17½.

The Passaic County Agricultural Society on Dec. 28th announced what will probably be the first race for two year olds of 1890. The race will be called the Early Blossom Stake, will be at three-eighths of a mile, and will be run on Feb. 14th next at Clifton, if the track and weather permit. Otherwise the race will be run on the first favorable day. The society will add $1000 to the stakes, entrance to which will be $10 each, with $15 extra for starters. The stakes will close Feb. 1st, and the cash entrance fee must accompany the nomination.

Arthur Lion and Tom Treacy on January 2nd matched their three year olds Mayor Nolan and Mayor Noonan for $500 a side at three-quarters of a mile, weight for age, the race to be run at the Fair Grounds early in the spring. Mayor Noonan is by Springbok and although he only started but four times as a two year old he showed that he was a good one. He won one race and came in second twice. Mayor Nolan is by Great Tom and is named after Mayor Nolan of Albany, the head of the Beverwyck stable Mayor Nolan started 12 times and has one win to his credit.

Geo. G. White, proprietor of the Chicken Cock stud farm, near Paris, Ky, has bought at a high price the black stallion Clay Wilkes, 9, by George Wilkes, first dam by American Clay, second dam the dam of Howard, 2.27½, and Jeff Wilkes 2:29½. He was owned by the Prospect Hill farm in Pennsylvania. Besides this stallion Mr. White owns the celebrated Victor Von Bismarck, the sire of the great unbeaten Edgemark, 2:16 as a four year old, who won all his races as a yearling, a two year old and a three year old. Clay Wilkes will be campaigned next year after he serves a limited number of mares.

There are quite a number of men, defaulters in India, who are racing in England, and several prominent sporting journals in India have been commenting strongly on the action of the Premier Racing Club (the Calcutta Turf Club) in not sending official information to the racing authorities in England. If they do not do so, the same men will probably default there, and others will come here and eventually cast a reflection on the club in question. That they have the power has been proved last season when the Victoria Jockey Club prevented the irrepressible Mr. Weekes from racing in Melbourne on receipt of notice of his default in India.

The sons and daughters of Longfellow since the the year 1876 when they first appeared on the turf have won $650,000 in stakes and purses For several years he has been standing at $500, but he is likely to be used only as a private stallion. He was the first horse to run a mile in 1:40 on the American soil.

There is one thing certain, says an Exchange, only horses with the most certain proof of having been entered should be allowed to start in trotting races even under protest. They are often serious disturbing elements and it is poor satisfaction for the winner of only portion of a race to have to wait months for his winnings.

Major Frank McLaughlin is once more in California and is full of things he's seen etc. etc. One peculiarly American institution remains to scare him, the sight of a reporter acts on him like a red flag on a bull. The gallant major says that he had not time to unpack when he was attacked by a mob of the fighting reporters and how he got rid of them God and he alone know.

The stockholders of the Arizona Industrial Exposition Association last week elected a board of directors, six out of the thirteen new men. We may now look for increased effectiveness from so much fresh blood. The board includes: H. H. Logan, J. D. Monihon, T. J. Trask, L. Fowler, C. R. Hakes, H. E. Kemp, H. W. Ryder, D. H. Recarte, J. Harbert, O. H. Christy, C. W. Johnstone, K. E. Farrington, E. Ganz. The new board will organize January 6, 1890.

In building the road from the Hatfield Gate to the backstretch of the Westchester track several old coins have been found. Big pennies, which smack of past generations, when one got the worth of his money. One is clearly marked "1840," but there is another with "1300" inscribed below the profile of a man with a powdered wig and riband of a century back. And now the question is, Was American money made in 1300 or does this find indicate that John A. Morris has unearthed Capt. Kidd's treasure.

If John Mackey is unable to go East, as his present state of health, I am sorry to say, indicates, E. S. Culver, the erudite Secretary of the Blood Horse, will probably go East with the trotters next month. Mr. Haggin will send yearlings two, three, and four year olds and no better man than Ned Culver could be found for he knows almost as much about the old California trotters as John Mackey and is just as genial and full of general information which he imparts fully to cover one.

Dave Pulsifer is said to have brought off the largest coup of last year on December 28th. The rooms were reopened in Chicago and the West and all Saturday the wires were kept hot with messages to Louisville, Nashville, Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City, St. Paul, Denver and San Francisco bearing the legend "lay me fifty each way on Wynwood at post odds, answer," signed D. T. Pulsifer. In the local N. Y. pool rooms Mr. Pulsifer continued betting and on the track kept it up till the flag fell when he had $4000 on to win $32000 and pulled it off.

The Australian condidates for the English Derby have had very little work so far and no one can really know what their true form is. A well known racing man says: they are big-boned, sturdy-built colts somewhat coarse about their head and neck, and lack the quality so generally to be seen in the kind of animals which distinguish themselves in our classic races. Then again, the action of the colts—more particularly in their slow paces—strikes me as being heavy and somewhat coachy not at all adapted for the up-and-down hill course at Epsom.

Cridge, the well known New York bookmaker, claims to have the boss preventative to bogus tickets (duly patented). It is a "serrator" which has an irregular or serrate edge, and is used in detaching the ticket from the stub, and it has been found in practice that the line of tear produced by the use of the implement will vary with each particular use, consequently that the ticket or other paper separated from the stub can be fitted only to its own particular stub.

Since the use of the patent Mr. Cridge says he has only paid on one bogus ticket, and then through an employee's carelessness.

During last season in England, horses running under Jockey Club Rules, have divided amongst their owners $2,400,000. This, of course, does not include prizes taken by hunters, handicap steeple chase horses and in hurdle races, and as during six months of the year the illegitimate sport is going on all over the country, and big money put up, there is a goodly sum to be added to the total. Last year shows an advance of $250 000 on the previous year, which was almost as much in advance of 1883. Evidently the Britishers are up with the times.

When Axtell and Allerton trotted their fast miles as three year olds they wore very light shoes, something like six ounces in front and a little less behind. When Sunol went in 2:10½ she wore nine ounce shoes in front and four ounces behind. Margaret S. wore only 8 ounces in front and about 3 ounces behind, and Lillian Wilkes was very evenly balanced. In fact, it is generally admitted that very fast colts must go with light shoes, since it is contrary to common sense to suppose that they can take up a great amount of weight on their feet and do the trick.

A mutual understanding between man and horse is necessary in order to insure the largest per cent. of profit to the stall-owner, says a leading writer. If friendly word and kindly act are sent as messengers, the equine nature moves in quick response; if angry tone and brutal blow be offered, they are treasured up in sullen, vengeful mind, and at the moment least expected are tendered back in most disastrous manner. The prudent stallioner is friendly with his horse. His nature is made the subject of careful study; his peculiarities of temper are learned; his faults are skillfully corrected, and his vices, if any unfortunately there be, are mitigated.

An invention likely to interest all breeders and horsemen, has just been brought out at the Vienna Military Veterinary Institute. Prof. Polanski and Dr. Schindelka have constructed an instrument admitting of the inspection by mirror of the horse's larynx. This apparatus is used with a tiny electric lamp, and the examination is made, not as heretofore, through the animal's mouth, but through its nostrils. Only three men have been required to hold the horses during the experiments which have been made at the Vienna Institute. The new method has the advantage of allowing the nostrils to be thoroughly examined at the same time as the larynx, which for certain diseases is all important.

The great trotting sire Wilton, by George Wilkes, dam Allie, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, jointly owned heretofore by W. C. France and Bowerman Bros., was sold on Jan. 1st to the latter. The price is private, but said to be the largest for which a stallion has ever been sold in America.

Ione race track is in exceptionally good trim. The track is beautifully built, being several feet higher than the surrounding land, while the soil is such that in a couple of days the track is in good working order. As a proof of the excellence of the track, quite a number of horses have wintered there. C. F. Bunch has a big half dozen, while Waterman brought two from Stockton, and several other prominent trainers are in Ione. Last year, Amador and Sacramento counties gave preference to the runners, and judging from the satisfaction given all round, and the good racing shown, they will continue the programme this year, and should be extensively patronized by both runners and trotters; their liberality and general good management deserve it.

The Melbourne Cup will be run this year on November 4th. The following are the revised conditions as fixed by the Victoria Racing Club:—

"The Melbourne Cup, a handicap sweepstakes of 50 sovs. each, 10 forfeit, or only 5 if declared before August 4th, with 10,000 sovs. and a trophy, value 150 sovs, added. After the declaration of the weights the winner of any handicap flat race, value 100 sovs., to carry 3 lbs.; 200 sovs, 5 lbs.; 300 sovs, 7 lbs.: 500 sovs. or upwards, 14 lbs. extra, provided that the winner of the Jockey Club or Victoria Racing Club Derby of this year shall carry not less than 7 st. 6 lbs. Distance from stand, two miles. Entries, with 5 sovs., to be made before Monday, June 2nd, and the weighis to appear on June 23rd. The second forfeit of 5 sovs. to be declared and paid on the Tuesday preceding the race."

I had a very chatty visit from Bruce Cockrill last Saturday. He says that the Salinas track is in very fair order. He has had a hard stroke of luck. The yearling filly by Milner out of Maggie O is dead, while Daisy D's colt has only just recovered from his accident—he fell down in front of a plough and cut his shoulder a month ago. Mr. Cockrill took down with him a recent purchase from Palo Alto, viz, the bay two year old colt Mero (Wilkilde—Precious), brother to Philander and half brother to Peel and Pliny. Bruce gave $1,000 for the colt, who is a very promising youngster, heavily engaged on the coast. Among his engagements are the Racine Stakes (spring), Autumn Stakes (fall), at the Blood Horse this year, and in 1891 at the Blood Horse Spring Meeting he is entered for the Tidal Stakes and the Pacific Derby, and also in the Fame Stakes in the fall.

After all the credit the Jubilee Plunger received for writing "How I lost £250,000 in two years," it turns out that all he wrote was two words, "Ernest Benzon," which he put under his portrait on the title page. There is, after all, something in a name. The real writer was Vero Shaw, a well known sporting writer, who was engaged by two well known publishers, and as he only receiving £100 instead of £200 as agreed on, he sued the publisher and got a verdict for the extra £100. The facts were supplied by the Rev. Evelyn Burnaby, who knew the plunger during his minority, and Sir George Chetwynd. By the way, an exchange in re Benzon says: Benzon, "the Jubilee Plunger" is again in a state of financial collapse, and is contemplating a lecture tour in this country. But Americans need no instruction on how to spend money. What they like to hear is how to earn it.

The now two-year-olds at Lexington were worked along the last few days of their yearlinghood. James Murphy worked the sister to Clay Stockton, and the grey colt by Longfellow out of Gray Helen, a quarter in 24½ seconds, while the Silver Mine and Clarence G. filly, owned by Larry Hart, went the same distance in the fast time of 23 4-5 seconds. Byron McClelland's brown filly by Billet, dam Retreat by Virgil, handily beat a Duke of Montrose and Hindoo colt, three-eighths in 37 seconds, while a filly by Vauxhall, out of Silken Ban, served a Mr. Pickwick filly in the same style, in a dash of a quarter, which he ran in 25 seconds. The best performance of the week, and the season thus far, was done by Sister Linda, a daughter of imported Zorilla, who covered three furlongs in 36 seconds. Her feat was accomplished in the trial noted above, with shoes on and weight up. Trainers are astonished at her performance, and no youngster in training there is accorded as much attention, as she gives every indication of developing into a Miss Woodford or a Spinaway.

The Monterey District Trotting Association held their annual meeting in Salinas last week. The Treasurer's report showed that there had been paid out to the winners of the colt stakes of 1889, the sum of $400, and that there was on hand $105 paid in as entrance money for the twenty-one entries of 1890. The second payment of $10 was made on each of the following nominations to the stake of 1890: J. B Iverson's filly Mambrita, Wm. Vanderhurst's filly Salinas Maid, Z. Hebert's colt Spokane, C. C. Allen's filly Pocahontas, Paris Kilburn's filly Aunty Wilkes, and J. D. Carr's Nina B. Second payment delinquent at 12 o'clock at night, Jan. 1, 1890. M. Lynn was unanimously elected President of the association for the ensuing year. Jas. B. Iverson, Treasurer, and S. Z. Hebert, Secretary. It was voted that the stake money for 1891, be divided as follows: 50 per cent. to first horse; 25 per cent. to second horse; 15 per cent. to third, and 10 per cent. to fourth; also that distance be waived.

The two-year-old stake for 1891 was opened and received nine entries on the spot; the stallions Antevolo, Junio, Mulvoorhees and St. Patrick having two of their get entered, while the ninth was a Sidney.

'Hiram Woodruff Howe died on January 2nd.' Very few among us noticed the announcement in the daily papers, and fewer still recognized that this was the celebrated driver of Lady Thorn 2:18¼. American Girl 2:16½, Maggie Lambert 2:25½, Woodbridge Girl and a host of other well known trotters. Hiram Woodruff Howe was the nephew and adopted son of Hiram Woodruff, the driver among drivers, who died in 1867, leaving behind him an untarnished name and a reputation such as no man ever had in trotting circles. His well known sterling principles and ideas were early impressed on his relative who worthily upheld the reputation of the family. Hiram Woodruff's wife lived with Howe until her death in March, 1888. For the last fifteen years, Hiram Howe kept a road house on the Boulevard, Coney Island, which was a popular resort with all driving and sleighing parties, particularly the old school, who liked to chat of days of yore. He married one of the Misses Shaw; the other sister married John Murphy, 'the Red Prince,' who died only a few months ago. The death of these two grand drivers and trainers will be deeply regretted all over the country, but though dead they will never be forgotten among trotting men and lovers of the trotting horse.

The Rev. E. J. Saxton, while preaching at Barnsley on "Betting and Gambling," said that bookmakers all "lived in fine mansions," "have splendid surroundings," "maintain their carriages" and "make as much as £50,000 in a day." Occasionally they lose, but of course the reverend minister did not figure on that; later on referring to Jubilee Juggins, concerning whom he quoted some chatty notes by that excellent writer of cheap sensationalism, Mr. Runciman. This writer had said that Benzon's £250,000 was robbed from him in the sight of all England, whereupon the Rev. Mr. Saxton in his righteous wrath exclaims: "Talk of brigands; we have an army of them in our midst. Had this robery taken place in Greece or Spain, all our newspapers and our Government would have cried that the men should be found and punished, yet the men who robbed this youth are honored in society, and probably contribute to religious and charitable objects some of the blood money." It looks as though the worthy minister of the gospel was wasting his sympathy on a boy who would break the books but did not. The only way to stop him was to put him in an asylum.

At the late Newmarket sale Mr. Edmond Tattersall, the premier auctioneer, was suffering from bronchitis, so his son, Somerville Tattersall, mounted the rostrum. The sale was a great success, and in future December sales will be a regular thing. On the first day Sir George Mar purchased for Hampton Court Stud (The Queens) Madam du Barry, 1875, (Favonius—Strategy) for 900 guineas and Luciennes, 1885, (Beauclerc—Madam du Barry) for 390 guineas. The Duke of Hamilton gave top price, 1,300 guineas for Mercy, 1886, (Barcaldine—Clemence) and John Porter (for Baron Hirsch) paid 1,250 guineas for Pinkbasket, 1883, (Hampton—Bercaunette). The late Lord Falmouth's racing stock were sold by Mr. Somerville Tattersall on Wednesday, Dec. 20th. Eight yearlings averaged 835 guineas, Captain Machell paying 2,700 guineas for the Galliard—Madge Wildfire filly. Twelve weanlings averaged 446 guineas, Mr. Milner paying 1,100 guineas for the Springfield—Darnaway weanling. Twenty brood mares averaged 998 guineas. Doncaster 1883 (Doncaster—Belle Agnes) brought top price, 2,300 guineas, the Duke of Hamilton purchasing her. Two Hermit mares sold for 2,200 guineas each, viz., Wharfedale, 1878 (Hermit—Bonnie Doon) and Pauline, 1883 (Hermit—Lady Masham) Labrynth, 1881 (Hampton—Pretence) was sold for 2,000 guineas. Merry-Go-Round, a thirteen-year-old stallion by Scottish Chief out of Spinaway, sold for only 420 guineas. Reda, a four-year-old mare by Speculum out of Nellie McGregor, in training, sold for 1,150 guineas. Taken altogether, the sale was one of the best ever held; over £50,000 was taken in on the whole day's sales, while Lord Falmouth's 42 head sold for £33,570 guineas.

The leading stallion for last season is Wm. L. Scott's imported horse Rayon d'Or. He is closely followed by the dead (imported) Prince Charlie, late the property of Daniel Swigert, while the third place is occupied by Frank B. Harper's great Longfellow. Rayon d'Or's get won the enormous sum of $172,897. Prince Charlie's $169,546 and Longfellow's $140,015. The biggest winner was Chaos, by Rayon d'Or, who won $63,550 in stakes and purses.

Rayon d'Or has, as will be seen below, a double cross of Glencoe, a treble cross of Diomed, and a double cross of Touchstone. He is racing-bred on both sides, Flageolet being a very high class race-horse; while his dam—a half sister to King Tom, Stockwell and Rataplan—has produced, among others, Chamant, winner of the 2 000 guineas, Camelia, winner of the 1,000 guineas and dead heat for the Oaks, and Wellingtoria, the sire of Plaisanterie. Rayon d'Or himself was a race-horse, winning, among others, the Leger, the Champion Stakes, 2 miles 73 yards, beating Placida (the Oaks winner), Exeter and five others, the Challenge Stakes, six furlongs, when he beat such well known horses as Lollypop, Placida and Parole. As a four-year-old he won two races in France, 2 miles 5 furlongs and 3 miles 1 furlong, and in England he walked over for the Post Stakes and Prince of Wales Stakes, and carried 132 pounds to the front in the Rous Memorial at Ascot. During his turf career he won $122,140.

It is no wonder, when one reads the horse's record and looks carefully into his blood lines, that he is at the head of all the stallions in use in America. Rayon d'Or was imported in 1882 by Congressman W. L. Scott after one short season in France, where he left nine colts, most of which have since raced well there.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

Edited by Arphippus.

SUMMARY.

Next week the athletes will commence to train for coming events. For the present the Olympic athletes will be compelled to train indoors, while the Alpine Amateurs will be able to use their outdoor grounds towards the end of next week.

Several rowing clubs not already in the Pacific Rowing Association have applied for admission.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

The cinder path at Berkeley is in a very wretched condition, and it will be some time before the students can resume practice.

The chief athletic meeting of the year will be the championship meeting on May 30th. Three clubs will compete for the flag, the Olympic, the University and the Alpine. The former club should certainly stand the best show of coming out ahead, as it has the largest number of athletes on its side. The University club is composed of but a few men, but its members are all athletes of the first order. A few men, such as Gallagher, Mayo, Hill, Moffett and Rouse would prove more destructive to the enemy than fifty second-rate athletes. To meet these champions the Olympic Club will send Henderson, Jarvis, Purcell, Buchanan, McGee, Cassidy, Cooley, McArthur, Haley, and possibly Schifferstein. The Alpine Club has only three or four really first-class men, but these athletes will make a great effort to win first place in their different events. Cassidy has a very fair show to win the mile; McKinnon is liable to break the record in the hammer throwing event, while Sexsmith will possibly win the pole vault. Besides these three men there are two or three other athletes in the club who may capture some second medals. The Alpine boys would not attempt to meet either the Olympic or University clubs single-handed, their only hope being to win a sufficient number of points on the outside to capture the pennant or else to take second place. There is not a particle of doubt but that every athlete who takes part in the games will be in the very best of condition. The meeting will be well worth a day's journey to witness, and May 30th will certainly be a red letter day in the history of athletics on the Pacific Coast.

The athletes will find some very important news regarding the Amateur Athletic Union under the heading of "Jottings From All Over." Now that the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association is a member of the Union, the athletic readers of this paper may find it to their interest to read the notes referred to.

We expect to be able to publish the Olympic programme of games for Washington's birthday in our next issue.

There still exists a doubt as to whether the outdoor grounds of the Olympic Club will be ready for February 22d or not.

The training grounds of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club at Harbor View will be ready for use about the 15th. The dressing rooms are complete, and the track will soon be in first-class condition.

The University students will be assessed this year to defray the expenses of improving the track at Berkeley. Hot water baths will also be erected in the gymnasium.

JOTTINGS FROM ALL OVER.

Thomas P. Conneff, the well known amateur runner is rapidly recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, and it is thought that he will soon be able to attend to his business duties as usual. It will be many months, however, before he can again appear on the cinder path.

G. M. L. Sachs, the well known patron of amateur athletic has decided to resign from all the clubs of which he is a member. There have been published so many unfounded rumors concerning Mr. Sachs' action that for the information of our readers we publish the following sample of his letters of withdrawal:

WINDSOR HOTEL, NEW YORK CITY, Dec. 21.—Wm. B. Curtis, President N. A. S. A.—MY DEAR SIR: Acting under the advice of my physician, that I must abstain from all active participation in business and athletic matters and sojourn for some time in the south of France (for which place I leave to-day), I am reluctantly compelled to send in my resignation as a member of the National Amateur Skating Association. I know my own nature too well, and if I did not resign from all athletic clubs and associations, I would at the first opportunity break all promises and endanger my health. With my best wishes for the future of the N. A. S. A.,

At the general meeting of the English Amateur Athletic Association, held in Birmingham, Dec. 14, the following records were passed: 200yds.—E. H. Pelling, 19 4-5s; 440yds.—H. C. L. Tindall, 48⅗s.; 600yds.—H. C. L. Tindall, 1m. 12s.; 1,000yds.—Pollock Hill, 2m. 15 4-5s.; three miles—J. Kibblewhite, 14m. 29 3 5s.; throwing the hammer—W. J. M. Barry, 130ft.; pole jump—E. L. Stones, 11ft. 7in. It was decided to include 250yds. as a new distance on the record list, and E. H. Pelling's record of 24 4-5s. was accepted. The championships for 1890 were fixed for decision at Aston Lower Grounds, Birmingham.

Jake Gaudaur very sensibly refuses to row an important race on such water as is generally to be found at the Point of Pines; Boston Bay, but says that he is prepared to make a match to row John Teemer or Ned Hanlan, or both, for $1,000 a side for each race, at Lake Quinsigamond, Mass., any time before July 4 next.

The trials February 4th and 5th, and the finals, February 8th. The events will be given the same as last year, and an entrance fee of $2 will be charged for each event. Contestants will furnish their own implements. Five jurors or judges will be selected, three professionals and two amateurs. All communications should be addressed to J. E. Sullivan, P. O. Box 611, New York City.

About 800 persons were present at the Armory of the Thirteenth Regiment of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday evening, December 28th, to witness the games at the joint meeting of Company K, of the regiment, and the Acorn Athletic Association, which were followed by terpsichorean exercises. Summary:

Fifty yards run—W. H. Morgan, New Jersey Athletic Club, 4ft start, first, in 5 4-5s; Percy Levy, Harlem Pleasure Club, 3ft, second.

One mile walk—W. Donaghy, Thirteenth Regiment Athletic Club, 25s. start, first, in 7m 25s; J. Lambert, Pastime Athletic Club, 20s, second.

Half mile run—C. M. Raymond, Manhattan Athletic Club, 14yds, start, first, in 2m 4 2-5s; E. Hjertberg, New Jersey Athletic Club, scratch, second.

Two mile bicycle race—J. A. Schoefer, Brooklyn, 45yds, start, first, in 6m 50 1-5s; J. W. Judge, Riverside Wheelmen, 65yds, second.

One mile run—Charles Britton, American Athletic Club, 60yds, start, first, in 4m 37 4-5s; Frank Kuhlike, Prospect Harriers, 100yds, second.

Two hundred and twenty yards run—F. F. Sliny, New Jersey Athletic Club, 5yds, start, first, in 25 1-5s; E. S. De Lahn, Pastime Athletic Club, 8yds, second.

Quarter mile run—C. M. Carbonell, New Jersey Athletic Club, 16yds, start, first, in 55s; C. J. Harvey, Star Athletic Club, 18yds, second.

Running high jump—Zach A. Cooper, Brooklyn, allowed 3in, first, 5ft 7in; H. L. Spencer, New Jersey Athletic Club, 3in, second, 5ft 7in. In tossing to decide the tie the former won.

There was the customary large crowd to witness the competitions at the annual tournament for the championships in boxing and wrestling, under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union, held at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York City, on Thursday evening, December 19th.

The management was, as usual, excellent, but the competitions cannot be said to have been up to the standard; consequently, the displays were lacking in interest to those who appreciate superior exhibitions. A summary follows:

SPARRING.

Class 105 lb.—Final bout: D. O'Brien, Pastime Athletic Club, beat Matt Rice, Varuna Boat Club, the judges disagreeing and the referee deciding

Class 158 lb.—Final bout: W. Stucky, West End Athletic Club, beat J. M. McAuliff, Bridge Athletic Club, the latter being disqualified for wrestling.

WRESTLING.

Class 115 lb.—Final bout: F. Miller, National Turnverein, Newark, N. J, beat J. K. Hyslop, Athletic Club of the Schuylkill Navy, in 2m 46s.

THE AMATEUR ATHLETIC UNION.

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the central body was held at the Astor House, New York City, on Saturday evening, December 28th, at which some important business was transacted by the following members: A. G. Mills, New York Athletic Club; Walter Storm, Manhattan A. C.; F. W. Janssen, Staten Island A. C; J. E. Sullivan, Pastime A. C.; Fred Gerow, American A. C.; and A. C. Stevens, New Jersey A. C. The Committee on Boxing and Wrestling reported that they had rejected the entry of Patrick Cahill, Scottish American A. C., for the recent championship meeting, for the reason that he had from indisputable evidence received by them, violated the spirit of the amateur law, and as it was foreign to the purposes of the Union to encourage such practices, they had taken the action they did. The report was adopted without dissent. The report of the Committee on Records, to whom had been referred back the application of George Schwegler, Staten Island Athletic Club, for the recognition as record of the time made in the 250 yards hurdle race on October 26th, recommended that the record be refused, owing to the hurdles having been improperly placed. Report adopted. The report of the Committee on Organization in favor of tabling the resignation of the Berkeley Athletic Club, handed in prior to the disbandment of the Old National Association, was also adopted. The applications of A. H. Howard, Boston Athletic Association; M. H. Berry, Young Men's Christian Association of Buffalo, N. Y., and W. Houriban, Bridge Athletic Club, for reinstatement to the amateur ranks, were favorably considered, while that of H. A. Lannigan of the Caledonian Club, of Fall River, Mass., was rejected. The Reading (Pa.) Athletic Club was admitted to membership in the Union, and Eugene Van Schaick, Manhattan Athletic Club, was addtd to the Committee on Fencing. A plan for a series of amateur championship baseball contests during the season of 1890 was adopted, and after the transaction of some additional business of minor importance, the meeting adjourned.

A number of changes were made in the rules, the more important of which are as follows:

RULE 1, relating to officials, provides that all amateur meetings shall be under the direction of one referee, two or more inspectors, three judges at finish, three or more field judges, three timekeepers, one judge of walking, one starter, and one clerk of the course. If deemed necessary, one scorer, one marshal, and an official reporter may also be appointed.

2. The referee only shall have the power to change the order of events as laid down in the official programme. When in any but the final heat of a race a claim of foul or interference is made, he shall have the power to disqualify the competitor who is at fault if he considers the foul intentional, and shall also have the power to allow the hindered competitor to start in the next round of heats just as he had been placed in his trial. When in a final heat a claim of foul or interference is made he shall have the power to disqualify the competitor who is at fault if he considers the foul intentional, and he shall also have the power to order a new race between such of the competitors as he thinks entitled to such privilege.

3 Provides that the inspectors are merely assistants to the referee, and aids to him in detecting fouls.

4. A finish shall be counted when any part of the contestant's body, except his hands or arms, shall touch the tape at the finish line.

7. A false start shall prevent the man at fault from competing in that event. The starter shall also rule out of that event any competitor who attempts to advance himself from his mark prescribed in the official programme after he has given the warning to "get ready."

Protests against any entered competitor made verbally to the referee at or before the conclusion of any athletic meeting by any responsible person shall, if possible, be immediately decided by the referee. If it cannot be so decided, the protested competitor shall compete under protest and such protest be decided by the referee within forty-eight hours, unless its subject be the amateur standing of the competitor, in which case the referee must report such protest in writing within forty-eight hours to the secretary.

17. In making a hurdle record it shall be necessary for the competitors to jump over every hurdle in its proper position. This means that if a man knocks down several hurdles during the race, and by so doing makes faster time than he would have made if the hurdles were in their proper positions, it will not go on record.

18 Makes a fair jump, one that is made without the assistance of weights, diving, somersoults, or handsprings. It also provides that in all handicap jumps scratch men shall be entitled to try last.

19. In putting the shot the shot shall be a solid sphere made of metal and weighing at least sixteen or twenty-four pounds, or as the event may call for. It was formerly provided that iron should be used. It shall be put with one hand, and in making the attempt it shall be above and not behind the shoulder. The competitor shall stand in a circle seven feet in diameter, on two feet of the circumference of which shall be placed a board four inches high, at which the competitor shall stand when the shot leaves his hand. A fair put shall be one where no part of the person of the competitor shall touch in front of the circle or on the board. A put shall be counted foul if the competitor steps over the front half of the circle or on the board before the measurement of his put is made. Shot must be furnished by the club giving the game, but contestants may use their own private shots if they so desire, in which case the other contestants shall be allowed to use the private shot. This also applies to the fifty-six pound weight and the hammers.

After a session lasting till about three o'clock in the morning the Board adjourned to meet at the house of the Warren Athletic Club, Wilmington, Del., January 25th.

The plan must be submitted to a general meeting of all the clubs of the Union, thus assuring all clubs then members to have an equal voice in the amendment and final adoption of the plan. The attention of existing associations of clubs is also invited to the fact that, at the last annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union, its constitution was altered so as to prepare the way for this important reorganization, and, among other changes, provision was made for increasing the number of memberships of the Amateur Athletic Union Board of Managers to fifteen, with the understanding that the additional memberships should be reserved for representatives of existing associations of clubs desiring to participate with the Amateur Athletic Union in the proposed reorganization, and whose present affiliation therewith will thus make them co-workers in formulating the plan. The negotiation of the details of such affiliation has been delegated by the Amateur Athletic Union Board of Managers to its Committee on Organization.

Applications for or correspondence relating to club membership in the Amateur Athletic Union should therefore be addressed to J. E. Sullivan, Secretary Amateur Athletic Union, P. O. Box 611, New York, N. Y., and all correspondence relating to the affiliation with the Amateur Athletic Union by existing associations of clubs or otherwise designated athletic organizations should be addressed to A. G. Mills, Secretary Committee on Organization, Amateur Athletic Union, 38 Park Row, New York, N. Y.

Cross country runs are very frequent in the vicinity of New York City. The participants nearly all agree in saying that a good cross country does an athlete more good than two weeks of ordinary training.

THE WHEELMEN.

The next regular meeting of the Oakland Bicycle Club will be held at the residence of Captain Drake, 1720 Seward St., Oakland, on Tuesday evening, January 14, at 8 o'clock. This club will not be represented at the competitive drill in the Mechanics Pavilion.

The Bay City Wheelmen will be represented by sixteen men at the drill, and it is thought that this club will carry off first honors.

The Alpine Athletic club will apply for admission to the L. A. W.

AT THE OARS.

Several of the crews were out for a spin on Sunday. The fine weather was a genuine surprise to the oarsmen.

Of late there appears to have been considerable dissension amongst the members of the Ariel Rowing Club. It was in consequence of this that so many of the members left and joined the Alpine Club.

The Alpine Athletic Club will apply for admission to the Pacific Rowing Association at the next regular meeting of that body. The following oarsmen have been elected delegates H. O. Farrell, Henry Tank and J. P. Bean.

On account of the charter being re-opened several rowing clubs not already in the Pacific Rowing Association have applied for admission. From present indications great interest will be taken in rowing during the coming season.

The Lurline Club is fast coming to the front and may prove a thorn in the sides of the older clubs before the year is out.

Captain George W. Jordan of the Olympic club is a very hard worker in the interest of his club. A ready he has started in to urge his men to commence training for May 30. He claims to have a man on his team who can put the shot 40 feet, throw the 16lb, hammer 120 feet, and fling the 56lb. weight 28ft.

During the past few months we have received several communications in regard to the P. C. A. A. A. Some of the letters we deposited in the editorial waste paper basket, simply because they were too exactly on the officers of the association. We will admit during the past year athletics were poorly patronized and can scarcely blame the officers of the P. C. A. A. A. for their want of interest in athletic matters. The new year, however, promises well and the P. C. A. A. A. will be called upon to transact some very important business during the coming season. There is no reason why the indoor tournament scheme should be abandoned. The associate clubs would most assurely take an active interest in the undertaking and the effort of the association would be highly successful. We hope the matter will be brought up again at the next meeting and pushed through.

The Alpine Amateur Athletic Club has leased a large hall and ante-rooms in the Murphy Building, corner of Market and Jones street. The hall will be converted into a gymnasium and the ante-rooms will be used for meeting, smoking and reading. Over $600 worth of apparatus has already been placed in the gymnasium. Two professors will instruct the members in the art of boxing. There will also be fencing and wrestling instructors employed. Exhibitions to be followed by dancing will be held monthly at the club rooms. The first monthly members out-door games will be held at the clubs Athletic Grounds, Harbor View Park, on Sunday February 16, commencing at 1 o'clock P. M.

1. 100 yard run, handicap, 10 yards limit.
2. 150 yards run, handicap, 12 yards limit.
3. 220 yards run, handicap, 20 yards limit.
4. 880 yards run, handicap, 60 yards limit.
5. One mile run, handicap, 175 yards limit.
6. One-half mile novice walk, scratch.
7. One mile handicap walk, 1 mile limit.
8. Alpine race (original), ½ mile limit.
9. Throwing 12 lb. hammer, handicap 35 ft. limit.
10. Putting 16 lb. shot, handicap, 6 ft. limit.
11. Flinging 56 lb. weight, handicap, 3 ft. limit.
12. Running high jump, handicap, 6 ft limit.
13. Running broad jump, handicap, 3 ft. limit.
14. Standing broad jump, handicap, 1½ ft. limit.
15. Pole vault, handicap, 2½ feet limit.
16. One-eighth mile hopping race, scratch.

Three prizes will be given for each event, and a special medal will be awarded the man who earns the greatest number of points. The games will be open only to members of the club. As this will be the initial out-door meeting no admission fee will be charged at the gate, each member being allowed two invitations. It is expected that over fifty athletes will take part in the games and the spectators will most undoubtedly be well repaid for their trouble in journeying to Harbor View. The following gentlemen will act as officers of the day: Referee, J. P. Bean; starter, H. C. Farrell; judges, Louis Thors, J. Bassett and Timothy J. Quinlan, timers, Harry Tank, Jacob Mutt and J. Hunton; clerks of course, Messrs Goodwin and Collins; official announcer. T. J. Cunningham; call steward, J. H. Donohoe; judges of walking, P. H. Gafney, J. D. Garrison. The colors adopted by the club are garnet pants, white shirt trimmed with garnet. All contestants in out-door games must wear knee pants.

Grim's Gossip.

Cook the jockey is on a trip back east. He may return in time to ride at the spring meetings.

It is claimed that Andy McDowell is exercising five of Director's progeny, all of whom can beat 2:20.

N. J. Stone of Mountain View, has bought the standard mare Jennie, by Brigadier, dam by old Signal, from Dr. Latham.

Dr. H. Latham has purchased from J. H. Jewett, of Marysville, the standard bred mare Jennie by Brigadier, dam by Old Signal.

"Oregon Jimmy" has been at work at the Rancho Del Paso until lately, but he has now transferred his services to L. M. Morse, of Lodi.

F. W. Loeber has had a bit of hard luck lately, as his fine broodmare (dam of Lookout, 2:25) dropped a dead foal, to Whippleton, December 30th.

Alf Estill has returned from the East and is now preparing to take the two year olds from Mr. Winters Stock Farm to Nashville. He will again go East in February.

W. H. E. Smith of Eureka, writes me that Al Farrow was released from legal entanglements on Dec. 30th. We suppose that Wilbur Smith has lost his source of amusement.

If there are any breeders who wish to send horses back East, between now and February 10th they can find a good opportunity by addressing G. Valensin, Pleasanton.

J. G. Fair, Jr , has secured the services of Humphrey Sullivan to look after his colts and fillies at the Knight's Ferry Farm, and no better man could have been got for the place.

A grand brood mare is offered for sale at a bargain by Mr. S. L. Goldstein, who has to go East. She is of the right kind, and should find a purchaser at once. Read the advertisement.

N. J. Stone of Mountain View, Santa Clara Co, has been offered $500, for his Hawthorne,—Abdallah Queen filly. The amount was tendered by a Kentucky breeder but was refused by Mr Stone.

Allo has a record of 2:22½ and was owned by Dr. A. A. Davenport but a note informs me that the Doctor has sold the horse. However he does not say who the purchaser is nor does he give the price.

Knap McCarthy has to look after one hundred and thirty two thoroughbreds at Brookdale Farm, the breeding establishment of D. D Withers. He reports his horses in training as looking in supurb condition.

James Corcoran, who trained his stable of horses at Petaluma last winter, has taken entire charge of the D. M. Reavis' Stable at Chico, and he is strongly inclined to the opinion that there are several fast youngsters on the ranch.

The Princess Lexington, formerly called Jessie C. has not benefited much by the change of name, she has just been declared out of all her engagements, an accident causing a dislocation of one of her ankles. She was at the Sacramento track when the accident happened.

O. A. Hickok will take a string of horses East next season, if the present outlook continues. He has several that warrant an appearance on the big circuit, and two or three of the dark ones will prove a surprise party to the talent before the season of 1890 is passed.

Owing to the fact that Dr. Thomas Bowhill will shortly leave for England, W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S. will attend to the veterenary duties of the paper. The gentleman this week contributes an article on horseshoeing which should be read by all.

N. J. Stone of Mountain View, Santa Clara Co., has bought a half interest in Hazel Leaf from Senator Hearst for $500. That inbred Brigadier filly is now owned by Mr. Stowe & Dr. Latham who will have her trained and developed this season. She is as much like her dam, Hazel Kirke as can be.

It was quite a delightful sight to see the large number of breeders who were in the city Wednesday to attend the meeting of their association. It goes to show that there is a great deal of interest manifested among members, and that it will untimately be the leading organization of the west. there can be no doubt.

The citizens of Lodi have about finished their new race track, and good authorities say that it will be one of the best winter tracks in this State. If the committe have been fortunate enough to select what will prove a serviceable winter course, there should be a lot of money in the speculation.

Dr. J. P. Klench a promient member of the California State Veterinary Society, has left his former residence, Santa Rosa and settled in Nashville, Tenn. It was the donors intention to take up his abode in New Orleans, but he found a better opening in Nashville. The many friends of Dr. Klench will wish him success in his new practise.

Among the stock at J. B. Haggin's ranch in California is a three year old colt called Florentin, that is a full brother to the famous race mare Firenzi. Just why he has not been brought out on the turf the California papers do not say, but they announce that he will be placed in the stud next spring.—(Breeders Gazette.)

Ed. Bither will start from Racine to join forces with the Valensin Stock Farm about the first of March. Mr. Bither is one of the close mouthed kind and all the gossipers could find out was that he had received a large offer from a California breeder. The Breeder and Sportsman was the first newspaper in the country to state positively that the noted reinsman would make his home in California.

Major Du Bois, of Denver purchased last Monday from Mr. L. A. Davis representative of the Calumet Stock Farm the br m Clara Belle 2.31¼ (public trial at Chicago 2:22¼) by Masterlode, dam by Fisks Mambrino Chief Jr.: also the roan filly Azure, by Walkill Prince 2797, dam by Blue Bull 75, 2nd dam by Tom Crowder, 3rd dam br Tom Hal 3000. The price given for these two choice brood mares has not been stated.

William Archer, father of the famous jockey Fred Archer died lately in England aged sixty three years. The son's name eclipsed his senior's but William Archer was a well known cross country jockey in his day. He won the Grand National on Little Charley in 1858, and still earlier he was entrusted to convey a stud of horses to Russia to the late Emperor in whose service he afterwards held a favored place and won many races in the Imperial colors.

T. H. Griffin of San Francisco has purchased from J. W. Hartzell, of New Orleans, for $3,000 the three year old bay stallion Alfred D., by Robert McGregor, dam Bessie H., by Wyman's Logan; second dam by Ohio Eclipse. He has a good turn of speed, and has shown a mile inside of 2:30.—(Chicago Horseman.)

I have received the following note which speaks for itself: "My mare Mollie McCarthy by Eugene Casserly foaled bay horse colt by Woodnut Dec 28th five days before her time. She was very old and paralyzed and was never able to get up after the birth so I distroyed her but saved the colt by putting it on another mare who has a colt 3 months old. She took to it at once and is as crazy after it as though it were her own. The Graves mare (owned by D. Minnie my neighbor) by Echo dam by Bell Alta foaled bay horse colt by Woodnut January 2nd, 1890."

On the 21st ult., Mr. W. H. Wilson, of Abdalleh Park, Cynthiana, Ky , received his two Guy Wilkes mares from California, one being Linda Wilkes, (dam of the weanling he sold a few weeks ago for $5 000,) by Guy Wilkes 2:15¼, dam Atalanta (sister to Beautiful Bells 2:29½, dam of Bell Boy 2:19¼ and three others in 2:30) by The Moor 790; second dam Minnehaha (dam of five in 2:30) by Steven's Bald Chief; 3rd dam by Strader's Clay, etc. The other, Anteeo Wilkes by Guy Wilkes, dam by Anteeo 2:16¼, son of Electioneer; 2nd dam by Alexander, record 2:31½; third dam by Naubuc (bro. to Thos. Jefferson 2:23) etc.

L. H. Hatch, of Hanibal, Mo. J. A. Dustin and C. W. Aby visited the stock Farms at Pleasanton on Thursday last. At different times Mr. Salisburg has owned some very fast animals and while the gentlemen were looking at those now to be seen there, the merits of the many fast ones were discussed, Gold Leaf 2:11¼, Director 2:17, Corette 2:17. Nellie R. 2:17¼, Monroe Chief 2:18¼, Direct 2:18½, Change 2:19, Margaret S. 2:19¼, Sister 2:19¼, Romero 2:19¼, Sweetness 2:21, Gibralter 2:22, Bateman 2:22¼, Maid of Oaks 2:23, Echora 2:23½. Nettie 226, Inca 2:27 and May Day 2;30, each had good words said for them. By the way there are very few breeders in the country that have had so many first class ones.

The advertisement of the Guenoc Stock Farm appears this week and the familar names of St. Savior and Greenback are once more seen in the columns, At the last state fair the farm was fortunate enough to obtain first prize for thoroughbred stallions and the adjoining farm of Mrs. Langtry, obtained second premium with Friar Tuck. Dr. C. W. Aby has the entire management of both farms and is thoroughly competent to take charge of such Mammoth possessions, having a great deal of experience. For years the doctor was at the Nontana Stock Farm in Kenrucky and is thoroughly conversant with every thing that appertains to such business. Read the advertisement and send word to the Guenoc Stock Farm how many mares you are going to send to the gilt edged stallions.

The common complaint among smaller breeders was that the P. C. T. H. B. A., in arranging their stakes last year, did so for the benefit of the larger breeding farms. Without admitting this to be a fact, we will say that this year no such complaints can be made. The new Board of Directors will offer colt stakes as follows:

Free for all.	Yearlings.	Mile dash.
"	2-year-olds
"	3-year-olds
"	4 year-olds

3-year-olds that have not beaten 3 minutes.
4-year olds " " " 2:40 "

And for the three and four-year-old colts of stallions who have no representatives in the 2:30 list.

Lookout for the advertisement next Saturday.

THE FARM.

Ensilage for Sheep.

The London (Eng.) Farmer and Stock Breeder remarks that ensilage proves to be good food for ewes in lamb. Last year on the home farm of the Earl of Bective, at Underly the ewes were fed from early in December till February 1 on a few swedes on pasture, a little hay, and one-half pound of oats daily. The swedes then failed and 145 ewes received till March 1st 10 cwt, daily of chopped clover ensilage, with the same quantities of hay and oats. Then the lambs began to fall, and the ewes received the ensilage as before, mixed with four stone of bran, one pound of oats each, daily, and hay, of which last however they took very little. They did exceedingly well on this mixture, on which both ewes and lambs continued to be fed till they all went to the butcher fat.

The Physiology of Breeding.

Mr. James Howard, who was considered good authority on the physiology of breeding deemed the following cardinal points fully established in breeding.

1. That from the male parent is mainly derived the external structure, configuration and outward characteristics, also the locomotive system of development.

1. From the female parent is derived the internal structure, the vital organs, and in a much greater proportion than from the male, the constitution, temper and habit, in which endurance and "bottom" are included.

3. That the purer the race of the parent, the more certainty there is of its transmitting its qualities to the offspring: say two animals are mated, if one is of purer descent than the other, he or she will exercise the most influence in stamping the character of progeny, particularly if the greater purity is on the side of the male.

4. That apart from certain disturbing influences or causes the male if of pure race, and descended from a stock of uniform color, stamps the color of the offspring.

5. That the influence of the first male is not unfrequently protracted beyond the birth of the offspring of which he is parent, and his mark is left upon subsequent progeny.

6. That is the transmission of disease of the vital organs is more certain if on the side of the female, and diseases of the joints if on the side of the male parent.

The Poultry to Keep.

The breed to keep is what you need. We know the qualities of the Jersey, the Guernsey, the Alderney and the Hereford cattle. We know when we want butter what breed to select, and what is needed when merely a milk market is desired. We know the qualities of the Berkshire, the Poland China and the Chester White hogs. We know when we want pork what breed to get. In short, in all live stock we know the fitness of the one kind in preference to another.

So it is with poultry. We know that the Houdan, the Spanish, the Minorca, and the White Leghorn all lay large, white eggs and many of them. We know the Plymouth Rock the Langshan and the game lay brown eggs and many of them. If our market wants a white egg we have it. If it wants a brown egg we have it. If we want to furnish a table fowl, we know the qualities of an Asiatic class—the Brahmas the Cochins and the Langshans. And so we single out. Let there be an object for every poultry farm. Better have one good object and fully carried out than two objects and only half done. Keep one variety if possible. It will be more satisfactory. You will know your birds sooner. Success comes the quickest to the man who knows what he is about. Above all things, however, commence at the lowest round of the ladder and climb up.—[The Homestead.

Against Dehorning.

A correspondent of the Kansas City Drovers' Telegram writes:

The dehorning of cattle in this country appears to have met with general favor, judging from the popular vein which has recently spread all over the country, but in as much as the writer has ever contended that it was a cruelty imposed upon cattle that was not justified by the results, and that it is barbarous in the extreme. It subjects the animal to great pain and misery, from which no adequate results commensurate with the attending cruelty can possibly arise. It will no doubt be of interest to many of your readers to learn of some of the objectionable points urged against this barbarous practice, by an old and well known feeder and stock raiser, Mr. W. Edwards. His evidence being all the more valuable on account of being given from actual experience. I visited Mr. Edwards' farm to-day upon which he has a large number of cattle, several hundred of which he has on full feed. He has all the modern feeding arrangements and appliances, including the best of running and well water. Mr. Edwards had a large number of nice steers dehorned last Spring, mostly three year olds; others of the same age were allowed to retain their horns. These cattle were all used the same way, pastured the same and put on corn early in September. The cattle with horns are now fat, while those that were deprived of their horns are only in fair condition. One particular lot of these cattle Mr. Edwards bought last spring, which he says were extremely thin in flesh. At the time he had the others dehorned the thin cattle were not dehorned. They now have at least 100 pounds more fat than the cattle which were dehorned. Mr. Edwards declares it to be his belief that the process takes away the senses of the animal. The gentleman above referred to says his cattle that were dehorned are hard to drive or handle. They appear to have lost their intelligence, common to ordinary cattle. In support of this theory I will offer Mr. I. G. Pryor's testimony. In conversation with him on the subject of dehorning at Arkansas City he had bought a drove of Texas cows, which had been dehorned. He said they did not appear to have a particle of sense about being driven or handled. Mr. P. seemed to think that the cutting off their horns and exposing a large cavity in each side of the head, affected their animal senses. The writer has no special desire to cast discredit on any system that will add to the wealth of the country or the community of the farmers, but when knowledge comes to his notice through the reliable channels of actual experience of practical feeders, demonstrating the fallacy of a cruel craze which has taken possession of the country, not only carrying with it a practice akin to the usages of barbarians, but brings with it untold losses to the cattle interests of the country. He feels that there can no harm grow out of the laying of these facts, as obtained from reliable sources, before the feeding and cattle raising public for their deliberate and close investigation.

Carelessness About Utensils.

One of the most dangerous germs that can infest milk is that found in old rotten milk in the seams, joints and corners of pails, and in and under the many patches of tinkered up milk fixings. Old butter bowls and old wooden churns are as a rule cooked full of fats that for ten or thirty years have been nests for the propagation of these bacteria. The only plan to pursue is to have as little patching and mending done as possible in dairy utensils. Discard at once all suspicious machinery and get new. Thousands of tons of butter that now finds final sale at the soap-makers was well made, but the utensils were old and germ-laden with more or less of these enemies of good produce, and as soon as the butter was made they commenced their destructive fermenting and corroding, and went faster than freight or express trains, and when the butter reached the market it was worthless for food. Had this butter been made in new and well cared for apparatus it would have reached market a pride to the maker.

White Fowls.

We do not hear much of late years on the delicacy of white fowls, although stock breeders and farmers underrate white horses and cattle. This question of color has been handed down to us from ancient times, but whether there is a solid and unquestionable foundation for such a general opinion we cannot say. Early writers undervalued white fowls, white horses, white dogs, white cats and white cattle, and even modern naturalists have shared in the same discriminating belief. If the animals and domestic fowls of extremely cold countries naturally tend to gray or grayish white color the question arises, Is this a provision of nature to escape the sight and pursuit of enemies, or is it a warmer color for enduring cold? This question can be discussed pro and con; the information solicited would bring us back to the starting point. Many of our fanciers who held such a prejudice a few years ago would perhaps say to day that it is like many other things—an old fogy notion; that the proof is in our present white varieties of fowls, which for hardiness, constitutional vigor and other useful points are the equal of the colored varieties.

It matters not whether this old saying is true or false; ideas often become reversed by the force of circumstances. Irrepressible popularity has set in for the new white varieties. Fanciers and non-fanciers take up their breeding; they show all the good points of their colored relatives; give like satisfaction so far in their culture; they meet the demands of the trade; there is nothing specially noticeable about their vigor, hardiness, prepotent faculties and staying productiveness beside colored varieties. Then why ought they not to be as good for all practical purposes as the colored ones?

One sometimes says that white fowls are more easily seen by hawks, and for that reason they are not so well adapted to rural life. This may be true in general, but our experience with white fowls and hawks is the very reverse. Some years ago we lived in the suburbs, and were breeding White Leghorns, with four or five colored breeds. They had full range of eight acres, and hawks were very plentiful and destructive. In a troop of twenty to fifty, half and three-fourths grown chickens, white and colored, almost invariably the hawks selected the colored birds from the flocks. This was not for one season, but for four years. We often sat under the shade of a tree and watched the wily bandit pass over the white birds and snatch up a colored one. The black chickens also seemed to escape comparatively well. We reasoned thus: The white is an unusual color; it is not the color of birds that become the prey of hawks: seen at a distance the outline is not so marked; the reflection of light gives to the bird a large appearance, and the hawk naturally selects birds which come near to the color of the wild game. Of course we do not pretend to say there is much logic in this, but the facts as they came under our observation remain the same.

We do not encourage any one to quit breeding colored varieties in hope of profiting by getting white ones. It is a matter of taste or speculation to choose white in preference to other colors. In the white there is nothing artistic; no colors, shades or lines, markings, pencilings or lacings. The whole plumage is taken in at a glance, but still a white plumage leaves a pleasing impression on the mind. For lawns or nicely kept grass runs a flock of white fowls is a beautiful sight. When the plumage is in good condition they look clean and neat. The contrast of a rich red comb, face and wattles, yellow or flesh-colored beak and legs with the plumage and green grass, the shading trees and other natural surroundings commands admiration. In the matter of utility, the white birds will be found as valuable as the colored; in matter for breeding they are much preferred, and for market, either dressed or alive, they show to good advantage. In dressing they do not show the dark pin-feathers which detract much from the value of a market fowl.—National Stockman and Farmer.

Notes.

What the cause of it is cannot be stated, but it is an understood fact that the cattle and horse business of Nevada is on the decline and is being gradually superseded by the sheep industry. This is vouched for by a correspondent of the Reno (Nev.) Gazette, who says: "It will not be long until the bands of cattle and horses that have roamed over all eastern Nevada for the past thirty years or more as free commoners will only be known as a matter of history and that cattle raising will be chiefly confined to the home ranches and that hereafter eastern Nevada will be noted for its immense flocks of sheep, as it has been in the past for its immense bands of cattle and horses."

The Las Vegas Stock Grower of the 28th, says: Dr Thornton, of the Perrin Land & Cattle Company, returned recently from San Francisco. He thinks the California market for northern Arizona stock is getting better. His son G. P. is shipping 22 carloads from Williams to San Francisco. Stephen Ross, of Garland & Ross, is shipping from same place to Los Angeles. The Aztec Co. is shipping 12 cars to Jones & Co.

Several prominent cattle men in Southern Oregon have tried stall feeding this winter and are so satisfied with the results that there will be a greater number of stall fed cattle there in future.

The council of the Smithfield Club England have adopted a rule that if dentition is inconsistent with the ages given in the form of entry the stewards must disqualify, and to meet the matter of forced dentition they have fixed a limit under which rule fourteen animals in the cattle classes were disqualified at their late show including some Birmingham prize winners.

Official receipts of cattle at Chicago for the first eleven months of the year were 2,773,615, or 374,000 head more than during the same period of 1888. The receipts at that point for the year will prove by far the greatest on record. So also of sheep with 1,674,506 received up to December 1.

Mason Valley, Lyon County, is suffering from a surplus of hay, very few cattle having come into the valley to feed this winter, owing to the low price of beef.

Cattle and sheep have suffered all over during the late storm. San Luis Obispo has been particularly unfortunate in that respect.

H. Abel, a prominent Milpitas butcher, killed a six-year-old Devon and Shorthorn steer, live weight 2,785 pounds, dressed 2,185 pounds. The steer was raised and fed by Mr. Abel, and was probably the best and heaviest ever killed in that section of the country.

Del Norte is getting to be one of the best dairy counties in the State. During last year eighteen dairymen, who, according to the Record's account, milked 1336 cows during the past year, and made 199,095 pounds of butter. The 18 dairies occupy 1635 acres of land.

The loss of cattle at Dutton's Landing, Solano county, will probably be very large. Seven or eight hundred head of cattle are on the island, with very little chance of saving them, as about two miles of levee is washed away.

In 1889 there were 43 sales of Shorthorns in England, 2,323 head in all were sold for £76,571. In 1888, 1,594 head were sold for £44,013. The average in 1889 of £32,193 is the highest since 1885. The Duke of Devonshires, selections from his celebrated herd at Holker, had the best average, viz., £104.13. The highest price made in the year was £535 10, at the late Sir R. Loder's sale at Whittlebury.

There are about 27,000 sheep and 10,000 horses and cattle in Eagle Valley, Oregon, and the Oregon Blade says that there is only about 500 tons of hay left, the price for which is $6 a ton, and if the cold snap continues it will probably go up to $10 or $12.

According to the Live Stock Journal Almanac, thirty Short-horn sales were held at the residences of British breeders during 1889, at which a total of £46,532 was realized for 1348 head, being a general average of £24. The highest single price was 510 guineas; the lowest, 3 guineas.

A convenient arrangement for scalding hogs is a box with a sheet-iron bottom placed over a furnace; the top of the box should be on a level with the cleaning table, and the fire can be regulated to keep the water at the desired temperature. The box should be of sufficient length, depth and width to admit it to be turned from one side to the other without throwing out the water.

If it costs no more to feed blooded fowls than common, what economy is there in keeping the latter? Many imagine that the care bestowed upon the finer strains of poultry makes them much harder to breed and keep, and this extra labor never pays. You make a mistake if you think this way. Experience will teach you the wisdom of breeding choice blooded stock, and why it pays best. Farmers can do no better than test this matter thoroughly and be satisfied that this advice is worth heeding.

We are pleased to chronicle the fact as showing the growing market of all our finely bred stock, whether it be hogs, cattle, sheep or poultry, that by the last steamer to Japan, some $200 worth of finely bred Buff Cochins were shipped to Tokio.

Mr. Williams, the well-known Walnut Creek butcher, bought two Polled Angus cattle of the Cook Farm, a two-year-old steer and a three-year-old heifer, weighing 1,380 lbs each. The local ranchers are said to have been so impressed with the appearance of the cattle that they may be expected to join the pure bred brigade.

Texas is moving to corral if possible the "Big Four" in Chicago, who squeeze all profit out of beef and leave the stock grower nothing. Her cattle men have called an interstate convention to meet at Fort Worth March 14, 1890. Prices have declined 60 per cent., but consumers pay the same old rates. The Texans say that, estimating the annual consumption of meat in the United States at 10 000,000 head, which is equivalent to one animal for every six and a half of our population, we are losing the enormous sum of $200,000,000 annually, which goes to a very large extent into the hands of four men who are known as "The Big Four" of Chicago.

Among the many stockmen in the State who have suffered heavy losses from the rains, none have met with harder luck than Col Irvin Ayres, who took twelve hundred head of cattle to Marysville in September and rented good pasturage, including alfalfa, at an exhorbitant price, only to have the river drive his cattle out of all the alfalfa and have to purchase hay, etc., besides retarding the feeding of the cattle.

Taking the whole area of the United States, the farm lands comprise 289 acres in every 1,000 leaving 711 acres unoccupied. Of the former quantity 153 acres are productive, 103 woodland, and 33 unproductive, though partly susceptible of improvement.

The Birmingham (England) Fat Stock Show was notable for the well bred cattle entered by the Upper Ten, who were very successful all round. Nearly all the highest honors were won by the Queen, who sent nine bullocks from Windsor, with which she won four first prizes and two seconds. Her Majesty's triumphs did not end here, as she also won the special prizes given for the best of the Hereford and Shorthorn breeds, while, crowning triumph of all, her Shorthorn then took the Elkington Challenge Cup of a hundred guineas, given for the best bullock in all the classes. This is the first time that Her Majesty has won this champion prize at Birmingham, although she has gained a similar distinction at the Smithfield Club Show, but the triumph would have been more complete if the animal had been bred at Windsor, for in this case it would also have won the prize of £25 given by Lord Burton, who is President for the year, to the best bullock bred and fed by the exhibitor. The Prince of Wales sent some cattle and sheep from Sandringham, but the only prize he won was a second with a pen of Southdown sheep. Among the other successful exhibitors were the Duke of Portland, whose Shorthorns seem to be as formidable as his racehorses; Lord Coventry, who is invariable bad to beat, with his Herefords; Colonel Henry Platt, who exhibits some splendid specimens of the Welsh breed; the Duke of Hamilton, who is to the front with his black pigs; and Lord Tredegar, and Sir John Swinburne, who, like the Duke of Portland, send Shorthorns of the purest type.

The Breeder and Sportsman Futurity Stake.

When the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Futurity Stake was first proposed, one or two of the timid breeders predicted that it would be a failure. "The State was too young to guarantee $3,000, and only misfortune could possibly arise to he who was foolhardy enough to attempt it," was one remark overheard, but we wanted to show to the breeders of other States that California is much more prolific in breeding farms than many are aware of. The number of well bred brood mares in California was what we figured on from the start, and the number of entries prove that our theory was correct. Those who only have two, three or four mares have responded nobly, and we assert without fear of contradiction that the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Futurity Stake is the most successful ever instituted. Four years ago the New York Spirit of the Times started one, and there were represented States from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian border, the total number of entries being 307. A summing up shows a total of 284 entries in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Stake, of which 273 are from the State of California alone, six being from Kentucky, four from Colorado, and one from Oregon. We are more than gratified at the result, and hasten to thank our many friends for their cordial support in making the stake a success.

By going over the list it will be seen that twenty-nine Sidneys are nominated, while the friends of Director follow closely with twenty-eight. Eros has nineteen representatives and Noonday has eleven, these being the only four to touch double figures. Guy Wilkes has nine and Alfred G., Alexander Button, Simmocolon, Alcazar, Secretary and Memo have six each. Those having five to their credit are Strathway, Mambrino Wilkes, Mortimer, Eclectic, Apex and Stamboul. The stallions having four each in the list are Soudan, St. Nicholas, Clovis, Superior, Sable Wilkes, Anteeo, Mountain Boy, Dexter Prince and Electioneer. Those having three are James Madison, Florida, Prompter, Nephew, Woodnut, Grandissimo and Woolsey. There are two each accredited to Steve Whipple, Albion, Will Crocker, McKinney, Leo Wilkes, Stanford, Sterling, Jester D., Figaro, Aptos Wilkes, Palo Alto, Azmoor, Piedmont, Redwood, Tom Benton and Gaviota. There are single entries of the progeny of Advocate, Volo, Coligney, Billy Thornhill, Steinway, Chas. Derby, Balkan, Hawthorne, Campaign, Danger, Antinous, Linda Vista, Grand Moor Jr., Son of Director, Arbitrator, Signal Wilkes, Adrian, Antee Up, Altamont, Junio, Whippleton, Guide, My Guy, Happy Prince, Wildwood, McCafferty's Nutwood, Prince Imperial, George Washington, Albert W., Alcona, Linwood, Philosopher and Daly. The most fashionable families are represented, and speed is firmly implanted in each and every entry. The reader can easily imagine what the produce from Trinket 2:14, and Stamboul 2.12¼ should be. There has never been an entry in the world to equal that, and it is with pardonable pride that we call attention to it.

The first entry was received from Wilbur Field Smith of Sacramento, and the last from H. T. Rudisill of Los Angeles, the terrible storms having delayed the mail from that section. We congratulate those who have entries in the first BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Futurity Stake, and trust that the winner may be fast enough to add additional laurels to the wreath of our glorious State.

The State Agricultural Society.

The parent organization of all the California Agricultural Societies has branched out, and will give an early spring meeting for the running brigade, the entries for which are so large that a most successful meeting is assured. In the present issue the declarations made on January 1st are given, and there is also an advertisement asking for entries in the new stakes. The first is named after the well known president of the association, Christopher Green, and is an all aged handicap, $50 entrance, half forfeit, with $500, added. The distance is a mile and a quarter, and with the liberality displayed by the society should have a large list of entries. The second of the new events, has been christened the Spring Stakes, for three-year-olds $50 entrance half forfeit and there is $400 added. The distance is a mile and should also bring out a large field, the many two-year-olds of last season, insuring a plentiful supply of three-year-olds.

The secretary Mr. Edwin F. Smith has also forwarded to this office a list of the entries for the Occident Stakes of 1892, as well as a list of those who have made second and third payments in the same stake for 1891 and 1890. The effect of the Breeder and Sportsman's Futurity Stake is apparent in the large list entered for the 1892 Occident Stake, breeders realizing the fact that these colt stakes are productive of immense good and they have sent in the nominations with a lavish hand. All of the principal farms are represented and a number of new names are also seen on the roll.

The Hamlin Sale.

Among the new advertisements this week is one from Peter C. Kellogg & Co. of New York, in which they announce to our readers that they will shortly offer for sale a consignment from the breeding establishment of J. C. Hamlin. That gentleman has been one of the foremost breeders of later days, and has always been progressive. In offering a large number to the public at auction he has judgment enough to know that only the very best will pass muster from Village Farm.

The catalogue will include brood mares in foal, young stallions, colts and fillies of high winning and campaigning strains, bred for beauty, style, finish and soundness, as well as for speed. The owner especially invites a comparison of the animals of his own breeding offered in this sale with any lot that has been placed upon the market by any other noted breeding centre.

The brood mares to be sold are stinted to Hamlin's Almont Jr, Mambrino King and Chimes (son of Electioneer and Beautiful Bells), and some of them are so good in quality that the buyer will have a reasonable chance of securing in the prospective foal, if a stallion, the equal of his sire, or if a trotter developed for speed, a Belle Hamlin, a Prince Regent or a Sunol.

The colts and fillies by Almont Jr. and Mambrino King will not suffer in comparison with any corresponding lot that can be found in the Almont and Mambrino Patchen families. Those stallions may justly claim to have surpassed their distinguished sires in the stud and to mark a stage of improvement in the progress of their respective families. The colts and fillies offered in this sale, therefore, give every promise of enriching their buyers in the future, as the colts and fillies of Almont and Mambrino Patchen have in the past.

Kidd, Edmonson and Morse Sale.

At the request of a large number of prominent breeders and to avoid dates claimed by other sales, Kidd, Edmonson and Morse have changed the dates of their great Chicago sale to March 17th to 23rd inclusive, entries for which close Feb. 20th. This is destined to be the greatest sale on earth, because Chicago is so centrally located and accessable from every direction, that every body who will buy a horse will go to Chicago.

F. L. Goulding, V. S, of Mt. Clemens, Mich, says that he used the Boyce Wash freely over the body of his horse and that it makes the joints limber and relieves the tendons and ligaments from soreness and fever.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Willows, Cal. January 8th, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.—Your article headed "A Meeting Necessary," in issue of Jan'y 4th meets with the hearty approval of the Directors of the association. The constant conflicting and clashing of dates between the associations and the different portions of the state, has always resulted to the detriment, and also to the finacial detriment, of all. We think that the only thing to be done is to do as you suggest in your article. My idea would be to form what might be termed "The Northern Circuit," to consist of say Glenbrook, Marysville, Chico, Redding and Willows, (and also Red Bluff) as they will have an association there ready for meeting this year). I have already, by order of board of directors of this association, corresponded with the above named associations relative to the formation of such a circuit.

Yours very turly,

H. V. FREEMAN.

Secretary, Willows Agricultural Association.

This office will pay Twenty-five Cents for copies of the Breeder and Sportsman of the following dates: January 26, 1889; April 6, 1889; July 27, 1889; and for two copies of August 10, 1889, and will deem it a favor if readers who do not care to preserve files will forward the numbers mentioned.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Santa Barbara.

Subscribers asks the following question and it is just possible that some of our readers may be able to give the needed information.

About the year 1867 a bay mare ran several races in Paradise Valley and in Stockton she was entered by a man by the name of Kline, and in Stockton ran against a mare known as Stockton filly, she is reported to have won every race she started in, and if you can give us any information as to the time she made, other particulars of the race or races, you will much oblige several subscribers here. Please answer through the columns of your paper.

Reader.

Please give breeding of the dam of Governor Stanford four year old record 2:23¾ made at Cleveland Ohio, October 5th, 1889.

J, P. S.

What kind of hay did they feed Sunol at the time she got her mark? Which is the best to feed a horse in training wet or dry oats?

Answer.—"Sunol" in her work was fed on oat and barley hay mixed, and her feed dry oats which is better then wet during training.

San Jose.

Kindly give the record of Laundry Boy by imp Hercules. It was made I think in the neighborhood of Sacramento or Marysville some eight or ten years ago, driven by Chancey Kane.

Answer.—We cannot find that he has any record.

Boston, Mass.

The American Cultivator, Horse Department, writes for the full pedigree of Maud H. 2:30 by Mambrino Jr. 1789, (Carr's) the name of owner and breeder of her dam as much as can be certified to, and the name of the gentleman that drove her to her record of 2:30, and place where made. Can any reader give the information.

G. Santa Rosa.

Please let me know the pedigree of Glencoe; was he thoroughbred?

Answer.—Imp Glencoe by Sultan, 1st dam Trampoline by Tramp; 2nd dam Web by Waxy; 3rd dam Penelope by Trumpator; 4th dam Prunella by Highflyer; 5th dam Promise by Snap; 6th dam Julia by Blank, etc. He was thoroughbred.

Knight's Landing.

Will you kindly inform me through your valuable paper the pedigree (and record if any) of the horse Overland, imported by Mr Rose, I think.

Answer.—Overland by Bald Chief (Stevens) he by Bay Chief, a son of Mambrino Chief II, dam Madam Botts by John M. Botts. He is not in the 2:30 list.

W. F. J.

Please give pedigree of Silverthread raised by L. J. Rose, and sold to Fred Arnold, of Stockton. Is he registered and what is his number? Also the best performance of his half brothers and sisters, or their produce. 2. The pedigree of Winthrop by old Drew Horse and whether he is standard, and if registered, what is his number?

Answer.—Silverthread by The Moor 870, dam Gray Dale by Hollenback's American Boy Jr., 2nd dam Grey Poll by Winfield Scott He is not registered. The only one of his half brothers that has a record is Longworth (pacer) 2:19.

Winthrop registered number 505, by Drew Horse 114, dam by the Eaton Horse 122, 2nd dam the Niles mare by Stone or Simpson Messenger.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The address of Dr. H. M. Pratt asked for in the late issue of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, was at a recent date, Oakdale, Cal. The Patchen stallion asked for was owned at the time of his death by a Mr. Milliken, who resides near Santa Clara.

LIVERMORE, Cal. WM. MCDONALD,

Now then, L. A. Davis, the owner of Roy Wilkes is hot. He has deposited $500 with the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN and asks the owner of any pacer in this neck of woods to cover it. He is after Hickok, and means to draw him out of his winter slumber. Now then Orrin, what do you say to that? Step up and make a match; the deposit is here in the office and you can be accommodated, provided you make the race to take place before Feb. 15th.

Horse Shoeing.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—This is a subject which has been so well ventilated that I am afraid it will be somewhat stale to the readers of your valuable paper.

I have often wondered why owners of valuable horses do not pay more personal attention to the manner in which their animals are shod. It is a well known fact that the majority of owners of horses do not know anything about the way their horses are ill-treated and abused by the persons entrusted to shoe them.

If they only took the tronble and time to look into the matter they would be better off as far as horse-flesh is concerned and also for the welfare of their horses.

The majority of horse-shoers look upon the horse's foot as a block of wood, entirely devoid of sensibility. They little think that it is supplied with a large amount of blood vessels and nerves. Did they but take the trouble to ascertain something about the anatomy and physiolology of the foot, they would benefit themselves and also their clients.

In the removal of shoes, which should be done once every month, the clinches should be cut clean and the shoes carefully removed, and not with force, as is usually done. In the case of a horse with thin and brittle wall the nails should be drawn separately, so as not to damage the external wall.

The foot should then be taken down to its natural size by the rasp. The soles and frog should be left intact, removing only the ragged portion of the frog, to prevent the accumulation of dirt. The sole should not be pared out, except in cases of injury or disease, as nature will remove the exfoliations as they become necessary.

In fitting the shoe, the shoe should be made to fit the foot, and not the foot the shoe, as is done in the majority of cases.

It is the common practice of smiths to shun the necessary labor required to get an equal bearing for the shoe, to apply the shoe almost if not quite in a red hot condition, and keep it there sufficiently long to remove any irregularity on the wall of the foot which may exist.

Little do they imagine the injury they are doing by such negligence, little do they think what the future result will be; if they did, the probability is they would desist from this injurious and pernicious practice.

The shoe, in being fitted, should be applied at a black heat, and kept on only sufficiently long to ascertain where the inequalities exist on the wall, and then remove with the rasp. It is a too frequent practice to use more nails than are necessary. Five to seven are in the majority of cases all that are necessary, provided they are properly placed. Toe clips are necessary, and should be made of a decent size, not too small, for in that case they are nearly useless The clip, when properly drawn up, should supply the place of two nails.

After the shoes have been fitted and nailed on, on no account should the external wall be allowed to be touched, except for the purpose of putting down the clinches. The rasping of the external wall by the smith, who will remove more of the crust in one shoeing than nature can produce in six months, should be prevented. The result of this free use of the rasp is that in a few months the wall has become so thin that it becomes almost impossible to keep a shoe on. This then becomes a nuisance to the owner, and finally terminates in a lame horse.

A few suggestions may be of service to your readers. Never allow a red-hot shoe to be applied to the foot in fitting it.

Never permit the sole to be pared out.

Never allow the foot to be cut and carved out, as is so frequently done, in a most artistic manner.

Permit no more nails to be driven than are absolutely necessary, and above all, never let the smith apply the rasp to the external wall.

On a subsequent occasion we may make some other remarks on this important subject, as I consider it is one which is to the interest of all horse owners.

Apologizing for occuüying so much of your valuable space I am yours respectfully,

W. HENRY JONES,
M. R. C. V. S.

ROD.

Fish Commission.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Fish Commissioners was held at 220 Sutter street, room 13, on Saturday last. President Joseph Routier and Secretary J. Downey Harvey were present. After approval of the minutes the report of the Chief of Patrol was read and accepted. It was as follows:—

To the Honorable the Board of Fish Commissioners.

GENTLEMEN:—The report of the Chief of Patrol for the month of December is submitted with the prefatory remark that the ex eeding inclemency of the weather during all of the period covered by the report has almost prevented both illegal fishing and patrolling. Such cases as were in hand at the time of the last report have been closely followed up and no effort spared to secure convictions, and it is gratifying to record that public sentiment has so far changed under the active administration of your Honorable Board, that in some portions of the state the prosecutors of game and fish cases receive fair treatment from Courts and juries. The experience of your deputies is that more justice is to be had in non-metropolitan courts than in those of the large cities.

The vigorous action of the Board during September and October, with reference to deer skins from which evidence of sex had been removed has completely broken up the trade in skins of that description.

Neither the railway, steamship nor sailing lines will receive or transport such skins.

Deputy Thomas Tunstead, to whom has been assigned the duty of looking for such deer hides, has been unvarying in faithfulness and has closely watched both the city front and the commission houses, beside occasional visits to tanneries and other places where hides are handled.

I feel safe in reporting that not one deer skin from which evidence of sex has been removed, nor one doe skin or fawn skin has been received at San Francisco during the month last passed.

This result has been reached without antagonizing either tanners or commission merchants.

In every case where arrests and prosecutions have been ordered by the Board, the outcome has been assurances of abstinence in future from illegal trade and proffers of assistance in carrying out the purposes of the Board of Fish Commissioners.

In no case has malice, nor an undue desire for pecuniary reward been allowed to influence the action of your deputies in pushing prosecutions.

Strictly legitimate efforts only have been permitted and the fact that principle alone moved the Board has at all times been impressed.

On December 5th, with three deputies I went to Martinez to prosecute 3 Chinese arrested on Nov. 21st for catching small fish with bag-nets. After considerable trouble in securing a jury, because of technical objections interposed by the attorneys for the defense, the cause went to trial before Justice M. W. Bailhache and a very thorough investigation which occupied three days was had. On December 9th Judge Bailhache fined the men $100 each, on the first charge, using bag-nets.

On December 11th before Justice Joachimsen in San Francisco the case of John H. Wise accused of having in possession deer skins from which evidence of sex had been removed was tried and submitted. Mr. Wise strenously disclaimed all intention to violate the game law, and knew nothing of the deer skins which were the immediate cause of prosecution. Judge Joachimsen in dismissing the case remarked that he felt disposed to be lenient for the reason that only recently had any systematic effort been made to break up what he believed was an illegal trade in deer skins, but he added that if Mr. Wise was again brought before him upon a similar charge and the evidence was such as to warrant conviction the penalty imposed would be a very heavy one.

The case of the People against Clayburgh & Waldeck, hide dealers, for having deer skins from which evidence of sex had been removed was tried before Judge Rix at San Francisco on December 12th.

The evidence was clear and conclusive, but the Judge dismissed the case with the remark that he thought "the men who killed the deer and removed the evidence of sex should be prosecuted rather than merchants who merely handled the hides in the way of trade."

It might be remarked in this connection that possession was made a misdemeanor for the very purpose of securing convictions; it being impossible to detect any hide-hunter in the actual killing and skinning of deer.

The work of some of your deputies in outlying districts merits especial mention.

In Humboldt County Deputy A. T. Smith has been very active. His especial province is the prevention of the illegal killing of deer and during the month he has made thirteen arrests of which but three have been acquitted. Two of the acquittals were for killing a doe. The sex of the animal and the killing were acknowledged, but the evidence was that the animal was shot while running, at a range of three hundred and fifty yards and the jury evidently thought there was a lack of wilfullness.

The other acquittal was for reasons best known to the jury, and was not based on the evidence.

On December 11th, at Rohnerville, Humboldt County, Deputy Smith convicted E. S. Philips, a commission merchant for having skins without evidence of sex, and Justice Cloud, of Fortuna, fined him $50.

On the 13th the same deputy convicted a man named Elliott on a similar charge, and Justice Cloud fined him $50 also.

Deputy Smith now has Davis & Davis of Fortuna under arrest upon a like charge, and anticipates a conviction.

Justice Cloud, in deciding one of the cases, said, "When dealers who unguardedly purchase deer skins which the law prohibits them from handling are made to know that they are paying the penalty for the vandal and illegal acts of those who kill the deer, an end will be put to the traffic and the unwarranted slaughter of deer will cease. The only recourse the dealer has is to enter complaint against the parties from whom he purchases."

In Mendocino County, Deputy C. C. Johnson is rapidly breaking up illegal fishing, and is also devoting especial attention to stopping the running of sawdust into the salmon and trout streams. Deputy Johnson has the warm support of the various influential newspapers of Mendocino County, and will, beyond doubt, soon be able to report a clean bill for his county.

At Arcata, Justice Truesdale fined Martin Olsen and M. Neilson $50 each on December 19th for catching salmon with a seine. The prosecution was made by Thomas H. Selvage.

On December 14th five Chinese were fined $150 each at Martinez for fishing with bag-nets and having small fish in possession.

December 18th four Chinese were tried at Martinez on a similar charge and fined $150 each, both trials being before Judge Bailhache, and being attended by myself and three Deputies.

On the 24th three Chinamen were fined $75 each by Judge Rix in San Francisco for using Chinese sturgeon lines.

If in proper form, I would like to suggest the making of a rule by the Board, requiring all Deputies to send to the Chief of Patrol monthly reports of the work done, giving full details, names, etc. The reports should be in hand on a date not later than the first day of the succeeding month, in order to permit their collation into proper form for presentation to the Board. Respectfully submitted,

F. P. CALLUNDAN,
Chief of Patrol.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4th, 1890.

A Deputy reported that at the instance of the Board two hundred dozens of Bob White quail had been ordered from Arkansas, to be delivered about March 1st, and to be distributed as ordered by the Board. The matter of introducing wild turkeys was mentioned but no action taken, although it was stated that acclimated birds could be purchased at Vallejo It was stated that Mr. La Motte of Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, had asked permission to take fish from Sonoma River for hatching purposes and the request had been granted. Mr. Ramon E. Wilson inquired whether Mr. La Motte desired merely to stock a private preserve or public waters. The Board was in doubt whether the fish were to be placed in some part of Sonoma River or some other stream. It was known that Mr. La Motte was interested in a trout preserve near Ukiah, and the impression was that the fish were to be taken from Sonoma River to stock the Ukiah waters.

Mr. Wilson then said that there existed an infamous dam in Sonoma River, upon which there was no effective fish ladder, and the popular impression was that Mr. La Motte claimed ownership in the dam. If he proposed to stop breeding fish at his dam on their way up the river, take them from the river and to private waters, Mr. Wilson was opposed to granting him the permit to do so. He feared that interest in fish on the part of one who maintained a dam over which spawning fish could not pass was not sincere.

The Board then ordered Deputy Woodbury to visit Glen Ellen and report upon the condition of the La Motte dam or dams.

The Board then adjourned to meet the first week in February.

There is a fish pond at Dleano, Cal., which is supplied from an artesian well. The fish are spurted out every day, and belong to the same species as those at Owen's Lake, on the other side of the coast range.

The North Pacific Land and Improvement Company does not intend to let the storms of the past two months prevent them from stocking the streams near the Ukiah part of Mendocino County with trout. It was their intention to have had their fish hatchery on Robinson Creek erected and in running order by the first of January, but the stormy weather, which has now lasted for six weeks, has kept work there at a standstill, and the hatchery cannot be completed in time for this season's hatching. It is now the intention of the company to hatch their fish this season at Glen Ellen, and ship them to Ukiah for distribution in the streams. In the meantime work will be completed on their hatchery at Robinson Creek, so as to be in readiness for the next hatching season.

A notable addition to local angling society is Mr. George P. Goff, a lawyer, relative of Captain Harry N. Morse. Mr. Goff has done some very vivid writing about fishing for current journals, and contributed to Captain Thomas Chubb's catalogue for 1888. He is welcomed and commended to the friendliness of the guild.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

The Southern California Bench Show.

Mr. C. M. Munhall sends from Cleveland, Ohio, the following letter received by him from J. H. Winslow, of Philadelphia, with reference to the effort recently made to have the wins at the first show of the Southern California Kennel Club recognized by the American Kennel Club. Mr. Winslow writes:

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 24, 1889.

C. M. MUNHALL ESQ., CLEVELAND O.—DEAR SIR:—I suppose you will see in the paper a full account of the meeting of the American Kennel Club, and if not in the paper, will see it in the American Kennel Gazette. Major Taylor and I did all we could to make the delegates understand that the Southern California Club held a good show and their award should be recognized, but they voted us entirely down. Major Taylor made the motion to reconsider and I seconded it, although with the true facts before me, I could not conscientiously do it, as the club had clearly ignored the American Kennel Club, and still ignores it up to this time. The facts in the case are these: They made their application and Mr. Vredenburg wrote the Secretary a full letter telling him that he had thought no doubt they would be admitted, and that their remarks would be recognized by the American Kennel Club if they held a show under their rules. He particularly pointed out Rule 2 and several others. Instead of holding their show under the Kennel Club rules, they changed the rules to suit themselves; they did not require exhibitors to register their dogs, and have not since sent a marked catalogue and several other things which the rules require them to do. However, as you desired me to do this, I took great pleasure in taking your views of the case and assisting you all I could. Major Taylor's note and mine were the only two votes cast in favor of recognizing their remarks.

Yours truly, J. H. WINSLOW.

Mr. Munhall adds:

You will see by the above that my efforts to have the awards of the Southern California Kennel Club recognized by the American Kennel Club were not successful. They should have carried out the rules to the letter. The club is to blame. I am sorry for the exhibitors. I did all I could. Yours,

C. M. MUNHALL.

[We have not felt at liberty to urge any particular course of action with reference to the Southern California Kennel Club Show wins for personal reasons, but now that the matter has been finally disposed of, may be permitted to ask whether there was any such departure from the spirit of the American Kennel Club rules as could vitiate the results of a show to which men went hundreds of miles to exhibit, solely in the hope of having the wins if they were successful, stand as records? We shall be very pleased to hear from the officers of the Southern California Kennel Club, in order that their precise position may be generally known and like errors, if any there were, avoided in future.—KEN. ED.]

Sales.

Mr. L. L. Campbell has sold to Mr. F. A. Dillingham, Honolulu, the Irish Red Setter L. B. Cooper, whelped August 28, 1889, by Barrymore—B II C.

Deaths.

J. C. Nattrass' Irish Red Setter bitch Judith by Champion Brush—Lucille, December 24, 1889; cause, salmon eating.

CLEARBROOK, WASH., Dec. 30, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I have just sustained a loss in the death of my beautiful Irish Setter Bitch Judith, which I will never be able to replace. She was a perfect specimen and a grand breeder, a bitch of exquisite nose and great hunting experience, having bred her myself, hunted her in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Washington Territory. Three years' companionship made her an almost inseparable companion, but salmon feeding got away with her.

J. C. NATTRASS.

We are pleased to note that our versatile and energetic friend, Mr. Harry A. Weaver, of Stockton, on January 2nd, became a partner in the business of The Miner Publishing Company; principal office, Bodie, Mono County, California. branch house, Stockton, San Joaquin County, Cal. Mr. Weaver will manage the Stockton end of the business and we wish him distinguished success.

The Westminster Kennel Club's premium list for its Fourteenth Annual Bench Show is at hand, One hundred and seventy-one classes are listed, the regular prizes in about half the classes being $20, $10 and $5, and in the rest $10, $5 and $3. The specials are many and very rich. Success to Superintendent Mortimer and the crack club of the world.

Sam Meriwether cannot act as Marshal at the coming field trial, but a vicarious sacrifice has been found in the person of that herculeam gentleman, Mr. P. D. Linville, who served with such spirit and ability in '88. Linville announces that he is going down, they "can't stop him" and the affair is to a finish. He desires Joe Bassford, Nick White and the other frisky boys to understand that he is up to all manner of tricks and will arrest and tie to a fence post with barbed wire any spectator caught doing anything without inviting the participation of the Marshall. He will watch Fred Taft especially, whenever that amateur astronomer drives through a slough below the horizon and if Taft attempts to observe any through that peculiar black equatorial, the Marshall will make "the punishment fit the crime."

Walter L. Wilder in the New York Sun: In a recent number of the Sun I saw a statement that a grey-hound is probably the swiftest quadruped. But there is an animal on the Colorado plains which is much swifter. It is the small red prairie fox, commonly known as "the swift." A good grey-hound will pull down two or three from a bunch of antelopes but "the swift" escapes readily from him. In the chase the fox will stop still and wait until the hound is near him and then easily distance, and repeat the same maneuver. It does not jump like a hound, but runs with a peculiar gliding motion. I to legs are of medium length and muscular.

Quite a number of the young men of Lower Lake, Lake County on Monday last shouldered arms, collected the town dogs and salied forth in regular Quixotic style in quest of adventures. They formed in line of battle on the Konocti Vineyard about one dozen boys and four dogs on one side pitted against about half that number of rabbits on the other. After many skirmishes and such maneuvering on the part of the rabbits they were finally routed and four of them brought home in triumph as prisoners of war. A reinforcement of rabbits appearing in the Wrey Vineyard the battle was renewed the next day resulting in the loss of two of their number and a complete rout of the remainder. A truce has been declared pending negotiations of peace.

Local fanciers of pointing dogs and field trials, who desire certificates entitling them to a reduced fare for the trip to Bakersfield, can obtain them at 630 Market Street from Mr. E. W. Briggs, who has kindly consented to keep some for distribution. "Ned's" place of business is quite the center of the shooting and kennel world, in the evening hours particularly, and many a rich story of flood and field is recited there.

If all of the men who profess an intention to visit Bakersfield during field trial week do so, the hospitable town will be taxed to entertain them. Interest in the trials has grown year by year, and taken firm hold of a good many, but this year numbers of sportsmen who have not before manifested the slightest concern about the trials, are asking for information about them, and declaring they will attend.

Thomas Bennett, albeit a man of affairs, and at the head of a business which ramifies throughout the continent, can yet find time now and then to shoot over his fine English setter Sirius, and both Mr Bennet and that irrepressible cashier of his, Mr. Jack Kilgarif, will pervade Bakersfield week after next.

A number of people rescued a fine deer hound on Sunday last from death by either drowning or starvation at Santa Cruz. The dog was discovered in a cove along the cliffs near the light-house point. It is said that the dog was thrown over there by some one. After discovering hound several people coaxed it to swim out from its dangerous position Once swimming it kept out in the bay some distance, but finally turned back and came ashore in another larger cove by the residence of James Phelan and where some steps lead down from the cliffs above. A young man went down and brought the dog up.

This office will pay Twenty-five Cents for copies of the Breeder and Sportsman of the following dates: January 26, 1889; April 6, 1889; July 27, 1889; and for two copies of August 10, 1889; and will deem it a favor if readers who do not care to preserve files will forward the numbers mentioned.

THE GUN.

Recently Philip Hegerman living on the Cuffey's Cove and Anderson Valley County Road, Mendocino, while out hunting encountered a large panther, measuring eight feet, which he quickly disposed of. It had been a terror to surrounding stockmen for a long time, even extending its stealthy and rapacious trips to neighbor's house yards.

Two Sonoma duck hunters nearly lost their lives while hunting in the marshes, south of that place, last week. They were caught by the tide and had to swim several deep sloughs to reach terra firma. In this connection the Sonoma Index-Tribune recalls that a few years ago a young man living near Glen Ellen visited the Sonoma marshes near Embarcadero for a day's shooting. He was alone, but was seen to enter the marsh near Green's Landing. He never returned, and from that day to this his fate has been an impenetrable mystery. It is supposed, however, that the unfortunate young man became mired down in one of the many treacherous blind sloughs that wend their sinuous way through the labyrinth of the land bordering the shores of San Pablo bay, and being unable to extricate himself was slowly strangled to death by the incoming tide and eventually sank out of sight in the soft mud

Blue Bills in numbers have been driven to the marshes about Mount Eden and Alvarado by recent storms. Mr. Chris. Gading of Mount Eden, one of the cracks of that town of shooters, has been making big bags.

Miss Lillian F. Smith, "The California Girl" gave an exhibition at Woodland on New Years Day, breaking 50 glass balls in 51 seconds, using two repeating rifles.

Lake Margarita, the beautiful little sheet of water adjoining the town of Santa Margarita on the east, is becoming a popular resort for pleasure strolls, as well as a frequent haunt of the local sportsman. There should be a boat put on the lake, by all means, for general use and pleasure. The only means of securing the ducks killed any distance from shore, at present, is to let them float in or swim out after them.

English hares are becoming so numerous in sections of New Jersey that farmers there fear they will soon be as great a nuisance as the sparrow.

The Dixon Tribune is authority for this: A Solano man who spent the fall months in Del Norte County, is said to have killed 200 deer during his stay. Such indiscriminate slaughter will in a few years exterminate this noblest of game. There are many hunters in that section of the country who slaughter hundreds of deer in a year for their hides only, leaving the carcasses to rot.

[The above, from the Breeder and Sportsman of December 7th, will be read with great interest and curiosity by the readers of the RECORD, who would like to know the man who killed that amount of deer during his visit to Del Norte County. He probably killed three or four deer during his stay, and has drawn on his imagination for the rest.—Del Norte Record.]

[We hope the Record is right in believing the stories about the killing of great numbers of deer false, but in face of the fact that deer-hides by thousands come from Northern California, we submit that an ordinary observer is justified in believing that many more deer are killed than are taken to market or consumed by the hunters.—FIELD ED.]

In another column can be found the advertisement of Messrs. Clabrough, Golcher & Co., 630-632 Montgomery St., city, offering "Blue Rock" targets. The firm holds the sole agency for the "Blue Rocks" of which more are used than of all others together. No more profitable hour can be passed than one spent in the store rooms of Clabrough, Golcher & Co.

Mr. W. S. Ferguson, proprietor of the American Hotel, at Arbuckle, Colusa Co., called at this office on Wednesday last. with the cheering news that on February 20th, an open shooting tournament will be given at Arbuckle. The first day the shooting will be open only to Sutter and Colusa counties, at 12 birds, Hurlingham style, entrance $10, three monies. The next day the matches will be open to the State; purse $35, entrance $15, three monies. Colusa County is famous for hospitality and those who take part in the tournament at Arbuckle will have reason to remember their visit with pleasure.

The California Academy of Science, of which our friend, Mr. Walter E. Bryant, is the Curator, elected its officers for '90 on January 6th, the following gentlemen being chosen, all of them being in office for the year last passed: President, H. W. Harkness; 1st Vice-President, H. H. Behr; 2nd Vice-President, George Hewston; Corresponding Secretary, Frederick Gutzkow; Recording Secretary, J. R. Scupham; Treasurer, I. E. Thayer; Librarian, Carlos Trover; Director of Museum, J. G. Cooper; Trustees, Charles F. Crooker, D. E. Hayes, S. W. Holladay, George C. Perkins, E. J. Molera, Irving M. Scott, John Taylor.

That most debonnaire of traveling gun salesmen Mr. Harvey McMurchy, writes us that he will not change his business relations as to the "L. C. Smith" gun, but will continue to represent the gun on the road. The news is good news, and we congratulate the firm which is to manufacture the gun, upon the retention of so universally liked and useful a representative as friend McMurchy.

The latter adds to his note:

"Mr. Smith sold his business to the Hunter-Comstock Arms Co. of Fulton, N. Y., retaining an interest. They have erected a new and much larger plant in Fulton, and retained all the skilled workmen, who have recently been employed by L. C. Smith, and with the improved machinery and increased facilities, we shall in the future be able to fill orders promptly, which you are well aware we were not able to do in the past year. The finish of the gun will be greatly improved.

"I have been called upon to be one of the Eastern team on the shooting trip given by Mr. C. W. Dimmick of the U. S. Cartridge Co., which will take possibly until the latter part of March, and I may be a few weeks late in calling on you, but will have the pleasure of doing so in time for spring trade.

"The name of the new firm for the manufacture of the famous L. C. Smith gun will be 'The Hunter Arms Co.': Mr. Harry Comstock's interest having been purchased, he is in no way connected with the new firm. The L. C. Smith gun only will be made by them. We have now over two thousand guns in stock and are ready to receive orders at once."

A Detroit dog fancier who was acquainted with a farmer in Taylor township coaxed him to take home a young dog and encourage him to hunt. In about a week the farmer came in with the dead body of the dog in his wagon and calmly observed:

"Here is your dog."

"But he is dead!" exclaimed the owner,

"Yes."

"Who or what killed him?"

"He was out in the field and a rabbit took after him and run him to death. I was afraid of it when you sent it out. If you want me to take another, you'd better select an old dog—one with lots of teeth and used to dodging."

"But, great Scott, man! what sort of rabbits do you have out there?"

"Not as large as they ought to be, as the locomotives keep 'em pretty badly scared. Run about the size of yearling hogs, I guess, and us farmers have to carry our revolvers into the field with us. Expect, any day, when my children will be carried off and eaten alive."—Detroit Free Press.

Some birds are used medicinally, and it is well known what strange ideas native East Indian doctors have of the virtues of bird flesh. Both the flesh and the brains of the common sparrow, especially the cock sparrow, are in great repute for certain diseases; so a cageful of these familiar clatterers is never missing in the market. Certain species are used in making love potions, and are administered by rejected suitors to the objects of their adoration. On the other hand, the blood or the flesh of the owl is supposed to make a person insane who drinks or eats it. On this account men who are devoured by jealousy of a rival or hatred of an enemy come furtively to the market, and, purchasing an owl, in silence carry it home secretly and prepare a decoction which an accomplice will put into the food or drink of the object of their malignant designs.

The list of uses for bird flesh is not exhausted yet Eating a crow is supposed to prolong life by keeping the hair black and preventing it from turning gray. The common roller, often called a bluejay, has certain rites performed over it, and is then set free after one feather has been plucked from it. This feather is then worn as an amulet, and is supposed to have great potency in averting the evil eye. Another purpose for which birds are purchased every morning is to be set free again. This is done by Hindoos as a work of merit, and by Mohammedans, after certain rites have been performed, as an atonement in imitation of the Jewish scapegoat. It is essential that a bird used for this purpose should be strong enough to fly away, but that does not induce the cruel dealers to feed their birds or to refrain from dislocating their wings or breaking their legs. They put down everything to good or bad luck, and leave the customers to choose a strong bird if he can find one, and to go away if he cannot.

The merit obtained by setting a bird free is not attributed to the Deity, but is supposed to come in a large measure from the bird itself or from its attendant spirit, and hence birds of good or bad omen, and especially kites and crows, are in much demand, and are regularly caught to be sold for that purpose.

BASE BALL.

A big fine looking specimen of manhood jumped up on a downtown bootblack stand last Sunday night and in a tone that nearly tore the shivering "shiner" apart, ordered the dirt removed from his clothes and shoes. "My name is M. U. D., and that's enough to carry without taking away any of your California soil", remarked the individual. The party proved to be the renowned "Mike" Kelly, who made a monkey of himself and played some pretty good baseball for the Boston League Club last year. 'Kel' came out here years ago with the New York Giants and made a small pot of money, and an unenviable name for himself. He was so much thought of before leaving town on his last visit that a large delegation were at the ferry landing to throw shoes—filled ones— at him; before he departed. Besides Kelly, the rest of the Boston Club which has wintered here in reality have left for their eastern homes. Most of them arrived in town with good fat purses but as they only played enough games here to settle their board bills and as their original stakes went against draw, they will have to get down to opening oysters or following some other healthy vocation on their return home.

Some one must have been practicing handwriting last week and accidentally touched on Brotherhood affairs for a practice specimen. In doing so, he unconsciously touched upon California baseball affairs. After completing the penmanship exercise the writer threw the paper away and some person evidently picked it up and shipped it to an Eastern paper, whose editor must have had an off day, for he published it. The spasm went on to say that there was to be a pocket edition of the Players' League organized here. Maybe there is. The Bangups of Cow Hollow ain't goin' to stan' enny more guff from dere man'ger. He only got dem tree games las' Sunday, an' dey ain't goin' to have dat enny more. See?" While in the Beauty Brights of North Beach there is even more discontent. This oppression the clubs of California will not stand. There is too strong a spirit for right in this glorious State, and these great players would stand up in their might—and spiked shoes—and fight against the rule of tyranny. Probably this is where the idea of where a "pocket edition" of the Brotherhood came from. There is certainly no more chance for an independent players' league in California than there is for finding gold-watches in bakers' pies, or any other kind of pies for that matter. The California League people have got a neck hold on the baseball interests here that would take more than the combined efforts of the handful of players here to shake off. And even though there was a possible chance for the players to combine in some way, they are one and all in such fear of losing their sit's that they dare not open their mouths for fear of being replaced by imported or amateur talent.

Someone has suggested that Johnny Mone begin right away and sign the staff of umpires for next season. What is the matter with giving himself the preference? Johnny would make a good umpire. He knows all about the game up to the present time, and what he does not know he can probably pick up in the flag-leaf of Bellamy's Looking Backwards."

A good story is told on Mone's knowledge of the national game. It was several seasons ago, and the battle for first place in the league race was close between the Pioneers and Haverlys, as they were then called. The season was fast drawing to a close, and great interest was manifested in the games between the two leading clubs. One Sunday the clubs met in the presence of a large throng. The Pioneers had the game well in hand, and Mone was kept busy recording the runs as they came in from the shrill sounding gong. At last the Haverleys came in for their half of the seventh inning. It was their lucky inning, and everyone knew it. Several lucky hits filled the bases, and with one hand out, Levy came to the bat. He caught the first ball, pitched on the handle of his bat, and the sphere sailed backwards over his head and landed in the press-box. "Whew, that was a good hit," yelled Mone. "That was a daisy, and it will win the game for the Haverlys, sure." When he saw that Levy didn't run, and stood at the plate waiting for the ball to be returned, Johnny relapsed into silence. After the game he made the inquiry, and was told that a man doesn't run on a foul. 'Oh, yes; why of course. Ha! ha! Well, will you—will you have a smile?" And they smile.

Sacramento has got Zeagler in the East digging up players for the coming season. He is making great headway, and if his selections are of any account, the capital city team will be a good, healthy one.

Here is a pointer for some of the managers. This man Wilmot, of last year's Washington team, is looking for an engagement. He is a good fielder, a hard hitter, and would be willing to play out here.

Sheridan will undoubtedly be calling off balls and strikes in the California league the coming season. He has had the offer of an Eastern engagement, and held that out for a raise. Mone will come to his terms and Sheridan will stay.

The last game of the winter between the Bostons and St. Louis Browns, was played off last Sunday, and won by the Missourians. The Beaneaters were crippled by the absence of three of their valuable players, whose places were filled by local talent. The score of the game is as follows:

THE PROPERTY OF

Mr. C. J. HAMLIN.

THE FIRST WEEK OF MARCH, 1890,

AT THE

AMERICAN INSTITUTE BUILDING,

Third Ave., bet. 63d and 64th Sts., New York, by PETER C. KELLOGG & CO., Auctioneers.

Office, 107 John Street, New York.

This consignment contains 13 Colts and 14 Fillies by Mambrino King, the handsomest horse in the world, the greatest stallion by Mambrino Patchen (whom he has exceeded in the stud), and the sire of "the bull-dog four-year-old of the grand circuit of 1889," Prince Regent 2:21½. Also, 9 Colts and 9 Fillies, by Hamlin's Almont, Jr., sire of Belle Hamlin 2:12¾, and the greatest Stallion left by Almont, having proved himself superior to his sire. Also numerous Brood Mares, stinted to Almont, Jr., Mambrino King and Chimes (son of Electioneer and Beautiful Bells).

MAMBRINO WILKES, 6083.

SIRE OF

GUS WILKES, 2:22; ALPHEUS, 2:27; CLARA P, 2:29½; BALKAN, 2:29½ (3-year-old) and timed separately 2:22¼ in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track, October 14, 1889.

DESCRIPTION.

Black; sixteen hands; weighs, in exercise, 1,260 lbs. For style, finish, symmetry and proportion, comparison is challenged with any trotting bred horse. His colts follow in size, style and beauty. Balkan, for instance, being "facile princeps" of trotters in these particulars.

PEDIGREE.

Sired by Geo. Wilkes, sire of Harry Wilkes, 2:13¾, Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, and 60 other trotters in the 2:30 list, in addition to 6 pacers, and of the sire of Axtell, 2 12 (three-year-old) beating all stallions of any age, and the sire of Regal Wilkes, 2:20¾, best two-year-old stallion record.

First dam Lady Chrisman by Mambrino (Todhunter's, son of Mambrino Chief 11; sire of Lady Thorn, 2:18¼; Woodford Mambrino, 2:21½, and four others in 2:30, and of the dams of Director, 2:17, Piedmont, 2:17¼, Onward, 2 25¼, etc.

Second dam by Pilot Jr. 12, sire of nine in the 2:30 list, and of the dams of Maud S., 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Nutwood, 2:18¾, Viking, 2:19¾, Pilot Boy, 2:20, Naiad Queen 2:2¾, etc.

TERMS.

Mares from a distance will be received at the Dexter Stables, Oakland, or Livery Stable, Martinez, the owner notifying Smith Hill, Superintendent at the farm. Good pasture and plenty of water. For the purpose of placing the service of a Wilkes within reach of breeders, the same rate will be maintained as last year, to wit, $75 for the season. Although it is not admitted thereby that this horse is inferior as a producer to the horses whose fees are placed at from $150 to $500. Address

Thoroughbred Stallion

Prince of Norfolk.

Will Make the Season of 1890, from Feb 1st to July 1st, at Sacramento.

Prince of Norfolk, chestnut horse, foaled 1881, by Norfolk; first dam Marion by Malcolm; second dam Maggie Mitchell by imp. Yorkshire; third dam Charmer by imp. Glencoe; fourth dam Betsy Malone by Stockholder; fifth dam by Potomac, sixth dam by imp. Diomed; seventh dam by Pegasus, etc. Norfolk, the unbeaten son of Lexington, is the sire of Winters, Twilight, Connor, Ballot Box, Trade Dollar, Flood, Duchess of Norfolk, Lou Spencer, the Great Emperor of Norfolk, the unbeaten El Rio Rey, and many others. Marion's sire, Malcolm, was one of the first horses to bring Bonnie Scotland into notice. Through the Maggie Mitchell cross comes the blood of two of the most celebrated racemares of their day, Charmer and Betsy Malone. The combined speed of these great families seem to be concentrated in the get of Norfolk and Marion, as is instanced in the case of the Emperor of Norfolk, and El Rio Rey, who are full brothers to the Prince of Norfolk.

The blood lines here displayed cannot be surpassed in the world, there not being a single cross that has not been celebrated for speed and endurance, and it is fair to assume that the get of this stallion will show equally well with those of past generations.

TERMS: $50 for the season. We offer first-class pasturage on our own ranch, at $3 per month, and the best of care will be taken of mares sent to us, but no responsibility can be incurred. For further particulars, address by mail or wire,

DAN DENNISON.

  - Harold .... Sire of Maud S., 2:08¾, and 26 others in 2:30 list.
    - Hambletonian (Rysdyk's), sire of George Wilkes, 2:22, the sire of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼; Electioneer, the sire of Sunol, 2:10½, and scores of noted trotters and producers.
    - Enchantress, by Abdallah 1.
  - Midnight .... Dam of Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Noontide, 2:20½.
    - Pilot Jr., sire of dams of Maud S., 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Nutwood, 2:18¾, etc.
    - Twilight, by Lexington, sire of the dam of Ansel, 2:20.

NOODAY is a dark seal brown, foaled 1884, 15 hands 1½ inches high. Individually he is equal to his royal breeding. He is all that can be desired in conformation, intelligence, color and trotting action, and no stallion now in public service can show a pedigree with such fast records and royal game trotting blood as Noonday.

DON MARVIN,

Record 2:28 as a five-year-old. Standard by Breeding and Performance

Standard No. 7927.

Don Marvin 2:28.

Don Marvin is a beautiful seal brown, foaled 1881, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford, Palo Alto, Cal., standing 15 hands, and weighs, in ordinary condition, 1200 lbs. He is a fine individual, good style and form, combined with great substance, and good temper. Is very level headed; in his first race the past season he only made one break in five closely contested heats He has great speed and endurance, with the pure, rapid Electioneer gait. He trots without toe weights, and wears only 8 oz. shoes in front. He gained his record the past season in the third heat, on a slow track, after making a season (serving over 60 mares), with scarcely any preparation. His record is no mark of his speed. He was a natural born trotter, and Mr. Charles Marvin considered him the fastest two year old at Palo Alto that season.

By FALLIS, 2:23, - - by Electioneer, sire of
Sire of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Sunol, three-year-old, 2:10 1-2, Palo Alto, 2:12¾, and 47 others in 2:30 list.

Dam CORA, by Don Victor by Belmont, sire of
Dam of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Ventura, 2:27¼, and sire of the dam of Bell Echo, 2:20, and six others in 2.30 list.

2d dam CLARABEL, - by Abdallah Star,
Dam of Clifton Bell, 2:24 1-2, and grandam of Rexford, three years, 2:24. — Sire of Hattie Maples, 2:33.

3d dam FAIRY, - - by Rysdyk's Hambletonian,
Sister of Sweepstakes, sire of 16 in 2 30 list. — Sire of Electioneer, George Wilkes, and many other noted sires and trotters.

Dam of 4 horses that have 2:30 performers. — The great broodmare sire of the world.

The above pedigree should show every intelligent breeder that Don Marvin is "high" bred though very strong in trotting blood. All the comment it is deemed necessary to make as to the value of "thoroughbred blood" in the trotter is simply to refer to the very significant fact that the first and second dams of Maud S., 2 08¾, Jay-Eye-See 2:10. Sunol, three years 2 10 1-2, Palo Alto 2:12¾, Anteeo 2:16½, Nutwood 2.18¾, Wedgewood 2:19, and many other successful sires and sensational trotters of the day are thoroughbred.

TERMS—Don Marvin will make the ensuing season from February 1st to July 1st, 1890, at $40 the season, with the usual privilege of returning the mare next season if not proving in foal. Mares from a distance met at the cars or boats on notification, and carefully handled, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

Good alfalfa pasture furnished (free from barb wire fence) at $4 per month. For further particulars or complete circulars address

INTRUDER

Will make the Season of 1890 at Agricultural Park, SACRAMENTO.

By Crater, Son of Orlando and Vesuvienne by Gladiator.

1st dam Lady Bountiful by Rataplan (Rataplan is own brother to Stockwell, and winner of 42 races, including the Doncaster Cup and 19 Queen's Plates, and proved himself the most distinguished race horse of his day in England).

6th dam by Selim, winner of the One Thousand Guinea Stakes.

7th dam by Pypilina, by Sir Peter.

8th dam Rally, by Trumpeter.

9th dam Fancy, by Florizel. Fancy was full sister to Diomed, the first Derby winner in England, and after his importation into this country, sired the illustrious Sir Archy, etc. See English Stud Book.

Imported INTRUDER is a beautiful bay, standing fully 16 hands high, of great length and substance, and descends through close and strong currents from the most illustrious winners and winning lines of blood of which the English Stud Book bears record.

A careful review of the first six crosses of the pedigree of INTRUDER will show nine Derby winners; five St. Leger winners; two winners of The Oaks; two winners of the Two Thousand Guineas; two winners of the One Thousand Guineas; one Goodwood Cup winner; one Cæsarwich Cup winner; one Cambridgeshire Stakes winner, and four Doncaster Cups, in addition to a great number of Steeplechases and other races of less import.

INTRUDER, at the great fair held at St. Louis, Mo., in 1876, was awarded the highest stallion honors—the blue ribbon and the $500 purse—in the sweepstakes ring for stallion of any age or blood. The list of competitors embraced the large number of thirty-three animals, and they represented England, Canada, Kentucky, Tennessee, and other states. He also took first premium in his class and in sweepstakes for the best stallion of any age or breed at the State Fair at Peoria, Ill., 1882. He is the sire of Tidal Wave, George Hakes, Bernice and April Fool.

INTRUDER is the sire of Interpose, who is the dam of Spokane, winner of the Kentucky Derby, in which he beat the great horse Proctor Knott and broke the record.

TERMS: $50 for the season. Mares not proving with foal can be returned the next season free of charge. Good pasturage at $4 per month. Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire, and fed on hay and grain, either or both, at reasonable rates. While every precaution will be taken, no responsibility will be assumed for escapes or accidents. Mares sent from a distance in care of the undersigned, will be met and taken to the park. CANNON BALL, 8820

BY SIMMONS 2744.

RECORD 2:28, (Full Brother to Rosa Wilkes, 2:18 1-4), Sire of Nine in 2:30 List at 10 Years Old.

First dam Gurgle, pacing record 2:20; trial of 2:15½ for W. H. Crawford; by Pocahontas Boy, sire of Buffalo Girl, 2:12½; Raven Boy, 2:15½, and ten others in the list.

Second dam Matlock by Grey Diomed.

Third dam by Tom Hal.

DESCRIPTION.

Brown bay, right hind foot and left inside hind heel white. Foaled May 20, 1887. Bred by W. H. Wilson, Abdallah Park, Cynthiana, Ky.

He is a grand individual, large boned, fine size and appearance. When fully matured will probably be 16 hands, and weigh 1200 lbs.

Is of speedy conformation and level headed. His blood lines are stout and fashionable, being the Wilkes and Mambrino Patchen on pacing and thoroughbred foundations, and from a family of producers on both sides.

Can be seen until February 1st at Agricultural Park, Los Angeles, in charge of C. A. Durfee, after which he will serve ten approved mares at $60 the season, with usual privilege of return in 1891, at Lockhaven Stock Farm, Burbank, Cal. Mares kept on grass $3 per month, and extra charge where grain and alfalfa are fed. For further particulars, address

BALKAN

By Mambrino Wilkes.

(See that Horse's Advertisement.)

DAM FANNY FERN BY JACK HAWKINS Son of Boston.

The grandam of Maud S, (2 08¾) was by Boston and the grandam of Jay-Eye-See (2.10) was by Lexington, son of Boston. So Balkan is the same remove from Boston that Maud is, and one remove nearer than Jay-Eye-See.

Fanny Fern has produced Molly Drew, Onyx, Fred Arnold Molly Fern and Balkan, all by different sires.

Balkan's sire and dam both being producers, and he being a trotter himself, it is but fair to presume that he will get trotters of the highest order.

DESCRIPTION.

He is seal brown, 16-1 hands high, in style rivalled by few, and excelled by none with as pure a gait as has yet been exhibited in public—bar none.

Balkan will be at Oakland Trotting Park for the season of 1890, and will be limited to ten mares, at $100 fee, in order to be put in training early, as it is morally certain that if given a reasonable opportunity he will be fast enough to compete with the best of his age. For further particulars address

REDWOOD.

Four-Year-Old Record 2:24 1-2

Will make the season of 1890—February 1st to July 1st—at the

OAKLAND RACE TRACK.

REDWOOD is a dark bay colt, 15.2½ hands high, weighs 1100 lbs. Foaled in 1885, by Anteeo, 2:16¼, sire of Alfred G., 2 19¾. Anteeo is by Electioneer. First dam Lou Milton by Milton Medium; second dam Old Fly, a thoroughbred mare brought from the East in 1871 by W. C. Ralston, Esq.

Redwood's sire was out of Columbine by A. W. Richmond, the sire of the pacers Arrow 2:13¼, and Elwood 2:2 , and the trotters Romero, 2:19¼, and Len Rose, 2:2 . Redwood has shown a quarter in 33 seconds.

Terms $100

For the season. Mares not proving with foal may be returned next season free of charge, provided Redwood remains the property of the present owners. Good pasturage at $5 per month. No responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents. Service fees payable before removal of the mare. Limited to 40 approved mares. For further particulars address

New York Sales of Trotting Stock

PETER C. KELLOGG & CO.'S

CALIFORNIA COMBINATION SALE OF

-TROTTING STOCK-

in New York will commence

Tuesday, March 11, '90

At the American Institute Building.

For Contracts, giving terms and full particulars, and for Entry Blanks (state number of horses to be consigned) address the firm as below.

Buyers who desire to increase their lines of choicely bred brood mares, or to secure stallions suited to the mares of California, can, by spending the month of March in New York, have opportunity to select from hundreds of offerings in our sales, the choicest blood and the best assortment in the country. It should be borne in mind that the climatic crosses which have been most prolific of great results in California (and also in Kentucky) have been secured in the colder climates of the North and East. If you are to use a home-bred stallion, obtain mares that are bred and reared under radically different climatic influences. If you use home-bred mares get your stallions from widely different climatic sources. While there are exceptions to all rules the more you study this subject the more irresistable will be the conviction that the greatest success has most often resulted from this plan. It is just as important in breeding to obtain a proper climatic out-cross as to obtain a good blood out-cross.

One or the other seems absolutely necessary To combine both is doubly effective

WHETHER YOU ARE BUYER OR SELLER NEW YORK IS THE PLACE TO BE NEXT MARCH.

Our second sale will close out the celebrated Rosemeade Stud belonging to Mr. L. J. Rose of Los Angeles, Cal., with its brood mares and its youngsters by Stamboul and Alcazar.

Both these sales will occur the first week of March, to be followed throughout the month by others of great importance; representing California and the most important Eastern States; concluding the last week of March with an extensive consignment from Palo Alto.

Bids executed without charge, in the interest of absent buyers who remit in advance; but we greatly prefer their presence or that of their agent.

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2½ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level headed seldom making a break; wears 7-ounce shoes in front. His record 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

And many others.

SIDNEY is the sire of Faustino 2:35, and Fleet 2:36, the two fastest yearlings the world has ever known by one sire, and his slowest yearling is faster than the great Electioneer's fastest.

Chestnut Horse, foaled 1885.

SIMMOCOLON.

- Simmons 2774, Sire of Bon Bon, 4 y. o. rec., 2:26, Raymon, 4 y. o. rec., 2:27, Black Storm, 3 y. o. rec. 2 27¼, and six others with records of 2:30 or better.
  - George Wilkes 519, Sire of 65 in 2:30 list, Sire of 11 dams of 12 in 2:30 list
    - Hambletonian 10, Sire of 41 in 2:30 list, Sire of 107 sires of 567 in 2:30 list, Sire of 44 dams of 50 in 2:30 list
    - Dolly Spanker
  - Black Jane, Dam of Rosa Wilkes, 2:18¼, Dam of Simmons, 2:28
    - Mambrino Patchen 58, Sire of 14 in 2:30 list, Sire of 21 sires of 37 in 2:30 list, Sire of 24 dams of 28 in 2:30 list
    - Lady Stanhope
- Colon, Dam of Simmocolon, 4 y. o. rec., 2:29½, Dam of Patchmore, 2:32¼
  - Strathmore, Sire of 27 in 2:30 list, Sire of 6 dams of 8 in 2:30, Sire of 3 sires of 3 in 2:30
    - Hambletonian 10 (Same as above)
    - Lady Waltermire, Dam of Marshall Ney
  - Coral, Trial at 2 years, 2:30, Dam of Coralloid, 2:29¼
    - Clark Chief 89, Sire of 6 in 2:30 list, Sire of 9 sires of 27 in list, Sire of 11 dam with 11 in list
    - Colon, Dam of Caliban, sire of 3 in 2:30 list

As will be seen, Simmocolon is by a performing and producing son of George Wilkes, 2:22. He has back of him three producing dams, and combines the blood of the great sire George Wilkes handsomely blended with the blood of the greatest broodmare families. On the dam's side Mambrino Patchen, Strathmore, Clark Chief and Clay. A fine individual himself, pure gaited and very fast.

Terms, $150, with usual return privileges for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. THE IMPROVED NOYES ROAD - CART.

PATENTED JULY 17, 1883, AND JUNE 8, 1886.

Some of the Advantages of the Noyes Cart Over All Others.

There is no bar for the rider to climb over in getting in or out. The horse can be hitched eighteen inches nearer than any other road-cart made. You can get in or out with perfect safety—no danger of being thrown into the wheel—a great advantage in breaking colts. THE EASIEST CART FOR ROAD OR TRACK. The only cart that a horse can be speeded to within one second as fast as to a sulky. All our carts are made of the very best materials and are warranted. Manufactured by the NOYES CART COMPANY, Kalamazoo, Mich.

They are indorsed by the following horsemen, all of whom are using them. Ask their opinion of the Noyes Cart: John Splan, who drove Guy a full mile in 2:17¼ and Chanter a half-mile in 1 10¾ to a Noyes Cart, says he would not take $250 for it if he could not get another; W. OSSIDINE

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used.

Very respectfully yours,
S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

ANTINOUS,

The Property of James W. Rea, Esq., San Jose.

It is with a feeling of pride we this week draw attention to the happy effort of our artist who has depicted a son of the great Electioneer in his best style. Antinous was foaled in 1882, on Senator Stanford's Palo Alto Ranch, and was bought by his present owner, Mr. Rea, last May. He is a good dark bay, standing 15.2¼ hands high, with an almost perfect head, good neck, nice sloping shoulders, with good back well ribbed up and powerful quarters, long muscular thighs, short cannon bones and good feet; his forelegs show signs of wear and tear having evidently been severely blistered.

His breeding is exceptional. Electioneer is the sire of Sunol 2:10½ at three years old; Palo Alto 2:12¼, Manzanita 2:16, Anteeo 2:16¼, Adair 2:17¼, Lot Slocum 2:17¼, Norval 2:17½, Bonita 2:18½, Bell Boy at three years 2:19¼, Hinda Rose 2:19½ at three years old, Antevolo 2:19½, and many others; in fact, Electioneer is the sire of forty-eight trotters and one pacer, and grandsire of nine trotters in the 2:30 list, including Alfred G. 2:19¾, and the pacer Edwin C. 2:15.

Toronto Sontag is by Toronto Chief, record 2:31, sire of three and of the dams of four in the 2130 list.

Laura Keene is a sister to Alban 2:24, by Hambletonian 10, sire of 41 in the 2:30 list, and grandsire of 721 in the 2:30 list, including Maud S. 2:08¾, Jay Eye See 2:10, Sunol 2:10½, St. Julien, 2:11¼, and Axtell 2:12. Fanny is by Exton Eclipse, sire of the dam of Billy Denton, who is the sire of two and grandsire of three in the 2:30 list.

Such a trotting pedigree is rarely seen, and when backed up with such good shape and make as Antinous has is bound to tell in the stud as well as on the track. Referring to his speed, Mr. Chas. Marvin, the courteous Superintendent of the Palo Alto Stock Farm—than whom there should be no better judge—says he was very promising in yearling and two-year-old form, having shown quarters in 0:36 at two years old, and would, no doubt, have trained on with improving speed, but his legs failed him somewhat in his two-year-old season; hence, we let up on his work. Mr. Marvin also says that his elder sisters showed corresponding speed in 2, 3, and 4-year-old form, and winds up by saying Antinous should prove an A 1 sire. Antinous will make the season at San Jose race track at the low price of $75 per mare, and should be extensively patronized. He is at present being jogged on the Oakland track by J. W. Gordon, and will be driven for a record after the season.

Abdallah (15) Alexander's.

WRITTEN FOR THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

Since this horse is of National reputation, conceded by all as the best 'breeding on" son of Hambletonian, a few facts hitherto unpublished will be of interest.

January, 1859, Mr. James Miller, then of Cynthiana, now of Paris, Ky.—well known as a breeder of trotters—accompanied by Joel F. Love, went to New York to buy a trotting bred stallion. They went direct to Goshen, Orange County, and stopped at the hotel of John Edsall, then owner of Abdallah (15). The horse was then seven years old.

On first sight both men, especially Mr. Miller, were pleased, for Abdallah looked every inch the king he was, They tried to get a price, but were told that the horse was not for sale. Mr. Edsall had also a livery stable, and was wintering a great many horses owned in New York City. He furnished the gentlemen from Kentucky his best horses and went with them to see all the stallions of any note in the county. On their return he was again asked to price Abdallah, but refused.

As they were starting the second time on a more extended tour, Mr. Miller said: "I notice that the best mares here are by your horse's sire, and since you cannot cross him with his sisters, would it not be well to sell him and buy a horse you can?" This speech was the means of bringing Abdallah to Kentucky. After two weeks spent in vain search for something to suit, Miller and Love gave up the hunt and turned their faces homeward.

Miller said: "let us go by Goshen and try again to buy Edsall's horse" Love answered: "it is of no use, he will not sell Miller insisted and Love finally consented. Edsall was glad to see them and asked: "What luck?" The same as before, we have looked this country over and found nothing to suit but your horse and we are going home without buying." Edsall said: "This will never do; the idea of coming all the way from Kentucky and getting nothing is too bad. While you were away I have been thinking of what you said to me about not being able to breed to the best mares here, and have concluded to sell the horse. "Price him at what he is worth, and we will buy him." "$2,500 is my price." -"We will take the horse " We want you to blanket and get him in shape, and bring him yourself by the middle of March to Kentucky." This Edsall agreed to do and fulfilled his contract, spending several weeks in the blue grass country. Abdallah stood that season (1859) and three others at Cynthiana.

In August of 1862 Messrs. Miller and Love fearing that he would be taken by soldiers, took him to Woodburn, thinking that there he would be safe as Lord R. A. Alexander was a citizen of Great Britain. In the spring of 1863 Mr. Alexander gave in exchange for him $2,500 in money and a son of Edwin Forrest and Flora Temple.

His subsequent history is well known. How he was taken by soldiers, overheated by excessive riding, made to swim a river, being allowed to cool suddenly, and chilling to death.

Like the mothers of most great horses, his dam, "Katy Darling," was more than an ordinary mare. We propose to look up her history and pedigree more fully, this much is now known:—She was by a horse called "Roman", and was a noted road mare of her day. In 1850, while being driven across a railroad track, caught her foot and broke her ankle. Her owner was about to kill her when a gentleman well acquainted with her great excellence, begged for her life, saying that there were plenty of worthy men who would be glad to get her, and that he would see that she fell into good hands. Her ankle got well, but was always crooked, she was bred to Hambletonian. There was a race trotted on the ice for a new set of fine harness. The owner of "Katy Darling" rode her (while Abdallah was in utero) to witness it.

There was lacking one entry to fill, her owner proposed trotting her if they would allow her to start under saddle. She won the race with the greatest ease.

Mr. Miller says that Abdallah in motion was one of the grandest looking horses that he has ever seen, and that his record of 2:42 is no measure of his speed, even for these days, when 2:42 was equal to 2:20, or better at the present time.

W. E. BEAN.

Anteeo De Turk.

Among the fine Anteeo colts in Sonoma County which merit mention is one bred by Robert Crane, ex-Supervisor, whose farm is on Crane's Creek, seven miles south of Santa Rosa. The colt is named Anteeo De Turk, and was foaled February 9, 1889. He is a handsome dark brown, similar to his sire, with a white star in forehead. His dam was Minnie D, by Alexander; second dam Shoo Fly, by General McClellan; third dam by Niagara The colt is nearly 15 hands, and the arm measures 17 inches. He is of perfect form, with a fine head and very fine eyes, denoting good disposition and intelligence. He has been carefully handled on the farm, but has not been subjected to studious training and is merely broken to halter. He has remarkable power and shows thorough action, with docility and ease of motion. All the points which denote speed and endurance are apparent, and the promise is that he will prove a record breaker. Anteeo De Turk is in every respect a model colt from his noted sire, and his dam is a square trotter of good speed. Mr. Crane is a painstaking breeder, fond of superior stock of every species, and his management of his large farm is evidence of his skill and thrift.

Comparison of the 2:30 Trotters of George Wilkes and Electioneer.

BY J. C SIBLEY.

If any apology may seem necessary for giving you the result of several weeks of patient research, it arises from the frequent innuendoes from those owning none of the blood of Electioneer, that, as a family, they are not race-horses. Those who seem to be most persistent in decrying their value are generally those who have never possessed one. An intimate knowledge of the Electioneer family, and a desire to inform myself of the true facts, led me to a task, which, had I known its magnitude, would never have been undertaken. To answer those who have stated that the Electioneers were not race-horses, and who seem to desire to give the impression that most of their records have been made against "Father Time," I have selected for comparison that noted sire, George Wilkes. Not to demonstaate by any means that George Wilkes was not the sire of a family of race-horses, but rather because he is to-day recognized as one of the grandest sires that the world has yet produced, induced me to select him for comparison, and also because he was recognized as preeminently the sire of race-horses of speed and courage. The fact that no one denies the greatness of George Wilkes led me to believe that if Electioneer in comparison would show a fair mark it could not but redound to the latter's credit.

This table has not been prepared with any reference to the injury of any horse or family, for I doubt from a causal inspection, if any family would stand the comparison with Electioneer as close as the Wilkes family. The tables are published with no view of provoking controversy or calling out apologies or explanations. I simply publish the result of investigation, and with that my labor ends. It becomes then subject matter for the student who without prejudice, desires to know the the truth. The tables have been prepared from both "Chester's Manual" and "Wallace's Year-Book" and while there may be inaccuracies owing to the hundreds of columns of figures which have been necessary in its prepara tion, yet a careful recompilation leads me to believe in their subtantial accuracy. I prefer to publish the tables complete merely for the reason that each one who may own any individual named, it a wrong has been done by me in the preparation of the figures, can easily right it. These summaries are so surprising that were I to publish them merely as summaries their accuracy would be doubted. In this compilation of the races lost and won no accounts have been taken, either with the George Wilkes family or that of Electioneer in contests against time. The contests have all either been with fields of horses or walkovers for purses in regular events and in the race average which is made up of the heats won by each horse in each seperate contest, no figures are taken into account where the time made was against the watch. The Years-Books" of 1889 performances not yet having been published will lead undoubtedly to some omissions of contests of this year.

The Electioneer won 56,79-100 and lost 43 21-100 per cent. of all their races.

Had the Electioneers won a large percentage of their races against inferior horses in slow time their manifest superiority would not be so great, but the table shows that in order to win a race the Electioneer had to trot nearly three seconds faster in every race than was requisite for the Wilkes to win theirs. In spite of this fact the summaries show that the get of Electioneer win 56 79 100 per cent. of all theirs.

In comparison with Electioneer my judgment is no family of great prominence will stand the test so close as the Geo. Wilkes. However as a student in horse breeding, I should be extremely grateful to any one who will publish the complete race summaries of other prominent families for the purpose of instituting comparisons, which are based alone upon absolute contests when the money is up. In this manner we can most easily determine the value of the racing abilities of any given family.—N. Y. Spirit of the Times.

Communication for Trainers and Drivers.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I have for several years thought that there would be saved to breeders and owners of trotting bred colts much time and expense, and to drivers in races much annoyance if, between those who break the colts and those who train and drive them in their races, there were an agreement or consistency as to the use of the words "get up," "whoa," "go on," "slack up," "take care," the "chirup," the "cluck," etc. Doubtless all agree that any one of these words should have but one meaning to the colt or horse, and that whether being broken to drive or being driven in a race it should have to him at all times the same meaning; that if the word "whoa" means that the horse stop to a standstill while walking, it does not mean that he merely go slower while trotting or walking, or that he go steadier while trotting. But if the man who breaks the colt attach to it one meaning and use it for one purpose, and the one who trains or drives him in races attach to it a different or several different meanings, the colt is hardly blamable for becoming confused in unlearning what has been taught.

I would like to ask the opinion of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN and also of trainers and drivers in races as to the best word to be used to a colt in breaking him for a trotter when the word is to be used for each of the following purposes: To start the colt from a standstill to a walk; to urge him from a walk to a trot; to increase his speed at the trotting or walking gait; to decrease his speed at the trotting or walking gait; to bring him from a trot to a walk; to bring him from a walk to a standstill? Also to quiet or allay his excitement while speeding; to prevent him from breaking? Hoping that I do not trouble you too much, I am yours respectfully, Horses, Cattle and Chickens.

For colic and grubs, for lung fever, cough or hide-bound, I give Simmons Liver Regulator (liquid) in one ounce doses; or, one teaspoonful of the powder in a mash twice a day. You can recommend it to any one having stock as the best medicine known for the above complaints. In using it with my chickens for cholera or gapes I mix it with the dough and feed it to them once a day. By this treatment I have lost none where the Regulator was given promptly and regularly.—E. GILROY RACES.

Ida, One of Jim Mulvena's Colts Scores a Victory.

The races which were to have been trotted the day succeeding Thanksgiving, but which were postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather, were trotted at Sargent's Driving Park, Saturday, Jan. 11th. Though there were a large number on the grounds, the crowd was evidently not in a mood for betting as very few pools were sold.

The track was heavy and a stiff breeze was blowing down the backstretch, which accounts for the comparatively slow time.

In the race for the 2:40 class, there were three entries, viz: Ida, sired by Jim Mulvena, entered by Chas. Lynch; Harry, sired by John Seven Oaks and entered by Hecox; Sutter Maid, Brigadier and entered by Jack Cocheran.

First Heat—Was won by Harry with Ida a neck in the rear and Sutter Maid third.

Second Heat—Ida first, Sutter Maid second, Harry third. Time, 2:50.

Third Heat—Ida first, Sutter Maid second and Harry third. Time, 2:51.

Fourth Heat—Ida first, Harry second, Sutter Maid third. Time, 2:46.

SUMMARY.

Ida	Chas. Lynch	2	1	1	1
Harry	Hecox	1	3	3	2
Sutter Maid	Cocheran	3	2	2	3

SECOND RACE.

The free-for-all race, for a purse of $150 closed with three entries, viz: Acrobat, Maud H. and Argent,

Maud H. won the first, second and third heats. Time, 2:37, 2:42 and 2:49; Acrobat second. Argent was withdrawn on account of sickness. L. Loupe, Secretary.

The Doble Stable at Fresno.

During the past sixty days, travel has been almost at a standstill, the Californians displaying a most strenuous objection to making visits during the unprecedented weather with which we have been afflicted during the past two months. And it cannot be wondered at, rain almost continuously has endangered the road-bed in quite a number of places, but the company have had a small army of men at work to repair the damages as fast as the water would recede.

Taking advantage of two spare days, the writer paid a visit to Fresno, and paid a personal visit to the stable of Budd Doble, which is wintering at that superb winter training ground. Geo. Starr is Budd's right bower with the California contingent, and an able master he proves. George has been at the business for a long time, and under the best mentor in the country, so that it is not to be wondered at that "he knows a thing or two." He has gained his experience by hard knocks, and by brushing down the homestretch with Gen. Turner, Knap McCarthy, John Splan, Jimmy Goldsmith, and others of the "ilk" that are tough enough to drive an ordinary judge crazy by simply looking at the stand and it is from the ranks of such as these that Starr has graduated until now he is a "scratch" man; able to give points to most of the Eastern drivers, and ranking with the best. He has quite a number of stalls at the Fresno Fair grounds, and many a well known favorite can be seen daily taking a "constitutional."

There is probably no place in the wide world where the fame of Johnson, 2:06¼, has not extended; at least wherever the English language is spoken, the speedy pacer is known of. His stall is fitted up as becomes the king of the side-wheel fraternity; pictures and bric-a-brac lending a charm to the eye of the visitor. Of a kindly disposition, he makes no objection to the entry of those who wanted to see him, but rather seems to enjoy the amazement of the strangers who pass remarks about his ungainly head. He may not look as handsome as Roy Wilkes or Yolo Maid, but he stands at the head of the lateral motion division as the fastest in the world.

Ed Annan is one of the curios of the Doble collection, and should have been called "Hop o' My Thumb," that is, unless the original Ed Annan is a dwarf in some dime museum. Ed Annan, 2:16¼, is a rough, shaggy little creature, standing only 14.2 in height, with full rotund belly, and to all intents and purposes, enjoying the climatic change from the extreme colds of the northwestern States where he was, to the more congenial and salubrious air of Fresno, where he gets plenty of sunshine, no snow, and but little exercise. Eight times did he start during the past season, and six times did he land first money for his owner. He has been a perfect mint since he was first placed in Mr. Doble's hands, his gameness and stubborn fighting ability enabling him to win many a seemingly hopeless race. Next year he will be again to the fore in the 2:17 class, and benefited by the winter's rest, should once more repeat his victories.

The grey gelding Jack is not the model of a trotting horse, and he would not be selected by an artist to represent the ideal light harness horse of America. Still he has a record of 2:15 made in 1889, and his owner George Middleton, of Chicago has issued a challange that he will match Jack against any trotter in the world for from $5,000 to $15,000 a side,

Maria Jansen is a trim little mare, and great things are expected of her before the season of 1890 closes. The long price of $10,000 was paid for her ladyship, and it was fully expected that she would win herself out during the past season. However she will be reserved for the class where she belongs, and the trotting world may expect to hear of a big clean up with her this year.

Reina is a black mare, five years old, who has reduced her record this year from 2:27¾ to 2:22¼, and there is plenty of speed still latent in her little body. She is by St. Arnaud 1519, dam Mabel L. by Victor 1963; second dam by Volunteer 55. Reina is a useful animal, and as she will be entered throughout the great circuit, we fully expect to hear good reports about her when she returns.

Faustino, the yearling son of Sidney, who cut down the stallion record for that age, has been turned over to Mr. Starr's care, and all of the hands around the stable are delighted with the young gentleman. He is a favorite, and the "boys" all claim that the two-year-old record will be in danger next season.

Maudlen is closely related to Maud S., being by Harold, 413, dam Nutala by Belmont; second dam Miss Russell: W. R. Allen, of Pittsfield, Mass., paid $15,000 for this queenly bred mare, and although she has a record now of 2:25¾, her owner is not satisfied with that, and she will be sent for a mark commensurate with her royal breeding.

Lady Bullion is another of those bred in the purple, being by Pilot Medium 1597, dam Hattie Hoyer by Bullion 6030; second dam Gipsey Maid by Stephen A. Douglas 422. She is a good campaigner, and reduced her 1888 record of 2:21½ to 2:18¼ during last year. There are several others unknown to fame in the stable, and all of them are doing well. Mr. Starr is well satisfied with the track and its surroundings, and is quietly waiting until the weather settles so that he can move the horses at a little speedier gait than they have been asked to show lately.

Pacific Coast Horses for Circuits of 1890.

The subjoined list comprises horses with records of 2:35 and better liable to start in the several circuits on this coast during the next season. Mares retired to the harem and horses badly injured (so far as known) are not included herein. The list is printed for the benefit and convenience of the managers of fairs and trotting meetings. If, more than likely, there be omissions or mistakes in either records or breeding, we shall be thankful for any corrections that may be pointed out; or, if any of the horses herein named have been shipped away, relegated to the breeding stud, or injured so that they will assuredly not start this year, we shall be grateful for information to that effect. Figures between brackets (where given) denote ages this year.

Kidd, Edmonson & Co.'s Sale.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—The prospect for the Great Combination Sale at Chicago of Kidd, Edmonson & Morse is exceedingly encouraging, as a great many entries are already at hand from some of the leading establishments of the country, but many of our patrons have expressed a desire that we defer our sale on account of the lateness of the season in the West, wanting more time to prepare their stock and not wishing to conflict with the Kentucky sales, and (as we hope to have everybody at the Chicago sale that attends the Kentucky sales) we have determined to change the dates, to commence March 17th and continue six days.

We hope that everyone that has entered stock with us or intends to do so, will make note of the change If we cannot get the Exposition Building, we will sell at the Battery as before.

Buyers will likely be on hand as usual from all parts of the country; indeed, orders are coming in daily for catalogues and those wishing to enter their stock good ones, should do so at once.

Remember, it is the place to sell your stock and your best bred ones. Chicago is the center of demand; the money is there, the people will be there. Will you have your best stock there?

The following persons have sent entries (with many more to hear from) to the Lexington Office of Kidd, Edmonson & Morse's Great Horse Sale, to be held at Chicago, March 17th to 21st inclusive:

Mr. S. A. Brown, Kalamazoo, Mich.
Mr. F. T. Waters, Chicago, Ill.
Mr. M. L. Hare, Indianapolis, Ind.
Mr. Tom Taggarth, Indianapolis, Ind.
Mr. T. W. Browning, Indianapolis, Ind.
Mr. H. D. McKenney, Janesville, Wis.
Mr. T. C. Chadwick, Juda, Wis.
Mr. E. Remington, Fenton, Wis.
Mr. Granger Smith, Waukegan, Ill.
Mr. Lewis Cook, Lexington, Ky., one car load.

Our list will be continued next week with those from Chicago. Entries will close February 20th.

Lexington, Ky. Kidd, Edmonson & Morse.

Crawford in Kentucky.

In conversation with Mr. W. H. Crawford, soon after his return from California, he appeared well satisfied with both the horses he saw there and their owners. I remarked to Mr. Crawford that he had a close call as to losing his money, says "Hopeful" in the Spirit.

"Yes" said he, "if Stamboul has trotted as fast as he did and it had been over any one of several of our Eastern tracks my money would have been lost, as there are several managers of race tracks east of the Rockies stuck on having fast records made on their tracks, and as a rule, sqeeze off a fraction but out in California they are both accurate and just timers."

"Well," said he "I don't think Stamboul can beat his previous record, 2:12½?"

"Yes" said he, "no doubt he can, and had the weather held favorable he would have done it, and I would have lost my money. I really thought I was going to lose, and when I learned that Mr Hickok was to get $9,000 if he did the trick, I said to a gentleman 'It is a consolation to know that my friend Orrin gets the money if I lose.'"

I then asked him to give me his opinion of Sunol.

"Well" said he, "she fooled me once and may do so again, but no doubt she is a most wonderfully great filly, and when she comes East next season I shall not be so ready to bet that she won't beat all records as I was to bet she would not beat 2:12. The day she trotted in 2:10½, I offered to bet $1,000 to $400 that she could not beat 2:12 Luckily no one would take so large a bet, although I lost quite well on it-at that, but if the backers of time had bet freely I would have lost more than I won on the match against time. In fact, I felt confident (knowing as I did that she was not ready for such a trial), that she could not beat 2:12, and would have went broke on the result, which once for all satisfies me that truly great horses are not to be measured by the same scale that common horses are."

"Then take it all together, Mr. Crawford, you are well isfied with your California trip are you not?" I asked.

"Well, yes I am, but there as in most places (with a wink to his friend Bowerman) those newspaper barnacles, sharks or whatever you please to call them (present company excepted) don't correctly quote an outsider. The newspapers out [illegible] stated that I said things I never had thought of."

TURF AND TRACK.

Father Bill Daly is on the sick list.

Ed. Corrigan has gone "in hibernia" at Memphis.

Allo, 2:22½, has been sold for $5,000, to go to Australia.

Five mile dash ice races in Canada will become very popular.

Jimmy McLaughlin, after all, turned out a failure as a starter.

Scott Quinton will resume business in Trenton, N. J., this season.

The first foal dropped on the Rancho Del Paso was a John Happy.

Mr. M. F. Dwyer will make a trip to England and France this winter.

The Beverwyck stable have purchased Once Again and Long Dance.

June, full sister to Nelson, 2:14¼, has been bred to Antevolo, 2:19½.

'Picolo' Jones, the well-known old time cross country jock, is dead.

W. M. Murry will send Jessie C. to be bred to imported Greenback.

Egmont and Terra Cotta will both be used in the stud this coming season.

The Jockey Club gave at Paris, Fontainbleau and Chantilly £66,800 in added money.

B. C. Holly has purchased Flora G., 2:29¾, by Altoona, dam by Conway's Patchen.

The Lexington Turf Club held a swell New Years reception and banquet on the first.

M. Bergen rode second in the first race, and won the next five last Tuesday at Guttenberg.

Hindoocraft's leg is very pronounced, and it is extremely probable he has run his last race.

Ed. Corrigan has bought from F. B. Harper the well known racehorse Libretto. Price, $1,500.

The shares of the Manchester (England) Race Course Company, par value £100, sell for £650.

C. M. C. Weedman has sold to W. A. Collins, of Long Island, the pacer Monkey Rollo 2:15½.

The Italian Government has purchased Elwood Medium, 2:24¾, by Happy Medium, for $12,000.

Major Doswell, one of the old-time turfmen in America, is dangerously ill at his home in Virginia.

It is said that Marcus Daly is in such bad health that none of his horses will be trained this season.

Mr. William Rockefeller is said to have a nailing double team to go for the record at Fleetwood.

Maclure, four year old stallion, brother to Miss Leland 2:25¼, has been sold to go to Buenos Ayres.

Dr. Maclay, the new Secretary of the Sonoma and Marin Agricultural Association, is doing good work.

C. H. Todd, Dan McCarty's lucky Derby winner, died recently of blood poisoning at Sheepshead Bay.

Mr. Walton has Argent, 2:24½, at San Jose race track. He is rounding to in good shape after a sick spell.

Sorrento, Dan McCarty's unlucky cast off, is being worked again and will be in good trim in about a month.

Secretary Brewster, of the Washington Park, is again on deck. Luckily it was only a cold that troubled him.

Gregory, who won upwards of $15,000 last season, cost a few hundred dollars as a yearling, being very undersized.

The most promising yearling trotter in Kentucky is Fly Wheel, by Onward out of the dam of Nancy Hanks 2:24½.

Jas. Lee has left Mr. Charles Reed. It is said Mr. Reed was annoyed at Lee showing the horses to newspaper men.

Every one will be pleased to hear that John Mackey, the Rancho Del Paso superintendent, is rapidly regaining health.

Noah Armstrong, the owner of Spokane, is going to sell his trotting stock and breed nothing but thoroughbreds in future.

Superintendent Jim Clare will, it is said, be the permanent starter at Clifton. He has often held the flag, temporarily.

G. & C. P. Cecil, Danville, Ky., have sold Mambrino Maid, 2:23¾, for $6,000, to Messrs. Fox & Moore, Philadelphia.

Mr. Shepard of Boston has offered Knap McCarthy and the Edgewood farm, the owners of Geneva S., $10,000 for the mare.

W. Lakeland is doing well with Fordham, although the horse is said to be showing signs of the work he has undergone.

The Hermitage Stud Farm near Nashville will build a covered track this spring to exerise colts under during wet weather.

Pacers are in great favor as road horses in Hartford, Conn. During the recent sleighing half the horses used were side wheelers.

Pittsburgh Phil, accompanied by two friends, sailed on the Etruria. Garrison did not go on account of the McMahon affair.

Reno's Baby was the first Texas bred two-year-old to beat 2:30, which he did the last week in December, trotting in 2:28½.

Alcryon, 2:15¾, Jack, 2:15, Hendrix, 2:24½, Ketch, 2:18½, Baroness, 2:30, Wanita, 2:24½, Frenzy, 2:27½, and Sport, 2:22¾, are all grays.

The Hon. Jas. White's health is very bad. His death would, of course, disqualify Narellan and Kirkham for the English Derby.

Buenos Ayres racing public are at a disadvantage now, the Government having put a tax of 25 per cent. on all importations of racing stock.

Orville Appleby has in training at San Jose Alfarata and Juanita, both thoroughbred, and Mr. Montgomery's highly bred trotter Boodle.

In 1889, eight of the descendants of Mr. Watt's Blacklock (or as Dr. Shorthorse said "that accursed Blacklock)" have won $200,000 in England.

W. L. Boots has eight horses exercising at the San Jose race track, Nerva, Nabeau, Installation, Vinco, two three-year-olds and two two-year-olds.

J. B. Perry, of Lexington, has sold for $1,000 the weanling b c Ellerton, by Eagle Bird, dam by Simmons, to T. Pollock & Son, of Bloomington, Ill.

Charles Reed's string of 19 two-year-olds, now at the Westchester race track, are said to be the finest lot of green youngsters ever seen in the East.

A mare in India was bitten by a dog and went mad. Before the mare was destroyed she tore all the flesh off her legs and sides, being raving mad.

Dan McCarty returned from Fresno last Saturday and says he shall take more of his trotters there as he was very pleased with the track and environs.

Messrs. Beck and Fisher, the owners of Florida, are having her jogged along all winter, and hope to beat the Montana three-year-old record this season.

The New Jersey Trotting Horse Breeders' Association will petition the State Legislature for an appropriation of $2,000, to be added to the premium list.

The Garrison-McMahon trouble does not get settled in a hurry. Garrison says it is a family affair. It is also rumored that the Snapper is flat broke.

Wilcox, 2:16½, will probably end his days in the South. Not long ago he won a pacing race in Alabama, stepping off three heats in 2.22, 2:18¾, 2:18¾.

In Australia bookmakers have to show a bank roll of $5,000, and get security for $5,000 more before they can get in the ring. This is compulsory.

Hiram G. Smith is much impressed with Drew Wilkes, a son of Guy Wilkes, owned in Newark, N. J., and thinks he can drive him in 2:25 next season.

Middleway, who got a record of 2:22¾ at Colon, Michigan, last year, was so mean looking when young that his owner was glad to get rid of him for $100.

The Guttenberg pet, H. Penny, is rapidly discovering that Guttenberg style (get away in front and keep your whip and spurs going) is not exactly the thing.

Green B. Morris, who is one of the oldest and most successful trainers in the country, has moved into a new house near the Brooklyn Jockey Club track.

McCabe has 46 horses of the Dwyers at Gravesend, Albert Cooper has 13, W. Cavill 6, Ryan 5, Sweeney 6, and there are several others at the Gravesend track.

W. L. Appleby has part of his horses at San Jose and the rest at Santa Clara. Among them are Steve Stroud, Wild Oats, Raindrop, Odette and White Cloud.

W. T. Withers, o Fairlawn Farm, Lexington, has sold for $750 the weanling b c Idaho, by Almont Wilkes, dam by C. M. Clay Jr., to S. J. Odell, of Lincoln, Neb.

One of August Belmont's stables at the Nursery Stud, near Lexington, Ky., was burnt down last week; four brood mares who occupied the stable were rescued.

Patsy Duffy, the once famous Haggin jockey, is in New Orleans, a mere wreck of the brilliant horseman who rode Ben Ali and Tyrant with such rare judgment.

Oregon, who was purchased by George Walbaum at the Dwyer sale, has seriously injured himself (wrenched his fetlock joint), and probably will be unable to race again.

It is understood that one of the mares to be bred by Mr. Bonner to his new stallion Ansel, is Lucy Cuyler, who pulled a wagon in 2:15½ over Fleetwood Park track several years ago.

W. K. Vanderbilt's stables on Long Island have just been erected and fitted up at a cost of $400 000. They are English in every respect, i. e., men, boys and nearly all the furnishings.

Knapsack McCarthy says if he doesn't make a success out of Mr. Withers' cracks, it won't be for lack of opportunities. Mr. Withers has everything a trainer needs to make a horse out of.

Mr. Sibley, of Miller & Sibley, Franklin, Pa., says that Senator Stanford spent the $12,500 they gave for Electric Bell as a yearling, on the destitute children of New York and Boston.

Frank A. Jones is training three two-year-olds for Mr. Jas. Murphy, Chicago, three for Mr. Donovan, St. Louis, and several for Major B. G. Thomas. The stable is at present at Latonia.

Goldseeker, who was sent to Messrs. Tattersall's sales at Newmarket last month, had a reserve price of 250 gs placed on him, and Clairvaux 3500 gs, but no offer was made for either horse.

C M. C. Weedman of Farmer City, Ill.., Jan. 3, sold to W. A. Collins of the Fleetwood stables, Long Island his celebrated pacer, Monkey Rollo, record 2:15½ made at Terre Haute last summer.

Matt Dawson is said to be the first trainer in England to give short sharp spins every once and again to the horses in training, instead of the old plan of long, slow work and frequent sweats.

J E. McDonald has concluded to sell the following named horses who are now in active training and ready to race: Bill Barnes, Brac a-Ban, Spring Eagle and a chestnut filly 5 years old by King Ban, dam Hazem.

One of the oldest and most successful stock breeders on Long Island is Mrs, Sarah A. Barnum, who ownes and manages 2000 acres, Her pride and boast is that she has never sold a colt for less than $600,

There is some discussion going on in the East as to the advisability of inviting some representative English owners to send a stable to New York, to test the relative merits of the English and American horses.

The talent seem to think that Aurania will bear watching because the Dwyers did not sell her when they weeded out the stable. She is a sister to Tremont, which may possibly be the reason she was retained.

An attempt is being made to make another Eastern trotting association comprised of Hornersville, Elmira, Binghampton, Syracuse, Phœnix and Oswego Each city has agreed to give an average of $500 a race in purses.

One of the most promising two-year-olds now in training is owned by George Waulbaum, the bookmaker. It is a gray colt by Blazes-Emma H., was purchased from D. J. McCarthy which he sold out his racing stable.

Egbert has furnished seventeen 2:30 performers this year. Belmont 11, Onward 10, Electioneer and Happy Medium nine each; Governor Sprague and Nutwood eight each, and Red Wilkes and Simmons have seven each.

It is said that Maud S 2:18¾, has 42 per cent. of thoroughbred blood; Jay-Eye-See 2:10, 40½; Sunol 2:10½ 39; Guy 2:10½, 40½: St. Julien 2:11¼, 17; Axtell 2;12, 38½; Stamboul 2:12½, 30; Palo Alto 2:12¼ 69½; Belle Hamlin 2:12¾ 18.

Senator Stanford has repurchased from the Elsmeade Stud. Elsmere foaled 1888, by Electioneer, out of Winona by Almont 33, out of Dolly, the dam of Director, 2:17; Thorndale, 2:22½; Onward, 2:25¼, and Czarina, 2.27½.

The committee appointed by the representatives of the clubs forming the Ohio and West Virginia Fair Circuit have recommended that the circuit employ expert judges of trotting races or adopt the single judge system.

Secretary Lawrence of the Coney Island Jockey Club has issued notices that all races closing on January 2, 1890 and thereafter, at six furlongs, will be run over the Futurity course, which is now three-quarters of a mile.

The increased number of horses owned by bookmakers is getting to be a serious detraction to racing in the East: here they own and have a controlling interest in many stables, but not so openly as in the East, which is still worse.

The Brooklyn Jockey Club starts racing on May 15th, on which day the Brooklyn Handicap of $10,000 is to be run. Already there have been received more entries than last year, and everything indicates a very successful meeting.

The Hudson County Jockey Club paid the bets of the defaulting books on Wynwood, and issued a notice that in future, although they will use every precaution to prevent welching, they will only repay the original investment.

The managers of the West Side Park, Chicago, are trying to induce Joseph J. Burke, the presiding judge at Guttenberg, to serve in a like capacity at the Western track. If they succeed in getting Mr. Burke they will secure a good man.

Michael F. Dwyer, President of the New Jersey Jockey Club, and one of the owners of the famous Brooklyn racing stable, is confined to his house by a severe attack of la grippe. His European trip has been indefinitely postponed in consequence.

Mr. David Bonner says Sunol's time-killing gait is the most deceptive he ever saw. He was present when she worked a mile in California on a bad track recently in 2:17½ and he could have sworn she was not going in 2:27 till he saw the watch.

B. C. Holly took his recent purchase, Reveille, up to Vallejo last Saturday. He was very well pleased with the grey son of Shiloh, who has already got one good racehorse in Tycoon. Reveille will have a few good mares of Mr. Holly's this season.

Hernanni, 2:32½, property of J H. White, President, P C. T. H. B. A., Susie S, 2:15½, Houri, 2:17, Lunette, 2:25¾, Thalia, 2:26, Count Wilkes, 2:25¼ and The King, 2:29¼, are among the select lot to be sold at the Woodard sale on February 17th.

Major B. G. Thomas, the veteran turfman and proprietor of the famous Dixiana Stud, has endowed a bed in the Protestant Hospital at Lexington. The ladies having charge of the institution have named the Major's gift "The B. G. Thomas Cot."

The Messrs. Du Bois and Luke Du Bois all reside in Denver, Colorado, but the veteran Luke (not the Du Bois Bros) is the owner of Muskova, 2:28½, although W. S. Hobart and W. H. Crawford are said to have tempted him with a good deal of hard cash.

C. C. Cook, of Canton, Ohio, has bought of A. Kitzmiller, of Lexington, for $4,000, these two brood mares: Mambrino Maid, fourteen years by Mambrino Patchen, dam by Mambrino Chief, and Curlew, nine years, by Almont, dam by American Clay.

Henry Walsh left for Senator Stanford's Vina Ranch last Thursday. Several well bred brood mares have been from time to time sent up there and bred to trotters. It is probable Mr. Walsh will select six or seven mares to bring back and use to breed thoroughbreds from instead of trotters.

There should most decidedly be more weight for age races. After a horse is four years old there is very little future before him except in handicaps, and by that time, if he is in honest hands, his form is so exposed that he has very little chance against the well-kept brigade.

The grounds and property of the National Fair Association of the District of Columbia, including the Ivy City race-course, were advertised to be sold at public auction on Jan. 14th. This means that another famous race course will share the fate of Jerome and Pimlico.

During the past season at the Westchester track of the New York Jockey Club fifteen races were run over the straight course of three-quarters of a mile in 1:14 or better, and the same number were run at five-eighths of a mile in 1:01 or better, a record never before equalled.

The Helena Fair Association intend having this season, a two and three-year-old trotting stake exclusively for Montana bred colts. The association will also have a four-year-old trotting stakes, free-for-all, and intends to have a four-year-old trotting stake for Montana colts.

Mr. J. W. Gordon has at the San Jose race track, eleven head of trotters. Among them are the old stallion Henry Patchen, a brother to Big Lize 2;24½, Bismarck 2;29¼, a chestnut stallion by Index, one of the last of Nutwood's California colts, and several others including Antinous.

Lord Byron 2:18 will enjoy a season in the stud, while the famous pacer, Yolo Maid 2:12¼ will run out and Favonia 2:15 with others will be bred to Mascot, is the latest news of the Daly trotters. Owing to Mr. Daly's continued bad state of health none of the trotters will be campaigned.

The question of long distance racing seems settles for this year, judging from the forthcoming subscriptions. While the Toboggan Slide handicap at six furlongs received 103 entries, the Weschester Cup at a mile and a half received only 26. As a rule the shorter the race the longer the list of nominations.

Auctioneer Kellogg is lost in wonder at the magnitude of the trotting horse interest. Breeders, he says, are no longer afraid to send in their best and take chances under the hammer. C. J. Hamlin is to take this course in February, and the California consignments this year will be better than ever.

Lockjaw caused the death last week, in Kentucky, of M. Walker's b c Champagne Charley three years by imported Prince Charlie, dam Triangle by Gilroy. He was a good performer, his total winnings being $14,630 in the two years he was on the turf. At one time his owner refused $8,000 for him.

George Walbaum whose success as a bookmaker has been phenomenal and who has made still more fame as one of the managers of the Hudson County Jockey Club, has recently blossomed out at the owner of quite a large stable of thoroughbreds, he believes in securing the best horses and engaging them well.

The Marquis of Ailesbury, famous or rather infamous on the English turf, has at last reached the end of his tether. His splendid estate of 40,000 acres is up for sale. He has been ruled off every race course for crookedness and is noted as a drunkard and for vicious characteristics of the most unmentionable kind.

Mr. Hogoboom has agreed not to enter Sacramento Girl for the two year old stake at the ninth annual district fair, because if she had been entered it is probable she would have frightened the rest out of the race. Last year at Rhonerville, as a yearling, the daughter of Alcazar and Viola, by Flaxtail, easily trotted in 2:56, on a slow track.

The total value of races won under Newmarket Rules in 1889 was broadly 480,000 sovs. The corresponding amounts of late years were as follows: In 1888, 413 000 sovs; in 1887, 415,000 sovs; in 1886, the same; in 1885, 426,000 sovs; in 1884, 393,000 sovs; and in 1883, 391,000 sovs. It will thus be seen that the figures have rapidly increased.

A glance at the English Racing Calendar shows that 1,623 races were run in Great Britain and Ireland in 1889, which is the largest number since 1885. At five furlongs and under six there were 793 races; six furlongs and under a mile 256; one mile 345; over one mile and under two 176, two miles and under three 42; three miles and under four 8, and at four miles 3.

Mr. John A. Morris says he has six or eight stallions and about 35 mares in Texas; he expects to have 100 thoroughbred mares there shortly. Mr. Morris also has about 20 mares in England, 15 of which are in foal to English stallions. The foals will be imported as yearlings. Most of the mares are American bred, and four had foals last year by Barnes or Tom Ochiltree.

At the meeting of the Eureka Jockey Club, held at the Western Hotel on January 8th, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: H. M. Devoy, President; J. A. Livington, Vice-president; C. G. Taylor, Treasurer; R W. Rideout, Secretary. Directors: H. M. Devoy, W. S. Clark, T. F. Ricks, Dan Murphy, J. Livingston, R. Gross, P. H. Quinn, S. F. Pine and F. A. Cutler.

Mr. Corlett in the 'Pink Un' says that Ormonde will be put into training again at Buenos Ayres, prior to going into the stud. It is to be hoped this is not correct, for the magnificent race horse whose escutcheon was never tarnished, might possibly suffer defeat under the circumstances. Horses who have enjoyed stud life have rarely proved successful when put back on the turf.

Edward Laferty is at Pleasanton with Mr. Kirkendall's trotters, which he brought from Montana. Among them are Lady Maxim 2:26, and several promising green horses. Mr. Laferty also brought Mary Eagle (the dam of Ranchero 2:21½) by American Clay 34, Dolly 2:32 by Mambrino Diamond 2:26, out of a mare by Clark Chief Jr., the dam of Rolla 2:24, and several other brood mares to be stinted to Director.

European buyers of fast horses are finding out that it pays to have competent trainers and drivers, as well as blooded stock. It is necessary to have a handler who knows not only how to drive horses but also to balance, feed and do them up after their races. Barney Stanford, who is now on the Atlantic with Gypsy Queen and Lottie W, two of last season's prominent performers, is likely to impress the lesson even more thoroughly.

Theodore Winters has not entered his famous colts, El Rio Rey and Rey del Rey, in any of the stakes to be run in the East this spring, though he has entered them largely for the Fall meetings. The stable will begin racing in the West at Nashville and Memphis, where stake races are of no more value that the purse races of the East. The policy of Mr. Winters in starting his youngsters in the West under the circumstances is one of the mysteries of the turf.

Glanders is an infectious, incurable disease, which the horse may even communicate to man and other animals. In England, it is less common than it was once, probably owning to the better application of the laws that forbid the sale of a glandered horse, and make his owner liable for damages caused by his existence. In this country there is no law in this direction, any man being allowed to harbor a glandered horse.

Professor Brewer of New Haven, in a recent lecture on the horse, denies that the English thoroughbred is an Oriental horse. Since 1790, the beginning of pedigrees and pure breeding, it is the horses of known pedigree that have raked in the most money. Old King Hamet begot 494 winners and won over £200,000 for his owners. One-forty seems to be about the time limit, and the most we can do now is to increase the number and improve the general all-round horse.

George Walbaum, the well known bookmaker, who has been getting together a fine stable of race horses, has secured the services of Martin Bergen as his chief jockey for this year. It is said that Bergen will receive a retainer of $5,000 besides pay for his mounts. James McLaughlin, the erstwhile famous jockey, has assumed his duties as trainer at Pierre Lorillard's Jobstown farm. He has a string of thirty-eight two-year-olds to begin work with, many of them being well bred. Most of them have been tried with George Taylor and "Spider" Anderson in the saddles.

A good deal of correspondence is going on just now in some of our British sporting contemporaries anent the cause, apparent or imaginary, of the unpopularity of steeplechasing, and the falling off in the class of horses entered. All sorts of suggestions have been made, and there is no doubt that this branch of sport requires a thorough remodelling. Apropos of the discussion, it turns out that of the thirty-nine members of the G. N. H, only five own cross-country horses, and of these five gentlemen, only one owns horses of any importance.

The annual meeting of the Sonoma County Agricultural Park Association was held last week The indebtedness of the Association was announced as $900; the property is valued at $25,000. The following directors were elected: Guy E Grosse, B. M. Spencer, J. H Laughlin, I. de Turk, Julius Orr, S. I. Allen and C. A. Wright. The following officers were elected: President, Guy E Grosse; Vice-President, J. H. Laughlin; Treasurer, W. L. Burris; Secretary, B. M. Spencer. The Directors were not in favor of holding races this season unless the citizens show more appreciation and a livelier interest in them than they have heretofore.

The trainers and jockeys employed in the various racing stables have organized a society for mutual benefit. The object of the association is to raise a fund for the care of jockeys or trainers who may be injured in the discharge of their business, so that appeals for charity will not have to be made to race-goers. The officers of the association are James McLaughlin, President; William Lakeland, Vice President; W. P. Ward, Treasurer; A. H. Langley, Secretary; and John H. Smith, Recording Secretary. In order to make a good starting fund, the association will give a ball at Tammany Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 7, tickets for which are now being sold in goodly numbers at $1 each. The society is one with an excellent purpose and deserving of the encouragement of all racing people.

It is probable that H. R. H. the Prince of Wales will next season race on a far larger scale than he has hitherto done, and his interests will in all probability be closely connected with those of his friend Baron de Hirsch. As a matter of fact, the Prince of Wales and Baron de Hirsch are on terms of great intimacy, and whether the Duke of Westminster's horses are removed to Newmarket or not, it may be safely wagered that the Prince and the Baron will henceforth race on a more extensive scale. In the place of two or three horses each has hitherto had under the care of John Porter, some ten or a dozen will represent each owner next season. Early in January the Prince visits Baron de Hirsch at Merton Hall, Thetford, which the Baron has taken on a short lease from Lord Walsingham.

The claim made by the admirers of the Pacific Slope for perfect development of horses has says the Sporting World, received another indorsement from the lips of Robert Bonner, who recently paid his first visit there. Speaking of the development of horses in California he says: "The youngsters can grow there from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 and there is no drawback on account of the weather. Up at my farm for several months in each year the cold weather retards the growth of young stock very materially, no matter how liberal the feed may be or how much care is bestowed. In California on the contrary, the weather favors the growth of stock continually, and a yearling there is like ours here at two years old."

Most Pacific Coast athletes and sporting men know McComb, Skinner and Kittleman. Archie Mccomb is stated to have cleared about seven thousand dollars on the job race said to have been run by M. Kittleman and Ed. Skinner at Wichita, Kansas, recently. It appears that "Kit" agreed to lose, and thereupon a sporting man named Stirling, who thought he had both ends and the middle safe, wagered about ten thousand on the certainty. But the ways of the sprinter are not always straight, and as Kittleman ran the race out on Skinner, Stirling was done out of his good money, which was probably whacked up by the principals. Billy Trenans is said to have lost about $5,000 and John McFarlane $4,000, but as both were willing to profit by what they thought was a squared race, the public of that section do not feel much sympathy for them.

The argument against long distance racing is put in a nutshell by a well-known turfman: "In order that the betting privileges of our race tracks may be made salable, they must be made valuable; in order to make them valuable, we must bring large fields to the post. Large fields make heavy betting, and consequently big profits for the bookmakers. In races under a mile we have no trouble in getting from 12 to 20 starters. As the distances increase, the fields decrease, the betting falls off, business is dull in the ring, and the bookmakers growl, turn their slates and threaten to retire. With big fields a stand is worth $100 a day; with small fields in which there is usually a top-heavy favorite, it is not worth half as much. There's the rub. The clubs must encourage big fields, in order to keep the bookmakers."

"Bras de Fer," in the London World, says: "I do not share in Lord Durham's fears that the large gate-money meetings may one day shake off the authority of the Club and become a law unto themselves; for I believe that that authority is too firmly established to be shaken, unless by some ill-judged action or abandonment of duty on the part of the Club not likely to occur. His plea for their meetings being held in public, so far as the admission of representatives of the Press to them, will probably meet with general approval outside the Club. I have grave doubts, however, about the inside. His little remark about the fear lest the Jockey Club should become a 'mutual admiration society' was distinctly good, and I can only hope that what he and Lord Downe said as to the atmosphere of the Turf having never been purer or healthier than now is true."

James B. McMasters, Secretary of the Deer Lodge Fair and Racing Association, Deer Lodge, Montana, writes: The Deer Lodge Fair and Racing Association is now upon a firm footing. All necessary additions to the present buildings will be made The track, which is a full mile, will be put in excellent condition, and it is the intention of the management to spare no expense to make the meeting of 1890 the most successful one ever held in the county.

Directors: John F. Strauhal, W. N. Aylesworth, N. J. Bielenberg; John Bielenberg, President. Joseph Lodge, Vice-President; C. D. Joslyn, Treasurer; James B. McMasters, Secretary.

The Directors meet and set the dates for meeting of 1890 as follows: July 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 19. Messrs. Bielenberg and Lodge were appointed a committee to get up the speed programme. It is expected that the purses will be worth $6,000 all together.

News from the various racing associations having stakes closing on January 1, indicates a falling off in the number of entries received, except for those of the Brooklyn Jockey club, which just about holds its own, although for each club there is still time for more nominations at different points to be heard from. Quite a well grounded opinion appears to exist among secretaries and others who have to do with the management of the larger racing meetings in this part of the country, that a falling off in entries for the fixed events is only a natural result of the times. Not so much because of their multiplied number although that might reasonably be supposed to have some influence, as because of the greatly increased value of the purses As the secretary of one of the most prominent jockey clubs said: "Why should owners enter in advance for these stakes when they can run for purses of $1,000, the entrance money added to which makes them worth nearly that amount to the winner alone, while second receives $200, and the third $100 in many instances?"

Garrison's legal troubles with the McMahon family caused him to postpone his departure for England. It is generally understood that Garrison is short of money, a condition of affairs due no doubt to plunging on the races at Clifton and Guttenburg. In the summer the "Snapper" landed on many good things, and prospered amazingly. A friend inquired one day why he did not ride oftener, and the reply was: "Oh, I don't need to ride; I can beat 'em on the outside." This beating 'em on the outside has at last beat him. Jockeys who play the races pick about as many losers as the average bettor. No jockey should bet except on his own mounts. Garrison's admirers supposed he was making at least $20,000 a year, and the statement that on a recent occasion he was obliged to borrow pocket money to attend the races caused great surprise. The only jockey in America who has held fast to any considerable part of his earnings is the colored rider Isaac Murphy, who is said to own property valued at over $100,000. W. Donohue, not the least thrifty person in the world, could draw a check for $10,000 without wiping out his bank account. McLaughlin was rich once, but if report be true, is now, comparatively speaking, a poor man. Hamilton made a great deal of money last year, but squandered most of it. Hayward has a comfortable home near Eatontown, N. J., and lives well, but is not excessively rich. As a rule, jockeys earn their money so easily that they do not know its value.

The Hon. James White, who is striving to win the English Derby, is deserving of great commendation for his enterprise. A few lines about his turf career may not be out of place: Mr. White, as a young man, although fond of a bit of sport, did not take any active part in the racing of his native colony, New South Wales, and it was not until about twelve or thirteen years ago that he commenced racing in a small way with a steeplechaser named Hotspur, who more than once carried the blue and white to victory. With Goulburn, too, he was successful in steeplechases; and on the flat he gained triumphs with Democrat and The Pontiff; but it was with Chester that his name became well known in connection with racing in Victoria. The success of the great son of Yatterdon in the V. R. C. Derby and Cup whetted Mr. White's appetite, and he longed for further triumphs. He then determined to establish a stud for himself, and selected a most suitable spot near Kirkham, close to the town of Camden, where in the old days the famous Macarthur flocks and herds occupied the pastures in the vicinity. When Chester retired from the turf he was selected as the lord of the harem, and Mr. White, having made a trip to England, selected there a few mares for his stud. In choosing the mares that were to form the nucleus of the Kirkham stud, Mr White displayed splendid judgment. He stuck to the good old plan of making his selections from families that had proved successful in the home of the thoroughbred, and the successes which have attended the descendants of these mares are sufficient corroboration of the wisdom of the colonial sportsman's action. In other ways Mr. White displayed admirable judgment. His purchase of Martini-Henry, Trident, Matchlock, Nordenfeldt, etc., showed that he had an eye for a good yearling, and his double triumph with the first named in Derby and Cup resulted in the addition to his exchequer of something over £25 000, while the victories of Trident, Matchlock and Nordenfeldt also brought plenty of grist to the mill. His successes on the turf have been too numerous to recapitulate: suffice it to say that nearly every important race in Australia has been won at some time or other by horses carrying his colors The Australasian, from which the above is taken, adds, "His determination to beard the British lion in his den has aroused the enthusiasm of his countrymen, who admire his pluck in sending horses to England to prove that we can breed them as well here as they can in the old country. All going well, Mr. White will, after next year, have them trained and ridden by Australians, and he has, I believe, made arrangements for Tom Peyton to go to England to prepare the colts for their Derby of 1891. Every Australian will, I am sure join with me in wishing him success in his patriotic venture."

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARPHIPPUS,

SUMMARY.

Unfortunately for the out-door athletes, the storm has commenced again, and as we go to press the indications for a prolonged spell are very pronounced. One hope, however, lurks in the breast of the athlete, and that is that when the weather really settles a very dry and pleasant season may be anticipated. The continued rain will sadly interfere with the arrangements of the Olympic and Alpine Clubs for their coming out-door meetings.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

Owing to the inclement state of the weather it has been an utter impossibility for the runners and walkers to take out door exercise. Two very important field meetings will take place within five weeks, and the amateurs will be compelled to enter the games in an untrained condition unless the weather modifies within the next few days.

Captain Jordan of the Olympic Club, is apparently satisfied that Buchanan, the latest addition to the club's roll of champions, will easily defeat McKinnon of the Alpine Club in the championship games on May 30th.

S. V. Cassidy is determined to duplicate his victory of last year by winning the two hundred and twenty yards run on May 30th. With proper training, there is no reason why this popular young sprinter should not be successful in his undertaking.

Owing to press of business, Walter A. Scott will be unable to train during the coming season. He holds the one mile running record, and the athlete who beats Scott's time will certainly prove himself to be a good man.

Carpenter, who took second place in the high jump at the championship meeting two years ago, has retired from the athletic world. He has a record of 5 feet 8 inches.

Foster, the hurdle racer, has resigned from the California Athletic Club and applied for admission to the Olympic Club. He should take second place on May 30th.

F. L. Holland, also of the California Athletic Club, will resign in the near future and lend his valuable aid to the Alpines.

The California Club is now without an out-door amateur, and the probabilities are that the annex will disband. In selecting Philo Jacoby as President, the amateurs of the club made a grave error. As a marksman Mr. Jacoby is certainly a success, but as President of an amateur athletic club he is not. No person can dispute the fact that Philo Jacoby possesses average ability and that he is ambitious, but he has painfully proven to the young athletes whom he governed that his thoughts were in the neighborhood of the targets at Harbor View when they should have been in the California Club, in the midst of its amateur athletes. The athletes looked up to him for aid but he was powerless to help them, as he was satisfied to be ruled himself by the regular directors of the club. This is where the Golden Gate and California Clubs are at fault, in allowing the officers of their professional branches to have full jurisdiction over their amateur annexes.

H. C. Cassidy, of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club, is highly pleased at the introduction of a two-mile handicap run at the Olympic games which will take place Feb. 22nd Those who have seen him run in private say that he is fully able to lower the existing coast record without training an hour.

John D. Garrison, of the Alpine Athletic Club, promises to do well in the next games. In the running broad jump and in the one hundred yards run he will be heard from especially.

Phil Moody and M. C. Giry will train hard for the half mile run, and both men will be well up at the finish.

In the person of James Jarvis, the Olympic Club has a splendid athlete, and on Decoration Day his valuable assistance will be of much account. The position which he holds at present, and which he did not obtain through the influence of his club, renders it impossible for him to train owing to the long hours which he is compelled to work, and if the rich and influential members who pretend to take such an active interest in the athletic welfare of their club, would only exert themselves just a little bit, they might be able to procure a much better and easier position for Mr. Jarvis, who is a perfect stranger in the city, and whose absence at the championship games might mean defeat to the Olympic Club.

E. Sullivan, of the Alpine Club, promises to develop into a first-class hammer thrower.

The Acme Athletic Club, of Oakland, will be represented by two or three good men at the championship games.

The friends of C. B. Hill regret that they will not have a chance to see him compete against Jarvis, as Mr. Hill has fully made up his mind to remain off the cinder track.

The field captain of the Olympic Club through the medium of a local daily paper gave it as his opinion that without the aid of John Purcell and Victor E. Schifferstein, the Olympic Club would have no trouble in winning the championship pennant of 1890. While admitting that Mr. Jordan is a hard worker in the interest of his club, we will say that he might be somewhat less positive about the ability of his team. It is very poor policy on the part of Mr. Jordan to affirm that the club could get along without the aid of Purcell and Schifferstein. Further argument on the subject is unnecessary, as it is generally known that without the assistance of the two athletes in question, the Olympic Club would have been badly defeated last May. Moreover, Mr. Jordan seems to think that only one athletic club should exist, as he evidently ignores the existence of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club Good natured rivalry amongst the athletes is all very well in its way, but when it comes to bad feelings, then the line should be drawn. The Alpine Club was not organized to down the Olympic Club as a club; it was started solely for the purpose of downing prize-fighting institutions, and for upholding amateur athletics. We hope the ill-feeling at present existing will blow over, and that on February 22d all the athletes will join hand in hand, and in a manly and good-natured way strive to defeat each other in the different events.

A local illustrated weekly sporting paper, lately sprung into existence, in its last issue censures the officers and members of the Alpine Athletic Club for not opening their games which are announced to take place on February 16th. A senseless argument is no argument at all, and the editor of the paper referred to used very poor judgment when he wrote the article. How can it be expected that a new club only three or four weeks organized, could offer prizes for an open athletic competition? Irrespective of this, the editor must have been fully aware of the fact that the main object of the club was to offer to its members inducements which no other club on the Pacific Coast ever dared to do. In offering prizes for monthly competition amongst its members, the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club had a two-fold object in view. In the first place, monthly games are likely to keep the members in constant practice, so that in open competition they will be in first class trim. In the next place it will benefit athletes who are too modest to compete against cracks, but who are willing to contest with their fellow members. Having interviewed the officers of the Alpine Club, we are able to state that the club intends to be more liberal than either the University or Olympic Clubs. After the initial games, which will take place on Sunday, February 16th, the Alpine Club will open three or four events each month to members of clubs belonging to the P. C. A. A. A.

The old-time athletes will regret to learn that the "dear old" Bay District track is about to be cut up into building lots. The memory of many pleasant evenings spent on the good old track will never die out, and in years to come the boys will smoke their pipes and talk of the good old times when they trained at the Bay District track.

AT THE OARS.

The Alpine Amateur Athletic club was admitted into the Pacific Rowing Association at the last meeting of that body. A grand jollification will be held at the club grounds at Harbor View about the end of April.

Owing to the wet weather the boats at the different club houses remained dry on Sunday last. The crews remained in-doors and discussed future events.

The Lurline club elected several new members at its last meeting.

The Pacific Rowing Association held its annual meeting in Irish-American Hall last Wednesday evening. Representatives of the Ariel, Alpine, Dolphin, Lurline and Pioneer Clubs were present. As officers for the year Leo Heringi was elected President; W. H. Growney, first Vice-President; P. J. Burnam, second Vice-President; H. O. Farrell, Secretary; and G. W. Van Guelph, Treasurer. The committee on regatta was named as follows: Ariel Club, E. Flanders; Alpine, L. P. Bean; Dolphin, A. P. Rathkoff; Lurline, M. Hanley; Pioneer, W. C. Espy; South End, John Trainor. An Executive Committee was appointed, consisting of W. H. Growney, Ariel Club; Tony Russell, Dolphin; Fred Tauffenbach, Lurline; John Doherty, South End; H. Tank, Alpine; P. H. McDonnell, Pioneer. Some alterations were made in the constitution and by-laws and the association adjourned.

THE WHEELMEN.

Like the runners and walkers, the wheelmen are disgusted at the weather. Should the rain continue much longer several new "horse trainers" will have to be ordered as the ones now in use are getting worn out.

The different teams are now ready for the drill. It is expected that the affair will be a grand success

The ladies cycling club will be organized early in the spring.

The medals awarded the winners at the races at the race meet which was held at the Napa on Thanksgiving Day are splendid specimens of the Jewelers art.

A regular meeting of the Bay City Wheelmen will be held on Monday evening next.

UNIVERSITY JOTTINGS.

A horizontal steel bar, 54 feet long, has been erected extending from one end of the room to the other.

There is a large attendance at the gymnasium daily, as the majority of the outdoor men are already reducing their fat, preparatory to regular training for the coming Olympic games.

The students, knowing that the O. A. C. will not have the assistance of Purcell and Schefferstein at the next champion games, are fully bent on the carrying of the flag. Every student who is anything of an athlete will train for the occasion, and it is an assured fact that the college yell will be heard many times during the day.

It is expected that the inter-collegiate record of 22 ft. 6 in. for the running broad jump will be broken during the season

The athletic editor of "The Occident," a paper published weekly for the benefit of the students at Berkeley, thus speaks of the Olympic Club: "According to one of the city papers, the O. A. C. rejoices at the formation of another athletic club, as it promises to give them some opposition in the coming games. It is very well for the O. A. C. to pretend to ignore the existence of the U. C., but they cannot hide this fact, that they morally fear us in the coming championship, and they are ready to move heaven and earth to prevent us from securing the pennant this year. We gave them all the opposition they desired last year, and if our men will only make sufficient effort we will certainly defeat them this time."

The Olympic Club will possibly hold its Washington Birthday games on the campus, as the rain will prevent the club from having its own grounds ready by that date.

An effort will be made to have the fence enclosing the tennis court removed while athletic games are being held.

The cinder track is in a terrible condition.

JOTTINGS FROM ALL OVER.

We clip the following from the New York Sun:—

An idea is prevalent that trained athletes are shortlived. Whether this be true or not, the case of T. P. Conneff, the amateur five-mile champion of America, would, from this point of view, be a subject for interesting investigation to physicians. A Sun reporter called at St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday morning and was admitted to Mr. Conneff's room. He found the patient suffering somewhat from difficulty in breathing. He seemed to be in a sort of lethargic state, and found it troublesome to talk. He was also quite deaf, and the reporter was obliged to talk in a loud voice to make him hear. Upon asking him if there was anything he would like to say about his sickness, he said: "I have nothing to say except that I feel much better, and hope it won't be long before I am out again, but it will probably be a long time before I can run in races. When I was taken sick about the first of this month, I became deaf, and I had it very hard to hear anything. I don't know what the trouble is, but I think it is in the lungs; the doctors won't tell me anything about it. The trouble came on gradually; and I don't know what the cause was." From his appearance Conneff looks as though there was a good chance of his recovery. He did not appear to be wasted, and his face was no thinner than is usually the case with a trained athlete, but his voice was very weak, and not to annoy him further the reporter said good-by and departed. Tommy Conneff is very popular among his club mates and much interest is taken in his condition. He came to this country from Ireland in the spring of 1881 and joined the Manhattan Athletic Club. In 1886 he won the one mile championship of Ireland in 4 minutes 32 3-5 seconds. In 1887 he won the four mile championship of Ireland in 20 minutes 55 4-5 seconds. In 1888, as a member of the M. A. C., he won the same championship in 20 minutes 48 seconds, and in the same year he won the English one mile championship in 4 minutes 31 3-5 seconds, the N. A. A. A. A. championship at the same distance in 4 minutes 32 2-5 seconds, and also the five-mile championship of the N. A. A. A. A. After the amalgamation of the two associations last summer, he won the five mile championship in 26 minutes 42 seconds.

The third annual midwinter indoor games of the Athletic Association of the University of Pennsylvania, to be held at the Philadelphia Academy of Music on February 1st, will include the following events: Forty yards dash, scratch. 440 yards dash, handicap, 20 yards limit. Half mile run, handicap, 40 yards limit. Mile run, handicap, 80 yards limit. Running high jump, handicap, 6 inches limit. 220 yards hurdle race, 8 flights, 2 feet 6 inches, handicap, 15 yards limit. tug-of-war, 625 pound teams. 440 yards dash, scratch, for Interacademic Athletic Association of Philadelphia, and Interscholastic Athletic Association of New York. There will also be several bouts of wrestling. All members of the Amateur Athletic Union will be allowed to compete. E. C. Carter of the New York Athletic Club will act as handicapper, and George Turner of Philadelphia as starter. Entries will close with Thomas G. Hunter, Drexel Building, Fifth and Chestnut streets, on January 23rd.

Albert Beers of Boston, who won the Adams mileage medal, is credited with having ridden 9,000 miles this season up to date. These figures surpass the record of George Nesbitt of the New York Club, who held the record previously with 8,231 miles to his credit for one year's riding.

W. P. Page, the champion high jumper of the world, states that a man can clear two or three inches higher in the open air than he can in the gymnasium. On two different occasions Page cleared 6 feet on boards, and in a day or two after he jumped 6 feet 3 inches at an open air athletic meeting.

OLYMPIC GAMES.

1. 100 yds novice race, O A C members.
2. 100 yds, handicap, run, open.
3. 100 yds, handicap, run, open.
4. 220 yds, handicap, run, open.
5. 440 yds, handicap, run, open.
6. 880 yds, handicap, run, open.
7. 2 miles, handicap, run, open.
8. 1 mile, handicap, walk, open.
9. 120 yards, handicap, hurdle, open.
10. 100 yards, handicap, run for Directors of the O A C.
11. 100 yards handicap, run for Juvenile members of O A C.
12. Tug of war between married and single members, 850 lbs limit.
13. Running high jump, handicap, open.
14. Pole vault, handicap, open.
15. 440 yards run for Hammersmith medal.
16. 100 yards partnership race, open.

The programme is subject to change. Entries will close at the Olympic club rooms on Feb. 12, 1890 at 8 o'clock P. M. sharp.

Only members of clubs belonging to P. C. A. A. A. will be allowed to compete in the games.

Two very important events putting the 16lb. shot and throwing the hammer have been omitted from the programme why we are unable to say. We hope that when the athletic committee meets again they will include the two events mentioned.

BLUB JOTTINGS.

The Alpine Amateur Athletic Club has applied for admission to the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association.

Great preparations are being made for the "Ladies Night" which will take place at the Olympic club rooms towards the end of the present month.

Over two tons of seats were shipped to Harbor View on Tuesday last for the grounds of the Alpine Athletic club. A grand stand suitable for the accommodation of 1500 people will be built at once.

We are in receipt of the following communication:

ARPHIPPUS, BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—

Dear Sir: Through your valuable and influential columns, I would like to state that the Pacific Athletic Club applied to Mr. J. J. Jameson, Secretary of the P. C. A. A. A. to be allowed to see the copy of its Coustitution and By-Laws in his possession, but Mr. Jamison stated that he was unable to find the copy. Now I think it is high time that some action was taken by the different clubs in regard to the management of the P. C. A. A. Of what use is the association if its officers fail to attend to their duties? At present only one or two meetings a year are held, whereas at least one meeting a month should be held. Respectfully yours,

M. C. GIRY.
President P. A. C.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

G. H. L.

What salary does the official handicapper of the American Athletic Union receive, and what is his name?

Does the official handicapper of the Olympic Athletic Club of this city receive any remuneration?

Answer.—Mr. E. C. Carter, the official handicapper of the American Athletic Union, is paid a salary of $1,500 per annum.

2. Mr. George W. Jordan, the official handicapper of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, so we have been informed, receives about $30 a month remuneration.

Wire fences, although not constructed of barbed wire, are the cause of a great deal of complaint among the fox hunters of England. Lord Willoughby de Brake, master of the Warwickshire Hunt, has informed the Southern Farmer's Club that unless the wire fences are taken down in winter the hunting will be stopped Since the present season began his wife has been nearly killed, his first whip injured and two horses severely torn in consequence of this objectionable system. Other masters of the hunt have announced in different countries that there can be no hunting where the wire fences are kept up in winter.

The bay colt Champagne Charlie, foaled 1886, by imported Prince Charlie, dam Triangle, by Gilroy, property of M. Walker, died in Fayette County, Ky., from lockjaw, on the night of December 31st. He was a good two-year-old but failed to sustain his reputation at three.

Grim's Gossip.

There will be racing at the Oakland track to-morrow. I wonder if Stover and his gang have caught another of the sucker brigade.

James D. Snowden died at St. Mary's Hospital, San Francisco, on the 9th of last month. He was known to nearly all the horsemen of the State.

Mr. Baldwin's wonderful little race mare Los Angeles has been entered in all the principal Eastern events, and 1890 will again see her battling with the giants of the turf.

Owing to the excessive weight of snow on the grand stand at Glenbrook Park, Nevada County, that building broke down a few days ago, entailing a serious loss on the association.

In order to increase the entry list in the three-year-old trotting stake offered by W. P. Fine, of Petaluma, Captain Ben E Harris has agreed not to enter his black filly Lorena therein.

The Sire Bros. have been trying to purchase some of the Irvin Ayres stock, but wished to exact a condition that the horses should be landed in New York. Mr. Ayres would not accede to the demand so the sale is off.

Alfred G. will stand during the season of 1890 at the farm of R. B. Metcalf on the Harrodsburg Pike, about one mile from the Lexington Fair Grounds. He will be under the charge of J. W. Knox, and the service fee will be $200.

I see by an exchange that Dr. Aby has been made a director of the Lake County Agricultural Association It is about time that one horseman was a member, for in the past there has been a lamentable amount of ignorance shown up there.

I saw a fine-appearing young colt in Fresno last week called Buccaneer Jr. He is the property of James Waterman, and can show a full mile in 2:25. His pedigree is given as by Buccaneer, dam Mountain Maid by Kentucky Gold Dust.

Mr. Sibley, of Miller & Sibley, Franklin, Ia., is authority for the statement that the $12,500 they gave Hon. Leland Stanford for the yearling colt Electric Bell, was spent by the California millionaire on the homeless children of New York and Boston.

We have to acknowledge the receipt of a very fine lithograph of Nutwood 2:18¾. which has been sent to this office by the Stout Bros of Dubuque, Iowa It is a faithful representation of the old horse and has been given a position of honor in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN picture gallery.

Colonel R. S. Strader, Lexington, Ky., has sold to W. S. Hobart, of this city, at a long price, the four-year-old chestnut filly Nola by Nutwood, 2;18¾, dam Belle Bowman, by Bowman's Clark Chief; second dam Belle Hook, by Almont; third dam by Alexander's Bay Chief; fourth dam by Davy Crockett, pacer.

In the list of horses with trotting records better than 2:20, we find that The Pleasanton Stock Farm Company own five head Director, 2:17; Nellie R. 2:17½; Monroe Chief, 2:18¼; Direct. 2:18½; and Margaret S., 2:19½, which is more than is owned by anyone man or company in the United States. They also own the pacers Gold Leaf 2:11¼, and Corette 2:19.

Mr. Peter Wood, the well know driver and trainer from Chicago is now in this city, and is open for engagements to train, and drive. He is well recommended by well known horsemen in the East and can be heard of by calling at the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN office. Having had about twenty years experience, he would be invaluable on this coast.

I am well pleased to hear that Contention, J. H. White's Director colt, stands a very fair show of going inside the "twenty" list next season. He was taken some time ago to Pleasanton, and Andy McDowell has been giving him a sort of special preparation, and the effect of education is beginning to show. He can rattle off quarters very fast, and is taking kindly to his work.

As almost everyone knows Billy Donothan has taken charge of the thoroughbreds at Senator Hearst's ranch and will prepare a number of them for a Western campaign. If the Blood Horse meeting is not delayed too late, Billy will in all likelihood bring a number of racers to the Bay District track, and there pick out the best of the lot and take them back to St. Louis, Louisville, Memphis, Nashville etc.

Lillian Wilkes 2:17¾ was a great favorite, for the short time she was on the circuit last year, and there can be no reasonable doubt but that she would have reduced her mark considerably if accident had not overtaken her. Mr. Corbitt informs me that the great young filly is once more all right, and that she will be seen again this year ready to give anything on the circuit a fight for first honors.

Scott Quinton has returned to Trenton, N. J., from Montana, where he handled Mark Daly's trotters the past season. M. Daly's health continues bad, and it has been decided not to start any of his horses in 1890. Mascot will be bred to a few mares, one of which will probably be Favonia, and Lord Byron, who took a four-year-old record of 2:18, will also be given a chance in the stud. Yolo Maid, the great pacer, will enjoy a run at grass.

The great California filly Margaret S will again be seen on the Eastern circuit next year. She is entered in the Great Expectation Stake at Chicago, and also in the Four-year-old Stake at Independence. Iowa, which Axtell Williams has instituted. In both of these races she will have to meet Allerton, 2:18½ and then there will be a race, California against Iowa, 2:19½ against 2:18½. May the best and fastest win.

There seems to be a dangerous disease among the horses in some portions of Indian Valley. It is reported that about two weeks ago Mr Droge lost a couple of animals. Mr. Cadie has lost two and has more sick. Word comes from Taylorsville, also, that Mr. Hardgrave has lost his fine Norman stallion, "Dodu." This loss is quite serious, perhaps $1,000. The disease appears to be some kind of a distemper which has a marked effect on the nervous system.

Harrison Jones and Charles Kerr on Monday made up a stallion race to be run for $500 a side on January 27th, either at the Stockdale ranch or on the old race track between the two towns, says the Kern County Californian. There is to be a half mile and a mile dash with not more than 30 minutes wait between each. Harrison Jones names Kit Carson and Charles Kerr names Apache. Forfeit money was placed in bank upon the day the race was agreed upon.

Not one of the pacing contingent has been in to see whether the $500 left by L. A. Davis as a deposit for a match is in Gold, Silver or paper. They evidently do not want to win $2,500 or they have come to the conclusion that Roy Wilkes is too hard a game for them to beat.

The sudden death of Bell Boy has caused his owners, Messrs Clark and Hopper, to look carefully over the young horses of the country, to see if one could be secured to fill the place of Bell Boy, and their choice fell on the grand youngster at the San Mateo Stock Farm, Regal Wilkes, two-year-old record 2:20¾ A telegram was sent to Mr. Corbitt asking him to place a price on his pet, but Regal is not for sale. A price will not be put on the colt, and California will retain the services of the greatest two-year-old stallion that ever lived.

A proclamation has been issued by the Southern Pacific R. R. and no doubt many will avail themselves of the chance offered. A special fast train will leave San Francisco February 12th at 5 P. M. for New Orleans, so that those who wish to can take part in the Mardi Gras festival. The special train will be only three days and eighteen hours on the road, and will be composed of Pullman sleepers and dining car. Tickets and sleeping car berth reservations can be secured in advance. Winter racing will be at its height, so that horsemen who go can have a good time.

D Scott Quintin says of the stallion Palo Alto: "This horse has been complaining in one of his forward feet all summer. Whenever he struck an uneven place in the track, the pain was so great that the stallion was compelled to break, and yet he would catch quickly and go right on." Mr. Quinlan adds: "This furnished me the highest evidence of the intensity of the trotting disposition of Palo Alto. A horse that will not leave the trot, except to avoid the sharpest pain, is gaited right for harness battles. If Palo Alto's trouble is relieved, he will find it an easy task to beat 2:12."

Messrs. W. H. Bradford, M. E. Burgess and F. H. Burgess of Bennington, Vt., passed the most of New Year's Day at Allen Farm, and spoke in high praise of the excellence of the horses they had seen. Mr. Bradford is one of Bennington's wealthy manufacturers. He took a strong fancy to the yearling brown colt, Gotha. Gotha is by Mambrino Wilkes, dam by Guy Wilkes, a royally bred fellow, and a born trotter. Mr. Bradford made what he considered a good offer, but while the offer was appreciated. it fell short of the price, and no sale was made.—Berkshire Eagle.

A mutual understanding between man and horse is necessary in order to insure the largest per cent. of profit to the stallioner, says a leading writer. If friendly word and kindly act are sent as messengers, the equine nature moves in quick response; if angry tone and brutal blow be offered, they are treasured up in sullen, vengeful mind, and at the moment least expected are tendered back in most disastrous manner. The prudent stallioner is friendly with his horse. His nature is made the subject of careful study; his peculiarities of temper are learned; his faults are skillfully corrected, and his vices, if any unfortunately there be, are mitigated.

The following are the names of the gentlemen and farms that have booked mares to Axtell at $1 000 each: Woodburn Farm, Spring Station, Ky.; R S. Veech, Indian Hill Farm, St. Matthews, Ky.; A. H. Moor, Cloverdale Farm, Colmar, Pa.; John Dupee, Chicago, Ill ; C B Weiser Chicago, Ill.; John S. Clark. New Brunswick, N. J.; W. E Speir, Glens Falls, N. Y.; Ed. Pyle, Humbolt, Neb.; S A. Browne & Co., Kalamazoo Farm, Kalamazoo, Mich.; McFerran & Clancy, Louisville, Ky.· C. B. Gillman, Waterville, Me.; W. H. Hill, Worcester, Mass.; W. R. McKeen, Edgewood Stock Farm, Terre Haute, Ind.; B. G Cox, Mar Park, Terre Haute. Ind ; D. J Campau, Detroit, Mich.: and A. B. Darling, Darlington Farm, Ramseys, N. Y.

Red-clover hay is nutritive and puts on flesh, but it is bad for wind and condition; and mixed hay is better without sweet scented vernal, which gives that delicious smell we often find in hay, but has little nutriment. If meadowed pasture cannot be procured, then the most available of the above grasses reared from seed should be used. This is a matter where the judgment must be guided by local experience, which, after all, is the only sure test. Pasture hay should be moderately fine, somewhat hard and a year old, unheated and with a green tinge. All hay should be cut early in the season, before the seed has matured. It then contains more nourishment. Needless to say, it should be well saved. A sweet smell is no object. That comes from sweet smelling grasses as vernal, and horses will often reject such hay for that which is almost scentless.

A decidedly novel innovation in pool selling has been started in St. Louis, pools being sold on the site of the World's Fair. Donovan's pool room has the credit of making this innovation. The betting is quite lively, indicating that the idea has struck the chord of popular approval, although the amounts are small, the majority of bets averaging from $10 to $50.

New York City is the site as a strong favorite, 5 to 4 on, being the ruling odds. Chicago ranks next, at even money, while 8 to 1 is offered against St. Louis, and 40 to 1 Washington. At the opening 50 to 1 was laid against Washington as the site, but a few bets caused a reduction of that price.

Mr. Ariel Lathrop informs me that Palo Alto, 2:12½, will be bred to about ten or a dozen mares this spring, most of which will be thoroughbreds. Positively no outside mares will be taken for him, he being reserved for the farm brood mares. It only seems like yesterday that Seneca Daniels started in to breed trotters from thoroughbreds, and yet that must be a quarter of a century ago. How time does fly! The Sonoma County breeder did not make a magnificent success of his attempts, but Governor Stanford has secured two first-class performers, and now the world looks to Palo Alto for a further development of the thoroughbred theory in trotters.

Some of the Eastern sporting papers have given a record to Una Wilkes of 2:30, but the following note from her owner shows that she is not entitled to one:—

"Some over zealous friend of Guy Wilkes, in a letter to Mr. Balch of Boston, and not intended for publication, gave Una Wilkes, a three year old filly by Guy Wilkes, credit for having made a record of 2:30. Such was not the case. She was entered and started in but one race, and that with aged horses at San Jose. There were six heats in the race, and some of the horses showed their ability to trot close to 2:20, and have since made a record of 2:22¾ Una took fourth money, but got no record, but, barring accidents, she will be well inside the 2:30 list next fall, but I want no credit that I am not justly entitled to for any of my stock.

WM. CORBITT.

Henry A. Couse, who has spent the past year in Southern California, speaks very highly of the horses in that locality, says the Kansas City Referee. As Hank is something of a horseman, it is safe to say that his ideas may prove to be somewhat of a "tip." Some of the boys will remember his predictions on C. A Todd two years ago. Hank says that should Mikado, Odette or the Tycoon colt come this way it would be well for the boys to keep an eye on them. They were the property of Ben Hill of San Diego, who lately sold them to Mr. Rose, and are capable of holding their own with the best of them. Mr. Hill has a number of highly bred yearlings, and as he is generally ready to sell, parties visiting that section of the country will do well to give him a call if they are looking for good ones. San Diego can boast of several good trotters and as good a mile track as can be found in the State. Doc. Burke generally has a string of ten or a dozen trotters, among them the famous Atto Rex. Bell Boy wintered there last year. Joseph Brophey of San Diego, who, by the way, is a jolly good fellow, can give the Eastern tenderfoot visiting that section of the country all the pointers necessary.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horseand to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standard horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

EIGHTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of mare whose dam is a standard mare.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whos sire or dam is a standard animal.

THE GUN.

At Colton.

Mr. A. W. Bruner, champion wing shot of California, kindly sends us the scores of the match for the Selby Medal for Southern California, shot at Colton on January 4th. The beastly weather and washouts on the railroad prevented a large attendance. The match was at 50 single "Blue Rock" targets and twenty-five pairs, and the scores of the match for the medal were:

Doctor Aby Shoots.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I send you by express this A. M. three brace of snipe, a part of my last evening's bag.

The weather has been so beastly bad since my return from the city it has been impossible to get out of doors

About four o'clock last evening Old Sol poked out from behind a cloud. The sight was so unusual that Red, my Irish setter, got up from the hearth rug and made a rush at the door, with a bark of evident delight.

As I opened the door he made a rush towards the meadows, which are only a short walk from the house, stopped and looked back, as if he expected me to follow.

The invitation was too strong to be refused, as all my inclinations were meadowards bent. I got into my high-water boots and chose the Colt hammerless as my companion, and with twenty-five shells I started.

I had not gone 500 yards before yak, whirr! up went a beauty, and away went Red on a hot chase.

A "Come in, you red devil" brought him back a d, with an admonition to take care, enforced with my pocket whip, brought him to his work.

A few yards further, and I knew work was in store for me. One moment I waited to see the impressive dog stand, and as the speckled beauties rose with their peculiar twist, bang! bang! in quick succession went my gun.

Only one; it should have been two. Before my next shells were in place up went three more.

Again did one only bite the mud as the dog was coming in with the dead bird. He flushed four, and then my very soul was on fire with enthusiasm, one to the right and one on the left.

I hugged myself in my delight [an armful.—ED]. Out of twelve shots I got seven birds and had not moved ten steps. A little farther on I walked into a regular covey of snipe. Up they went in all directions. Then I did get wild. Thrice did I empty my gun and not a feather. For once I was rattled. After talking to the dog in the most forcible Spanish that I am master of, I wiped out my gun, took a drink of water to cool my nerves, etc.

I had only seven more shells and only seven birds. The sun hid himself again, and the birds were slow. I had marked down some singles, and as I walked them up I simply waited for my shot and put in five straights to my credit and bag.

While hunting in my jacket pockets for tobacco, I dug up six No. 7 shells (had been shooting 8's). Eight more shots.

As the dog was hunting for a dead bird, I happened to look up, and as straight and swift as an arrow a cock bird was crossing over me about 60 feet high. Up went my piece of destruction, and as the charge of No. 7's went to meet the king of game birds there was a collision, and down came the king at my feet.

Mingled with my yell of "Good boy, Doc," was a thought "a small bottle on me if my editor could have seen that shot!"

With three more easy kills and one miss, and with 15 birds for 30 shells, I came on back to the genial hot fire, in the old open fire place. With slippers, cap and pipe, I leaned back in my comfortable chair and pitied you fellows fastened up in town. My last thought was, "Won't I make those snipe howl to-morrow evening!"

To-morrow evening came, and with it the same desire for murder of the snipe. I was some little time finding the birds, as it was a bright sunshiny afternoon and they were in the heavy grass. When I did find them, they went up all at once. I went around banging away, with as little damage to the birds as the rankest of Salvation Army fiends could wish; 12, then two more shots, and not a bird. It was then that plain every-day English could only inadequately express my feelings. They were simply flying in every direction, and in the most provokingly slow and easy way, as when they are going to feed.

After a five minutes rest, and with a clean gun, I re-opened the charge. Ah! Richard is himself again; first a single and then a double. Seven straights, and all on the ground. As the dog was bringing them in, two cowards were run up out of the grass, and immediately bit it again. I began to be encouraged. I got a couple of flyers that it took the second barrel to stop.

Twenty-eight shots and only 13 birds! Would I ever get half? It was getting cold and late. I started homewards and picked up a nice easy pair across the brook.

I did get half, and with them was coming home, well content, with my average when just as I was feeling my best, up went a sky scraper. Bang, bang, and not a feather.

I didn't have courage enough left to swear at the dog, simply told him to go to the devil, as he went scampering away after a very lively bird.

Fifteen out of thirty-two.

Well, if I don't improve, I can't prevent you and Chief Callundan wiping my eye, when you come up next month.

I am tired with my tramps, and it is bedtime, so good-night, with good luck to the boys. ABY.

MIDDLETOWN, LAKE CO., Jan. 10th, 90.

[Doctor Aby's average on snipe and every thing else is high, even at story telling. Now that he has established himself in print as a charming raconteur, we shall rely upon him for notes at short intervals.—ED.]

Canonical Sportsmen.

California, just past its formative period, can recall the services rendered to the State by the grand men in sacred functions, who, nevertheless, did not fail to meet popular errors and who preserved the faith in times that were next to anarchistic. Name after name comes to mind as we write. Men first, then clergymen, those heroes of the fifties, many of them were sportsmen of the keenest type, fishermen, shots and lovers of Nature.

The recent arrest and fine of Rev. Dr. Rainsford, of New York, for killing game illegally prompted a reporter to interview some of the prominent parsons of that town, about their notions with respect to field sports, and these are the results:

The magazine articles of the Rev. Dr. Henry van Dyke, pastor of the Brick Church in Fifth Avenue, have made the public familiar with that gentleman's passion for fishing. Izaak Walton was not a more ardent angler than this enthusiastic disciple, who has wet his line in a thousand lakes and streams. Dr. van Dyke has an unusually large head and a very small foot, and his body strikes a happy average between the two extremities. The writer has noticed that men with big heads, men who think a great deal, whose brains are more active than their bodies, make the most successful fishermen. Walton was such a man. Daniel Webster another. Dr. van Dyke has an enormous back head, an abundance of brown hair, a full beard of the same color, blue eyes, a prominent nose, and the ruddy complexion of a man much in the sun. In every capacity but that of fisherman, he seems nervous and high strung. When the writer spoke to him on the subject of recreation, he answered bluntly; "The way in which I amuse myself is nobody's business but my own. The world has no more business to concern itself with the recreations of clergymen than with the recreations of any other class of men. Every clergyman has the right to say, in the words of the poet:

"I dare do all that may become a man."

He does not fish or shoot in his clerical capacity, but as a human being. Some of the best ministers that the world has ever known have been enthusiastic lovers of out door sports, and since the day when Peter cast a hook in the sea and took out a fish, angling has been a familiar apostolic occupation. I have no particular concern to defend shooting as a sport, but I have fished for trout and salmon and grayling in many parts of the world, and my conscience does not give me a single qualm upon the subject. I am only sorry for the fish that I didn't catch, and grateful for the happy days that God has permitted me to spend in fishing in his beautiful lakes and rivers. If any one doesn't like my angling, I advise him to consider the example of the man in New Jersey, who made a large fortune by minding his own business. But, of course, a minister has no more right to break the game laws than any other man, and, if he does, the law must first prove it and then punish him."

Reverend George H. McGrew, of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, was next interviewed, and said:—

"I am passionately fond of fishing and hunting, and would as soon shoot quail over a good dog as wade in water up to my thighs casting for trout. I can see no harm in either. Though partial to quail shooting, I do not object to hunting bigger game. When in India I used to go tiger hunting, and found it royal sport."

The next call was upon Rev. Wm. M. Taylor, of the Broadway Tabernacle.

"The re reations of a clergyman," he said, "depend largely on the time at his disposal. If he can find the time to fish, let him fish; if he can find the time to hunt, let him hunt. Any sport that is good for a member of my congregation is good for me. I cannot see the necessity for any distinctions. Let a man be controlled by his conscience. I don't try to control other men's consciences, because I have as much as I can do to control my own."

"Do you fish?"

"Not now; but I used to be very fond of it. My last fishing was done in Moosehead Lake several years ago."

"Do you shoot?"

"No. I fear if I should go shooting I should break my neck."

Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst of the Madison Square Presbyterian church was the next to speak.

Dr. Parkhurst takes the broad ground that what is proper for the layman is proper for the clergyman, and what is improper for the clergyman is improper for the layman. Said he:—

"I think there is a little meanness on the part of the laymen, who seem to believe that because they are laymen they can do things that a clergyman ought not to do. A woman of my congregation said to me the other day, after describing the performance at a theater she had visited the night before: 'Oh, I wish you could have seen it, but then I should have been sorry to see you there.'"

"Do you shoot or fish, doctor?"

"I do not. They are sports that never appealed to me, but I see no harm in them. If a clergyman wants to do either the one of the other, or both, I say let him. It's nobody's business but his."

A Baptist clergyman who goes a-fishing whenever he gets a chance, but wouldn't shoot a quail for all the world, may be regarded as a novelty. Such a man is the Rev. W. H. P. Faunce, the new pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church. Mr. Faunce is a young man of nervous-sanguine temperament—sandy hair, sandy mustache, sandy complexion. He is exceedingly affable, and "makes friends" with a man in short order. When the writer asked him to explain how he could have scruples against shooting and none against fishing, he said:

"In shooting birds or larger game we often take the life of creatures whose organization is as high as our own, or even higher, whereas in fishing we only destroy a much lower order of creation. I have no objection to killing an insect, and see no harm in taking a fish."

Dr. Robert Collyer was next called upon.

Being invited to enter, the first question, as usual was:—

"Do you shoot?"

The answer was long in coming. It was easy to see that the Doctor, taken somewhat by surprise at the absurdity of the question, had suddenly gone back in the recesses of his memory to something stowed away there more than fifty years ago. The discovery of it caused him to smile away down below the belt. When a man like Dr. Collyer smiles he smiles all over.

"I never shot a gun but once in my life," he said, "and that was by accident. It came near killing another boy. I was fifteen years old at the time."

"Of course you follow the example of St. Peter and Izaak Walton?"

"Fishing is my favorite sport, though I have not practiced it since I was in Colorado."

"You see nothing objectionable, then, in either hunting or fishing?"

"I think it is wrong to hunt as hares are hunted—by coursing. That is a species of cruelty which I cannot approve. As for fishing, where lies the harm? When you throw in your hook and pull out a fine trout, and lay him down on the fresh grass, and he wriggles and wriggles, and jumps about flapping his tail on one side, then rolling over and flapping it on the other, I think he enjoys it twice as much as you do. He seems perfectly happy, doesn't he? He seems to thank you for taking him out of the water and letting him frolic in the grass. Anyway, that is the view I try to take of it"

Accompanying his visitor to the elevator, the Doctor suddenly broke out with:—

"Oh by-the-by that was too bad about poor Rainsford wasn't it. To think that he should have got into such trouble! Poor fellow, I'm sorry it happened."

"But doctor, he broke the game law, and the general impression is that he got off light. Only $25 and costs you know. Dr. Rainsford is very popular in Southampton, and the judge didn't want to fine him at all."

"Yes, yes, they all like sporting parsons, and we fellows do manage to get off very easy, I admit."

"Go talk with Dr. Bridgman; you'll find him a capital fellow," said a well known member of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, over which Dr. Bridgman presides.

He was right. The doctor is a charming man, bubbling over with wisdom, wit and allegory, and therefore good natured, cheerful and full of the milk of human kindness.

"I have hardly time to think of recreation during the work year," he said. "When vacation time arrives in the summer I rush across the water and bury myself in the heart of London where I loaf. Yes, literally loaf. Last summer I went to Holland and still enjoy thinking about those delightful old Dutch pictures that I saw. I hardly think I shall go abroad next year, however. I have an idea I should like to go a-fishing."

"Ah, you fish?"

"It is the only sport for which I have an attachment. I can play fool at one end of a fishing pole for four hours with the expectation of getting a bite at the end of that time."

"And if the bite doesn't come?"

"Why, I'm willing to play the fool four hours longer."

Do you shoot."

"In the matter of shooting I think I may say that I have an unbeaten record. In the course of my life I have shot a gun four times. My trophies were a robin, two deer and a hole through my shoe."

"Then you never missed a shot."

"Never missed a shot. When I was a boy I borrowed a gun from another boy and went hunting. As I had never seen anybody load a gun, it was but natural that I should be extravagant with my shot and prodigal with my powder. The charge that I put in must have filled the barrel about half full. When everything was ready and primed, I espied a robin sitting in a tree and crept stealthily upon him. Being ambitious of success, I continued to creep till the muzzle of my gun was within ten feet of the unfortunate creature, then, taking long and careful aim, I pulled the trigger. The effect was disastrous at both ends. I remember turning two somersaults backward, and getting up with my jaw in my hands, while blood streamed from my mouth. But I went for the bird, and found it, or what was left of it. My aim had been perfect. The entire load had passed through its body, taking everything with it except the two wings and a shred of skin. That was my first shot. My second was very humiliating. We were out deer hunting, and it fell to my lot to stand in a certain spot and do the shooting, while the rest of the fellows did the driving. They got up several fine deer, which galloped by me in easy range, but their movements were so graceful, and I was so delighted with watching them, as to forget entirely my great responsibility. Suddenly, however, the gun went off, I must have pulled the trigger unconsciously, and the load passed through the toe of my shoe. But that wasn't the worst of it. Pretty soon the boys came running up, and the first question they fired at me was: 'Did you hit him, Charley?' My other two shots were made in the Adirondacks, where I was camping with Dr. Loomis, and each brought down a deer."

Rev. Ensign McChesney, pastor of the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, said his favorite pastime was fishing, but he did not shoot. Many other clergymen were interviewed but their opinions are reflected in the responses given and the consensus, was strongly in favor of free practice of field sports.

During the recent floods at Anaheim every hummock was swarming with hares and rabbits that were driven from the plains. They were slaughtered by thousands by boys and men, who used sticks, and when tired of the sport they would run the poor beasts off their dry places into the raging waters.

A prominent citizen of Woodland went out robin shooting the other day and was ordered out of almost every field he got into. He does not want to shoot in a man's field when the owner objects, and finally gave up the sport and returned to town. People who have vineyards, orchards and stock do not care to take the chances of reckless hunters, but seldom fail to accord permission to shoot when properly approached.

Wm. Nattrass killed a large California lion on his ranch, near San Lucas, on Sunday. At a rough estimate the animal was considered to be eight feet from tip to tip. Several more of these destructive animals have their dens in the hills, and make midnight excursions to the ranches in the vicinity. Young calves, sheep and hogs suffer considerably from the attacks of these vicious beasts.

Martin Stryker and a friend known as "Fred" were hunting on Sunday near Henley, Siskiyou County. They took different ridges to cover more ground, and Fred seeing Stryker's head above the opposite ridge, shot thinking it was a head of a deer. The ball entered in front and below the ear and it is feared that the wound is fatal.

The recklessness with which riflemen turn loose at every moving thing is appalling, but will probably continue until the race of fools becomes extinct.

S. L. Abbott, Jr.	76	Case of Fine Wine	F. H. Putzman.

"Please don't shoot the cows" is a sign on the premises of a Pennsylvania farmer, placed there for the benefit of city sportsmen who go out after rabbits. The farmer means well, but he will have his trouble for his pains. Hunters who mistake cows for rabbits couldn't see such a sign.

The rooms of the Students and Sportsmen's Club at Bakersfield have been elegantly furnished by Mr. Truxton Beale, who seems to have done a great deal toward it as a labor of love. He has sent from this city, two oil paintings by M. Valencia, two valuable etchings, one showing the water front of Warwick Castle and the other a view of Windsor, with the castle in bold relief; two very handsome engravings of dogs, and three delightful pictures which seem to be steel engravings imprinted upon satin. Added to this for the adornment of the walls, is a set of furniture both handsome and comfortable. Altogether it makes as fine a club room as can be found outside of any large city and it will become the choice place of resort for the Bohemian contingent. All members of the Knights of the Trigger are ex-officio Students and Sportsmen and all other males who were members of the other clubs have an opportunity to become members by paying the difference between their former initiation fee and $5 the former fee for becoming a Knight. Doubtless a full set of by-laws will soon be adopted, as there is every indication that the new club with its elegant rooms, will become a central resort.

Last week while riding up a creek about eight miles above Caliente, J. E. Miller, of Bakersfield, came upon a golden eagle. The bird had killed a yearling lamb and had so gorged itself that it was not active in rising and Miller lassoed it with a bit of cotton rope. He then watched his chance and caught one wing and then the other and by using a good deal of patient strategy managed to tie its feet without getting clawed, or torn by its vicious bill. Then he had it so secure that he carried it home under his arm, as handily as Brudder Bones would tote a more eatable bird home from a neighbor's hen roost. He made a cage and the noble bird can now be seen at the Caliente depot It is full grown, has tremendous claws and looks at one steadily with clear untameable, unconquerable eyes. It is really a prize, but then, so is a white elephant, and what to do with him is a puzzling question.—C. E. Sherman, in Kern County Californian.

[Keep that bird alive at all hazards until field trial time, and permit us to feed Mr Fred A. Taft to him. Taft agrees with eagles when administered in small doses, plain,—Ed]

BASE BALL.

Make-up of the Clubs for Next Season—Harris Thrown Out.

Henry Harris has been counted out, and the brains of the California League declares that he will not again have anything to do with that organization. The job was consummated at Sacramento last Saturday night, when, after it was decided not to increase the league to six clubs, the Directors voted to retain Stockton, and rejected the application of San Jose. Harris had worked up the people of the Garden city to such a pitch, that he had been guaranteed plenty of capital to carry a club through at least one season, and under his management it would probably have become a paying and permanent member of the league. On the other hand, Stockton never has and never will support a ball club, and it is silver to copper that the Slough city club will not finish the season; or if it does, it will be with a team of fourth class men that will not attract 300 people to a Sunday game. The moneyed men of Stockton have grown tired of putting up their coin to support a ball club, and even if the team plays the string out, it will be the last season for some time that the city of wind-mills will have a professional ball team. Possibly the league Directors know their business, but there are few outsiders who would gamble on it.

We are not to get much of a rest from base ball after all. The players in this city have formed a three team League and will play Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays at Central Park. If the venture is a success, the boys say they will carry out their proposed Brotherhood scheme and establish a permanent League in opposition to the old organization. The players are getting frightened at the large number of Eastern men who are signing with the California League, and have at last awakened to the fact that something must be done immediately to save themselves from being left out in the cold. Among the men who will play at Central Park are Van Haltren, Brown, Nick Smith and nearly all the favorites of last seasons League Clubs.

The make up of the Oakland team for next season so far as can be ascertained will be: Homer and Warner, of New Haven, for one battery; Mehrle, pitcher; Cartwright, of St. Joseph, first base; Jim McDonald, second base; Tom Forster, of the Western Association, short stop; Norris O'Neill, third base; Charles O'Neil, of the Tri-State League, left field; Danny Long, center field. A change catcher and right fielder is yet to be signed.

George Zeigler, of the Sacramento team, has returned from the East and announces the following players as having been secured: Borchers and Zeigler, pitchers; William Bowman, of Wheeling, W Va., catcher; Ed Stapleton, of Detroit, first base; Henry P. Reitz, of Chicago, second base; John Godar, Cincinnati, third base; Jack Daly, Chicago, short stop; Goodenough, center field. An effort has been made to secure Roberts, but the youngster wants a National League salary.

Borchers is at liberty to sign with any club in the country. When he was blacklisted by the California League that body was not a member of the National agreement, consequently the black list does not now hold. As Borchers was only suspended by the Eastern clubs, a suspension only holding for a single season, the glass-eating track walker has a perfect right to sign a Sacramento contract.

Bill Smalley and Charlie Dooley have both signed with the Cleveland League team. The latter and his wife have left for New York.

Stallings has gone to Jacksonville, Fla. He was anxious to have Coughlan accompany him, but Roscoe preferred to remain in this city until he has to report for duty with the Chicago League team.

Harris will transfer the men signed for his San Jose Club to Manager Finn. The San Francisco Club will probably include Meegan and Incell, pitchers; Power, first base; Howard, second base; Stickney, third base; Shea, short stop; Levy, left field; Hanley, right field, with two catchers to alternate in right field.

So far the Stockton management has made no move towards securing any men for the coming season, which opens March 23rd and closes November 23rd.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

Name Claimed.

Mr. J. M. Bassford, Jr., claims the name Nick White for a white and lemon pointer dog by Scout Croxteth—Blossom.

A Notable Death.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—The Bay View Kennel mourns the death of Lady Elaine by Romeo out of Rural Nellie, whelped Oct. 2, 1889, one of the most promising pups I ever bred. She had the speed of her dam and the nose and sense of her sire. I had begun shooting over her and her little sister Lynnette owned by Dr. Foulkes, of San Francisco, and it was a pretty sight to see the pair point and back like old dogs and retrieve without ruffling a feather. Only two days before we found her dead in the kennel, I noticed her pick up a small piece of coal and before I could get to her she swallowed it which I feel sure caused her death. She was growing to be a very handsome bitch with black ears, fine tan markings over eyes and under jaws, with body handsomely blue ticked. So one more noble Llewellin has passed to the happy hunting grounds. C. A. Loud.

Pacific Beach, Jan. 12, 1890.

George T. Allender is located on the Wible Rancho, about thirteen miles from Bakersfield with his string of dogs for the field trials.

Judge C. N. Post went down to Bakersfield last week to overlook the final preparation of his dogs for the field trials. He undoubtedly has some good ones, and his dogs are always sent to win if it lies within their hides.

Mr. Joe Bassford's Scout Croxteth—Blossom pointer is bred to run, if there is anything in blood. Bow, Sleaford, Vandevort's Don, Croxteth, Bang, Hamlet, and a score of other names as notable, appear in the pedigree. The dog is a fine looker, and promises as well as any pup ever bred by Mr. Bassford.

Mr. Geo. T. Allender wrote from Bakersfield early in the week that his dogs were shaping up well. Mr. Schreiber's Nestor, which showed such superior natural quality last year, is particularly promising on single birds. No news has come from either Mr. Walter, Mr. Geo. W. Bassford or Mr. De Mott, so that it may be concluded that everything is well with them.

When this issue reaches the homes of our leading sportsmen the heads of the families will not receive it—they will have left on their yearly pilgrimage to that Mecca of all who truly love the most refined phase of field sport, the field trial. The article in another column about the sportsmanly tastes of reverend gentlemen is couched in moderate terms. If those men could participate in one field trial there would be more vividness in their phrasing.

A dainty pamphlet indeed is that prepared by Mr. W. E. Houghton of Bakersfield, in which the articles recently published in this paper about the trip to the top of Mount Whitney are reprinted. In writing the articles, Mr. C. E. Sherman interwove a vast deal of information about early times in Kern that will grow more valuable as time passes, and the footprints of the sturdy pioneers come to be properly esteemed.

President Ramon E. Wilson of the Pacific Kennel Club has appointed Messrs. William Schreiber, Thomas J. O'Keeffe, Clarence A. Haight and H. H. Briggs a committee to confer with a committee from the California Kennel Club for the purpose of devising some plan to amalgamate the clubs. Such an end is most desirable and we hope the committees will be guided solely by regard for the best interests of the doggy world, and not by any personal prejudices.

This is for Kern County shooters by an effete Eastern enthusiast. "Take him all round, and designate him what you will—game or vermin—the rabbit is about the most satisfactory bird or beast or insect or reptile, whatever he may really be to pursue in any shape or form. You can hunt him with dogs of all sort. sizes and breeds You can stalk him with a small bore rifle and pot him (or otherwise) when you consider you are within range of him. You can track him in the snow to his lair, and proceed as seemth best to you to endeavor to achieve his destruction. You can oust him from the bowels of the earth with the co-operation of the insidious and insinuating ferret and smite him hip and thigh as he scurries away, metaphorically laughing in his sleeve, to think how easily he has fooled his keen scented but slow footed detective. He keeps you busily employed all the time in a good days' covert shooting, and last, but not least, he is succulent and toothsome (when not too ripe in years), no matter how you have introduced him to the cooks."

A prominent sportsman of Bakersfield, Mr. Truxton Beale, son of General E. F. Beale, is projecting great improvements upon the property owned in that city by the General. Among other schemes is one to build up a great sportsman's club and shooting preserve, and Mr. Beale says of the scheme:—

"It is not generally known as it should be that a number of gentlemen who are interested in preserving the game in our section of the State have organized a club to which we have given the name of 'The Knights of the Trigger.'

"There are already about 100 members, and when the purposes for which the club was organized become more generally known we hope to enlist the interest of naturalists and gentlemen fond of field sports in every part of the State.

"It is a well known fact that years ago antelope, deer and game of all kinds were remarkably abundant in the section of the country embraced in the Haggin & Carr and Miller & Lux ranches. The pot-hunters had pretty nearly exterminated the larger game when we took hold of the matter and determined that the same thing should not happen to the antelope that has to the buffalo, namely, an almost complete extermination of this beautiful and characteristic American animal.

"So far as the right to take game of any kind on the 600,000 acres of land comprising the three ranches above named is concerned, it has been confided to the Knights of the Trigger, and all complaints are sworn out by and all prosecutions pushed by the club.

The purpose is not to create a monopoly of sport, or to exclude proper persons from hunting in a sportsman-like manner, but to so regulate affairs on this immense preserve that the greatest amount of rational sport may be enjoyed by the greatest number of lovers of true sport.

There is a club house at Bakersfield for the accommodation of the members, and the dues have been placed at the low figure of $6 per annum, so as to be within the means of anyone desiring to join us.

We think there are enough public-spirited men in the State who will cooperate with us to create an interest in the subject of game preserving in other sections.

We thought once we had timber enough to last for all time, but no thoughtful man believes it now. And it was just so with the game, so plentiful on our hills and in our valleys. The wasteful and wanton destruction of everything that could be shot at has nearly exterminated certain kinds—the most interesting. There are older communities than ours where the sportsman may enjoy a day with the gun and dogs with less trouble and expense than he can in California.

It is to be hoped that our example will be followed by others, and that game districts will be formed and regulated with the same wisdom that always manifests itself when our people take hold of any matter in earnest.

Its value to the State at large can hardly be estimated, for when you add to the climate of the State the attraction of splendid shooting, it will draw thousands of people of means and leisure, many of them will come to stay."

ROD.

Oregon Fish Commission.

The third annual report of F. C. Reed, E. P. Thompson and R. C. Campbell, constituting the Oregon State Fish Commission, in relation to salmon, states that the total value of salmon packed and consumed in home markets shows a grand total of $2,700,000. Great stress is laid upon the importance of hatcheries and the Commission cites statistics of work in that direction carried on prior to this year in the Fraser river. Since 1882 and up to 1889 there had been a steady decrease of salmon, but 14,646,000 of fry planted in 1885-6-7 8 has resulted in the packing on Fraser river in the season of 376 000 cases, the largest pack in the history of the river. The value of the product of the U. S. is $6,054,000 and that of British Columbia $2,119,000. Besides, in 1888, $47,236 is to be credited to shad, smelt and tom cod. It is expected that the fry of 1887 will return and swell the catch of next year. The salaries and expenses of the Commissioners were $1,925.

What is a Fishing Privilege?

In 1859, the legislature of California passed a law to regulate the salmon fisheries of Eel river, in Humboldt County. By the terms of this law the sole and exclusive right to catch fish went with the title to lands bordering on the river. If Mr. Smith's land lay along the river he was supposed by the law to control the right to salmon fishing between the eastern and western boundaries of his line as absolutely as he controlled his fields or timber lots. When he sold the land he also conveyed the fishing privilege.

Fishing seems, for a time at least, to have been carried on within the intent of the law, and property has from time to time changed hands, the "privilege" going with the property. Mr. E M. Heckman is now in possession of one of these privileges, but of late years other fishermen on the river have set up a claim to the greater privilege of fishing wherever they can find water enough to float a salmon—even on Mr. Heckman's "privilege." To this he objects, and a month ago brought suit to quiet title to his water lot. Alberto Robertson, Smith Fulmore and others being joined as defendants in the suit.

The case was heard by Judge Hunter last week, when he sustained defendant's demurrer, but allowed plaintiff fifteen days to file an amended complaint.

The case involves nice questions of law—the constitutionality of the act under which the "privilege" is sought to be maintained, and the right of injunction, the effect of subsequent legislation under which State lands were disposed of, etc. No damage was asked; the plaintiff simply wants judicial opinion as to whether the exclusive right and privilege which he bought is a privilege in fact, or whether he is expected to maintain it for the use and benefit of his neighbors to the detriment of himself.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Sacramento River Fishermen's Protective Union held at Benicia on Tuesday of last week 300 members being present, the price of salmon for the coming season was fixed at 5 cents a pound for spring and 4 cents for fall. Eastern capital has been enlisted at Martinez and the old steel works is being converted into a cannery. Several other other new canneries will run the coming season.

Private Robert Ward writes to the Ferndale Enterprise from Fort Gaston as follows: "We are to have a full-fledged fish hatchery in this valley, Lieutenant-Commander Brice, of the U. S. Navy, and a fish expert have been here superintending the construction of the buildings and tanks. They expect to turn many thousands of young salmon, as well as other varieties of fish, loose in the rivers before the close of the coming season. This piece of news will undoubtedly be cheerfully received by those interested in the fishing industry on Eel river."

Antevolo Sold Again.

When Antevolo was sold his former owner claimed that the horse was worth $40,000, and it is evident that others think so as well as Joseph Cairn Simpson, for the telegraph informs us that R. Steele, of Philadelphia, has sold the California colt to parties in Michigan for $40,000. Antevolo is one of the best colts that ever left this State and that it was one of the improving kind is evident in the fact that only a few weeks ago, Mr. Steele announced through the sporting press that he would endeavor to give Antevolo a low mark next season, and the figure was placed at 2:13 or 2:14. His owner must have had some grounds for the belief in his speed or that story would never have been sent broadcast to the trotting horse world. However, it is to be hoped that the new owners will give him a chance, for his present mark is no measure of his speed.

Santa Rosa.

An item under the heading of Turf and Track, informs the public that the Directors of the Santa Rosa Association have had their annual meeting and elected new officers for the ensuing year. So far so good, but there is a line or two at the end of the item which calls for comment. "The sentiment of the Board is opposed to holding a fair or races this year, unless a disposition different from that of former years is manifested by the people in this part of the country." It seems a shame that such a resolution was passed, and yet the Directors were compelled in justice to themselves to let the people of Santa Rosa know that there would be no more racing at that point, unless the citizens are willing to financially assist the gentlemen who usually have to put their hands in their pockets and pay a deficiency each year. During the year 1889, Napa made money, and Petaluma scored a financial success, but Santa Rosa lost. There were more Santa Rosa people at the Petaluma race track on one certain day, than there were Santa Rosa residents on any day at the track during the late Santa Rosa Meeting. They seem to have lost all interest in their own town and are all looking for the almighty dollar, without giving the requisite support to those who are trying to keep up the sport of the kings at that point. From the present outlook, Santa Rosa will be dropped from the circuit and it is nothing more than is due to the Santa Rosans for the lukewarm manner in which they have supported the late Directors in their efforts to secure good sport.

The San Jose Stakes.

The Agricultural Society of the Garden City is the first to advertise their yearling stakes to the country. The stake is a peculiar one; it is for certain stallions which are mentioned in the advertisement, and the owners of each stallion must pay into the society $100, or the get of the stallion is not eligible. The other conditions are as follows:

The colts from the horses that make the deposit must pay $15 on March 1, 1890; $15 on June 1, 1890, and $20 on August 1, 1890; $300 added by the Society.

The conditions are as follows: To be trotted during fair week of 1890, one-half mile heats.

Stake deposit and added money divided 66 per cent. to first, 30 per cent. to second and 10 per cent. to third.

National Association rules to govern except as herein stated.

For a walk-over the colt will take the whole stake, but no added money.

If two colts start they must contest for the deposit and stake money only, divided two-thirds and one-third.

A colt distancing the field will take the whole stake, but no added money.

Nominations not making payments when due forfeit previous payments.

All colts properly entered in this stake if sold will be entitled to start. If it is the opinion of the judges before starting this race that it cannot be finished on the closing day of the fair, it may be continued.

A Sad Loss.

Last Saturday night we received a telegram from our Kentucky correspondent, stating that Bell Boy, 2:19¼, and all of the Macy Stable at Versailles, Ky., had been destroyed by fire. Of course the report created considerable excitement, and calls were frequent at this office to learn the latest particulars. The more valuable of the horses that were burned beside Bell Boy were:—

Arden, a bay stallion three years old, by Nutwood, dam Adele Clark, $6,000; owned by O. T. Mackey of New York.

Forward, a bay stallion four years old, by Onward, $4,000; owned by H. H. Culbertson of Versailles.

You and I, two year old twin fillies, $4,000.

Fannie Fern and Lena D., $2,000 each.

Three Messenger Chief Colts, two year olds, were also lost, besides other horses valued at $2,000, or less.

In all, forty head, worth $125,000 were burned, Bell Boy being placed at $51,000. It is said that $102,000 was recently refused for him.

Other property losses aggregated $25,000; insurance, $20,000. This includes $13,000 on Macey's stable. A $2,500 dwelling belonging to ex-Governor Thomas Porter was also destroyed.

Such a frightful disaster always carries dismay to the heart of the ordinary reader, and at once the query is asked, What precautions have been used by the proprietors to prevent such a loss of equine life? In the present instance the fire occured at four o'clock in the morning, and the entire stable must have been in flames before the alarm was given, as it was impossible to save any of the valuable animals. Messrs. Clark and Hopper paid $51,000 for Bell Boy, the greatest price ever paid for a horse at public auction, because they were satisfied that the investment was a good one, and yet, after paying this enormous sum, it can hardly be said they exercised due caution in the choice of a place to keep the horse. There should be no chance whatever to lose such a life, for money cannot replace it, and his services are gone for all time. Too much care cannot be taken; stallion stalls should always have more than one exit, and the doors should only be fastened in such a way that the first person present could remove the inmates. See that every precaution is taken against the devastating element.

The Field Trials.

The man who suggested that racing was the "sport of kings," turned a pretty phrase, but if he could have seen a well conducted field trial under favorable conditions, the sport with fine setters and pointers would have been given preference. That there is excitement of the most intense sort in coursing or horse racing cannot be denied, but in both sports there are but few qualities, comparatively, to be tested. Given speed, stamina and heart, and the race with either horses or hounds is generally a mere matter of a run. But when men go afield with dogs and guns to compete under field trial rules the competitions present multiform points of interest to every reflective mind. Primarily the contests are between dogs, but in course of training the magnificent animals become so knowing and so fully in sympathy with their masters that dog and man come to be rather complements, then entities and the races are fair measures both of the natural pointing instinct and other attributes of the good field dog, and of the quickness of perception, patience and sportsmanly habits of the handler. Mere speed avails little in a field trial. Stamina alone is valueless. High pointing instinct by itself is inimical to success. Any and all natural qualities conduce only slightly to winning if they be not thoroughly refined, confirmed and developed by studious, judicious care on the part of man. The earlier stages of a field trial are interesting, but as heat after heat is run and the poorer dogs are weeded out, the interest intensifies to such a degree as to become absorbing, even to veterans in other lines of sport.

Poplar Grove Breeding Farm.

S. N. Straube of Fresno is one of the progressive breeders of the San Joaquin Valley, and has improved his stock so much that a visit to Fresno is never considered complete unless a call is made at Mr. Straube's place. He has over seventy brood mares, many of them standard bred, and he is continually adding to their number. His stallions are the grandly bred Clovis 4909, Apex 8935, and Junio, who is eligible to registration, but has not been numbered yet. The latter horse has been leased by Mr. Straube to cross with his Clovis, Apex and Pasha fillies. Mr. John Donahoo has several of the Poplar Grove Farm youngsters in training at the Fresno Fair Grounds, all of whom are showing up to the satisfaction of owner and trainer. Junio is looking better than he ever was in his life, and should make a very successful season in the stud. An unnamed two year old colt by Election, dam Fanny by Romulus, is of exceedingly great promis, and as Fanny is the dam of Lizzie Thorne, there are grounds for the belief that the new comer will be speedy. Elsie, by Clovis, is another of those threatened with speed, and although only at work a short time is giving satisfaction to the handler.

A three-year-old brown colt by Clovis has been nicknamed "Nick" for the time being, but will have a more high sounding name when it becomes necessary. His dam is Fleetwing by Winthrop 505. 2nd dam Sallie Ward by Pacific, he by Niagara. This would be a grand young stock horse for anyone who desires the services of a young stallion, and as he is for sale at a reasonable figure, should be snapped up eagerly by some of the younger breeders. Mr. Straube has also several good brood mares and fine young stock which can be had at a bargain. The advertisement of the stallions will be found under the proper heading. Junio will stand at the Fair Ground, Fresno, while Clovis and Apex will serve mares at the farm.

Wonderful, isn't it, how some people manage to hide their light under a bushel? Mr. F. F. Kerr of Newman, Sanislaus County, owns a bay stallion sired by Anteros [full brother to Anteeo, 2:16¼ (sire of Alfred G., 2:19¾, and Redwood, 2.24½), and to Antevolo, 2:19½]. His dam was sired by Nutwood, 2:18¾ (half brother to Maud S., 2:08¾), and his grandam by Roodhouse's St. Lawrence, who has twice proved himself the begetter of sires of producing dams. Mr. Kerr is not a horseman, or he would have let us know what sort of a horse he had hidden away in his alfalfa fields.

Oregon George.

GREENVILLE, PLUMAS COUNTY, CAL., Dec. 30, 1889.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I saw an inquiry in regard to Oregon George, and I will give you all the information I can for the benefit of the inquirer. John M. Shaw says that in 1854 Luke Savage owned old Oregon George at Salem, Oregon, who was a quarter horse, and there were frequent races between the George stock and the Veto stock, owned by English. The Oregon George which sired the dam of Ashley came to Indian Valley, Plumas County, in about 1865. He was a large sorrel horse with white feet and bald face; he ran here in half mile races and also the full mile heats; could go a mile in from 1:56 to 2 minutes. Wm. Bolinger brought some running bred horses to this valley. His brother Charley gambled off a small mare, one of the lot, to a party who sold her to James Wesley, who bred her to Oregon George and got the dam of Ashley. Jack Cochran ought to know who brought Oregon George to Indian Valley. C. M. Lawrence and Jack Cochran gave $71 for the dam of Ashley after Ashley began to show some speed. She bred several colts by Plumas, one or two mares, and Jack Hathaway drives a full brother to Ashley in a buggy here. He is a sorrel, with bald face and white legs, and has trotted in 3:17. One of the fillies was a bay, and could trot in about 3 minutes; the other I never saw. Yours, etc.,

INFORMATION WANTED.

Can any of our readers answer the following questions?

1. Breeding of Ben Franklin, sire of Kate Agnew 2:28½.

2. Breeding of General Lee, sire of Lee 2:31½. There was a General Lee that used to stand in Sonoma Co. He was sired by Union, son of Stockbridge Chief Jr. We are informed he is the sire of the dam of Ned Lock 2:28½.

Concord.

Please give the correct time that Axtell took to make each quarter in his 2:12 mile.

Answer.—The telegraph gave a slight variation from the following when the feat was accomplished, but now we give the quarters as taken from the official books: 33, 32¼, 32½, 34¼.

T. S.

Please answer the following questions: Has Mambrino Belmont a record? What is the breeding of Berthune?

Answer.—(1) No. (2) Berthune, by Sidi Hamet, dam Susette by Aratus, 2nd dam Jenny Cockracy by Potomac, 3rd dam by imp Saltram, 4th dam by Symme's Wildair, 5th dam by Driver, 6th dam by imp Fallower, etc.

E. W. Cæsar.

Please give the pedigrees of the following horses: Fisk's, Mambrino Chief Jr., Magna Charter and Vermont Hero.

Answer.—Mambrino Chief Jr., 214, by Mambrino Chief 11, dam by Birmingham, 2nd dam by Bertrand, 3rd dam by Sumpter, 4th dam by Buzzard, etc. Magna Charta 105, by Morgan Eagle, son of Morgan Eagle, by Woodbury, a son of Justin Morgan. Dam a sorrel mare from Indiana, breeding unknown. There are two Vermont Heros; the first by Sherman Black Hawk, dam by Liberty, son of Bishop's Hambletonian, and the other by Hales Green Mountain Morgan, dam by Black Hawk 5, 2nd dam by Hambletonian 2.

L. C. W.

Please inform me if my filly is standard, and if she is eligible to be registered. She is by Mount Vernon 2:21 (he by Nutwood 2:18¾). First dam by Chieftain, second dam by Kentucky Whip.

Answer.—Your filly can be registered if Mount Vernon has been registered, and he is eligible. Send to J. A. McCloud, Stockton, for further information.

G. F., Fresno.

If we answered your question, it would simply be an advertisement for a stallion. We cannot answer such.

Porter Mickle.

Please inform me through the columns of your valuable paper if Altimont, "a dark bay horse bred by Wm. T. Withers, of Lexington, Ky., foaled April 24th, 1878, sired by Almont, 1st dam Belle Miller by Blackwood, 2nd dam by Mambrino Chief, etc., is a standard or registered horse. 2nd. Please give me correct breeding of horse known as Shylock; stood in Sonoma and San Luis Obispo Counties, and is owned by Dr. Hugh Isham; said to be a thoroughbred.

Answer.—Altimont is standard and registered. (2.) Do not know the breeding of Shylock.

A. C. C.

Will you kindly tell me, through your valuable paper, the record of Ben Allen, owned by Mr. Alexander, of Stockton? 2d. If any of his get has a record? 3d. If a colt by him out of an Hamiltonian mare is standard bred?

Answer.—2:38. (2) No. (3) No.

L. W. H.

Will you kindly send me the pedigree of Strathmore and the names of one or two of his get outside of Santa Claus and Steinway?

Answer.—We do not send answers by mail. Strathmore 408, foaled 1866 by Hambletonian 10, dam Lady Waltermire (dam of Marshal Ney) by North America; second dam said to be by Hambletonian 2. He has 30 trotters in the 2:30 list and 2 pacers. In addition to those you mention, he has Cyprus, 2:22½, Skylight Pilot, 2:19, Secret, 2:20½, and Tucker, 2:19.

Gilbert Tompkins.

I claim and have advertised that my colt El Benton (by Electioneer, out of Nellie Benton by Gen. Benton) is a brother in blood to Sunol, 2:10½, who is by Electioneer, out of Waxana by Gen. Benton; and base my claim on the fact that El Benton carries 75 per cent. of the blood of Sunol, 50 per cent. of the blood of the sire Electioneer, and 25 per cent. of the blood of the sire of the dam Gen. Benton. My understanding of the meaning of the term brother or sister in blood is the possession of from 65 to 90 per cent. of identical blood; the best use of the term is to denote a degree of relationship between half sister or brother and full sister or brother. Please tell me if I am correct, as one or two people have argued the point with me.

Answer.—The term brother in blood is commonly used to denote a relationship, which is intermediate between half brother and full brother, and is used to classify a horse bred as is yours when spoken of in conjunction with a mare bred as is Sunol.

W. S. Enos.

Can you tell me where I can find the pedigree of Oregon Nell, and has she a record?

Answer.—We do not know her pedigree, and she has no record. Fill out the blanks which we have sent you by mail and forward them to the Wallace Register Co., 280 Broadway, New York, and then they will determine what to accept and what to reject.

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Club Stables, Taylor Street, San Francisco.

SCRATCHES IN HORSES.

This is not a disease, but merely the result of negligence on behalf of grooms intrusted with the care of horses. Horses when coming in from work should have their legs well washed and then thoroughly dried, either with a sponge or a dry rubber.

Answer.—The treatment should be as follows: If the case is a bad one poultice with flaxseed poultices until the inflammation and pain has become reduced. After, apply oxide of zinc ointment. If the legs swell very much give a dose of cathartic medicine. To prevent this complaint I would advise that horses which have to work during the wet and muddy weather; vaseline or pure lard rubbed into the legs will have the desired effect.

Club Stables, Taylor Street, S F.

DR. W. HENRY JONES, VETERINARY EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I have a valuable bitch which was hurt in one eye about six weeks ago. The eye is quite closed and she suffers considerable pain. Can you do anything for her?

Answer.—Foment with warm water until the inflammation has subsided. Then apply a lotion of nitrate of silver, 5 grains to the ounce of distilled water. If there is no improvement, consult some veterinary surgeon.

DR WM. H. JONES, VETERINARY EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN — DEAR SIR: — Will you please explain the following? I have got a bay mare, three years old, and she was shod last week for the first time. Ever since that she has been lame in both legs. Will you please give the reason? Very respectfully, GEO. N. WILLIAMSON, City.
Jan. 14, 1890.

Answer.—Your inquiry with reference to bay mare is rather ambiguous. What I would suggest is that you have the shoes removed and the feet poulticed. The probability is that the shoes are badly fitted, and hence the cause of lameness. In the event of the mare not becoming sound, I would advise you to call in a duly qualified veterinary surgeon.

Improvements at Morris Park.

Mr. John A. Morris, the owner of this handsome property, is not satisfied with it to remain idle 335 days in the year. Rightly and justly unwilling is he that its employments should be limited to the thirty days allowed by the laws of New York for horse racing, for that would scarcely repay for the immense amount of time, labor, and capital that has been expended in its construction. A million and a half dollars has already been used in buying the land for Morris Park and fitting it up for a race track, and now another half million will be spent in so completing it that it may be used for some purpose or other a hundred or two hundred, or perhaps every day in the year.

Briefly, the present scheme is as follows: In the great inner field, opposite the grand stand and the paddock, and bounded by the Eclipse course, the lower turn and the backstretch of the race track, grounds will be laid out specially adapted for games of baseball, football, lacrosse, athletic contests of all kinds, lawn tennis and croquet, a cinder track will be constructed and special stands will be erected for the accommodation of spectators. On the knoll, just below the grand stand and between it and the secretary's office, will be built a clubhouse, surpassing in architecture, size and appointment anything of its kind to be found on any race track in the world, and superior for club purposes to anything outside of the great cities.

GOOD NEWS FOR ATHLETES.

I met Mr. Morris at the rooms of the New York Jockey Club, Fifth avenue and Twenty second street, one day last week and found him very enthusiastic over the proposed plans, says a reporter.

"In the matter of constructing our new athletic grounds," said he, "we shall be governed entirely by expert opinion as to what is best fitted for the purposes in view. We are now in communication with the leading athletic associations in this city and with members of similar organizations at the leading colleges throughout the country, and in this way we hope to so perfect our plans that as soon as the frost is out of the ground, in the spring we can go on with the work immediately and without any delay complete it before summer."

Delegations from the New York and Manhattan Athletic Clubs were to have visited the grounds at Westchester last week, but the prevailing bad weather prevented it, so that Mr. Morris could give me no exact idea as to the minor details of the plan. He said, however, that it would be left to leading athletes to determine whether the cinder path should be three laps, or four laps, or five laps to the mile. A straightway track will be constructed long enough to provide for the sprint races and the hurdle contests, so that all of them may be run without a turn.

"It is our intention," said Mr. Morris, "if the plan shall prove acceptable, to organize great athletic meetings to occur on public holidays of the year. There are hundreds and thousands of people in New York and Brooklyn who have no desire to go to the race track on Decoration Day, or Fourth of July, or Labor Day, but who would gladly avail themselves of an opportunity to witness athletic contests on these days. Outdoor sports, in which the strength, the power and the energy of men are engaged, are just as popular as the contests of horses, and if it is possible to provide the people with these we shall certainly do so."

A WELL DRAINED FOOTBALL FIELD.

The grounds which will be devoted to football and baseball will surpass anything now existing in this vicinity. People who were present at the recent games between the Princeton and Yale football elevens at Berkeley Oval on Thanksgiving Day undoubtedly have a most vivid recollection of the execrable condition of the grounds, due to the heavy rain of the night before, added to the absence of anything approaching proper drainage. These same people also remember the exceedingly bad means of handling a big crowd furnished at the Oval. Any such troubles as these will be completely obviated at Morris Park. The extensive and almost perfect drainage system at Westchester, when directed to its football field will render it of use on almost any occasions. There will be no disagreeable puddles for the kickers to splash through after a season of rain, no need of adoring the grounds with patches of water-soaked sawdust. Then the capacity of Morris Park for handling a big crowd would be almost unlimited. With the new railroad communication which will be ready next spring 30,000 or 40,000 people could get into the grounds within an hour, and could get away again at the end of the day in even less time. Such facts as these are bound to commend themselves to the management of any affairs like the big college footfall games.

The same features that will be obtained as to football will apply to the baseball contests. The diamond will be laid out in the most approve style, nothing that will add to making it as perfect as possible being omitted.

NEW STANDS FOR SPECTATORS.

In addition to the mammouth grand stand, from which the horse races are now viewed, Mr. Morris will have new stands erected directly overlooking the athletic grounds. These will be built at the lower end of the field, just inside of the fence along the race track turn. Whether they shall be permanent structures or only temporary, to be taken down when not in use, has not yet been decided. They will be arranged to accommodate 5000 or 6000 spectators, and will make the seating capacity of Morris Park on any great athletic occasion fully 15,000.

For winter sport, if the summer affairs prove successful, the club will have toboganing and skating. The latter will be on a pond or reservoir, which is to be constructed in the grove just beyond the free field.

THE CLUBHOUSE.

But the greatest feature of Morris Park when all the plans shall have been completed, will be the clubhouse. This structure is to be of brick and wood and will be 150 feet long, and 120 deep, with a tower 30 feet square and 130 feet high. These dimensions, however, scarcely give an adequate idea of what the building will be.

The view from the tower will be surpassingly grand, overlooking, as it will, the whole property of the club, the surrounding portions of Westchester, upper New York and Long Island Sound in the distance. The tower will have a large clock, which can be seen for miles around, and which will serve as a worthy successor to the broken-down timepiece of the Catholic Protectory, which for many years regulated the rising of the sun on Westchester.

The exterior of the clubhouse will be imposing. The approach to the building from the driveway in front will be a massive flight of stone steps leading up to the threshold under an immense arch, with a span of twenty-four feet, and adorned with carvings in modern Pompeian terra cotta. Directly over the centre arch on the second and third floors will be two balconies, giving character and detail to the facade,

Passing through the doorway in front the visitor will find himself in a spacious vestibule, with the club office on the right, and at the left a hugh open fireplace. Beyond the office will be a large smoking room for gentlemen, opposite which, across the wide hallway, will be a ladies' parlor and retiring room.

The dining rooms will be on the race track side of the house and will all overlook the course, their whole west side to be of glass and opening on a large piazza. The main dining room, which is to be one of the chief features of the club house, will be 60 feet by 88 feet long, with a ceiling 20 feet high and decorated magnificently. On both sides will be smaller dining rooms, all to be decorated by old fashioned fireplaces.

The second floor of the building will be laid out in small dining rooms, which will be so arranged that they can either be used separately or be thrown together on the occasion of a banquet or a ball. On the third floor will be sleeping apartments, with bathrooms and all the modern improvements of a well appointed clubhouse. The fourth floor will be for the use of the attaches of the club.

The clubhouse will be open every day in the year.

IMPROVED RAILROAD FACILITIES.

Mr. Morris told me that he had already conferred with the management of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Suburban Railroad Companies, and he was assured that by next spring matters would be so arranged that people might go to the track direct by train over one of the roads without having to make the troublesome change at Harlem river.

The membership of the club is rapidly increasing, and although it is now less than six months old it has already over 1100 members. The fact that until further notice by the governing committee the regular initiation fee of $100 will not be charged is attracting many to the club, the present expense for a member being simply the annual dues of $25 for resident members and $15 to those residing over 100 miles from New York.

With the membership of 2,000, which the management expects to have by the time the clubhouse is opened, the New York Jockey Club will, indeed, be an organization powerful to do good racing and for the many other sports which it is its plan to foster.

The pool-rooms in New York were all tightly closed on Thursday and Friday of last week. There was no raid, nor, as far as is known, any police interference publicly. An order to put up the shutters must have been privately promulgated, however, judging from the unanimity with which all the resorts shut down business. On Saturday there were no betting transactions, ostensibly, but privileged parties had little difficulty in investing their money on animals of their choice, and the same was true of Monday and Tuesday, when there was not quite such an air of secrecy. Most of the pool-room owners declared at first that the charges of the Western Union Telegraph Company was the cause of the lock-out; that the tax had become unbearable, $50 and 60 being charged a day by the company for telegraphic service. The pool-room owners therefore decided that there was no use trying to conduct business for the benefit of a telegraph company, and agreed to stop business to see if some more equitable arrangement could not be effected. The renewal of business on the quiet, however, seems to favor the belief that the police are really at the bottom of the closing.—(Turf, Field and Farm).

THE FARM.

Salt as a Preventive of Fluke.

Referring to your reply to a question on salt for cattle, in the Mark Lane of October 28th, will you kindly inform me if I may securely trust to rock salt as a preventive of fluke or rot in sheep? I should be much obliged if you would answer in your next issue. ONCE BITTEN.

There is no agent that can be securely trusted to prevent fluke or liver-rot—you can only prevent it by avoiding the cause. You are probably aware that rot in sheep is caused by the invasion of the liver, or bile ducts, by parasites in greater or less numbers. The parasites (Fasciola hepotica) are picked up in embryotic form in the pastures. Low-lying, marshy land, adjacent to water-courses liable to flooding, are the most dangerous.

Leaving sheep on these lands during a very wet season, or after the summer has passed, will cause them to rot. Certain years are remarkable for outbreaks, and you will doubtless remember only too well the disastrous consequences to sheep-masters of the rotting year at the beginning of the present decade.

Salt will do a great deal to prevent this and other parasitic invasions, but you cannot "securely trust" it, either as a preventive or accurative agent. For the reasons already stated in the paragraph, to which you refer, salt may be usefully allowed to all domestic animals, but in the treatment of rot it is best administered alternately with sulphate of iron. No great amount of success can be claimed for it, but experience has taught us that it is the best that can be done, and the "bad is the best," unfortunately.

Security there is none, except to keep the animals off rotting land. Talking about prevention of parasitic and dietic diseases in sheep is easy enough, but commercial and economic considerations are always obtruding themselves in a manner most inconvenient to the theorist. Give the salt by all means, but do not trust it so securely as to leave sheep exposed to danger.—M. R. C. V. S., in Mark Lane Express.

The Humboldt Creamery.

The creamery is now in operation, having started up last week. The machinery of the new institution works like clock work, and Mr. Stewart, under whose general supervision the new establishment was erected and equipped, has established the fact beyond the possibility of dispute that he thoroughly understands and has completely mastered the business he has chosen to follow. This is the first real creamery on the Eastern plan in California, and Ferndale may well be proud of starting an enterprise that promises a most important forward step in one of California's leading industries. The Humboldt Creamery is second to but two out of two thousand in the United States, and for arrangement and equipment second to none. The main creamery building is 30x80 feet, and rests on a solid brick foundation. Half of the building is used for manufacturing butter and the other half for cold storage purposes, to store butter, eggs and other perishables. The capacity of the creamery is estimated at three thousand pounds of butter per day, two patent cream separators, two churns and two butter-workers operated by steam, being necessary to perform the work. The cold storage apartments are sufficiently large to store 60 000 dozen of eggs, which can be kept from spring to winter in a perfect condition. The ice factory is 30x30 feet, and is operated by the same power as runs the creamery. Ice will be manufactured in ample quantities to not only supply the storage rooms, but the county demand for that article as well. Those interested in the creamery feel confident that their investment will prove a profitable one, and expect by the time spring fairly opens to receive milk in sufficient quantities to keep the creamery in steady operation. We understand that Mr. S. H. Paine is to act as manager of the new institution, and a more competent, reliable and trustworthy gentleman could not have been selected.

In connection with this notice it is but justice to state that J. W. Blackmore superintended the construction of the creamery building, and C. I Fuller the placing of the machinery, all of which was executed in a manner most satisfactory to those interested.

The officers of the Creamery Association are as follows: President, Ira A. Russ; Vice-President, N. Hurlbutt; Secretary and Manager, S. H. Paine; Treasurer, F. G. Williams, who, with P. Calanchini, compose the Board of Directors. The stockholders in the corporation are. Z. Russ & Sons, Russ, Early & Williams, Russ, Sanders & Co., Mrs. M. Henry, C. A. Doe, P. Calanchini, N. Hurlbutt and S. H. Paine.—Enterprise.

Advantages of the Creamery System.

A subscriber interested in dairy matters would ask some of the contributors to The Stockman to write an article stating clearly the advantage of the creamery system, or cold setting of milk, over the old plan of setting milk in small or large shallow pans without the use of water or ice, for the benefit of those dairymen who still claim they can obtain more cream by allowing the milk to stand 24 or 36 hours, and some even a longer period; and why, after allowing the milk to stand in small pans 24 or 36 hours in a temperature of 60 or 63 degrees, more cream can then be raised by setting pans on the stove and heating up to higher temperature.

The advantage of the creamery or cold deep setting of milk over the old plan consists in the uniformity and certainty of the results, the saving of labor, time and storage room, ease of management, and, as a result of all these, economy. Set fresh, warm milk in a deep can in ice water and raise all its cream in from 8 to 12 hours, and the cream and skimmed milk will be sweet the cream always of the same consistency and if the after-treatment is the same the butter will be of uniform quality. Milk set in open, shallow pans is affected by changes of the weather, and is liable to sour and thicken before all the cream is up while that set in the creamery has a climate of its own, and where ice water is used the skimming can be done regularly before each milking.

We have used shallow pans, pots, crocks, tin pails, covered and uncovered; have scalded the milk after straining into the pails and have set it warm from the cow; have set the pails on the cellar floor and on shelves in cellar and pantry, and finally tried the deep setting, first submerging in ice water and now setting in a creamery with ventilated covers to the cans, and this gives the best results of all. With deep setting, if you sell cream, you are sure of always having it sweet, and can calculate on having a certain quantity from a given amount of milk, and you have the benefit of sweet skimmed milk for house use or for feeding, while in open shallow setting you are not certain what you will have until the milk is skimmed. There are a large number of pots and pans to be handled every day, and these must be carefully scalded and aired to prevent the next setting of milk from being soured before all the cream is up. With a creamery there are only two or three cans to be washed and scalded; they need no sunning, nor need they be lifted from the creamery.

The creamery yields much the larger bulk of cream, but it is thinner than that raised in shallow pans, though that will make just as good butter as cream raised in deep cans. As for the "why" milk, after standing in shallow pans for 24 to 36 hours in a temperature of 60 to 65 degrees, will raise more cream if set on stove and heated to higher temperature, I don't believe it will. A yellow scum rises, as I have often noticed, but it is claimed that it will not make butter if it is churned. I have never tried it, as the scum was too thin to warrant experiments.

Skimmed milk from a creamery has been analyzed and found to have practically no cream in it; this was where all the conditions were complied with, milk set as soon as drawn from the cow, plenty of ice used, etc; and the experience of thousands seems to prove that the cold deep setting method is the best yet discovered.

Hampshires and Oxfordshire Downs.

These are the largest in size of any of the Down varieties, and it is the boast of the breeders that they come to earlier maturity than any others. They admirably suit the large chalk farms of the southwestern counties that are possessed of artificial water-meadows, the latter giving abundant food for the ewes and lambs in the critical month of April, when in other districts the farms are very barren after all the turnips have been consumed. The race originated by crossing the old Berkshire knot and the Wiltshire horn with the Southdown, by which means early in the century a characteristic variety, with gaunt frames, coarse heads, and black faces had been created, termed at first West Country Downs. When about 1845, the late Mr. Humphry set himself to improve this race by the employment of some of the finest and thickest-fleshed of Jonas Webb's Southdown rams, the improved Hampshire came into existence, and has had truly marvellous development ever since. The extension of the breed has certainly not been so great as that of the Shropshire, from the fact probably of the latter being adapted to a more extended set of soils and circumstances. Hampshires are, however, popular not only in the counties of Hants, Wilts, and Dorset, but further eastward and northward, as there is every reason why they should be, whenever the conditions of early maturity can be supplied. Hampshires were entered for the Royal Show to the number of 78.

The Oxfordshire variety is closely allied with the Hampshire, having originally been derived from ewes of that breed, tupped by Cotswold rams. The alliance proved an extremely happy one, for the progeny of long wool and short wool parents is one of the best for grazing property, and there was a combination of size to admirable quality, which from the first gave this particular cross a high reputation. There happened at first some diversity of type when efforts were made to perpetuate a new variety, but by studious selections and skillful matings, all evils were eventually overcome, and long before the R. A. S. Council gave the Oxfordshire Downs special classes—which was in 1862, at Battersea—a distinctive character with tolerable uniformity of type had been attained to.

This has been concentrated very much since that period, the general effort, as with the Shropshires, apparently being after a higher quality. They are fine, handsome-looking sheep, that will graze heavy weights, their mutton being as highly esteemed as that of the Hampshires. Rams from the leading flocks not only are in demand for the north of England and Scotland to cross other sheep with, but a great many are exported every year to Germany and America. They are well adapted for mixed soils and tolerably fertile, arable sheep farms, and have extended themselves very much out of their native districts. They stand third highest in the list for the Windsor Show, the number of their entries being 82 Not often have they been brought out to anything like the extent of this, and it is highly creditable to the breeders that they will be so admirably represented.—Mark Lane Express.

Thoroughbred Poultry.

My experience for the last fifteen years fully satisfies me that the high bred fowl is the fowl for all purposes. And what intelligent person would not discard the so-called old-fashioned or mongrel breed for pure bred fowls that it has taken years of the most careful breeding by some of the most intelligent and competent men of both continents to bring to their now high standard of excellence. If all could take their choice at the same price, I dare say they would not be long in making a selection, and it would be in favor of the high bred fowl. There are many of our farmers who are not yet acquainted with the merits of pure bred poultry and still cling to the mongrels. To any one who has had experience with both kinds the difference is quite apparent. The ratio is the same as with thoroughbred cattle and scrubs.

The real mongrels are so small in size that it does not pay to raise them for market, and for egg production they are but little better, for they lay but few eggs, and those mostly during the spring, when eggs are cheap. If you chance to find a large, well formed mongrel, you may be sure it is the result of crossing to some pure bred variety. If, then, a few crosses so vastly improve the stock, the pure bred fowls themselves must necessarily be far superior to the mongrels both in point of size and egg production.

There are a great many people among us who are always sighing for the good old-fashioned breed of fowls—those with big bodies and short legs, non scratches and everlasting layers—oblivious of the fact that if the same motherly old hens that live so pleasantly in their memories were suddenly resurrected they would cut a sorry figure by the side of our modern Brahmas, Plymouth Rocks, etc

It is a very general and very harmless delusion that the sun shone brighter and the grass grew a brighter green when we talk of the past glories of our domestic stock, we are confronted by the stern and undeniable fact that there has been constant and steady improvement in their useful as well as their ornamental qualities, and among the modern breeds and varieties now kept by fanciers are fowls that will outweigh, outlay and on show anything produced in the days of "Auld Lang Syne." It is ridiculous for people to be so slow to acknowledge that there is any difference between one kind of fowl and another. They may say a chicken is a chicken, whether it weighs two pounds at maturity or ten pounds; whether it is tender and juicy or tough, dry and stringy; and an egg is an egg, whether large or small, delicate in flavor or tough and rank.

But every one who has had the opportunity for observation will acknowledge the superiority of good Southdown mutton over a mongrel carcass. And to which is the preference to be given, a Shorthorn bullock or a steer, the offspring of a hundred generations of mongrel stock? Almost any farmer of ordinary intelligence will answer the above and tell you how much more profitable for every purpose is the thoroughbred stock over the native. Because a mongrel chicken was good enough for you, stage coaches were good enough for the present generation, surely we do not refuse the benefits conferred by steam and electricity simply because our ancestors had no such blessings. You are not satisfied to breed horses that can trot a mile in three and one half minutes because that was the highest speed attained in your grandfather's time, and why not carry the same idea of improvement into the poultry yard? As fondly as some may hug the delusion, they cannot resist the testimony to the fact that our modern fowls show the effect of persistent effort toward improvement, as the present breeds of cattle, sheep or swine, and the offspring of the common or mongrel hen by a thoroughbred cock will show as much improvement as that of the common cow by the Jersey bull.

Those of my farmer friends who have not already given thoroughbred poultry a trial I would advise that they at once do so. If you do not feel able to buy both thoroughbred hens and cocks, get a few cocks and let them run with your common hens. You will find that as a result your poultry another year will be of larger size, better layers, and will give increased pleasure and profit.

Leghorns, Plymouth Rocks Brahmas, Wyandottes, Langshans and Games are among the best for the farmers' use.—Southern Fancier.

Notes.

A contemporary says: The cattlemen of Scotts River and Trinity Valley, Siskiyou County, have to use snow-shoes to herd their stock.

The snow is quite deep in Eastern Nevada and Idaho, as well as on the Sierra Nevada. The News-Miner says it is about three and a half feet deep on the level at Hailey, and the White Pine News says it is seven feet deep at Hamilton.

The Vermont Chronicle speaks of a dairyman who makes 30 cent butter for less trouble and expense than are bestowed on their product by those who make 16 cent butter. It is less work and costs less to make butter in the right way than it does to do everything out of time and order and thus turn out a poor article.

The only way to improve the dairy stock of the country is to raise better, and it is the duty of every dairyman to raise his share. It is also for his interest to do it, for it will bring him both money and intellectual development. He cannot improve his stock without thinking, and cannot think without improving his mind.

Always have a rack of nice hay or a lick of meal in the manger, each night and morning for the cows and there will be no need of sending a dog or tired and cross hired man after them. They will be on hand at milking time, ready to hurry into their places, and they will express their satisfaction by increasing the contents of the pail.

Secretary Rusk, in the report of the department of agriculture for the United States, says "no less than 6 000.000 dozen eggs were imported at a first cost of over 15 cents a dozen, or nearly $2,500,000, while the average annual value of such importation during the past four years has been $2,216, 320." Nearly all these eggs come from Canada.

An Exchange says some people wonder why the Maine farmers are raising so many horses. An old farmer who came into Bangor the other morning with a well dressed four-year old steer which he forced to sell for $27, explains it. "I raise no more beef steers," he said, "for it don't pay. This critter has eaten as much as would raise a colt to the same age, and a good four-year-old colt of good size is worth $150. From now out you'll find me raising horse-flesh."

A new process of butter-making is reported from Australia. Air is introduced into the cream in the churn through an intermediate vessel, in which is stored water and a harmless solution, which purifies the air and otherwise renders it suitable for producing the desired effect upon the cream, The air-pipe opens into the churn near the bottom, through which the gases are driven out. The butter runs off from a tap at the bottom. The process lasts from twenty to forty or sixty minutes' according to the conditions of the cream and other circumstances.

If you have a litter of choice fat pigs and have doubt about wintering them properly about the best hint that can be given is to have an occasional roast, on the principle that when you have a good thing try to save it. Some of the old folks who dined off this toothsome morsel half a century ago can give you old-time directions as to the roasting and preparation for the table. Our own opinion is that roast pig is about as expensive a dish as the farmer can sit down to in the way of meat of his own production, but to the genuine epicure this only adds zest to his appetite.

As one country after another opens up to settlement and progress, new fields open for the introduction of improved breeds of stocks. South America has been the source of a good deal of profit to the breeders of Great Britain for the last few years, and now that the market in that quarter has been pretty well stocked, or at least will be at an early date, they are looking about industriously for new patrons. An English journal just at hand is of the opinion that the next country to buy pedigree stock freely, will be South Africa, the colonization of many parts of which has given its agriculture and stock raising a most progressive turn.—National Stockman.

The Mirror and Farmer says: Dr. Horne thinks cottonseed meal in any form unfit food for cattle. But Prof. Hunter Nicholson, the dairy editor of the Jersey Bulletin, says: "Cottonseed meal is an exceedingly valuable cow food, but it needs to be fed with discrimination and judgment." We think the professor is right. Cottonseed meal is a very strong nitrogenous food, and therefore must be fed lightly and duly balanced with other foods, both as to bulk and carbonaceous material. It is from excessive feeding or from a lack of attention in balancing the ration, that some have got an unfavorable impression of it. The fact that it has to be fed with care is to us an evidence of its value.

Prof. H. W. Conn, professor of biology in the Wesleyan University, Conn., reiterates what other scientists have said before, that all the changes which occur in milk are the result of the growth of bacteria. Practically this has been acknowledged for a long time, it having been discovered that if the atmosphere is entirely excluded from contact with the milk it will keep sweet and limpid for a long time. But the peculiar development, whether bacteria or fungi, is of comparatively recent discovery. With such facility do the germs of bacteria get into milk from the air, from the body of the cow, the hands of the milker and the vessels used for holding milk, that it is declared that pure milk is unknown except to the experimenting scientist.

STALLIONS, BROODMARES AND FILLIES

ONE STALLION FIVE YEARS OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lily Stanley, 2:17 1-2 Homestakes 2:16 1 2, etc.), dam Sally Gorham by Werner's Rattler. This horse is scarcely 15 1-2 hands high, but very compactly built. He breeds exceptionally large and well finished colts. Any one understanding the business could clear him in one season, or he would make a No, 1 road horse, as he can trot a 40 gait any time.

ONE THREE-YEAR OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2. 17 1 2, Homestakes 2:16 1-2, etc.). dam Sally Gorham, etc. This ought to make a great General Purpose sire, and with opportunities get trotters, as he is compact, strong-boned, and will measure when grown about 16 hands and weighs 1,200 lbs. With a little road work last fall he developed a wonderful burst of speed.

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD, BLACK, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2 17 1-2, etc.), dam by Nanbuc (sire of the dam of Eva W , 2:23 1-2, etc.), full brother to Thomas Jefferson, 2 23. This horse will be fully 16 1-2 hands high. He is smooth, rapid gaited and from size and conformation should breed, like his sire, large, rangy, finished colts.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BRIGHT CHESTNUT, sired by DAWN 2 18¾, dam Alida (dam of Directa, three-year-old record 2:31¼, trial 2:26) by Admiral (sire of sister 2:19 1-2 Nona Y 2:25, etc) This colt is the making of an extraordinary horse. He is large boned and will be over sixteen hands high when grown; he is of the true Nutwood type, is clean gaited and could ad a piece as fast as any man's colt.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BLOOD BAY. (full brother to Alcona Jr. sire of Silas Skinner, trial 2:23) sired by ALCONA (sire of Flora Belle 2:24, etc.,) dam Madonna by Cassius M. Clay Jr. This colt will make a trotter and a great stock horse if developed; he has the combined blood of Almont, Mambrino Chief, Cassius M. Clay Jr. and Joe Downing.

These colts are all sound and promising. The only reason I offer them for sale is, that I have three aged stallions in use, and the surplus is growing on me. If I were starting a breeding business for profit, I should consider either of these colts a representative to commence with. Also brood mares and fillies for sale. Correspondence solicted.

    - Colon — Dam of Caliban, sire of 3 in 2:30 list

As will be seen, Simmocolon is by a performing and producing son of George Wilkes, 2:22. He has back of him three producing dams, and combines the blood of the great sire George Wilkes handsomely blended with the blood of the greatest broodmare families. On the dam's side Mambrino Patchen, Strathmore, Clark Chief and Clay. A fine individual himself, pure gaited and very fast.

Terms, $150, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes Pasturage $5 per month. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

ST. NICHOLAS.
A Son of the World Renowned
SIDNEY,

Will Make the Season of 1890, at the Oakland Trotting Park.

ST. NICHOLAS was bred by Mr. G. Valensin at the Arno Stock Farm, Sacramento Co., California, in 1885. He is a beautifully proportioned bright bay horse, 15.3 hands high; is well muscled, lengthy, and lots of bone, with splendid natural action and a phenomenal turn of speed. As a three-year-old he easily worked three heats on the Oakland Track in 2:32, 2 29 and 2:27¼. His breeding is just what one would expect from such a highly formed bloodlike horse. Sidney, his sire is the most successful young stallion—whether for getting pacers or trotters—America has ever seen and no wonder for his blood lines are exceptional fine and are all trotting lines, Santa Claus, Strathmore, Rysdyk's Hambletonian and Abdallah, while Sweetness again runs back through that great sire Volunteer, to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and also through her dam to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and Harry Clay 45, the sire of Electioneer's dam. St. Nicholas' dam is by Echo, an exceptionally prepotent son of Hambletonian thus giving St. Nicholas four Rysdyk's Hambletonian crosses and further back a Harry Clay cross which with his grand dam's thorough bred cross should make him invaluable in the stud.

TERMS: Fifty dollars the season, which will commence on the 5th of February and close on the 1st of July. Due care will be taken of mares, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes.

Mares taken and kept as desired by the owners, and at reasonable rates.

How Is This for a Race?

We recently received from that progressive breeder of New York, Mr. A. E. Whyland, a card which contained beside the several high prices paid for horses, a table showing the time by quarters made by the eight fastest horses by the record. A queer "if" suggested by this card, says L. C. Baker in the Horse World, is that if Jay-Eye-See had trotted his first quarter as fast as he did his last, his record would now be 2:07½ as he went to the quarter at a 2:14 gait, making the last quarter to the tune of 2:04.

Mr. Whyland's card above mentioned suggested to me how the eight fastest horses would appear together in a race, each one trotting as he or she did when they made their best records and each one having an exactly even chance, viz: each one have to travel but a mile, instead of being scattered from the pole to eighth position. Below is the account:

From an excellent start, Sunol gradually drew away, and was leading at the quarter, with Guy and Palo Alto at her wheel, Maud S. lapping them, St. Julien at her wheel with Axtell and Stamboul, neck and neck lapping him, a clear length ahead of Jay-Eye-See. Time, 32 seconds.

At the half Maud S. had forged ahead, with Sunol, St. Julien and Palo Alto neck and neck a length behind, Axtell and Stamboul still head and head at their wheels, Guy lapping them while Jay-Eye-See still brought up the rear a clean length of daylight being visible between he and Guy. The watches clicked at this point at 1:04½.

At the three-quarters Maud had increased her lead so that there were two lengths of daylight between her and Sunol who was second, with Axtell on her wheel, Guy and St. Julien in turn lapping the stallion, neck and neck. Jay-Eye-See had moved up and was now head and head with Palo Alto, but a clean length behind Guy and St. Julien. Stamboul bringing up the rear, a clean length behind. Time, 1:35½. If it can be kept up 2:07½ will be recorded. As they sweep into the homestretch Jay-Eye-See comes up with a marvelous flight of speed, cuts his competitors down one by one until he reaches second place. Sunol making a tired break near the wire, but he cannot reach Maud S., who goes under the wire in 2:08¾, two open lengths in advance of Jay-Eye-See, who in turn is a length in advance of Sunol, lapped by Guy, who in turn is about a length in advance of St. Julien, who is a clean length ahead of Axtell, lapped by Stamboul and Palo Alto, neck and neck.

Long Distance Races.

Owners and trainers are anxious for long distant races at weights which will permit of a jockey (not a little boy who is a beginner and no judge of pace) riding. The reason of the entries in the cup races proving so light is not hard to find. The fault lies with the conditions of such races. Take any of the cups, with the exception of the Coney Island Cup, and you will find the penalties are ridiculously small, and in most cases there are no allowances. It does not take much of a prophet, therefore, to write out a list of the horses which will be entered for these cups long before the entries close. Who, then, but a born fool, would waste his dollars in entering his horse when he knows full well that he will have to meet Raceland, Kingston, Firenzi, etc., at a difference only of seven pounds or less outside of weight for age. If the cups are to be a success some other horses besides those at the top of the tree must be given a chance.

Putting aside the cup races, let Secretaries give us purses—say at least one each day—at distances from a mile and a half upward. Let them make conditions, with adequate penalties and allowances. They will then find out whether or not owners and trainers like long distance races. They will receive big entries, and the public, too, will be interested. It is a stupid theory to claim that long distance races are not popular because the cups receive poor entries. I, for one, should consider any man an idiot who would enter a moderate horse for a cup, looking at the conditions of these races. You need go no further back than the recent long distance races at Clifton to find out that they are popular. The best horse there has proved to be Eleve. Yet, Eleve was a maiden at the big tracks, simply because Secretaries never gave a race far enough to give him a show. The same may be said of plenty of other horses. At the present rate of procedure, without doubt, we shall soon revert to the old time quarter dashes, for nothing but sprinting is nowadays considered in the conditions. Breeders naturally will breed to suit the market, and by degrees we shall come to consider a horse who can compass a mile and a quarter a horse of wonderful stamina. You may claim that the thoroughbred of to-day is the superior of the thoroughbred of olden days. True. I grant he is speedier; but I don't think he has the same stamina, and for the reason that breeders look nowadays only for speed, and with that object alone in view. Yours truly,

A TRAINER.

The Undine Stable has one of their colts entered in part of the Eastern events as Homer, and in others as Scamper. Under which name is the colt going to run?

DESCRIPTION.

ALEXANDER BUTTON is a dark bay with fine flowing mane and tail; stands 15-3½ hands high; weighs 1,200 pounds, and is of excellent disposition. He is a natural trotter, inherited through the speed-lines of his ancestors, and imparts his speed to his offspring with uniform certainty. His colts show him to be a wonderful producer—and with his breeding and terms of service, he is the cheapest and most wonderful horse in the State.

MAMBRINO WILKES, 6083.

SIRE OF

GUS WILKES, 2:22; ALPHEUS, 2:27; CLARA P, 2:29½; BALKAN, 2:29½ (3-year-old) and timed separately 2:22¼ in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track, October 14, 1889.

DESCRIPTION.

Black; sixteen hands; weighs, in exercise, 1,260 lbs. For style, finish, symmetry and proportion, comparison is challenged with any trotting bred horse. His colts follow in size, style and beauty. Balkan, for instance, being "facile princeps" of trotters in these particulars.

PEDIGREE.

Sired by Geo. Wilkes, sire of Harry Wilkes, 2:13¼, Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, and 60 other trotters in the 2:30 list, in addition to 6 pacers, and of the sire of Axtell, 2.12 (three-year-old) beating all stallions of any age, and the sire of Regal Wilkes, 2:20¾, best two-year-old stallion record.

First dam Lady Chrisman by Mambrino (Todhunter's, son of Mambrino Chief 11; sire of Lady Thorn, 2:18¼; Woodford Mambrino, 2:21¼, and four others in 2:30, and of the dams of Director, 2:17, Piedmont 2:17¼, Onward, 2 25¼, etc.

Second dam by Pilot Jr. 12, sire of nine in the 2:30 list, and of the dams of Maud S., 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Nutwood, 2:18¾, Viking, 2:19¾, Pilot Boy, 2:20, Naiad Queen 2:20¼, etc.

TERMS.

Mares from a distance will be received at the Dexter Stables, Oakland, or Livery Stable, Martinez, the owner notifying Smith Hill, Superintendent at the farm. Good pasture and plenty of water. For the purpose of placing the service of a Wilkes within reach of breeders, the same rate will be maintained as last year, to wit, $75 for the season. Although it is not admitted thereby that this horse is inferior as a producer to the horses whose fees are placed at from $150 to $500. Address

Thoroughbred Stallion

Prince of Norfolk.

Will Make the Season of 1890, from Feb 1st to July 1st, at Sacramento.

Prince of Norfolk, chestnut horse, foaled 1881, by Norfolk; first dam Marion by Malcolm; second dam Maggie Mitchell by imp. Yorkshire; third dam Charmer by imp. Glencoe; fourth dam Betsy Malone by Stockholder; fifth dam by Potomac, sixth dam by imp. Diomed; seventh dam by Pegasus, etc. Norfolk, the unbeaten son of Lexington, is the sire of Winters, Twilight, Connor, Ballot Box, Trade Dollar, Flood, Duchess of Norfolk, Lou Spencer, the Great Emperor of Norfolk, the unbeaten El Rio Rey, and many others. Marion's sire, Malcolm, was one of the first horses to bring Bonnie Scotland into notice. Through the Maggie Mitchell cross comes the blood of two of the most celebrated race-mares of their day, Charmer and Betsy Malone. The combined speed of these great families seem to be concentrated in the get of Norfolk and Marion, as is instanced in the case of the Emperor of Norfolk, and El Rio Rey, who are full brothers to the Prince of Norfolk

The blood lines here displayed cannot be surpassed in the world, there not being a single cross that has not been celebrated for speed and endurance, and it is fair to assume that the get of this stallion will show equally well with those of past generations.

TERMS: $50 for the season. We offer first-class pasturage on our own ranch, at $3 per month, and the best of care will be taken of mares sent to us, but no responsibility can be incurred. For further particulars, address by mail or wire,

    - Twilight, by Lexington, sire of the dam of Ansel, 2:20.

NOODAY is a dark seal brown, foaled 1884, 15 hands 1½ inches high. Individually he is equal to his royal breeding. He is all that can be desired in conformation, intelligence, color and trotting action, and no stallion now in public service can show a pedigree with such fast records and royal game trotting blood as Noonday.

DON MARVIN,

Record 2:28 as a five-year-old. Standard by Breeding and Performance

Standard No. 7927.

Don Marvin 2:28.

Don Marvin is a beautiful seal brown, foaled 1884, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford, Palo Alto, Cal., standing 16 hands, and weighs, in ordinary condition, 1200 lbs. He is a fine individual, good style and form, combined with great substance, and good temper. Is very level headed; in his first race the past season he only made one break in five closely contested heats. He has great speed and endurance, with the pure, rapid Electioneer gait. He trots without toe weights, and wears only 8 oz. shoes in front. He gained his record the past season in the third heat, on a slow track, after making a season (serving over 60 mares), with scarcely any preparation. His record is no mark of his speed. He was a natural born trotter, and Mr. Charles Marvin considered him the fastest two year old at Palo Alto that season.

By FALLIS, 2:23, - - by Electioneer, sire of
Sire of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Sunol, three-year-old, 2:10 1-2, Palo Alto, 2:12¾, and 47 others in 2:30 list.

Dam CORA, by Don Victor by Belmont, sire of
Dam of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Ventura, 2:27¼, and sire of the dam of Bell Echo, 2:20, and six others in 2.30 list.

2d dam CLARABEL, - by Abdallah Star,
Dam of Clifton Bell, 2:24 1-2, and grandam of Rexford, three years, 2:24. — Sire of Hattie Maples, 2:33.

3d dam FAIRY, - - by Rysdyk's Hambletonian,
Sister of Sweepstakes, sire of 16 in 2 30 list. — Sire of Electioneer, George Wilkes, and many other noted sires and trotters.

4th dam EMMA MILLS, by Seely's American Star,
Dam of 4 horses that have 2:30 performers. — The great broodmare sire of the world.

The above pedigree should show every intelligent breeder that Don Marvin is "high" bred though very strong in trotting blood. All the comment it is deemed necessary to make as to the value of "thoroughbred blood" in the trotter is simply to refer to the very significant fact that the first and second dams of Maud S, 2 08¾, Jay-Eye-See 2:10, Sunol, three years 2:10 1-2, Palo Alto 2:12¾, Anteeo 2:16½, Nutwood 2.18¾, Wedgewood 2:19, and many other successful sires and sensational trotters of the day are thoroughbred.

TERMS—Don Marvin will make the ensuing season from February 1st to July 1st, 1890, at $40 the season, with the usual privilege of returning the mare next season if not proving in foal. Mares from a distance met at the cars or boats on notification, and carefully handled, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

Good alfalfa pasture furnished (free from barb wire fence) at $4 per month. For further particulars or complete circulars address

The Thoroughbred Stallion

INTRUDER

Will make the Season of 1890 at Agricultural Park, SACRAMENTO.

By Crater, Son of Orlando and Vesuvienne by Gladiator.

1st dam Lady Bountiful by Rataplan (Rataplan is own brother to Stockwell, and winner of 42 races, including the Doncaster Cup and 19 Queen's Plates, and proved himself the most distinguished race horse of his day in England).

3d dam Plenty by Bay Middleton (winner of the Derby and Two Thousand Guinea Stakes).

6th dam by Selim, winner of the One Thousand Guinea Stakes.

7th dam by Pypilina, by Sir Peter.

8th dam Rally, by Trumpeter.

9th dam Fancy, by Florizel. Fancy was full sister to Diomed, the first Derby winner in England, and after his importation into this country, sired the illustrious Sir Archy, etc. See English Stud Book.

Imported INTRUDER is a beautiful bay, standing fully 16 hands high, of great length and substance, and descends through close and strong currents from the most illustrious winners and winning lines of blood of which the English Stud Book bears record.

A careful review of the first six crosses of the pedigree of INTRUDER will show nine Derby winners; five St. Leger winners; two winners of The Oaks; two winners of the Two Thousand Guineas; two winners of the One Thousand Guineas; one Goodwood Cup winner; one Cæsarwich Cup winner; one Cambridgeshire Stakes winner, and four Doncaster Cups, in addition to a great number of Steeplechases and other races of less import.

INTRUDER, at the great fair held at St. Louis, Mo., in 1876, was awarded the highest stallion honors—the blue ribbon and the $500 purse—in the sweepstakes ring for stallion of any age or blood. The list of competitors embraced the large number of thirty-three animals, and they represented England, Canada, Kentucky, Tennessee, and other states. He also took first premium in his class and in sweepstakes for the best stallion of any age or breed at the State Fair at Peoria, Ill, 1882. He is the sire of Tidal Wave, George Hakes, Bernice and April Fool.

INTRUDER is the sire of Interpose, who is the dam of Spokane, winner of the Kentucky Derby, in which he beat the great horse Proctor Knott and broke the record.

TERMS: $50 for the season. Mares not proving with foal can be returned the next season free of charge. Good pasturage at $4 per month. Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire, and fed on hay and grain, either or both, at reasonable rates. While every precaution will be taken, no responsibility will be assumed for escapes or accidents. Mares sent from a distance in care of the undersigned, will be met and taken to the park. Second dam by Bright Eyes, son of Boanarages. Prompter (sire of Apex, record 2:26, and Transit, 2:26 1-2), by Wilson's Blue Bull, by Pruden's Blue Bull son of Merring's Blue Bull. Promptor's dam Prairie Bird, by Flaxtail; second dam by John the Baptist, son of Tally Ho Morgan, by Sherman Morgan; third dam Fannie Fern by Irwin's Tuckaho.

Apex made his appearance in the circuit as a two-year-old, and obtained a record of 2:42. As a three-year-old he reduced this in a race at Santa Rosa against Stamboul to 2:31, it taking six heats to decide the contest, which was won by Apex. As a four-year-old he gained his present record of 2:26

Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire. Pasturage $2 per month. Every care exercised, but no liabilities for escapes or accidents. Mares not proving with foal can be returned next season, providing I still own this stallion.

The Standard Stallion

JUNIO,

RECORD 2:22.

WILL MAKE THE PRESENT SEASON OF 1890 AT FRESNO FAIR GROUNDS.

Season Commencing Feb. 1st and ending July 1st

TERMS—$100 the season, due at time of service.

JUNIO is eight years old, a handsome dark bay 16 hands high, and weighs 1250 pounds. He is the personification of the light harness horse, and his trotting action is superb. At the State Fair of 1886 he took first premium over forty of the finest trotters in the State.

PEDIGREE.

Junio, by Electioneer, premier stallion of Palo Alto (sire of Sunol 2 10 1-2, Palto Alto 2:12 1-4, and 47 others in the 2 30 list,. Dam by Granger by imp. Hercules.

Granger, by imp. Hercules, dam Jenny Lind, by Stockbridge Chief, Jr., he by Stockbridge Chief, he by Vermont Black Hawk. Second dam by Kentucky Whip.

Imp. Hercules, by Kingston, first dam daughter of Tescar, by Bay Middleton, second dam Malvina, by Oscar; 3rd dam Spotless by Walton; 4th dam by Trumpator (see Bruce's American Stud Book Vol. 1, page 28). Hercules is the sire of the dam of Azmoor 2 2¼; also sire of dam of Menlo 2:21 1-2.

Mares not proving in foal may be returned next year free of charge, providing I still have the horse. Pasturage $3 per month. While every care will be taken of horses, no liability will be assumed for accidents or escapes.

BALKAN

By Mambrino Wilkes.

(See that Horse's Advertisement.)

DAM FANNY FERN BY JACK HAWKINS
Son of Boston

The grandam of Maud S. (2:08¾) was by Boston and the grandam of Jay-Eye-See (2 10) was by Lexington, son of Boston. So Balkan is the same remove from Boston that Maud is, and one remove nearer than Jay-Eye-See.

Fanny Fern has produced Molly Drew, Onyx, Fred Arnold, Molly Fern and Balkan, all by different sires.

Balkan's sire and dam both being producers, and he being a trotter himself with a record of 2:29 1 2 three-year-old) and timed separately 2:22 1- in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track October 14, 1889—it is but fair to presume that he will get trotters of the highest order.

DESCRIPTION.

He is seal brown, 16-1 hands high, in style rivalled by few, and excelled by none with as pure a gait as has yet been exhibited in public—bar none.

Balkan will be at Oakland Trotting Park for the season of 1890, and will be limited to ten mares, at $100 fee, in order to be put in training early, as it is morally certain that if given a reasonable opportunity he will be fast enough to compete with the best of his age. REDWOOD.

Four-Year-Old Record 2:24 1-2

Will make the season of 1890—February 1st to July 1st—at the

OAKLAND RACE TRACK.

REDWOOD is a dark bay colt, 15.2¼ hands high, weighs 1100 lbs. Foaled in 1885, by Anteeo, 2:16¼, sire of Alfred G., 2 19¾. Anteeo is by Electioneer. First dam Lou Milton, by Milton Medium; second dam Old Fly, a thoroughbred mare brought from the East in 1871 by W. C. Ralston, Esq.

Redwood's sire was out of Columbine by A. W. Richmond, the sire of the pacers Arrow 2:13¼, and Elwood 2:25, and the trotters Romero, 2:19¾, and Len Rose, 2:2.. Redwood has shown a quarter in 33 seconds.

Terms $100

For the season. Mares not proving with foal may be returned next season free of charge, provided Redwood remains the property of the present owners. Good pasturage at $5 per month. No responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents. Service fees payable before removal of the mare. Limited to 40 approved mares. For further particulars address

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2¼ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level headed, seldom making a break; wears 7-ounce shoes in front. His record 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

MEMO is, as can be seen at a glance, one of the best bred young stallions in service, having three crosses of Rysdyk's Hambletonian and one of Harry Clay, the sire of Green Mountain Maid (dam of Electioneer, etc.), while Long Island Black Hawk and Flaxtail also contribute to his blood. Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:49, though he was close to Grandee in a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31. 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little question that he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:20 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 34 seconds.

As a four-year-old Memo only started once - at Sacramento - when, although out of condition, he showed great speed, and improving as he went on, great hopes were entertained of his going well down in the 'teens at the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting, but after showing several very fast miles his leg filled and he was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His color is a glossy black, with both fore-feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being reported not in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $100, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

THE IMPROVED NOYES ROAD - CART.

PATENTED JULY 17, 1883, AND JUNE 8, 1886.

Some of the Advantages of the Noyes Cart Over All Others.

There is no bar for the rider to climb over in getting in or out. The horse can be hitched eighteen inches nearer than any other road-cart made. You can get in or out with perfect safety—no danger of being thrown into the wheel—a great advantage in breaking colts. THE EASIEST CART FOR ROAD OR TRACK. The only cart that a horse can be speeded to within one second as fast as to a sulky. All our carts are made of the very best materials and are warranted. Manufactured by the NOYES CART COMPANY, Kalamazoo, Mich.

They are indorsed by the following horsemen, all of whom are using them. Ask their opinion of the Noyes Cart: John Splan, who drove Guy a full mile in 2:17¼ and Chanter a half-mile in 1 10¼ to a Noyes Cart, says he would not take $250 for it if he could not get another; W. OSSIDINE

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used.

Very respectfully yours,
S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

ALEXANDER BUTTON, 2:26 1-2,

The property of G. W. WOODARD, Woodland, Yolo County, Cal.

Alexander Button 2:26 1-2.

Among the notable horses of California Alexander Button 2:26½ can safely be said to take high rank, not alone for his own performances, but from the remarkable speed shown by his progeny. His record should have been much lower than it is, for he has frequently gone miles in 2:16 and better, and he would have been sent for a low mark, but a "leg" has interfered and necessitated a let up in his work. Large in stature, yet of good conformation, he is a horse to please the eye of the visitor when seen for the first time. As our artist has given ad exquisite representation of Alexander Button, the reader can at once detect the excellent proporttons and beautiful lines of this justly celebrated stallion. It is a great pity that his record is not where it should be, but as a horse is judged by the speed that he prodnces in his foals, so the fame of Alexander Button has gone forth to the world by the performances of his sons and daughters. Yolo Maid, by many thought to be the fastest pacer in the world, not even barring Johnson, brought him into great prominence in 1888, by pacing as a three year old in 2:14, which she further reduced to 2:12½ last season. Belle Button was another of the improving kind, and easily made a record of 2:20, while Thomas Ryder, another son of Alexander Button, got a record of 2:20¼. Rosa Mac made her record of 2:20¾ prior to being taken back East, and if we are creditably informed, can materially lower that mark now. Harry Mac, a full brother to Rosa Mac, can show a "twenty" clip and can be seen almost any day on the Park roads, where he is being driven by Capt. B. E. Harris. All of Alexander Button's colts are p[illegible] for their speed, and in sending mares to him the breeder is always sure to get a fast foal. The sire of Alexander Button was Alexander 490, who had himself a record of 2:31½, and a three mile record of 7:54½. He was one of Geo. M. Patchen Jr.'s best sons, and is noted as the sire of Nellie Patchen 2:27½, Reliance 2:22¾, Tommy Dodd 2:24, in addition to Alexander Button; it will therefore be seen that he is entitled to his speed producing power and that he comes from a family that have all been endowed the same way. Mr. Geo. W. Woodard, the owner of Alexander Button, is a breeder of the progressive type, and has secured a number of first class mares which were bred to Alexander Button last season. As a result Mr. Woodward will have a fine lot of foals, and we shall expect to hear that they are all "threatened with speed." The following is Alexander Button's pedigree, by Alexander 490, dam Lady Button by Napa Rattler. Alexander by Geo. M. Patchen Jr. 31, dam Lady Crum, said to be by Brown's Bellfounder.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horseand to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standard horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whos sire or dam is a standard animal.

Short Stories.

BY HARVEY W. PECK.

Some three years ago two gentlemen named William Jones and Ezekial Robbins were partners in a running horse called Robert Lamont.

The affinity of the trio was so well known that they were familiarly style "Bill," "Zeke" and "Bob." These three were a precious gang. The antecedents of Bill and Bob were buried in obscurity, while the pedigree of their runner was immured in the dim and distant past. Bill however always persisted that Boby—as he invariably called the horse—was sired by Glencoe, while Zeke stated, quite confidentially, that his dam had run a half in 46½! In fact these two gentlemen were noted for the joyous manner with which they toyed with the truth, while some people satirically said the horse could not run fast enough to head a cow in a lane!

The first thing that shook my faith in Bill Jones' truthfulness happened in this wise: Bill was a person of varied experiences in life having served in the Mexican war 8 years, as a scout 12 years, was in the jungles of Central Africa 7 years, during which sojourn he killed several elephants and hundreds of wilder—beasts; was at Cape Colony and in the diamond mines for 11 years, etc., etc.

Aside from the above localites, Bill had been in Brazil for several years; in Buenos Ayres a few years, in short had been most everything in most every clime. Bill told me these things at different seances. I kept an account of the number of years he had served in his different capacities and made a list of them. This list showed Bill to be 135 years old. One day I confronted Bill with this list expecting him to collapse. I was mistaken. He snatched his head meditatively and said there must be some mistake.

"Did you not say you were in Africa so long?"

"I was" he replied.

"And in Brazil so long?"

"Yes!"

"And in Cape Colony so long?"

"Yes, sir."

"And served in the Mexican War eight years?',

"For a fact."

"You were in Buenos Ayres several years?"

"I was!"

Thus I went through every item of the list and then said: "Well, Bill, that makes you 135 years old according to your own statement!"

Bill said he'd be hanged of he could see how it was, it looked right, but really couldn't be, of course, but he positively swore that he had been in all the places he told me about for exactly the number of years he claimed! I will state that Bill was probably 40 years of age.

Zeke was hardly Bill's equal as a liar—he was worse! It can be seen that when this pair was united they made a strong combination.

Robert Lamont, the horse could run any distance from a quarter to a derby route, and was first-class at all, so Zeke said! For over a year they kept this horse, took good care of him; occassionally galloped him, but never tried to get a race for him. They finally took him to Round Valley and made a race with a horse owned by a resident, the alleged stakes being $1000 a side. This was of course a mistake, as Bill and Zeke did not have that amount of money. The real purpose of the race was to skin the Indians upon the reservation, which thing they successfully accomplished, the Indians losing three or four hundred dollars and two or three ponies. The race was a half mile and "Boby" won in 54½ seconds, being badly punished and sadly wearied. That night one of the Indian braves stuck a big knife into Boby's anatomy and in the morning Zeke and Bill found him dead! They mourned long and loud declaring him "one of the most valuable horses" in existence.

In a paper published in the principle town of the valley, there appeared the following:

SAD FATE OF A GREAT HORSE.

"The night following the race at Simpson's ranch, between Messrs. Jones and Robbins' horse Robert Lamont, by imp. Glencoe, and Nat Collin's mare Red Mary, with the particulars of which all our readers are familiar, some miscreant, presumably an Indian, killed Messrs. Jones and Robbins' horse! This was a very valuable animal, they having been offered $8000 for him, which they indignantly refused. His loss to this country is irreparable. His owners have the sympathy of the entire community. As Mr. William Jones said in our presence, "his like will not be seen for many a day." It can be said of great horses as of great men, 'requisat in pace'!"

I witnessed a race many years ago upon the plains of Utah, that was productive of more betting, louder shouting and more vigorous kicking than any race I have seen since.

I was spending a few months in Ogden, and had about become used to the various Mormon customs; thus the sight of six or seven women with one man evoked no surprise, while the running brooks beside she roadway and the vast array of things in the "tithing-yard" had lost their charm.

In order that the reader may understand the true inwardness of the race, I will give, very briefly, a little sketch of the Mormon customs and of my individual experience. Ogden is a town of about 8,000 inhabitants, the Mormons being in the majority. They style all outsiders either Gentiles or "the ungodly." The two classes do not mingle together very much, and cordially dislike each other. There are some exceptions, of course. Some of the better class of Mormons will invite one to their houses and entertain him royally, but the subject of polygamy is invariably tabooed.

I attended a ball in Salt Lake City one night. Three carloads of Gentiles left Ogden on a special train, upon invitation of the ball committee, arriving in the Mormon stronghold about 8.30 P. M. Some three hundred people were in attendance, principally Mormons. An elegant band was discoursing selections from Wautafel and Strauss, and the music was being interspersed in many ways by many dancers. That was before my hair was white and my brow furrowed, and I took an active part in the gaiety. While the revelry was at its height I was dancing with a young lady named Young. I had been introduced to many by the same name. While we were promenading I launched into a satirical tirade against some of the alleged tenets of the Mormon faith I noticed that while the lady had been a good conversationalist on all other topics, she seemed peculiarly stupid upon this subject. After the number was finished I explained to a friend what I had done. He laughed and said: "That girl is Brigham Young's daughter; so are all the others here of the same name." I met a score of Brigham's daughters that night, and they were not a bad lot either. They were fairly well educated, moderately informed, and endeavored to be as nice as possible.

I noticed that the "ungodly" were not viewed favorably by the younger Mormons, and in many ways the class prejudice was evinced.

Several miles from Ogden there nestles a little hamlet called Eden. In appearance it is not what its namesake of long ago was popularly supposed to be. One of the Saints informed me that from that place the "chosen of the Lord" would rise to meet him in the sky. In this sequestered nook there was owned a Cayuse dubbed Wahoo. He was about 14½ hands high, roan in color, diabolical in conformation, uncertain in disposition, and could run 600 yards very fast. At that date there flourished a man whom I will call Parsons. He lived in Ogden. For a long time he had been looking for a pony that could beat the Eden production. One day an Indian—true blue, feathers in his hair, bow and quiver slung across his back, scarlet blanket over his shoulders—rode into town upon a disreputable pony, which he was anxious to sell. The Indian said his horse could outrun anything among his tribe, and could beat anybody's horse five or six hundred yards. Parsons tried the horse, concluded he would do, and bought him. Within thirty days he made a race with the Eden horse for $50 a side. The usual method of procedure was to make a match for a small amount, and then the opposing parties would bet all they could raise.

About seventy-five of us went to the race. It was held in a narrow valley between two spurs of the Wasatch Range. Parson's horse was ridden by a sharp-featured Indian boy, while Wahoo's saddle was decorated by a little tow-headed Edenite. The distance was 550 yards, and Parson's horse won in the last jump. The Edenites were broke to almost a man. Money, sugar-cane and everything else was gone. Considerable tact was required to keep a free fight from taking place. Everybody yelled from start to finish, and they badly scared the tow-headed boy that rode Wahoo by threats to hang him for not winning.

There can be nothing truer than the saying, "Nothing succeeds like success!" The practical exemplication of this axiom is constantly witnessed in every walk of life. If a man amasses wealth in any mercantile pursuit, he is very generally voted "smart," which term is used to express intelligence, keenness and sagacity! Very many men of this kind are entitled to none of these encomiums, being naturally ignorant and thick-headed, having been unfortunate enough to receive no education in their youth.

Thus it is in the horse world. Every turf writer now comes to the front and says, "That Axtell could not help being the great horse he is—forsooth, look at his breeding; by William L, dam by a horse with a record of 2:26, and that horse a son of Mambrino Patchen, the great broodmare sire; again, he is inbred just right," etc

The above quotation works are my own, but the words express in substance about the general tenor of the reasons given.

These same writers well know that if a man had told them he was going to breed a mare by Mambrino Boy to William L., and expected the produce to beat 2:15 as a three-year-old, they would have considered him crazy.

Everybody—meaning all horsemen—know that very many colts are bred throughout these United States every year that are the equal, and in many instances the superior of Axtell in breeding, but they don't trot in 2:12 at three years, nor in 2:25 for that matter, though the dam may have been a great broodmare of tested quality, and the sire a trotter and producer.

What, then, is the reason that one young horse will turn out thus phenominally, far surpassing the other 999 equally well bred, and with equal opportunity? Can any one tell? Very many reasons can be adduced looking to an explanation, but are they true? Do they represent the actual reasons?

We may all hold theories more or less tenable, but my opinion is that none of us can tell the exact reasons, else the problem of breeding fast horses would not have the same degree of fascination it now possesses.

Were all horses very fast, the high figure now obtainable for a horse of extreme speed would fade like a mist before the sun. I presume the degree of uncertainty encountered in rearing fast horses gives it the highest flavor—there is always a certain fascination in chance!

But that inate something, that indescribable factor within the blood and brain, which renders one horse so vastly superior in speed to all others of equal age and breeding, what is it? Plenty of men think they know, but do they?

The issue of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of January 4th, contained an article by C. Bruce Lowe, which is worthy of consideration. The fact that the produce of a mare, by a certain horse, will sometimes bear a striking resemblance to some other stallion, which she was bred to the season before, is so well known, that it will not be refuted by any intelligent man. But that it goes farther than outside resemblance can not be proven.

The mare bred to a Quagga, that afterward produced colts with stripes upon them—when bred to stallions—is undoubtedly true, but no proof has been given to show that they partook of the disposition of the Quagga.

To my mind, the reason for the stripes appearing in after produce is found in the fact that the nervous organism and sensative brain of the mare were so strongly affected at time of breeding as to produce the apparent phenomena at two or three subsequent breedings.

A mare once bred to a jackass will sometimes afterward have a colt by a stallion marked with a stripe down the back, or in some other way resembling the jack. This is not to be wondered at, for the appearance and tone of voice of a jack is sufficient to render life unbearable, and the only wonderment is that all the mares' subsequent colts do not resemble the jackass in all particulars.

Mr. Lowe says that there is such a thing as "impregnation of dam with the sire strains through foal's circulation previous to birth." To this fact he attributes the workings above mentioned, instead of to the effect the singular appearance of such a sire might have upon a highly organized mare.

If this theory be true, men have made most wonderful mistakes for many years past in the choice of broodmares. It would be far better if this "impregnation of the dam with sire strains" is an existent fact, to buy a mare that had been bred, we will say to Geo. Wilkes, for several years, than to purchase a daughter of his, for in case the first mare was stinted to Wilkes six or seven consecutive years, she ought to be about fifteen-sixteenths Wilkes at the end of the time—that is, as a producer.

This would be a good thing, financially, for breeders, as daughters of Wilkes are held very high.

The Los Angeles Races.

[By our Special Commissioner.]

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13th.

The promoters of the winter race meeting have played in hard luck. The rain first necessitated a postponement, and the cold spell which has prevailed for a week past has seriously interfered with the attendance. The fields have been large, and the racing on the whole has been good. The talent has not fared very well, several rank outsiders knocking out their calculations in a most aggravating manner. The judges who officiated were Clifton Bell of Denver, A. W. Barret and Hank McGregor. They have been kept busy watching out for jobs. Los Angeles never before enjoyed the presence of so many sprint racehorses.

Saturday morning, January 11th, it was discovered that some miscreant had given Kitty Van a dose of aconite. The fiend gave the speedy mare more than he intended, and her life was despaired of for several hours. This despicable act has caused considerable feeling in a certain quarter, and a well known character on many California race tracks is accused of being the guilty party. The two prominent starters against Kitty Van were Rondo and Painkiller. The judges very sapiently declared the race off. A few people made a vigorous protest, but it is always well to protect the betting public. The poisoning of Kitty Van demonstrated that a job had been contemplated in the interest of either Rondo or Painkiller, but unfortunately there is nothing but a little circumstantial evidence to guide any one in finding out the guilty party. Another disagreeable feature of the meeting was the wretched starting in several races.

The writer holds that a winter racing in Los Angeles can be made to pay, but it is out of reason to expect people to shiver with the cold while watching the races. Enthusiasts will turn out, but the general public can hardly be blamed for not putting in an appearance.

The first day of January was admirably adapted for racing, and those who journeyed to Agricultural Park enjoyed a capital day's sport. It will be remembered that the programme run off was arranged for Christmas Day. This will account for three year olds running in the dash for two year olds. Atalanta won the five furlongs from Gambo and Rosemeade.

SUMMARY.

First Race.—Five furlongs; two year olds.

E. J. Baldwin's b f Atalanta	L. Brown, 117 lbs	1
N. A. Covarrubias' b c Gambo	J Clifford, 122	2
L. H. Vignolo's b f Rosemeade	Scofield, 117	3

Time—0:15.

Pools sold—Atalanta $10, Gambo $4, Rosemeade $3.

The next race was a surprise party. McGuinnis and Winona were thought to be the only two in the race, but Louise M. upset all calculations and won cleverly.

SUMMARY.

Second race—One mile; for all ages.

T. Hazlet's b f Louise M, 4	Hazlet 114	1
Kelly & Samuels' b h Ed McGinnis 4	Marshall 124	2
E. J. Baldwin's b m Winona, 4	Brown, 119	3
Matt Storn's ch g Forrester, 5	Pierce, 109	0
J. D. Dunn's s h Four Acres, 4	Dunn, 119	0

Time—1:46

Pools sold—Ed McGinnis $15; Winona $9; Louise M $4; and the field $2. Paris Mutuals paid, Ed McGinnis $7.50 and Louise M. $6.60.

The selling race was easily captured by Tom Daly, Kildare just defeating Ida Glenn for the place.

SUMMARY.

Third race—Seven furlongs; selling.

S. Mulkey's ch g Tom Daly, 6	L. Newhall, 112	1
Matt Storn's ch g Kildare, 4	Pierce, 120	2
H. D. Miller's ch m Ida Glenn, a	J. Roach, 98	3
H. E. Rose's b c Dan Murphy, 3	Clifford, 119	0
E. J. Baldwin's b g Gladiator, 2	G. West, 115	0
J. E. Rose' ch h Sir Ladd. 4	Hazlet, 100	0
G. A. Davis' ch h Jack Brady, 5	J. Devine, 109	0
J. Abit's b g Jack Pot, 3	Ward, 100	0
Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome, 4	Marshall, 12.0	0

Time—1:32½.

Pools sold—Tom Daly $20; Kildare $6; Dan Murphy $2; and the field $6. Paris mutuals paid—Tom Daly $5.75, Kildare $6.20.

In the last race Painkiller led for considerable of the distance, but Sunday won handily.

SUMMARY.

Fourth race—Nine sixteenths of a mile; for all ages.

T. F. Lynch's br g Sunday, a	Davis, 1888	1
G. Lyman's b h Painkiller, a, 120		2
J. R. Ross' b f Kitty Van, 3	Hazlett, 111	3
D. F. Able's ch h Rondo, a, 180		0

On Thursday, Jan. 9, the first event on the card was the one and one-sixteenth dash for all ages. Atlanta was made a hot favorite at $20, with Fannie F second choice for $10, and the field for $8. Atalanta was never in the race, and coming down the straight Fannie F looked all over the winner, but Naicho B came up on the outside full of running, and under the clever manipulation of Hazlett won Cleverly. Hazlett displayed his wisdom by running on the outside, as the footing was very much better than on any other part of the track. The Paris mutuals, which were sold for $2, paid $9.85.

SUMMARY.

First race—One mile and a sixteenth; for all ages.

John Forster's s g Naicho B. 3	Hazlett 119	1
Matt Storn's b m Fannie F, 5	Narvice	2
Kelly & Samuel's b m Welcome, 5	Marshall 119	1
E. J. Baldwin's b f Atalanta, 3	L. Brown 99	0

Time—1.56½.

The favorite was again defeated in the "Possible Case" handicap. Louise M sold for $25, Ed McGinnis $20 and the field $5. The son of Grinstead captured the event rather handily. Dan Murphy cut out a terrific pace and Haelett very injudiciously rushed Louise M along with Dan Murphy. The other starters were strung out for a dozen lengths. The pace told on the mare, and when Marshall made his effort on Ed McGinnis the race was all over.

SUMMARY.

Second race—One mile and a quarter; for all ages.

Kelly & Samuel's b h Ed McGinnis, 5	Marshall, 112	1
T. Hazlett's b f Louise M, 4	Hazlett, 107	2
H. E. Rose's b h Dan Murphy, 4	Clifford, 107	3
Matt Storn's ch g Forester, 5	Pierce, 112	0
J. D. Dunn's s h Four Aces, 4	Dunn, 107	0

Time—2.17½.

The last event on the programme was the seven-eights mile heats.

Oro was made a red hot favorite, and he justified the confidence reposed in him by winning in straight heats. There were many people who thought, however, that the judges erred in giving the first heat to Oro. A dead heat would have about hit the nail on the head.

SUMMARY.

Third race—Seven furlongs; heats; for all ages.

T. R. Ross' b g Oro, 6	Hazlett, 117	1	1
C. A. Davis' b h Jack Brady, 6	Narvice, 117	2	2
E. R. Dean's b h Othello, 4	Hennessy, 114	3	3
C. Walters' b c Reno, 3	Cligord, 99	dis
P. Donalech's s g Naicho B, 4	Hazlett, 117	dis

Time—1.32 and 1.35½.

The track was slow and heavy when the bell was rung for the first race on Friday. In fact, the slow time made in all the races during the entire meeting is due to the condition of the track. Sunday, Painkiller, Rondo, Fannie F. and Sidlaw sported silk for the five-eighths mile dash. Sunday was installed a hot favorite. Rondo and Painkiller had a few supporters. Sunday romped home an easy winner. Just before the start of this race the judges put up new riders on Rondo and Painkiller.

SUMMARY.

First race—Five furlongs, for all ages.

T. F. Lynch's b g Sunday, a, 120	Davis	1
G. Lyman's b h Painkiller, 5, 120	Brown	2
D. F. Abel's s g Rondo, a, 120	West	3
M. Storn's b m Fannie F., 5, 115	Pierce	0
E. R. Den's b g Sid Law, 5, 120	Hennessy	0

Time, 1:04.

Pools sold: Sunday, $25; Rondo, $11, and the field $7.

Everybody wanted Oro in the next race, and there was a rush to get a pool ticket on the son of Norfolk. The talent again received a hard knock, as Oro failed to get a slice of the money. It was a great race down the straight between Oro, Gladiator and Othello, but the Santa Anita entry captured the event, and the few who backed the Maltese Cross were jubilant.

SUMMARY.

Second race—One mile and seventy yards, for all ages.

E. J. Baldwin's b g Gladiator, 4, 119	West	1
E. R. Den's b h Othello, 4, 119	Hennessy	2
T. R. Ross's b g Oro, 5, 124	Hazlett	3
L. H. Vignolo's b f Rosemeade, 3, 99	Roache	0
M. Storm's ch g Forester, 5, 107	Pierce	0
J. D. Dun's ch h Four Aces, 4, 112	Riley	0
Kelly & Samuels' br m Welcome, 5, 119	Marshall	0

Time, 1:53¾.

The talent called the turn in the next race. Tom Daly packed his terrific weight and easily defeated his field. Adam ran gamely and at one time looked dangerous:

SUMMARY.

Third race—One mile, for all ages, welter weights.

C. Mulkey's ch g Tom Daly, 6, 152	Hill	1
C. A. Davis' ch g Adam, a, 152	Foster	2
G. Walters' b h Reno, 3, 132	Clifford	3
C. A. Davis' b h Jack Brady, 6, 152	Smith	0

Time, 1:52.

Pools sold; Tom Daly, $20; Davis' stable, $17; Reno, $3.
Paris mutuals paid; No. 2181, $2 70.

The weather was cold and disagreeable on Saturday which interfered with the attendance. Nine faced the starter in the seven furlong dash.

Tom Daly was a red-hot favorite with Louise M. second choice. Dan Murphy looked as fit as a fiddle and had a few staunch admirers. Welcome cut up at the start and the flag was eventually lowered to an admirtble start. Atlanta was left behind and Welcome crowded into Tom Daly thus making the favorite lose fully eight lengths. It was any one's race coming down the stretch but Othello gained the verdict by a head.

SUMMARY.

First race—Seven furlongs; for all ages.

E. R Den's b h Othello, 119 lbs	Hennessy	1
T. Hazlett's b m Louise M, 114 lbs	Hazlett	2
N. A. Covarrubias' b h Dan Murphy, 119 lbs	Clifford	3
Cy Mulkey's ch g Tom Daly, 6, 124 lbs	Narvice	0
E. J. Baldwin's b m Atalanta, 3, 99 lbs	Brown	0
L. K. Vignolo's b m Rosemeade, 3, 99 lbs	Roach	0

M. Storn's b m Fannie F., 5, 117 lbs	Pierce	0
Kelly & Samuels' b m Welcome, 5, 117 lbs	Marshall	0

Time, 1:32½.

Pools sold—Tom Daly, $10; Louise M., $7; the field, $7 and Dan Murphy $6.

Ed McGinnis, Winona and Kildare came to the post for the owner's handicap. Mr. McGinnis sold a hot favorite. There was a quiet tip out on Winona but Ed McGinnis captured the race in easy style. McGinnis and Kildare broke away and ran a mile before the race, but this little exercise appeared to agree with Ed McGinnis.

SUMMARY.

Second Race—One mile and one-eighth, owners to handicap.

Kelly & Samuels' d h Ed. McGinnis, 5, 80	Marshall	1
E. J. Baldwin's b m Winona, 5, 99	Brown	2
M. Storn's ch g Kildare, 5, 82	Pierce	3

Time, 1:57½.

Pools sold: McGinnis, $10; Kildare, $4; Winona, $3. Paris mutuals paid $4.30.

The last event of the day, the five-eighths mile heats, was declared off, owing to the attempt made to poison Kitty Van.

The last day of the winter meeting took place on Tuesday. The weather was much more pleasant than on the preceding days and capital sport was provided. The opening mile dash proved to be a capital betting race. Old John Treat sold favorite at first, but as the betting settled down, Tom Daly sold first choice with Treat, Oro and Winona in the order named. This resulted in a big boil over and the backers of the field again reaped a harvest. Davis on Painkiller sent the Joe Hooker representative to the front at the fall of the flag, and he kept him there throughout the race. It was a whipping finish between Painkiller, Oro, Tom Daly and Winona, but the first named gained the verdict with but little to spare.

SUMMARY.

First race—One mile, for all ages, at 100 pounds.

G. Lyman's b h Painkiller, 4, 100	Davis	1
J. R. Ross' b g Oro, 5, 100	Hazlett	2
Cy. Mulkey's ch g Tom Daly, 6, 100	Narvice	3

Time, 1:46¾.

Pools sold: Tom Daly, $11; J. Treat, $10; Oro, $6; Winona, $5, and the field $5.

The January Handicap proved a gift to Ed McGinnis, who easily defeated Naicho B., Jack Brady and Forester.

SUMMARY.

Second Race—January handicap. One mile and one-quarter; for all ages.

Kelly & Samuels' b h Ed McGinnis, 4, 124 lbs	Marshall	1
C. A. Davis' b h Jack Brady, 5, 112 lbs	Narvice	2

Time, 2:16.

Pools sold: Ed McGinnis $30, Brady $10, the field $15.

The last race of the meeting was a cinch for Louise M. Welcome sulked as usual at the start, and delayed matters.

SUMMARY.

Third Race—One mile and forty yards; for all ages.

T. Hazlet's b m Louise M., 4, 99 lbs	Hazlet	1

DAGWORTH.

Sporting Gossip From Australia.

C. BRUCE LOWE.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I send you by this mail some news from this side of the world. You will, of course, long ago have heard through the wires of the sad death of our young champion sculler, Searle. He took ill on the voyage from England, and was dangerously so when he reached Adelaide, where the doctor pronounced it typhoid. He came on with the steamer as far as Melbourne, and died there after a few days in the hospital. The body was brought up to the residence of his trainer, Neil Matherson, in Sidney, and taken through the main street of Sidney to the Cathedral, where a short service was performed, and the cortege then proceded to the circular quay, where the coffin was taken on board a steamer to be buried at the residence of his parents at his native place on the Clarence River, over whose placid bosom our young champion developed his magnificent powers. The procession was attended by the representatives of all the rowing and athletic clubs, members of Parliament, and thousands of citizens, who assembled to do honor for the last time to one of the most phenominal pullers this or any country has ever produced. The streets through which the procession marched were lined with spectators, and it is computed that not less than 200,000 witnessed the ceremony. He retained his senses up to the last few hours of his life, and met the approach of grim death with the same fortitude that he showed when pitted against the flower of your great continent, O'Conner.

It is very sad that one so gifted by nature with such glorious powers of muscular skill should be cut off before he had attained the full vigor of life, and to Australia (viewed in the light of sport) it is quite a national calamity. It was the fashion of English writers a few years back to argue that Australians would necessarily degenerate, owing to the climate, but the feats of our teams of cricketters, followed by Laycock, Beach, Kemp and Searle in the water, and inside the ropes such men as Slavin and Jackson, go a long way to prove that these pessamists were "barking up the wrong tree."

While I write there is a squabble about the championship of the world, to which O'Connor has put in a big claim, but by all unprejudiced judges it must be acceded that Kemp has a far more valid claim. The latter was champion of the world until Searle beat him, whereas O'Conner never won the championship. Certain it is that Searle brought it back and laid it upon the shores of his native country, and if the English or Americans would win it they must come over here, where they will find several hard nuts to crack.

So much for acquatics. Since I sent you our files of newspapers there has not been any racing worth chronicling, but the coming week will usher in the first of a series of first class meetings, at which most of our best New South Wales horses will compete. I send you a further instalment of a series of articles I have been writing on "The Science of Horse Breeding." This one only slightly touches on that, to breeders, important phase, the law of sex, and while I do not profess to have made any discoveries, the cases I adduce to bear me out in the theory may be of service to breeders, and it was more with a view to provoke a controversy on the subject that I published my observations. I feel convinced that no breeder will succeed over a term of years without a close knowledge of physiology, as well as a reliable gallery of the principal landmarks in the stud. There is nothing which indicates so clearly the tend of heredity as color and shape, and with the portraits of his ancestors before you, the nick of blood required by your sire will be less a matter of chance than the present haphazard method of going to work.

The prices of horse stock are absurdly low down here at present, and any of your stud men who require a change of blood should take advantage of the bad times to make their purchases. The Hon. Jas. White, our premier racing (and stud) man, has hitherto been chary of parting with any of his choice blood, but seeing that his stud is not big enough to absorb all the high class and well performed colts he breeds, he has placed in my hands two of his best performers. These stallions are by his renounced Chester from imported mares, and are inbred to the emperor of stallions, English Stockwell. The success achieved by Mr. J. B. Haggin with the handsome Sir Modred has made an old friend of mine gnash his teeth with envy because his offer of $6,300 was refused only a few months before the horse was sent by me to America. He has, however, some balm to his feelings in being the owner of Anteous, a very brilliant colt and one of the few sons left by the expatriated hero. The Victorians are determined that the Melbourne Cup will maintain its prestege and this year they give $50,000 added money. Of this rich prize $10,000 go to second and $5,000 to third horse. This is more valuable to the winner than the Lancashire Plate of $60,000, because the latter is made up in a great measure by the racing men in entrances and sweeps. In our race the club add this big sum. It would be well worth the while of some of your big owners to run down and win this and they may be quite certain of a right royal welcome and the fairest play if they do come.

We are looking forward with much interest to the match between Jackson and Sullivan to come off in your city, and from the good feeling shown by your State to Jackson, we have every confidence he will get a fair show and dress the knots off Sullivan who must be getting rather blaze.

TURF AND TRACK.

C. N. King has sold Bonnie King to Sam Hildreth.

Brooks Hardy has sold Monita Hardy to Jake Johnson for $5000.

John Mackey has been steadily improving, and is expected in the city shortly.

Australia claims a very low percentage of roarers among their thoroughbreds.

Lord Calthorpe was offered $5,000 for Satiety, by Isonomy, out of Wifey, but refused it.

The first thoroughbred foal on the Palo Alto Ranch was by (imp) Cyrus out of (imp) Amelia.

The Australian St. Blaize is by St. Albans, a son of Blair Athol. He has won a few races lately.

James Murphy will handle Teuton, Penn P, Estelle and others this year. He is located at Lexington.

On November 27th at Dunedin, New Zealand, £12,983 passed through the totalisator on the race course.

The Queensland Turf Club at Brisbane have contracted for a new grandstand of iron and bricks to cost $30,000.

Byron McClelland has offered J. E. Madden $2,500 for the brown two-year-old colt by imp The Rake out of Flora Mac donald.

The Turf Congress of the National Trotting Association will meet at the Iroquois Hotel, Buffalo, on Wednesday, February 12.

Lyle Simmons has returned Queen of Trumps to Mr. B. M. Cole, owing, it is said, to a break in their friendship. She won $4,420 last year.

Dick Havey, like all thoroughbreds, cannot forget the old love, and will probably have two or three well bred two-year-olds of his own next season.

The Australians have discovered another market for their thoroughbred stock. The steamer Metapedia took 100 horses to Colombo for Mr. C. H. Pate.

Mr. Kelly, ex-trainer of Moorebank, sues Mr. Gill, a prominent turfman, for $5,000 damages for stating that he fraudulently treated or stuffed Moorebank.

Mr. J. A. Morris says that Westchester will continue all the historic races as far as practicable. The Belmont, Withers, etc., will not be allowed to die out.

Owing to the bad weather and a slight indisposition, Henry Walsh did not go to Vina last week but one of his Aides fetched down a carload of thoroughbred mares.

It is said the new San Diego track, which will be built on Coronado Beach, adjacent to the hotel, will be one of the finest in California, with every Eastern convenience.

It is rumored that the Dwyers are really the owners of Hueneme, the crack two-year-old at Lexington. He is very heavily engaged in the Futurity among other stakes.

The Lindsleys, father and son, have clipped over 12,000 horses and mules this season in St. Louis. This is great work and hardly excelled, as speed goes, in a saw mill.

At the Rawal Haidi (India) meeting Landshark, an Australian bred gelding, was ridden by Lord William Beresford, winning the Amateurs' Purse, one mile, carrying 154 lbs.

Hickenbotham, the well known Australian trainer of Carbine, Oakleigh and Moorebank, says if the latter would run in the afternoon as he does in the morning he would be almost invincible.

Barnes is due at the Santa Anita Ranch on the first of February, it being deemed advisable for him to get used to the horses before starting out for the East. His salary is said, on good authority, to be $8,000.

The settling over the V. R. C. meeting was very slow, Bravo evidently not suiting the public. Many of the backers have not yet settled, and the bookmakers will probably make an example of one or two of the gentlemen.

They are becoming Americanized in race track methods in Russia. At Moscow after a race an attempt was made to mob a driver, concerning the old question between losers and winners as to the honesty of the gait of the winner.

At Clifton last Monday Father Bill Daly treated the boys to a surprise, Glory beating Telie Doe and Juggler one mile in 1:47½ Evidently the price suited the astute owner, who is said to be in the habit of waiting until it does.

The stakes of the spring meeting of the Memphis Jockey Club closed January 16th with about 150 entries for the eight stakes. There are probably a large number of other entries on the way, having been mailed on the 14th and 15th.

Guy Wilkes (2:15¼) and his daughter Lillian Wilkes (2:17¾) have the fastest combined record for sire and daughter in the world. Robert McGregor (2:17½) and Bonnie McGregor (2:13½) have the fastest combined record for sire and son.

Occident, the winner of the Exhibition Cup at Dunedin, N. Z, was bred in Tasmania by Mr. John Field, the breeder of Malua, Sheet Anchor, and many other well known performers. Mr. Field will use Arsenal, the 1886 Cup winner, in his stud.

The Australian turf has suffered a severe loss in the death of the two imported mares Petroleuse and Rosette; the latter, was a half sister to Bend Or, the Derby winner in 1880. He was by the triple crowned Lord Lyon out of Rouge Rose by Thormanby.

The Australian Jockey Club will probably in future, in order to keep pace with the times, have to add £5,000 to the Gold Cup, which is a two mile handicap, run on the Randwick course, Sydney. The Australian papers say the New South Wales Government should declare a holiday on the day, and thus have a large gate; the grand stands, course, etc., have been enlarged and renovated, the intention being to make Randwick a second Flemington.

M. E. Ragan of Hanford is the owner of Addie E, the Algona mare, who obtained a record of 2:22½ last season at Chico, he has a four-year-old stallion by Bay Rose out of Addie E., who should prove pretty good. I hear he shows plenty of speed. Mr. Ayres originally owned the dam of Addie E.

A. F. Newland, a prominent steeplechase rider, was killed on November 28th. He cut out the pace for a mile, and then took second place, but his horse (Salford) fell heavily at the stone fence, killing the rider instantaneously. Ten or twelve jockeys have been killed during the last few years in Australia.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ukiah Park Association was held last week. The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: J. S. Reed, W. A. Hagans, J. M. Mannon, L. T. Day, Sam Wheeler. Subsequently the Directors elected J. S. Reed, President, and L. T. Day, Secretary.

The new kind of track with one turn, of which we hear so much, may prove fast if properly built, but the people may not take kindly to it. The general public like to see as much as possible of a race, in this case the greater part of the mile will be trotted so far from the grand stand that the contest will look tame.

The Elmendorff yearlings are said to be very fine specimens of what a thoroughbred should be. Among them are brothers to J. B. Haggin's Firenzi, E. J. Baldwin's Grisette, and to Dry Monopole; while there is a sister to Los Angeles who will only be leased for her racing career, and a host of others who should be clinkers.

The local pool rooms have been very late this week receiving their returns from Clifton, etc. Owing to the storms the telegraph system has been very inactive for some time. If it lasts we shall possibly hear of the wires being tapped again. Is there anything in that old gag? One hears it so often a slight suspicion is admissable.

The V. A. T. C. stewards in Australia held an investigation into the running of Moorebank last November, and followed their usual practice (English precedent), i. e. not having any reporters present, consequently there has been a good deal of discussion which will be heightened when they receive Lord Durham's Gimcrack speech.

The Canterbury Jockey Club Derby of 1891 has 81 nominations, twenty-two are from the New Zealand Stud Company, most of them being by Nordenfeldt, a slashing son of Musket. This is quite a good showing for the New Zealanders. By the way, one of the entries is by St. George (brother to Chester) out of Idalia, the dam of Sir Modred and Cheviot.

B. C. Holly has purchased of B. R. Crocker the fine six-year-old stallion Election for the sum of $5,000. Election is a son of Senator Stanford's Electioneer, first dam Lizzie H. by Whipple's Hambletonian; second dam Lizzie Harris by Comus, son of Green's Bashaw; third dam by Arnold Harris, he by Whalebone, dam Sportsmistress by American Eclipse.

The number of horses in European Russia is 21,000,000, including six government studs, besides a large number of private ones. The Russian government devotes annually $80,000 to the purchase of stallions and so widespread has been the interest of late years in improving this stock, that races, trotting matches and shows have been largely increased all over the country.

Carbine, the phenomenal Australian four-year-old, who carried his weight so nobly under difficulties to second place in the last Melbourne Cup, is doing good work again. His foot is all right and he is being specially prepared for the Champion Stakes run next March, in which he will meet Abercorn and other cracks at weight for age, without any penalties or allowances.

Reno's Baby trotted in December 26th in 2:25½ and on December 30th paced in 2:24¼ in Texas. It may be of interest to horsemen to know this feat was accomplished by simply taking off a toe weight of four ounces, and that so evenly is he balanced at either gait, a simple removal of a four ounce toe-weight changes him from the trot to the pace. In trotting he wears thirteen ounces forward and in pacing nine ounces.

$250,000 is said to be the most money ever put up for two horses to race for. This sum was wagered at Natchez, Miss., in 1836, Walker Thurston matching his horse, Rodolph, against Hon. J. F. Claybourne's mare, Susan Yandell, for 2500 bales of cotton a side, it being equal to $250,000. Susan Yandell had a walk over for the money, as Rodolph was taken sick shortly before the time set for the contest.

A certain class of Australian racing men, have of late, caused a good deal of trouble and annoyance by appealing against the decision of the stewards. It is hinted that in several instances the objections were made on the off chance that money might be made by betting that the horse objected to would get the race. It is suggested that the introduction of a rule to increase the deposit to £50 to be forfeited if objection is frivolous.

Justice Higinbotham at the Ballarat Circuit Court sentenced John Stewart to twelve months imprisonment for welshing Mr. Jenkins of £9. It appears that at the Ballarat Miners' Races, on the 28th of November, Mr. Jenkins backed Herd Times with Stewart, but when the horse won and Mr. Jenkins went for his money, Stewart had gone, but was arrested at the Ballarat East station, with the result before mentioned.

The Australasian paid Myers the foot racer a compliment when it said he is a gentlemanly fellow, far above the general run of professional pedestrians, and was probably equally as correct when it said that he, Myers, was painting thickly when be said half a million could be won on the Melbourne Cup. The Australasian says if the amount, presumably in American money, were landed, there would be a poor show of getting it all. Ante-post betting is loosing ground and eventually cash betting will be the prevailing system of Australia.

The work on the improvements at the Kentucky Association course have been begun, the first thing thus far done being the tearing down of the betting shed, which will be built large enough to make it capable of accommodating thirty stands. The public stand has also been torn down. The old lumber will be utilized in building several additional stables, containing from fifteen to twenty stalls each. It is thought by taking advantage of the open winter, that by the spring meeting all the contemplated improvements will be finished, and on the opening day in May this historic course will present a modern appearance.

Arsenal, who won the Melbourne Cup in 1886, has been sold for 600 guineas, and his purchaser, Mr. Field, has taken him to his stud farm in Tasmania. The son of Goldsbrough and Powder should nick well with the Whalebone mares which Mr. Field has there.

The Australasian makes a very good suggestion which might be applicable to other countries as well as Australia: — In these degenerate days, when "reversal of form" is so much the rule, it would not be a bad idea if the V. R. C. were to appoint two or three paid stewards to attend the various suburban meetings. At present it is always difficult to get honorary stewards to act, and most daring deeds are performed without the slightest notice being taken of them. If this suggestion were carried out, probably we should not hear so much of suspicious running.

Many of the old-time champion geldings have passed away, such as Dexter, 2:17¼, Great Eastern, 2:18, Judge Fullerton, 2:18, Red Cloud, 2:18, Col. Lewis, 2:18½, is now 19, Midnight, 2:18¼ is 17, and still has a great flight of speed, being one of John D. Rockefeller's favorite pair of blacks. Of the old-timers that were performing in the '70s, Comee, 2.19¼; Iron Age, 2:19¾, Troubadour, 2:19½, Camors, 2:19¾, are dead, while Deck Wright, 2:19¾, Bodine, 2:19½, Driver, 2:19½, and possibly Moose, 2:19½, Thomas L Young, 2:19½, Captain Emmons, 2:19½, and Albemarle, 2:19, are still alive.

Isaac Murphy, the celebrated jockey, is spending his winter quietly at his home in Lexington. He rarely ever goes down town, and spends most of his time hunting, of which sport he is not only very fond, but he is also a crack shot with either rifle or shotgun. He has a passion for guns and has a choice collection of all kinds of rifles and shotguns. A few nights ago, Isaac was initiated into a local colored lodge of Masons, and he is therefore probably the only jockey in this country to become a member of that ancient order. Murphy will ride this season principally in the East, where he will probably be in the service of the well-known Dwyer Brothers.

The Winter's two year olds which Alf Estill will take East will probably include Rey Del Rey, a full brother to The Emperor of Norfolk and El Rio Rey; Judge Post, a full brother to Don Jose, Pocatello and Ed Corrigan, by Joe Hooker—Countess Zeika; Black Bart, by Three Cheers—Bonita; Uno Grande, a half sister to Lady Helen, by Joe Hooker—Jessie R; San Juan, brother to Alta, by Norfolk—Ballinette; Blizzard, by Blazes—Trade Wind; Belle Songer, by Joe Hooker—Lou Spencer; Hettie Humphries, by Joe Hooker—Alice N, dam of Applause; Average, by Joe Hooker—Avail, dam of Laura Gardner; Aletia, sister to Bonanza, by Joe Hooker—Mattie Glenn. They will leave here late in February.

A correspondent in Spirit of the Times says that in Salem, N. J., there are two short pieces of road which were covered with oyster shells about 10 inches deep. The tops have been ground fine by continued driving, presenting a very smooth, compact surface which is slightly elastic. The roads, where the shells end, are made of loam and gravel, and are comparatively smooth. Now, it has been noticed by all in speeding over these roads, as soon as the shell portion is reached, the horse increases his stride and action, and therefore goes much faster. The gentleman suggests that a track built on that principle, i e., an eight or ten-inch covering of pulverized oyster shells, should prove invaluable, particularly during frost and wet weather.

The Australian Jockey club has made a new departure with regard to its young stakes which cannot but meet with the approval of racing men generally, and buyers of yearling in particular. In place of the present Sires' produce stakes and Foal stakes, which will lapse in three years, it has decided to establish several new races styled Biennial Stakes, the first of which will be run at the A. J. C Autumn Meeting of 1892. According to the prevailing custom, horses are entered for produce races while they are yet foals, but under the new order of things entries will not be taken until they are yearlings, so that it will be optional with the buyers of this class of blood stock to nominate their purchases as they may think fit, instead of allowing the breeder to do so, as has hitherto been the practice.

The Lucknow (India) meeting was noticeable for the fact that several English and Australian racers competed. In the Trial Stakes the expatriated Australian Moorhouse, by Moorthorpe, won handily, five furlongs in 1:04. The Little Gochase was won by Lord W. Beresford's Australian mare Nellie, who beat five Arabs and two Indian breds. The Bar Cup was won by Fitz-William, an imported English horse, while the Grand Annual was won by an Australian, Harvester. At the Sonepore meeting Midas won the Doomraon Cup and Belliah Cup, Charlton won the Hutwa Cup, Exbank the Durbhunga Cup, Little Sister the Merchants' Cup, Spray the Beck Cup, Saleyard the Indian Planter's Gazette Purse, Charlton the Civilians' Cup, The Ghost the Jaintpore Plate and Gold Jessop's Cup, all the winners being Australians.

Secretary Brewster, of the Washington Park Jockey Club, says the Times Democrat, reports forty entries to the stakes of the club have been received with just exactly half of the hoped for number in, and the Californian and other far Western stables, the Tennessee stables, those now at New Orleans, a number in Kentucky and others to hear from, it appears that Secretary Brewster's desire will be realized.

When the rich Wheeler handicap was instituted it was anticipated that the event would be recognized as the most important handicap of the West, and on a par with the Suburbad and Brooklyn in the East. Heretofore the Oakwood has always received the greatest number of entries but it is already evident that the Wheeler has supplanted it and taken the place it was designed to fill in the estimation of Western owners. He has already received sixty-two entries for this race.

Judge, starter and every racing official comes in for censure and adverse comment every now and again, but of late, that much abused official, the handicapper, has been catching it right and left in England and the Colonies. In England, Major Egerton's work was so criticised that there will be probably two handicappers in future. In New Zealand, the Dunedin handicapper has so offended the northern horse owners that they (owners of seventeen of the best horses) have written to the Dunedin Jockey Club asking for a change in the handicapping, and requesting that a new handicapper be appointed; otherwise they would not send their horses to the autumn meeting. The Dunedin Jockey Club sent a circular letter to each of the protesting owners declining to make a change, but saying that they would as heretofore, carefully consider the fitness of their officials at the proper time, when the annual appointments were made.

We all probably have read the soul stirring lines of Adam Lindsay Gordon the Australian poet. His 'Sick Stock-rider' and 'How we beat the favorite' with many other hunting and racing poems are so vivid and realistic that after reading them one could almost swear he witnessed the scenes. It is therefore with pleasure we read that in Ballarat, where the poet first distinguished himself in Victoria, is to be erected a statue of him, the expense is to be defrayed by Mr. & Mrs. Jas. Macpherson, the latter of whom is one of the well known brilliant horsewomen of the Colonies.

The Ione Valley Echo has assumed quite a sporting aspect since the race track has drawn so many horses to their handy locality. Among other racing items it says: John Waterman, of Farmington, is training two very promising young horses at the Ione track. One is the stallion John W., owned by himself, and the other a two-year-old filly owned by L. L. Huntley of Oakland, and later on says that T. H. Rae and T. J. Drais, of Farmington, visited Ione a couple of days last week. Both gentlemen are interested in breeding thoroughbreds. They visited the Ione track Wednesday morning and saw Ajax, John W., Lynnette and several other trotters speeded, and were much pleased. They were of the opinion that the Ione track is without doubt the best winter track in the State.

In an interview with a St. Louis reporter President Charles Green says: There is a new movement on foot, too, for the government of the trotting meetings. It is suggested that no prospectus be issued until nearly the end of the Grand Circuit; then have an agent on the ground at Buffalo and Rochester with power to make and fill races. Trotting horses shift so rapidly that a prospectus arranged any length of time before a meeting is almost useless. Thus, last year the free for all pace had to be changed to a 2:16 class and the free for all trot did not fill at all. The trouble could be obviated by an agent being on the ground where the performers and owners are and offering no race which he did not feel certain would fill and fill well. Thus a programme could be arranged which would bring here almost every horse on the Grand Circuit.

Ed. Corrigan will school his recent purchase, Libretto, over hurdles, he being unsound; it is believed he could not stand preparation for flat racing. He says racing will commence at West Side Park, Chicago, this spring on May 15, and continue without interruption (save during the summer meeting of the Washington Park Club) until late in the month of October. His stable is now quartered at Memphis, Tenn., where his horses will remain until the racing at that point is over, then they go to Nashville and then to Chicago. Riley, his great three-year-old, is doing well, and his owner believes he has in him the making of another Freeland. He, with several others of Mr Corrigan's horses, will not be sent to West Side Park, but will go to Louisville, Latonia, St. Louis and other points, where they are engaged in important stakes.

W. R. Wilson, a well known Australian who is starting a breeding farm, has imported from England two stallions, three brood mares and a St. Simon filly. Of the stallions, Eridisporl, who was a fair racehorse, is royally bred. He is by Isonomy, dam Sousie Queen by Musket from Highland Lassie by Caterer or Stockwell, from Glengowrie by Touchstone. Such a pedigree is rarely seen, while the other stallion, Castor, is almost as well bred, being by Zealot out of Lady Yardley by Sterling out of Leda by Weatherbit out of Wish by Touchstone. Zealot is by Hermit, dam by Stockwell. Castor was a good performer, winning nineteen races in his two, three and four-year-old career. As a five-year-old, he ran once as the property of Plunger Benzon. Mr. Wilson will most assuredly be heard from in racing circles in years to come, as he has some good mares to mate with these highly bred stallions.

Trainer McLaughlin, having given up his position as starter at Clifton, has entered upon his duties as the ruling spirit at Pierre Lorillard's Rancocas Stud, Jobstowo, N. J. James H. McCreery, who has had charge for a year, was offered the position of assistant trainer, but desired to sever his connection with Rancocas. He says he left behind him as fine a lot of youngsters as has been at that establishment for years. There are now over twenty two-year-olds on the farm, and a handsome lot they are—sound, healthy and beautifully made, with hardly an exception. Among the finest is the Emperor colt Cyrus, who has gone to the quarter pole in 0:23 with 118 pounds up. He has lots of endurance, and weight seems to give him no concern whatever. The mile straightaway track on the Rancocas Farm is now nearly completed, and is one of the finest private tracks to be found. George Taylor will be first jockey.

A Cincinnati paper some time ago said:

"A patrol judge is a practical necessity, and it will be interesting to note the clubs that will evade the use of such an official. Another thing that the jockey clubs must come to is to watch the fluctuation of the odds in the betting ring. Many a job is uncovered in the betting ring, and the talent are all posted, but the judges mount their box and see the scheme go through in total ignorance of the fact that the race was fixed. With a well posted man in the betting ring to note what was going on, they could have had advance knowledge enough to have watched the actions of certain horses closely, and thereby understand what they were doing."

Our contemporary is quite right. A patrol judge is getting to be quite necessary, and the betting should also be watched, while the starter should have as keen an eye on boys who do not want to get away, as on those who are too anxious.

The Australian says: In England, America, and Australia cash betting is daily becoming more general upon racecourses and with the increase of stakes no doubt the system will become more popular. There was a time, not so very long ago, that ante-post betting was all the rage in Australia, and no sooner was one Melbourne Cup decided than wagering commenced on the one that was to follow. In this way the leading bookmakers entered thousands in their books and the amount of "dead" money which they raked in fairly crippled the public, while it enriched the wielders of the metallic pencil. All that is changed now, and after watching the game closely for a year or two, we have come to the conclusion that cash betting is preferable to ante-post betting. In America the cash system is largely in vogue, and the press and the public prefer it, because, it is alleged, it has the effect of reducing the number of "stiff" horses that are supposed to run at various meetings. Probably our contemporary is right it may reduce, but does not do away with stiffs for many a horse runs to swell the field and prevent some other horse from winning.

A patched up horse is hardly ever of much value. One dare not back him as he is liable to break down any time, and what races he will win will hardly repay one for the trouble. Dick Havey, the old rider of Norfolk and other cracks, gave me a good illustration of the uncertainty of backing a patched up horse Some twelve or thirteen years ago Ballot Box, who had run out in the snow in Nevada for a couple of winters, after breaking down badly, was patched up and entered in a two mile and repeat at Reno. He won the first heat easily, and after it, Dick slipped into his box and felt his leg, which was very hot and feverish, and going straight back bought the other end for little or nothing, despite the solicitation and urging of his friends who had also examined the horse's leg, when the second heat was run Ballot Box shut up like a jackknife at the head of the stretch, breaking down badly, and then it turned out that Havey had unwittingly felt of what was supposed to be his sound leg, but in which he had broken down, while the others had examined the old leg which stood up well. It was the old story, the horse had used his game leg so tenderly that he broke down on the other.

Gurney C. Gue, editor of the North West, writes to W. P. Ijams, of Terre Haute, in regard to the dam of Axtell as follows: "In a sketch of Axtell, which I wrote at the time of the Northwestern Breeders' Meeting, which you may have seen, I said, upon information gained from a gentleman in whom I had a good deal of confidence, and who claimed to know all about Lou, that she was a fair average mare, except for a suspicious bunch on one of her hocks. My informant put it stronger and said she was spavined. Now after having seen Lou, I am satisfied beyond all doubt, that the gentleman had in mind some other mare. There is nothing that could be rated 'average' about the dam of Axtell. She is a magnificent individual; large, shapely, stylish and very substantial, with just as clean and perfect set of limbs as I ever saw. She has plenty of bone, and it is of Mambrino Patchen quality. Her joints, both knees and hocks, are broad and strong and perfectly formed; in my humble judgment, all in all, I never saw Lou's better in physical structure." This but confirms the statement recently made by the lady who now owns the mare.

The New Louisiana Jockey Club has retired from the Turf Congress. Col. Simmons, when spoken to on the subject, said that the club had retired from the congress because it could not conform to the new regulations adopted"

"They have," said he, "prohibited the giving of purses for races of less than one mile for three year olds and upward, and while we approve of their efforts to discourage sprinting and encourage long distance racing, we cannot possibly conform to this rule, as we are now situated. It would be impossible for us to run our winter meeting in conformity with this rule, and therefore, while we wish them well in their efforts toward turf reform we feel that the only course open to us is to resign our membership in the congress."

"Will the decisions of the New Louisiana Jockey Club be hereafter recognized and upheld by members of the Turf Congress?"

"I cannot say as yet of course, but I presume they will be. We recognize the rulings of all clubs and racing organizations of every sort and I suppose that they will hold that when we rule off a man or boy we have had good and sufficient reasons for doing so."

The Santa Anita Stable has great expectations from The Emperor this season. Mr. Baldwin says he hopes to start him in several of the thousand dollar purse races in the East, and will get him into a few stakes if possible. He has for the last two weeks worked steadily on the ranch, his best work being a quarter in 0:25½, and five furlongs in 1:05½, in which he showed his well known speed, and finished as sound as a bell. I have not seen the horse since he left the Bay District track, and shall have grave doubts of his racing until he gets to the post, for it is always the last few gallops that find out the weak spot in a dicky horse. Mr. Baldwin does not expect anything big this year from any of his others except Los Angeles, and possibly Honduras, both of whom are in good trim. Of the two-year-olds, the best is probably a colt by Gano out of Grey Annie, but they are all rather undersized—perhaps the soupcon of inbreeding, which is noticeable among the youngsters, has something to do with it. Mr Baldwin says if he pays expenses he will be satisfied this season, and as he will have less forfeits to pay than usual, owing to skipping the Western meetings, the Maltese cross will in all likelihood be seen at Coney Island for the first time this season. Among other news, Mr. Baldwin said that Mollie's Last and a couple more mares, would be bred to The Emperor. Grisette is expected to be in foal to the same horse, while Miss Ford was bred on the 18th of June to Verano (Grinstead—Jennie D. by Glenelg). Mr. Baldwin, by the way, has serious intentions of purchasing Bravo, the winner of the Melbourne Cup. The price will probably be stiff, but of course that is immaterial to the Santa Anita millionaire, and the horse should be invaluable as an outcross, having three Touchstone and two Bay Middleton crosses in his truly racing pedigree.

There are two race course officials who should be paid in California, and as far as practicable should be employed throughout the State; they are one judge and the starter. Jobs have been, and probably will be, plentiful. A judge has an exceptional chance—being posted in a coign of vantage—of seeing how horses run and comparing notes at the various meetings, while the starter is in an equally good position; he sees many things also that a judge cannot see, and if of an observing turn of mind—as he should be—will have a reminiscence the next time a jockey attempts to get left, or in other ways, tries to beat the public. There is another reason, too, against trusting too much to local talent in the judge's stand and with the flag, viz.: They with very few exceptions, lack the necessary racing knowledge. I do not [mean for one moment to insinuate that the local management is not honest and trustworthy, but that the mistakes which occur daily through the circuit are the result of an almost total lack of racing knowledge. I recollect several cases where I was personally interested; one occurred in the northern part of the State, a three-year old and an aged horse were among the competitors, distance five furlongs; the aged horse, a gelding, carried 118 because his rider could just ride that weight; the three-year old carried 120 for the same reason. When I inquired the reason I was duly informed that judges were allowed a certain amount of latitude, t'was interesting and rather amusing. In another instance a repeat race was run; the first heat was won by, say Maud, the second a dead heat between Maud and a gelding, Bob; a false start, during which both ran the entire course, was the next phase of the race. Joe won the next heat and the run off, distancing the mare. The owner of the horse who finished third in the second heat claimed second money; the winner claimed it; the owner of the mare who ran in the final claimed it, and last but not least, the judges asserted that it reverted to the association. Rules 84 and 85 P. C. B. H. A. settled the association and the owner of the first horse; the original claimant, who was third in the second heat, argued for a long time, but eventually the money was duly adjusted after some explanatory remarks in re rule 85. I could give many more instances, all of which tend to show that it is for the better interests of racing to have a paid judge and starter, and the sooner the various agricultural districts and racing associations unite in a judge and starter who shall attend wherever possible, the better every one will be pleased.

A good deal has been written about the ancestry of the racehorse, and it is generally claimed to be the Arabian blood that gives stamina and fine form to the thoroughbred. The Australasian says on that subject:

Hitherto it has been the custom of many modern writers on the subject to give the Arab all the credit for the excellence of the English thoroughbred. We must confess that we have labored under the impression that we owed everything to the Eastern horse for providing England with an animal which by years of judicious breeding has become the most wonderful the world has ever produced. The best living authority on the breeding of the thoroughbred, Mr Joseph Osborne, has, however, exploded this oft-repeated dictum, and proved by the production of many facts that long before the importation of the Byerly Turk, Darley Arabian, or the Godolphin Arabian, the English racehorse was far superior to the Arab, and while giving due credit to the good done by the infusion of the Arab blood, he successively combats the idea that to the Arab, and the Arab alone, are we indebted for all the excellence of the English thoroughbred. He tells us in the Horse-breeder's Handbook that on the particular subject of the original ancestry of the British thoroughbred it is singular how writers, though particularly careful in other genealogical topics of less importance, are evasive, vague, and often misleading. Most of these writers have told us that the origin of the thoroughbred is "traced back to three Oriental ancestors," and pretty well all who have touched upon the subject of horse-breeding and its history have followed suit.

But Mr. Osborne is at issue with them, and in support of his argument he says:—"In the first place, as evidence and argument have already been adduced to show, the English race horse of the seventeenth century (that is, the horse that had been breeding for coursing and running in the matches of speed dating back to the days of King John) has already proved himself superior to the best Eastern horses that had been imported, and continued to maintain this priority up to the time of the Restoration, after which, of course, we can no longer trace the 'early English' racer as a distinct breed. This in itself, however, is an important point, as showing, and I think conclusively, that the English thoroughbred of to-day is no 'creation' of the Arab and other Eastern importations, but simply a manufacture which they had improved. But the improvement had no more commenced with them than it has ceased to continue since. Then, as regards the relative influence of the imported sires, it must be borne in mind that a considerable period intervened—a century, more or less—between the great majority (numbering considerably more than 150) and the one sire to whom the chief share of merit is justly awarded, viz., The Godolphin; and it would be absurd to ignore the direct and indirect bearing which these have upon the three great channels (Matchem, Herod and Eclipse) through which all the composite qualities of the thoroughbred have reached us. But in the female lines there are undeniable proofs of important influence, outside and anterior to the known Eastern sires—and here I maintain that in considering the origin of the 'thoroughbreds,' as distinct from his stud book genealogy, it is most unreasonable, nay even preposterous, to set aside the female sources. Indeed, if the investigation be pursued logically, that side must be the most interesting in this instance, because the sires being admittedly Eastern, it becomes imperative to trace, if possible, the blood of their mates. If a potent average of the dams at the roots is found to be not Eastern, then it becomes obvious that any restrictive claim for purely Arab descent has no authentic basis in fact." In analysing the pedigrees of Eclipse, Herod and Matchem, Mr. Osborne shows pretty conclusively that both Eclipse's sire Marske and his dam Spiletta were full of pure English blood, and deals in turn with each of the long divisions or sixteen sections which begin with the fourth remove. He points out that the first and second sections apply to the Darley Arabian and Betty Leedes the sire and dam of Bartlet's Childers both of pure Eastern decent. The third and fourth sections refer to Snake and Grey Wilkes, the sire and dam of sister to Old Country Wench, in both of which there are flaws. The first is found in the dam of Snake, of whom nothing further is known than that she was the daughter of Hautboy, from which it is quite reasonable to infer that her dam was not of Eastern descent, but rather of English origin; for it is quite certain that had she been an Arabian, Barb, or Royal mare, it would have been stated, as in the case of Betty Leedes's grandam. Further instances are adduced of the English descent of Marske, and it is also pointed out that Spiletta, the dam of Eclipse, is not altogether of Eastern descent and the extravagant conclusions which have been arrived at respecting the descent of Matchem and Herod are not at all agreed with by Mr. Osborne who quotes an ancient authority, Gervase Markham, to prove that the English horse had attained great excellence before the importation of Arabs or Turks. Markham says:— "Again what nation hath brought forth that horse which hath exceeded the English.

When the best Barbaries that ever were in their prime, I saw them over-runne by a black hobbie at Salisbury, yet that hobbie was more overrunne by a horse called Valentine, which Valentine neither in hunting nor running was ever equalled, yet was a plain bred English horse both by syre and dam. Again, for infinite labour and long endurance, which is to be desired in our hunting matches, I have not seen any horse to compare with the English. He is of tolerable shape, strong, valiant, and durable." In corroboration of this, an American authority says:—"As the progenitors of our Narragansett pacers and others were brought to this country (America) before the first Arabian ever reached England, and as running, pacing and trotting races had become so common as to be suppressed by the law before a thoroughbred ever reached this continent, we must conclude there was something good in the original English horse for which he has hitherto not been credited." As other nations besides England used Arab sires, but never produced anything to compare with the English thoroughbred, it is plain that the hunting and running horse of England previous to the advent of the Arabs was an animal of great excellence, though the union with horses of Eastern descent doubtless had the effect of producing a breed which commands the admiration of the civilized world, and brings into England so much of the wealth of other nations.

San Jose Agricultural Park.

The Erection of a Pavilion Proposed—Jas. Boyd's Miniature Track under Cover—The Leading Stallions there and in the Vicinity—A Marked Advance in Trotting-horse Breeding worthy of Comment.

San Jose has been noted for having one of the best mile tracks on the coast and the records show that some of the fastest time and record breaking have been done there. In the last few years the trotting-horse-breeding industry has advanced a hundred-fold, there being now several breeding farms in the vicinity. There are at the Park and about San Jose as grand representatives of the Wilkes, Mambrino Patchen, Hambletonian, Nutwood families as can be found in the State, and all doing service in the stud at moderate fees, individuality and breeding considered. The progress is due to the integrity of the officers of the Agricultural Society, their combined labor never being spared, giving liberal purses and premiums, the result of which has been a marked improvement in such enterprises as add to the breeding up of the horse. In the last few years there have been selected for directors some of the most energetic young men in the country, and most of them are directly interested in trotting or running horses, thereby placing themselves in the capacity to plan means to the benefit of the horse owners, and consequently to the success of the meetings of the association. In the present year the district will show for itself, and undoubtedly will do its share in bringing forth successfull competitors for honors which will add laurels to the crown of our already far-famed Golden State. Mr. Topham, the ex-President of the Agricultural Society, is agitating the erection of a pavilion in the grounds, an edifice that has been wanted for years, and is indispensable. A committee has been appointed to carry out plans and means to build such a structure, and there is no doubt but that the members of the association will each and all unite their influence to have the same under way of construction at an early date and by all means completed by the coming Fair.

Mr. James Boyd's miniature track is one of the leading attractions; it is under cover in the same plan as that of the Palo Alto, one-sixteenth of a mile around with 80 foot stretches. This means business, and all modern arts and facilities for the development of the colt trotters will be adopted. The knowing ones will undoubtedly benefit by it, and liberally patronize it. Colts from any part of the State will be taken and given the primary lessons at the trot, and in due time they are turned over to the further training of the skillful drivers.

By the way, the San Jose Yearling Colts' Stakes, as per announcement in the advertising columns, for the foals of 1889, is one of the wisest schemes yet placed before the breeders. It insures in the first place a means of inducing the owners of colts by the respective stallions to bring them into prominence, as the purse will be in proportion to the co-operation of the stallion owners, and it is to their interest to have as many of the produce experimented on, as that is the only way they can find out what they are made of, and most assuredly this will bring enough $100 checks to make up something to compensate for the wear and tear, time and expense of bringing up the young things to their best condition to compete for the prize; and those that fail to contribute towards the success of this enterprise are neglecting one of the chief points that lead to a successful stock breeder. The value of a stallion fee before the estimation of the public is in proportion to his success as a producer, as it is evident that all can't own the stallions, but we are all desirous of possessing a grand individual, a performer sired by a performer whose ancestors trace back to the great families through performing channels, etc. Now is the chance of San Joseans to put up your $100 and call around to your patrons and encourage them to develop the colts, that the link which connects your stallion to those illustrious ancestors and brought them to fame may be continued on through him and propagated till McGinty is raised. The following are the names of a few of the stallions and their owners, from which our readers may choose, their announcements, are duly advertised in other columns, and the fees are very moderate, everything considered.

Billy Thornhill 8707, is the property of Jas. Boyd Esq., San Jose. He may well congratulate himself in owning this piece of horse flesh. His sire, Beverly Wilkes, was a very promising young horse, and unfortunately met with premature death from injuries received by a kick when three years old He was a full brother to Prospect Maid 2:23, Walsingham (sire of Latitude in the 2:30 list) Georgia Wilkes, (sire of Billy Wilkes 2:30) all young sires coming into prominence by the Great George Wilkes 2:22, and out of Wilson by Mambrino Pilot 2:27.

Thornhill's dam Emily also by George Wilkes, is the dam of Fortuna, two-year-old record 2:31, three-year-old record 2:23, and out of sire Stout by Surplus, son of Ashland by Mambrino Chief. Second dam the Lear mare, dam of Jim Irving 2:23, Young Jim (sire of Butterfly 2:19¾), Garnett 2:19, and others by Lear's Sir William, the whole combining to make one grand individual, and that he will prove himself as good as his breeding is conclusive, or we must put aside the fundamental rule that like produces its like or the likeness of some ancestor. Which ever side we analize we find a Wilkes—Mambrino Chief cross through producers and a remove further is the Pilot Jr. on one side and thoroughbred in the other. He is the stock horse of breeding and type we want in California, and hard to beat anywhere. The colts (the oldest here only being yearlings) are all bays after a smooth Wilkes pattern, being inbred to that royal family. Billy Thornhill possesses its marked characteristic, and he is specially noted for transmitting the same to his progeny. At the horse show of our last fair, the group, representing his get, was acknowledge by all horsemen as being the best ever seen from any one sire anywhere.

These youngsters will be heard from in the near future; they are all very promising. Mr. Boyd places the service fee at only $50 with usual privileges, and that moderate figure is indeed within the reach of everybody.

Mambrino Jr. 1789, (Carr's) the property of George P. Bull, San Jose, is inbred to Mambrino Chief 11, his sire Mambrino Patchen 58 by Mambrino Chief 11, and his dam by Mambrino Chief 11. There are few stock farms without this strain of blood in their stallions or brood mares, and well may they be sought after when the Hambletonian-Mambrino Chief union have established such prepotent sires as Belmont, Almont, Piedmont, Director, Onward, Red Wilkes, Thorndale, etc., and still they breed on with distinction from one generation to another, and with a renewed impetus do they improve when the daughters of Mambrino Patchen and of his sons are used; the advance into prominence of the Mambrino Patchen family is so recent (only about ten years since), that the public will not be taxed to see it in print so repeatedly. I will conclude by prophesying that the fame of Guy Wilkes, William L. Alcantara, Simmons, etc, though decidedly wonderful, are only in their infancy, their future greatness is yet to be seen. So much may well be claimed as the success of the family to which Mambrino Jr. 1789 belongs. As to himself he never was given any opportunity, having been brought as a two and a half-year-old to a district where the industry of the community was anything but that of improving the breed of the trotter or developing the speed of a promising youngster. Yet under these circumstances he obtained a record of 2.45 as a three-year-old, and it is a well known fact that he was capable of trotting close to 2:30, but was not allowed to distance the competitor's horse, who was at the time, President of the association; he was only asked to win the race which he did, and was never put in training again. As a sire, in spite of all disadvantages, there have sprung up Lady Ellen 2:28, (out of a thoroughbred mare) dam of Ella 2:29, and a yearling that trotted quarters in 36 seconds last fall at Palo Alto; also Maud H. 2:30 and several others knocking at the door, amongst which is Merchant, trial 2:25. As a stock horse Mambrino Jr. should not be overlooked on this coast, possessed of such stout breeding and backed as Dr. L. Herr, his breeder, says by a strictly thoroughbred grandam of the ne-plus-ultra stamina. See ad in advertising columns.

Chrisman's Hambletonian 10178 is a mahogany bay, the property of Jesse Chrisman, Esq., San Jose. He is one of the most attractive stallions in the vicinity. He was sired by Whipple's Hambletonian 725. First dam Flora 2:39½, by Chieftain 721; second dam by Wilson's Leamon.

His pedigree combines one of the best trotting strains ever on this coast, based on a pacing foundation and backed by thoroughbred. Through his sire he traces to Hambletonian 10, founder of our trotting families, and through his sire's dam, Martha Washington, a double infusion of Mambrino strains predominate, coming from Burr's Washington, an inbred Mambrino, and a second Abdallah 1 flow from Martha's dam, she being by Abdallah 1, sire of Hambletonian 10. Martha Washington is worthy of special comment, as she is one of the great brood mares, having produced besides Whipple's Hambletonian, Speculation (sire of Crown Point 225, he sire of Valensin, 3 year old record 2:23; Ontano 2:28; Oakland Maid 2:22, Gracie S 2:22, and the dams of Waterford 2:27). She is also the dam of Young Martha, the dam of Crown Point 2:20, sire of Faustine, the dam of the champion yearling colt Faustino 2:35 Mr. Chrisman has a great future for his horse who has such grand ancestors, and with the limited opportunities depending entirely on transient patronage, taking all sorts of mares, he has shown the wonderful potency of reproducing in his get the grand characteristics of the family whose name he bears. He has sired Steve Whipple 2:23, Kate Agnew 2:28½, and others very promising.

Chrisman's Hambletonian's dam was a campaigner of her days, having obtained a record of 2:29¼ and showed capacity to trot well in the twenties, and being a daughter of Chieftain 721, sire of Defiance 2:17¾ (pacing), 2:24 trotting, and others, possesses a pacing out cross of the Hiatoga type, that will be undoubtedly of benefit to the quickening of the Hambletonian long stride. His services are within the reach of all. See card in advertising columns.

Baywood, the property of E. C. Smith, Esq , of San Jose, is a magnificent trotting stallion, bay with black points, excellent limbs and resolute carriage. He represents a Hambletonian—Clay combination, with thoroughbred backing. Such crosses have produced George Wilkes, Electioneer, St. Julien through other branches of the Hambletonian and Clay, and in this Nutwood—Clay cross will be found Maggie E , 2:19¾, Jim Mulvenna, 2:27, and others; and by Speculation (by Hambletonian 10) we have Crown Point, 2.24, from Young Martha by George M. Patchen 31. Crown Point in turn produced Faustine, the dam of Faustino, yearling record 2:35, best colt record to date. George M. Patchen 31 never failed to show his produce where an opportunity was given him; and he is to California what Harry Clay, 2:29, is to Kentucky, a great brood mare sire. Every year we see some of his daughters producing speed both at the trot and pace. The same can be said of the progeny of his sons and daughters and grandchildren; they breed on with uniformity, and what they can do only needs the master hand of man to develop. When these facts are taken in consideration, and noting that Baywood is a performer himself, it follows that his services are of great value to the trotting horse breeders. He has shown his capacity to trot a mile in 2:26 in his work, but owing to an injured tendon had to be withdrawn from his engagements the past season; he will be prepared for a record the coming fall, and barring further accident he will be placed in the list of the performing sons of his sire, the great Nutwood 33. See his card in the advertising column.

Woodnut, (Weatherhead's) the property of Jas. Weatherhead, of San Jose, is a solid bay, black points, 15½ hands high and weighs 1050 lbs. He has the Hambletonian conformation, a rapid trotting action, well able to trot in the forties, though never handled for speed. He has shown himself an excellent stock horse, his colts all being of commanding appearance, good carriage and prompt drivers of unsurpassed road qualities. The few that have been handled for speed have shown in very short time satisfactory evidence that Woodnut (Weatherhead's) is a sire of trotters from the great Nutwood 2:18¾. Few branches of the Hambletonian families have shown the capacity to breed on to the remotest generation with as decided uniformity as that founded by Alexander's Abdallah 15, and the subject of this paragraph has the potency of transmitting a well defined, yet smooth Hambletonian conformation to all his get. That he will make a sire of fast trotters only time is needed, as he is drawing to his embrace some very choice daughters of Tilton Almont, Geo. M. Patchen Jr, and others of equal merits. Enough is said when his sire is Nutwood 2:18¾, and his dam Flora 2:39½, trial 2:26, dam of Chrisman's Hambletonian, sire of Steve Whipple 2:23, Kate Agnew 2:28½ by Chieftain 721. Further comment would be useless. See column of advertisements.

Queer Racing Characters.

Men Who Act and Talk Irrationally Under Betting Excitement

"I believe I enjoy my visits to the race track as much as any person who attends such places regularly," says the Sporting World. This remark was made on the return journey from Clifton only a day or two ago by an individual whose face has become so familiar to track patrons that he would be classed among regular racegoers. The remark rather surprised his listeners, and for a moment they were inclined to believe he was jesting. The young man quickly assured his friends that he was in earnest, while other listeners became interested in the conversation. "I do, for a fact, enjoy my visits to a race track at all times, even aside from the excitement which betting affords," he continued. "Of course there may no doubt be many people who go racing who enjoy the sport itself quite as much as myself. Aside from the racing I can find as much divertisement at a track as at the opera or at other entertainments in which I am much interested. I find it an exceptional place to study characters. People on the track and off it look and act to me like different individuals. At the races I notice that a man appears to be controlled by a sort of impulse. His mind, I presume, is kept so actively at work that he does not observe his surroundings even in a general way. He moves about as though his mind was absorbed in some foreign subject, and acts as though he did not realize what was going on about him. Friends appear anxious to avoid each other, except at times when the bands which appear to bind the mind down so closely become relaxed at intervals for a short space of time.

"Even when meetings take place under these circumstances the conversation which usually lasts but a few minutes is made up of commonplace remarks which lack thought. The mind flies back between the imaginary bands again, and so the parties go mosing about as before they met. Now and again one may see one friend dash through a group of people with his face beaming in smiles and grasp the hand of some old chum he has not met in a long while.

"If you will carefully observe such a party you will notice that the greeting is not natural, and besides he will hardly talk rationally. For the time being he tries to resume his ordinary politeness and every day actions, but away they fly in a few moments and back will go his thoughts to those he experiences when his mind appears clasped in the bands. In fact a majority of the people imply by their looks and actions that they desire to be left to their own thoughts. Again, one will notice that the action of the people appear to imply that they go through certain stages in their movements. One can almost discover from an individual's actions just how far he has advanced in his career on the turf.

First of all the beginner can be signalled out from the throng without dfficulty. He would remind one of some of the people from this city who attended the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia. They arrived at the Quaker City on a cattle train shortly before noon, and to get home again on their excursion tickets they were required to be on board their train at 3 o'clock. During the time that intervened between the arrival and departure of the train they made an effort to inspect everything that was to be seen at the big show. These people cannot understand the fascination of racing or betting. They act more like themselves than any other people on a course, but their time is so taken up in watching the horses, the betting and other sights which interest them that they have no time to spend standing about.

"After a few visits, however, the novice becomes controlled by the same impulse which appears to take possession of his more experienced companions. Old time betting men and bookmakers are as easily signalled out from other people on a track as a chestnut horse is discernible from a bay or brown. The expression of their faces is about alike when they labor under the excitement incident to a race. They, of course, make every effort to hide the real thoughts like the average poker player. In their efforts to appear contended and at ease, their faces assume an intensely serious expression. Besides, they keep as quiet as possible and seldom speak. Of course they cannot hide their nervousness, although they try in every way to avoid any betrayal of it by their actions. It is not probable that these people ever think of how they act when laboring under great excitement on a race track, but it is evident to a close observer that they intuitively do all in their power to appear natural and at ease.

Every race-goer has noticed people turn their backs to the horses after a start has been effected. These people belong to the betting class, and they cannot stand the effect of the excitement which is brought about by watching the movements of the horse they are interested in. Were they to follow their horse as he competed, they would betray their real feelings, and to avoid so doing they turn their backs to the track proper. These people, however, will listen attentively to the remarks of bystanders who call out the positions of the competing horses. They can fortify themselves against the effects of the excitement while listening which they could not do if they witnessed the contests themselves. As a rule, the people who do not watch the races cannot afford to sustain loss if their investments do not turn out profitable. In fact, lack of experience in turf matters and continued losses tend to make them act in the way they do.

The people who shout and scream at the top of their voices during a race are made up of novices and those who do not bet. If they do invest on the results they wager small amounts and can afford to lose without becoming distressed. There is but little difference in the actions of the women as compared with the men on a race track. The women find more fault, however than the men. They "kick" frightfully and express themselves in plain terms, but of course to their acquaintance only. The women who attend the races regularly and bet do not invest to any great extent except in a small way. Some few women however, have at times bet heavily, but they lived a short time. A two dollar mutuel ticket is about the extent of the investment made by the average female track visitor. During a close finish between horses in which a number of women are interested their actions would remind one of a chicken flying about with its head cut off.

The fastest three-year-old trotter thus far bred in Canada is Albani, a chestnut filly that this season made a record of 2:29½, lowering the best previous Canadian record by nine seconds. She is by Hermit, a son of Harold, her dam being by American Clay. Hermit, although by a trotting sire and himself the sire of speed at the trot, is a pacer, and this year made a record of 2:29¾ at that gait. He is but six years old, and to have a three-year-old that has beaten 2:30 to his credit is quite a feather in his cap. Of late years there has been a great influx of American trotting stallions into Canada, and the results have been more than satisfactory. The number of trotting tracks has increased wonderfully, and as trotting meetings have become popular the runners have gone down hill until now the interest in the thoroughbred has about died out.

Grim's Gossip.

Matt Storn has retorned from Los Angeles and reports having had a pleasant trip to the city of the Angles.

Last year Overland Park, Denver, was the first to claim a new 2:30 performer, but owing to the bad weather, we have not had a chance to record any such performance as yet.

We have to thank Dr. Thomas Maclay of Petaluma for a copy of one of the early reports of the State Agricultural Society several volumes of which were missing from our set.

Mr. A. B. Speckles entered the produce of Lillie S., by Alcazar in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Futunity Stake which closed on the first. January 16th she dropped twin foals, both dead.

John W. Martin, of Yolo, has sold his well bred young stallion Alex Button Jr.. 7085 to G. W. Woodard, of Woodland. He is by Alexander Button, dam by John Nelson. The price was $1,500.

In the list of horses published last week, as likely to start this year, the names of Clay Duke 2:31½ and Eros 2:29½ were unintentionally omitted. We will be pleased to receive any further corrections.

The stallion advertisements are flocking in, and owners of broodmares will find little or no trouble in being able to select the exact kind of animal they may want from the columns of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

Petaluma has claimed the old date two weeks before the State fair. San Jose claims the same week, and the Breeder's Association claims the week following Stockton. This looks as though complications may arise.

In another column there is a letter from F. W. Loeber of St. Helena in reference to the pedigree of the fast trotting mare Lorena. It will now be in order for Capt. Harris to reply and tell where he got the pedigree.

Of all the interior papers, tho Petaluma Argus is the only one that pays proper attention to the horse interest of its section. Editor McNabb has a keen appreciation of a good horse, and is happy in the ownership of several.

Mr. J. P. Kerr has purchased from Mrs. Wheeler of St Helena a pair of Whippleton colts. They are nicely matched and make a handsome road team C. David of the park training stables will handle the team for a month or two.

The railroad blockade has caused a great scarcity of news and the "Gossip" page is not up to what I should like to see, but when the weather clears up and the roads are passable items will come in more rapidly, and the department look better.

The racing contingent who have returned from Los Angeles claim that the attendance was miserable, hardly a corporal's guard being out on any of the days. Nothwithstanding the bad weather, the racing was good and those who attended had first class sport.

Col. H. I. Thornton and John Mackey, Superintendent of the Rancho Del Paso, will start for Fresno to-morrow, the former gentleman having an intention to purchase a stock farm in that neighborhood. Mr. Mackey is recovered from his late illness, and is once more able to be around.

J. H. White, the President of the Breeder's Association, has the honor to own the first colt born in California this year. One of his brood mares to the cover of Hernani, had a foal on January 1st What a time there will be naming him! One friend of Mr. White's suggests "Just in Time."

Are we going to have another Margaret S ? A note from the Secretary of the Pleasanton Stock Farm Co. informs me that May Day foaled a fine bay filly (by Director) on the morning of January 21st. The many friends of Mr. Salisbury will wish him even a faster filly than is Margaret S.

Reno's baby a two year old has made a reputation that is ringing from one side of the country to the other. On December 26th, he trotted at Dallas, Texas, making a record of 2:25½ and on the 31st of the same month he paced over the same track a full mile in 2:24½. As Californians we will have to keep our eye on Texas.

The directors of the San Jose race track have had a miniature track built on which to speed young colts It is completely covered and the spectators have to stand on the inside of the track to watch the youngsters. The idea is a good one and should be adopted by all the other tracks where colts are in the habit of being trained.

I had the pleasure of examining early in the week, a magnificent book which has lately been presented to Col. Harry I. Thornton, by Judge Garber. The work contains hand painted portraits of all the celebrated horses of France and England from the year 1760 up to and including 1887. It is a rare work of art and is highly appreciated by Colonel Thornton.

Mr. Irvin Ayers reports that he will have out his new catalogue in the course of a few days. The San Mateo Stock Farm will shortly issue a new one, as will the Pleasanton Stock Farm Co. Catalogues are very useful, and many a sale has been consummated by the breeding of a horse, catching the attention of some one who without the catalogue would never have heard of him.

Daniel Brown says that if a Jackson Temple colt wins one of the stakes opened by W. P. Fine, he will add $100 to the winner, says the Petaluma Argus. J. H. White will do the same for a Hernanni or Marco colt, and A. L Whitney will put in a like sum for a Dawn colt. Mr. Brown will also give a premium of $50 to each Jackson Temple colt that gets into the 2:30 class during the present year.

Mr. A. T. Hatch of Livermore has as good an idea of a horse as almost any man. He reports Guide as being in fine trim, and if he continues so I fully expect the colt to beat 2:20 this year. He is of the improving sort and favorably impressed many who saw him on the circuit last year. Primera has dropped a dead foal by Guide, from which Mr. Hatch expected a first class animal.

Dan McCarty, he of White Hatk Fame, called to see me a few days ago, and he was just the same old Dan, with horse talk enough to fill a book. He reports a successful season back East, and says he has enjoyed the best of health. He has a lot of brood mares which he has brought back with him, and he claims that if he does not sell them that he will breed them all to California stallions.

G. W. Hancock, of Sacramento, has sold to D. C. Braid of this city the two year old standard bred stallion Fred Hawthorne, brother in blood to Tempest, record 2:19. Both are by Hawthorne, son of Nutwood, and out of dams by Chieftain, sire of Defiance, 2:17½ pacing, and 2:24 trotting. The purchase price is not stated, but Mr. Hancock says that he valued him at $1000 when a yearling. Fred Hawthorne will be mated this season to a handsome five year old bay mare by Albert W, 2:20, son of Electioneer.

The next steamer from Honolulu will bring over Harry J. Agnew. To use his own words he has sold out lock, stock and barrel, and is now prepared to purchase a breeding farm and settle down to raising high class hosses. He says in his letter that a number of inquiries have been made, asking him to put a price on Emma Temple, and the figure he has named is a very large one, so that the man who buys her will have to dig down deep in his pocket to get the mare.

The catalogue of Irwin Ayres made its appearance yesterday, and is a credit to the compiler. The list of stallions is of course headed with that grand representative of the Wilkes family, Mambrino Wilkes, and is followed by Alpheus, Balkan and Kaulbar, all sons of Mambrino Wilkes. The pedigrees of a score of brood mares are also given, and then the breeding of a lot of youngsters. The pamphlet is a valuable addition to the horse lore of the State and is a credit to the San Miguel Stock Farm. Mr. Ayres will gladly forward a catalogue to any breeder who may desire one, by sending him a letter addressed to 30 Fremont Street, San Francisco.

Los Angeles, Fresno and San Jose are among those who will hold spring meetings. Last Friday night the Directors of the San Jose Blood Horse Association met, and it was decided to hold their meeting commencing Saturday, April 5th. The Monday and Wednesday following will also be devoted to racing, three days only being given. A committee consisting of T. S. Montgomery, W. J. Casey and G. W. Bragg, was appointed, with instructions to frame a speed programme. It was decided to give three dash races and a heat race on each successive day. Fresno is also agitating for a spring meeting, but they will have mixed racing, trotting and pacing as well as running. Mr. Baldwin has been confined to his room or the programme would have been out before this.

In an interview with Mr. Joe Battell, compiler of the Morgan Register, Mr. Joseph Van Cott, West 58th street, New York, who is 65 years old and well posted on old time trotters, says: "Surry (the dam of Henry Clay) belonged to Jacob S. Platt, who built Platt Street, New York, about 1830. He owned three small mares—Surrey, Bet and Rose—and drove together and alternately. Surry was a little bay mare, 14 2, all bay, pricked and docked; trotted on the old Central course, beating Cato and Black Kate in 2:40. Wallace persists in calling her a pacer; she was as square gaited a mare as ever struck a trot in the world She afterwards fell into the hands of George M. Patchen. She was not mixed gaited; no pacing when she started. May Day was out of Bet by Eclipse."

The directors of the Agricultural Park Association held a meeting at Captain Grosse's office on Monday afternoon says the Santa Rosa Republican. The principal business coming before the directors' meeting was in regard to what should be done with the grounds the present season. On account of the failure, financially, of last season's program and the lack of interest displayed, not only by those interested in such an association, but also by the people generally, it was decided expedient—and, in fact, found necessary—to close the grounds for the season, or at least until a better support of the organization can be assured. In view of this condition of things the following resolution was passed unamiously by the directors: That the gates of the Agricultural Park grounds, both outside and in, be locked until some satisfactory disposition of the property can be made, and that some one be put in charge of the buildings and grounds until that time, free of charge upon the society.

The Cook Stock Farm is the first to issue an 1890 catalogue, and it tells a good story on the outer cover, "Standard bred trotting stock." That is what purchasers are after now-a-days, they want standard bred stock, and that sort is always saleable. The preface reads as follows:

"In presenting our catalogue for 1890, we call the attention of horsemen to the grand selection of brood-mares now on the Cook Stock Farm. No expense has been spared to secure the best blood it is possible to get, combined with good size and colors, natural speed and absolute soundness. The pedigrees are extended only so far as to show what the trotting blood lines are, without going into remote extensions.

The sires in use are too well known to require description. Steinway, 2:25¾, continues to sire style and speed. In Cresco 4908, we get a double top cross of Hambletonian blood through Strathmore 408, and that great progenitor Almont 33. In Chas. Derby 4907, we get much of the same Hambletonian blood through a different channel—that of the great Electioneer.

That we have reason to expect first-class results, all horsemen will readily accord."

A sanguinary battle took place on Christmas Day at Cairo, Ill., in the Illinois Central stockyards, between a fierce, large black horse and a mule, the two having been on exceptionally good terms with one another up to a few months previous to the conflict, says the Indiana Horseman. Suddenly the mule made a dash at the horse with his teeth, and whirling about, planted both feet against the horse's body with a resonant thud which could be heard throughout the yards. Then began the battle in earnest. The horse promptly resented the kicks by rounding to and returning them with rapid precision, both animals squealing with rage, biting and kicking one another until the blood flowed in rivulets from every portion of their bodies, the fight lasting an hour without intermission. The yards contained many horses and mules, which appeared much excited during the row, herding and trembling in one corner and exhibiting every evidence of fear. The yardmen who witnessed the singular affair used every effort to part the crazy beasts, but without success, indeed running much personal risk in their efforts. Copious applications of cold water with the hose and a liberal use of clubs were entirely unavailing, the fight raging until the mule ignominiously fled, bleeding and lame, from the severe punishment. Both animals are badly used up, being hardly able to walk, the mule faring the worst.

A New Invention.

A new horse detacher has just been patented by Mr. George Amos, of Point Pleasant, West Va. It is not the first device invented for the same purpose; several others have been patented heretofore but have, as yet, not been taken into use. Mr. Amos' device may possibly fare better in this regard, as it is much less complicated than its forerunners.

In cases where horses become so badly frightened as to be wholly unmanageable, or where the lines break and the animal dashes ahead, it is certainly better that the vehicle and the occupants be safely left behind, rather than be strewn promiscuously along the route, and perhaps severely injured. Mr. Amos' invention consists of detaching devices in connection with a system of operating them at the required moment. The detacher proper consists of a small oblong block or sleeve of metal, in one end of which is a hook pivotally attached. This hook is so arranged that when turned into normal engagement a slide bar or bolt in the aperture of the detacher will press forward by a coil spring, and the point of the bar will enter an aperture in the hook. On one side face of the block is a strong hook to which is to be attached the harness tug. The hook end of the block is to be attached to the hame hook, so that in effect the trace or tug is forwardly finished or terminated with a detacher device. The rear end of the slide bolt is provided with a ring, to which the cords are attached for withdrawing the bolt at the proper time. It may be well at this point to state that this detacher differs from most others in releasing the tugs from the forward part or hame hook. A cord, being attached to each device, is extended rear-wardly upward and joined over the back of the animal, and thence extended singly to the buggy dash and disposed for convenient seizure.

A similar detaching block is attached to the back band and its bolt is connected to the joined cords, so as to be operated also when the pull is made. When the horse becomes frighened, the cord being pulled, the bolts release the hook forward, and the horse glides out of the thills, the tugs and pull cords with the detachers, remaining with the vehicle. In order that the thills may not drop and catch into the ground, there are cords attached to staples and lead to the vehicle body, so that when the horse has departed the thill will be hung clear of the ground.

News From Santa Barbara.

Santa Barbara is waking up from a long sleep, and she wakes up alive to the interests of the breeders of fine horses. On the 15th of January some of the principle owners of stock farms got together and made preparations for a grand race for yearling trotters owned in this district. The race will take place at the Fall meeting of the Agricultural Association, which will be held at the city of Santa Barbara. Each owner of a stallion subscribes $25, and yearlings sired by stallions whose owners have subscribed $25 will be elegible. The entrance will close April 1, 1890, at which date the colt must be entered. The entrance money of $30 each, and the $25 of each stallion, and $100 added by the Agricultural Association, will be divided into three moneys for the first, second, and third colt. The race will be one-half mile and repeat to harness.

The following have subscribed, and all those having yearlings from their stallions should enter: J. R. Rochin, of Los Alamos, $25, his stallion Antioch, by A. W. Richmond; Glenwood by Nutwood, owned by A. W. McPhail; R. Bennet, of Lowfre, has subscribed for his stallion Bashaw by Wapsie; Merritt & Murray have subscribed for their stallion Electro by Electioneer; J. R. Fisher for his stallion Don Patricio by A. W. Richmond; H. W. Lawrence for his handsome bay stallion by Bashaw; C. A. Storke for his grey stallion Roswall by A. W. Richmond, and N. W. Johnston for his beautiful bay stallion by Sultan.

It is hoped that the owner of Stamboul will subscribe $25 so that his handsome son, out of Carrie B., she by A. W. Richmond; second dam by Crighton, will contest for first money. The colt is named Harry Stamboul, and he is as handsome a yearling as ever trotted. He is very large and powerfully made up.. The purse for this yearling race will amount to nearly $1,000. At the Fall meeting there will be also a sweepstake for two-year-olds, five-eighths of a mile dash. This purse will amount to $600.

The Santa Barbara Agricultural Association is determined to have the greatest meeting ever held in this country. They propose to give very liberal purses, so that horses coming from other counties can well afford to make the journey, and the winners be well repaid. Santa Maria, in this county, will offer liberal purses and attractive premiums.

There are so many young trotters and runners in the district, that the races this Fall will be a great success. Ventura will come to the front and offer liberal purses, and also Hueneme in Ventura County. The new track at the latter place will be a fast one. The little town of Hueneme is growing rapidly. The farmers around that vicinity have fine horses, and the farms are most productive.

In looking over the list of the Futurity Stakes of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, we are disappointed not to find Merritt & Murray, of this county, represented. They have several standard-bred mares in foal by Electro, and we expected to find them entered. Mr. Den, of this city, has entered Carrie B., and he is already willing to bet that if his colt does not win the race, that the colt will be well in the front at the finish of each heat. Our sympathies are with him. Mr. Den's handsome stallion Othello, by Hock-Hocking, won the seven-eighths mile dash at Los Angeles January 12th. There were eight horses against him. We congratulate P. Menchaen, Othello's trainer. Othello is a very fast stallion, and when he is out for a race, he will make the best of his age take a back seat.

We earnestly hope that some subscriber of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN will be able to give information about the bay mare that ran several races in Paradise Valley and Stockton. If any one remembers Stockton filly, perhaps he may recall some of the horses that ran against her. This bay mare is now owned in Santa Barbara, and she has foaled as fine a colt as ever ran a race. Her owner is justly proud of this handsome bay colt, and he is very anxious to trace the mother's pedigree. The colt is very large for his age, and very muscular. He runs close to the ground, and his propelling powers are wonderfully developed. If Mr. Arrellanes, of Santa Maria, can down this colt with his brother, he can carry many a dollar from the Santa Barbara boys who will bet their sack on their handsome bay colt. T. M.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

Coursing at Newark.

Despite the inclement elements, about a hundred and fifty came up to time at Newark on Sunday, to witness the long talked of coursing meeting. The weather was fairly good, that is, rain kept off, but the ground was wet and mu dy, while the coursing ground was dotted with little sheets of water which were not conducive to good healthy trials, the dogs slipping and floundering about in a very disastrous fashion. A 16 dog stake with several old favorites (Nipper, Snowflake, Tipperary Girl and Flight W.) was run through with the veteran, Mr. John Dickson, acting as judge in his usual straightforward fashion. There was nothing unusual in the first two rounds, that is to those who are used to coursing under difficulties. The celebrated McGinty after a tie went down below, being handsomely beaten by Catherine Hayes. In the third round Catherine Hayes again had a tie, and in the run off her previous exertions told and she hung fire a little being beaten by Rambler who was made a hot favorite for the final only to be beaten cleverly by Tipperary Girl.

First round—M. Tiernan's Tipperary Girl beat P O'Connel's Bellflower, J. Barry's Trip the Daisy beat T. J. Brady's unknown, J. Barry's Prairie Clipper beat P. O'Connell's Mission Boy, P. Canty's Whip beat J. Grace Jr.'s Teeney, J. Shea's Juanita beat T. Brady's Nipper, J. Shea't McGinty beat J. O'Leary's Mayflower, T. J. Cronin's Rambler beat M. Tiernan's Flight W. and M. Tiernan's Catherine Hayes beat T. J Cronin's Snowflake.

First ties—Tipperary Girl beat Trip the Daisy, Prarie Clipper beat Whip, Rambler beat Juanita and Catherine Hayes beat McGinty.

Second ties—Tipperary Girl beat Prairie Clipper and Rambler beat Catherine Hayes.

Final—Tipperary Girl beat Rambler and won the stake, $30. Rambler took second money, $20; Prairie Clipper and Catherine Hayes, $7 each.

To make a slow horse fast tie him to a post, or give him S. L. R. (Simmons Liver Regulator.)

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARPHIPPUS,

SUMMARY.

The wet weather is still with us, and the majority of the athletes have given up the idea of attempting to train for next month's games. The Olympic and Alpine Athletic Clubs, however, are determined to hold their sports at all costs, and after all perhaps some of the athletes may make a decent showing.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

T. Buchanan of the Olympic team is training hard in the gymnasium, and some good performances may be expected of him next month.

Cooley, Cassidy, Haley and McArthur will compete in the two mile run on February 22d. All four will probably be placed at scratch.

Horace Coffin will not be in good trim for the coming games, and will possibly postpone his reappearance on the cinder path until Decoration Day.

It is claimed that Little of the Alpine Athletic Club will prove a dangerous man in the quarter and half at the championship games.

Leon has resigned from the California Club, because its directors would not allow him to wrestle Ed. Kolb at the Olympic Club rooms. In losing this valuable young athlete, the California Club has lost it best indoor amateur, and now the amateur annex consists of about half a dozen third-rate boxers and runners. If these men have any spirit they will also withdraw and apply for admission to some club that will appreciate their services.

Weather permitting, the Olympic runners will take their postponed cross country run to-morrow morning.

Several members of the Alpine Club will take a spin to the Cliff House, and return early to-morrow morning.

S. V. Cassidy of the O. C. is particularly interested in cross country runs, as he considers that kind of sport to be of the greatest help in reducing of superfluous flesh.

The out-door athletes all agree that this season's rain deserves the championship medal.

The track in the O. C. gymnasium is nightly thronged with runners and walkers, who take indoor exercise with the hope that the weather will clear up a few days before Washington's Birthday, so that they may be able to enter the games in half condition.

Billy Kenealley states that he is done with fighting, but that he has no intention of retiring from the cinder path. Up to date he has succeeded in winning over fifty medals for running, and the chances are that before the present year is out he will have added a few more to his collection.

R. J. Lattringer, one of the old time athletes, will represent the Alpine Club in the Sprint races on May 30th.

An effort will be made this year to induce the Caledonian and Thistle Clubs to add a list of amateur events to their programme. In the past it has been proven that the amateur races excited much more interest than the professional ones.

For the information of our readers we wish it to be understood that these columns are always open to athletes. All communications properly authenticated will be gladly published, as the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN makes no discrimination.

UNIVERSITY JOTTINGS,

The athletes have been obliged to abandon the cinder track on account of its wretched condition.

Night and day the gymnasium is filled with students desirous of reducing their fat.

A field day will probably be held in April.

The championship team will commence training in March, so that they will be in first class condition on May 30th.

It is whispered that two or three "dark horses" will strengthen the team.

THE WHEELMEN.

Several of the Wheelmen who have become disgusted with the weather have decided to sell their machines.

Unusual interest is taken in the whist tournament now going on at the club rooms of the Bay City wheelmen.

It will not be many weeks before the roads will be in order again for travelling, and the long distance men will be entirely out of practice by the time the rain has taken its departure.

R. M. Thompson Chief Consul has been very ill with La Grippe which has settled in one eye causing him much trouble.

The Bay City Wheelmen have abandoned their idea of holding an in-door evening tournament at the Mechanics Pavilion.

On account of increased business Frank D. Elwell has resigned from the Bay City Wheelmen. His name has been placed on the honorary list.

After the wet spell it is thought that there will be a boom in bicycling. It is proposed to hold several race weeks during the coming season.

The competitive drill at the carnival which was postponed from last Saturday will be held this evening Probably only two teams will enter:—the Garden City wheelmen of San Jose and the Bay City wheelmen of San Francisco. The Garden City wheelmen have been steadily drilling while the Bay City wheelmen with their long experience should be able to make a most interesting competetion. The trophy will cost $150.

AT THE OARS.

In making the rounds of the boat clubs last Sunday, we noticed unusual activity displayed. The Ariel club members are anxiously awaiting fair weather to enable them to begin the construction of their elegant club house, which will cost in the neighborhood of $3000.

The Regatta Committee appointed at the last meeting of the Pacific Rowing Association will hold a meeting early in the month of February when preparations will be made for the holding of their annual regatta.

The Pioneer Club members take great pleasure in rowing to the five mile house where they generally have a good time. Dinner interspersed with sparkling wit is always in order, and the boys generally return home fully satisfied with their trip and its incidents.

Last Sunday a crew from the Pioneer Club braved the weather and paid a visit to the Lurline Club at North End.

The following challenge has been handed us for publication:

ATHLETIC EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—DEAR SIR:—I hereby challenge Henry Henceman of the Union Rowing Club, of Stockton, Cal., to row me a three mile single scull race in best and best shells on the three mile course at the Alameda mole. Race to be rowed four weeks after signing articles, stake to be $1,000 a side. Signed,

CHARLES LONG,
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22, 1890. 20 Fourth St.

JOTTINGS FROM ALL OVER.

W. H. Rocap, one of the brightest athletic lights of the athletic club of the Schuylkill Navy, is dangerously ill with typhoid-pneumonia.

A prominent Eastern sporting paper recently asserted that next spring, Victor E. Schifferstein, of the Olympic Club, of San Francisco, would attempt to beat the world's record for the running broad jump of 23 feet, 3in, held by Malcom W. Ford. The report appears to be without foundation, as we understand that Mr. Schifferstein has retired from the athletic world.

Thayer, of Cornell, who played half-back against Yale so effectively is probably the best all-round athlete in his college. He holds the University record for the running broad jump, is champion single sculler, and has rowed in two 'Varsity crews, is a good man on a wheel, one of the best sprinters, holds the second best record of the college in lifting weights, and is put down as winner of the hammer and shot events on next field day.

Vassar's new gymnasium just completed is the pride of Poughkeepsie and the largest one connected with any women's college. The building is in the form of two parrallelgrams, one 200x47 feet and two stories high, the other 67x40 feet, the whole topped by a tower.

Amherst's new athletic field, the gift of Mr. Fred. B. Pratt, of Brooklyn, when finished will be one of the most complete and picturesqnely located in New England. It will be provided with a 100 and 220 yards straightaway, a quarter-mile track and a grand stand of the most improved pattern. The baseball diamond will occupy the center of the field, while west of the track several tennis courts will be located. With a gymnasium second to none, and the increased facilities for training which the new field will furnish, Amherst should make her name formidable in intercollegiate athletics.

The annual championship meeting of the New Zealand Amateur Athletic Association was successfully held at Dunedin on Saturday, December 14th. Over 3 000 persons were in attendance. The track (396 yards to the lap) was small and badly laid off, but it was well packed, rolled and marked. The standards fixed for the different events were rather severe, and were equalled only in a few instances. The following is a summary of the results:

100 yards Flat. Standard 10 1-5 seconds.

FIRST HEAT.

J. H. Hempton, Southland 1
H. F. Greenwood, Canterbury 2

Time, 10 seconds.

B. Owen (Auckland) and F. Meenan (Dunedin) also ran.

Second Heat.

H M. Reeves, Canterbury 1
H. Schwartzkoff, Sydney 2

Time, 10 seconds.

G. F. Williamson (Sydney) also ran.

250 yds. Flat.

Final Heat.

J H Hempton, Southland..... 1
H F Greenwood, Canterbury..... 2

Time, 27 2-5 seconds.

J B Owen (Auckland) also ran.

Tommy Conneff's family are sorely distressed over his illness, and the Manhattan Athletic Club has received three cablegrams from his father since the popular little runner was taken ill. Conneff Sr. is a well to do farmer in Ireland and it is not at all improbable that Tommy may seek convalescence on his native heath.

One of the most curious pedestrian events contested in England is the weight carrying race. In this game the runners carry heavy weights while competing and it becomes a question of strength and endurance as well as fleetness. A recent match was made between Jack Kelly and Jack Davis for £50 aside. The conditions are to race two miles, each carrying 200 pounds.

Tommy O'Neill, the popular little trainer, has obtained the position of instructor to the athletes of the Columbia Athletic Club, of Washington, D. C., and will soon start for the capital. In a letter to Secretary Sullivan of the A. A. U., Howard Perry, the Secretary of the Columbia A. C., states that the Board of Directors at a special meeting, resolved to accept O'Neill's terms for a year, and if mutually satisfactory, the situation will be a permanent one. Tommy was the trainer of the defunct Brooklyn Athletic Association, and is probably the most efficient trackmaster in the country.

The swimming match in London between Charles Beckwith and D Dalton came to somewhat an abrupt termination on the morning of the third day, Dalton refusing to swim, giving as his reason that the water was too hot. Beckwith, however, entered the water at the time announced for the start and swam in 8min 30sec, when Dalton notified the referee that he resigned the contest. The match was for £50 a side, and the conditions were to swim on the back five hours each day for six days, and the one traversing the greatest distance to be declared the winner. Beckwith was over two miles in the lead when the match came to the unsatisfactory conclusion. Dalton claims to be champion of America, but sporting men here do not know who he is.

Here is what an Eastern Contemporary says in regard to the opening of the Olympic out-door grounds: The Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco will have a grand opening of their new grounds on Washington's Birthday. In considering the programme to be presented the directors resolved to introduce a number of professional events in addition to the amateur games. It is thought that this plan will attract a larger attendance of the sport loving public than a programme of amateur events only The club have received an offer from Harry Bethune the companion sprinter to take part in the Club's games. He says that if the Olympic will offer a purse of $1,500 he will guarantee to have on the grounds in addition to himself, the well known runners Skinner, Harry Johnson and Gibson. He is willing also that the race should be for the championship. The proposition looks tempting on the face.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

A. H. Lean and E. A. Kolb are to wrestle for a $200 trophy on March 6th.

Should the weather clear up the outdoor grounds of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club at Harbor View will be ready for use by next Sunday.

The Olympic Club is determined to hold its games at its own grounds on Washington's Birthday. Even if the track should not be in good condition the club would act very wisely in using their own grounds in preference to those of the University at Berkeley.

When the Olympic grounds are entirely furnished they will be second to none in the United States. The only fault to be found with the grounds is the size of the track. The bicycle men are virtually shut out as the track, six laps to the mile, is not at all suitable for wheel racing.

The Alpine Amateur Athletic Club is seriously thinking about moving from its present quarters in the Murphy building to more spacious rooms on Powell St. Owing to the large increase in the membership, this step is necessary.

A splendid programme will be arranged for the Olympic Clubs' "Ladies Night" which will take place Jan. 30. The medals won at the last gala day and the prizes won at the late boxing tournament will be distributed on that evening.

ROD.

Gen. John F. Sheehan, in his Redwood Times Gazette, pertinently says:

"The Deputy Fish Commissioners have been bestirring themselves recently, and as a result several arrests have been made within the past few months. The unlawful killing of the grandest of food fishes—the salmon—in and out of season by market fishermen bids fair to receive a black eye henceforth. The deputies, with the assistance rendered them by honest judges and jurymen, should be able to protect an industry from ruin which is to this State worth thousands of dollars annually. If, however, they continue to meet with the opposition which has been recently directed against their untiring efforts to bring the offenders of the fish laws to justice by ignorant or prejudiced jurors, then poaching will be carried on to an unlimited extent until fresh salmon will be as scarce a commodity in the San Francisco markets as buffalo meat.

It is the indiscriminate slaughter of salmon during the close and breeding season by netters and others, who use giant powder and spears, that should be put a stop to before the fish become entirely extinct. It is hoped that the Deputy Fish Commissioners will be encouraged in the good work they have set a-going by the judges and jurors of the country towns who hear and act upon these cases which are brought to their notice."

Fish are said to be in abundance in the lower Russian river and the smaller northern streams, and owing to the heavy rains and consequent rushing streams, they have been comparatively safe.

Salmon have begun to run in the Pescadero and coast rivers, consequently the fishermen have been on the alert for the last few days.

The Petaluma Imprint of last week says: "A fishing party left this city yesterday morning and on their return reported that they had struck a "bonanza." To verify their statement they produced two very large and handsome specimens of salmon trout, which they caught in Petaluma creek about two miles out of town."

It is perhaps as well for the party that the Fish Commission had none of their patrol on hand when the fish were exhibited.

THE GUN.

Game is said to be very plentiful in the neighborhood of Prohibition flat, Tulare County, deer having been driven down by the snow.

The snow in Black Mountain Valley, Tulare County, is much lower and more plentiful this year than usual, but deer are very scarce, and quail scarcer, although quite a number of ducks have been seen along the river, principally teal.

A meeting of the Forester Gun Club, Sacramento, was held last week to arrange preliminaries for the reception of the teams of shotgun experts of the Eastern States, soon to start for this coast and Sacramento. A contest at live birds at this unfavorable season was not deemed advisable with the cracks but a committee consisting of F. F. Tibbets, W. E. Gerber and E. C. Chapman was appointed to confer with the other gun clubs to outline an exhibition shoot and arrange for the proper reception of the shooters.

The San Luis Obispo Mirror says:—Messrs. J. H. Hollister and FredBranch, about Feb. 1st, will take a trip to Arizona. At Tuscon they expect to be joined by a party of gentlemen, and will visit the White Mountains on a hunting expedition, and Johnny says he will have the hides of two grizzleys before he returns. The grizzleys he will flank by wild turkeys, wild hogs, deer, and probably an Apache or two. They go loaded for bar.

Good luck to 'em; beware of the bar, though.

We have often insisted on the almost culpable negligence displayed in allowing youths—almost infants—to carry shotguns or rifles, and last Sunday we received intelligence of the unfortunate accident to Mr. Adams of Madison, Yolo County It seems his son was carrying a 32 rifle over his shoulder, full cocked, and, sad to say, owing to some jar, it was discharged, the ball lodging in his father's leg. As Mr. Adams is not a young man he will probably feel the effects of the wound for the rest of his life. And last Sunday George Gilbert, a boy of fourteen years, and his brother were out shooting rabbits near Sonoma The brother shot George in the arm, and though no serious results are anticipated, it will probably be very annoying to the boy for some time. Parents should most distinctly refuse to allow boys of doubtful age to carry firearms of any kind.

Many a man has felt better and happier after a bottle of Burgundy and a good canvas-back (16 minutes), but it seems there is a great risk of that delectable bird disappearing altogether—at any rate in the East. Many suggestions have been made, and it is quite on the cards that Chesapeake Bay will be strictly protected for a year or two. According to the American Cultivator, the canvas-back duck has been growing scarce for years, and this season especially there has been a notable falling off from the Chesapeake Bay region, where the finest flavored specimens have always been found. Those which undoubtedly come from that locality lack their accustomed flavor. The great floods last spring buried under sand and mud the beds of wild celery on which the canvas-back of those localities feeds, and to which its flavor is due. Driven by hunger and the scarcity of its favorite food, these canvas-backs have taken to feeding on fish and water insects, and their flavor is abominable. It is said that in Canada, where the canvas-back goes to breed in summer, the people in their neighborhood have taken to eating their eggs. This, and the warfare made on them elsewhere, threaten this variety with total extinction Perhaps with the hint that the excellence of the canvas-back duck is due to eating celery, the feeders of other ducks may improve their quality, if not make them equal to the canvas-back, by giving them similar rations, at least while preparing for market.

Kennel Work.

The lovers of the dog and those who take an interest in our kennel work, will be disappointed this week in the dog department, as the kennel editor has been all week at Bakersfield attending the field trials there. The telegraphed account has been very meagre and rather than give results, we will await his return and then give a report in full of the pleasant week that has been had by the host of good fellows who have been there in attendance.

Woodside to be Sold.

In the advertising columns will be found an announcement that Mrs. Silas Skinner has determined to sell Woodside Farm and all the well bred stock. There are standard bred mares, young stallions, fillies and any number of non-standard horses that will answer for roadsters. The Almont blood is largely represented in the catalogue, and there should be lively competition for the Almont mares, and, in fact, for any of the mares in which there is any of the Almont blood, for breeders now recognize the fact that the greatest brood mares of the present day are thickly impregnated with Almont blood. We are sorry to lose Mrs. Skinner from the list of the breeders, and trust that some energetic person will secure Woodside and carry on the business.

P. C. T. H. B. A.

The Directors of the Breeder's Association have had a meeting, and this week announce a series of colt stakes, some of which have been prepared in the interests of the smallers breeders, and also to give the progeny of stallions, whose names are not now enrolled in the great table, a chance to distinguish themselves. There are four stakes for yearlings two, three and four-year-olds, to all of which there is a liberal allowance of added money. The payments are easy, extending over a number of months. There are also two purses offered for three and four-year-old class horses, those eligible in the three minute class being the three-year-olds, while the four-year-olds are given a 2:40 class trot. Three purses are also offered for the get of stallions who at present have no representatives in the 2:30 list, restricted to two, three and four year olds. All of these should have large entries, as there are many good stallions who as yet have none of their progeny in the charmed circle. A 2:30 stallion purse is also offered, the amount given being $1,000. The Stanford Stake is again advertised, this time under the auspicies of the Breeder's Association, and entries to that stake will close at the same time, as will all the stakes and purses offered, March 1st. When the proper time arrives, the entire programme will be announced. Taken all in all, the stakes and purses are such that they should command the attention of every breeder on the coast. The Directors have been extremely liberal, and there is every reason to believe that the breeders will be just as liberal in their entries.

A Clash.

Some weeks ago we called the attention of Directors and Secretaries to the fact that a meeting of representatives would be advisable, as there was a prospect of a clash. Two associations have already claimed dates, they being Petaluma and San Jose, and both claim the same week. The Trotting Horse Breeders have selected the week after Stockton, presumedly as San Jose claimed another date.

Now it seems that this could have been easily avoided if delegates from each of the associations had met and compared notes. Fresno will probably want to claim the same date they had last year, but that will conflict with the Breeder's meeting. Santa Rosa dropping out from the circuit, is probable the cause of San Jose claiming an early date, and yet, by the way, it is no sure thing that Santa Rosa will be on the shelf in 1890. The Directors there say they will give a week of racing if certain inducements are held out by the citizens of the town.

Now if the race loving people of Santa Rosa will give the necessary assurances, there will, in all likelihood, be another week to fill in. As at present claimed, the clash is inevitable unless one of the associations will give way. The Petaluma folks say they have had the date, two weeks before the State Fair, for a long number of years, and they are not going to change now, and the San Joseans say they have been knocked around from pillar to post by all of the associations for a number of years, and that now they are going to choose their own date irrespective of whom they clash with. It is presumed that the State Fair Directors will claim the two weeks beginning September 8th, and the other societies will arrange accordingly. It seems that with that late taken for a basis, a good circuit could have been arranged as follows:

Napa August 11th to 16th, Petaluma 18th to 23rd, San Jose 25th to 30th, Oakland Sept. 1st to 6th, Sacramento 8th to 20th, Stockton 22nd to 27th, Breeders Meeting 29th to Oct. 4th, Fresno 6th to 11th of October. This would have given all a chance and each of the associations would make money. As it is now, there is a prospect of more than one of them making financial failures. With a little friendly feeling displayed, there may still be a chance to over come the trouble, and it will be for the best interests of all concerned to give and take a little in this important matter.

The Pedigree of Lorena.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—In your paper of January 4th you published a tabulated pedigree of Capt. Harris' filly Lorena, and gave the breeding of her granddam Princess as follows: Sired by Woodford Mambrino, son of Mambrino Chief, dam Jennie Simpson by Autocrat, he by Democrat, dam Golddust Belle, by Dorsey's Golddust. In 1880 I got Princess from Capt. Harris, and the enclosed tag was attached to her, which is in Capt. Harris' handwriting; he herein gives her a record of 2:27½, and she is credited to Mambrino Chief instead of Woodford Mambrino.

PRINCESS, record 2:27¼.

- Mambrino Chief.
  - Mam. Paymaster { Mambrino, by imp. Messenger / daughter of imp. Paymaster.
  - unknown.
- Jennie Simpson.
  - Autocrat ..... { Democrat, by Joe Jackson. / Wabash Maid..... { Kemble. / Jackson.
  - Golddust Belle.... { Golddust, by Northampton. / Sallie Ward, by Wrangler, he by Twilight, by Eclipse.

I sent a copy of this pedigree to J. H. Wallace, and enclosed find his answer:

NEW YORK, Sept. 6, 1880.

MR. FRED W. LOEBER, ST. HELENA, CAL.—DEAR SIR:—Yours of 30th ult. is to hand, and the pedigree of Princess does not strike me favorably. It is impossible to tell whether it is right, without knowing who bred the mare and through what hands she passed to her present owners. If she is by Mambrino Chief, she cannot be less than 17 years old, and may be a good deal more. It is a thousand to one that the pedigree of the dam is made up to suit. Some of the elements I know to be wrong. Yours truly, J. H. WALLACE per J. S. C.

I sent Capt. Harris a copy of Wallace's letter, and received the following reply: "In regard to the pedigree of Princess and Wallace's reference to it in answer to your communication to him, I can only say, the pedigree as recorded in my book, is as it was given by Mr. Moses Alma, a gentleman well known in his life by all acquaintances for truth and veracity. He has repeatedly stated in my presence that he purchased her from the man who raised her, the sire being Mambrino. After his death, and when I got hold of the mare, I learned from a friend of Wm. F. Williamson, who had all of his old papers after the death of Alma, that such was her pedigree, and I so made the memorandum at the time. This is the whole story of Princess and her breeding. There was another Princess on this coast known as the Edmonson mare; they may have become confounded."

BEN E. HARRIS.

After "Hark Comstock's" return from California in writing up the leading two-year-olds in an article which was copied in your paper, October 19th., he gives Lorena the following pedigree: "Sired by Jim Mulvenna, dam Elmo, second dam by Cassius M. Clay, third dam by Harris' Hambletonian.

The true history of the mare, Princess, as near as known is—Mr. Moses Alma (now deceased) formally connected with the firm of Wilmerding, Kellogg & Co, of San Francisco, bought her in Maraga Valley, and kept her a number of years for a road mare. He used to keep his horses at Bridge's stable. After his death, Mr. Bridge kept Princess in livery for several years, until she got lame. Mr. Bridge then disposed of her to Captain Harris. Mr. Bridge asserts that Captain Harris knew her history. I went to see Mr. Kellogg, of the firm of Wilmerding, Kellogg & Co., to ascertain whether Mr. Alma had ever been to Kentucky in the interest of the business, and whether he ever purchased any horses while there. Mr. Kellogg assured me that Mr. Alma had never been East from the time he first came to California until he died. The only way to perpetuate the breeding interests successfully is stick to correct pedigrees. Yours truly,

FRED W. LOEBER.

CORRESPONDENTS WANTED.

We want a correspondent and agent in every town on the Pacific Coast where Horses are Bred, Trained or Raced.

Also correspondence relating to Hunting, Fishing and the Kennel.

Reasonable compensation will be paid to those who send NEWS.

For particulars, address,

BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN,
313 Bush Street, S. F.

The editor of the Indiana Horseman says: "Great is Adonis, swift is this son of Sidney; nevertheless there are plenty of people East who believe that Roy Wilkes, properly conditioned and in the right hands, can beat any pacer on earth except Johnston." Well, Mr. Editor, there are people here who believe that Adonis can beat Johnston.

KATE AGNEW'S BREEDING.

Mr. Chrisman sends the following which explains itself: The sire of Kate Agnew 2:28½ is Chrisman's Hambletonian by Whipple's Hambletonian 725 and not Ben Franklin. The breeding of Ben Franklin (who is dead about 10ys.,) was sired by David Hill Jr., son of Vermont Black Hawk, dam a Washingtonian mare. JESSE CHRISMAN.

E. R. D.

Please be kind enough to let me know what was the name of the horse that won the La Rue stakes at Sacramento, in 1885, 2¼ miles and what time?

Answer.—Arthur H. 4.00½.

G H. K

Please inform me what is the best time ever made by Pliny for three quarters of a mile.

Answer.—1:14¾ at Eureka, last July.

S. L. O.

Can you let me know the breeding, performance and present owner of young Niagara, who, I believe, is now called Pacific? Did he ever sire a trotter; if so, give name and time made.

Answer—He has no representative in the 2:30 list. Can any of our readers supply the other information asked for?

J. W. D.

Will you kindly give through the columns of your valuable paper the breeding of the grand and great grandams of the standard bred mare Francine foaled in 1881 bred by Martin McCabe Springboro Pa. Registered in American Trotting register Vol. 6 as standard.

Answer.—The American Turf Register does not give the names any of the grandams of Francine. You had better write to Mr. McCabe.

Subscriber.

Please inform me whether the horse called Fred Drake, owned by J. P. Sanborn of Port Huron, Mich., is standard. Give his pedigree if practicable.

Answer.—He is standard, and registered 4834. He is by Joe Gavin, 564, dam Minnie Drake by Louis Napoleon, 207, 2nd dam Julia Drake by Endorser.

A. B. R.

Will you please inform me if Richmont by Almont, dam Minnie by Simon Kenton, is standard?

Answer.—If Minnie has been registered, Richmont is standard by breeding, but she is not in the Register up to Vol 7. You had better write to the Wallace Register Co., 280 Broadway, N. Y., and find out if she is in Vol. 8 or 9. She is the dam of Kitty Wilkes, who is registered.

Subscriber.

Is a mare sired by Priam, sire of Honesty, record 2:24¾, dam by Chieftain 721, standard bred?

Answer.—Yes.

T. W. B.

Was San Bruno 2:25½ by George M Patchen Jr. ever in the Stud, or was there a San Bruno by David Hill and had he a record below 3 minutes.

Answer.—San Bruno 2:25½ was a gelding, we do not know of any other San Bruno with a record. There was a son of David Hill by the name of San Bruno, that some years ago stood at Fairfield in Solano County.

J. W. Murphy.

What is the correct pedigree of Sam Purdy? (2nd.) Is or was he a pacer or a trotter? (3rd) Where was he bred? (4th) Was there any full brothers to Sam Purdy ever raised on J. B. Haggin's ranch?

Answer.—(1) Sam Purdy by Geo M. Patchen Jr., dam Whiskey Jane, pedigree not traced. (2) Trotter. (3) San Francisco. (4) Not that we know of.

T. A. R.

Please give the pedigree of Brown's Bellfounder and number if he is registered; has he a record? Is there any of his get in the 30 list?

Answer. Browns Bellfounder was by Bellfounder Morgan dam Lady Allport by Mambrino. He is not registered, has no record and none of his get are in the 2:30 list.

A subscriber.

Sir, please inform through your paper the following information. (1) Whether a filly sired by "St. Elmo", dam by Chieftain is standard? also, (2) If a stallion by St. Elmo dam by Whipples Hambletonian is standard?

Answer. (1) If you mean Elmo 891, sometimes called St. Elmo, yes. (2) Not unless the dam is standard.

E. A. P.

Alfred G. and G. & M. were bred by Guerne & Murphy of Santa Rosa. Alfred G. is now owned by G. E Guerne, and we believe he also owns G. & M. Col. Lewis was a gelding, foaled 1870, by Rifleman, dam not traced. The other questions will be answered as soon as we receive answers to letters sent out.

Robbery Boy.

Can you give me the pedigree of Robbery Boy formerly owned in Santa Barbara?

Answer.—A letter sent to Mr. Den has elicited the following reply:

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Jan. 19, 1890.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—With regard to Robbery Boy's pedigree, I can safely state that it is entirely unknown, but will give you all the information that we know about him. In the spring of 1873, some emigrants coming from Oregon stopped at the ranch, and our foreman took a fancy to a bay colt, a yearling then, and bought him for $50, they being short of money. They stated to us that he was a well bred horse by a running horse in Oregon, and that is all we know about his pedigree. We began training him as a three-year-old, and showed a great deal of speed, won several good races and we had him entered against Walking John and Elector, half mile at Los Angeles, in 1875. and a few days before the race, on a trial, he split both front hoofs from the hair to the ground, and that was the last of his running days as he could never stand training again. The old horse shows a great deal of breeding, and all his colts out of nothing but pure mustang mares show speed. I have a saddle horse that can run a quarter in twenty-three seconds, and another that runs half miles better than fifty. Robbery Boy never had but one thoroughbred mare, that was Lillian by Creighton, who is the dam of Sid Law. Yours truly,

E. R. DEN.

Maud H.

A couple of weeks ago, we asked for information regarding the record of Maud H. by Carr's Mambrino, and have received the following from our Salinas correspondent. Maud H. trotted in the 2:30 class at Sherwood Park during the district fair races held here during the week, beginning October 7, 1889. Her record was made in the second heat of the race and was thus described by the Salinas Morning Journal, Oct. 10th, the day following the race:

Second heat—Auction pools: Field $12, Maud H. $6, Allen L. $4. This was a good start. Maud H made play for the pole and took it from Mambrino Boy at the quarter. She soon opened up a gap and was never caught, finishing first by a short length from Allen L., Mambrino Boy third at Allen L's wheel, and Acrobat just inside of the distance flag. Time, 2:30.

Names Claimed.

W. P. Todhunter claims the name of McGinty for sorrel colt sired by Prince of Norfolk, dam Lizzie Idle, foaled March 20th, 1889, marked one fore white leg and one white hind leg a white stripe in his forehead.

Yours respectfully,
W. P. TODHUNTER.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I claim the name Nova for bay filly, foaled March 27th, 1880, by General Hamilton, dam Nellie S. J. A. SOWELL.

WHEATLAND, January 22, 1890.

Our Australian Letter.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—In a recent number of your paper, an Australian correspondent remarked upon the number of race meetings held near Melbourne, Victoria, and the pernicious effect it had upon the sport. Sydney is just as bad, as may be judged from the fact that there are never less than six race meetings a month in the immediate vicinity of Sydney. There are now three proprietory clubs, Rosehill, Canterbury Park and Warwick Farm, who push business very closely, and go in for cut-throat business.

On a recent public holiday two of them held meetings, and as there were various other attractions, the pair, to use a new colonial sporting vulgarism, "fell in the soup," so they are not likely to again give the racing public a surfeit of good things. With so many "rat" meetings, it may be imagined owners of the shady type play the game pretty "low down."

It is not so long since that a horse went out to the start with shoes on and his rider minus spurs. These are considered pretty sure signs out here that a horse is not "on the job," and his stock went down to zero. However, the shoes, which were only glued on, were wrenched off at the back of the course before the race started, and the "hooks" were duly affixed to the jockeys heels. But the coup did not come off after all this trouble, and the smart party missed a big thing by a head.

Boxing day will see the first big two-year-old event of the year at Randwick, the course of the Australian Jockey Club, the premier body of New South Wales. This is naturally looked forward to by racing men with interest, as showing where we are to look to for next years' cracks. Correeze, owned by our sporting barrister Mr. "Jack" Want, showed great speed when first asked to race, but he showed poor form when asked to race in the big event, the Maribyrnong Plate, and it would appear the young 'un has gone completely off.

The American trotter is making himself felt in the colonies, not so much on the track as in the improved class of buggy horses now seen on our streets. So far, trotting on the track has not taken a big hold of the public, more particularly in Sydney, where trotting events are generally run in conjunction with pony and galloway races, and shady as our legitimate turf morals are, they are clear as sunlight compared with the doings of the trotters, ponies and galloways.

Breeding trotters is a paying game, as at the last sale of the Hobartville stock, the young trotters averaged more than the fashionably-bred running youngsters. The colony recently suffered a big loss in the sudden death of the trotting stallion Childe Harold, whose get are remarkable for style and kindness of temper. In New Zealand, however, the trotter appears to be getting a better grip, as they were recently at Canterbury able to run off seven handicap trotting events in the one afternoon.

I may be pardoned a little bit of "blow," when I state that Australia is not altogether in the back-ground of the world's sports. We have shown the universe we can raise a fair sculler, pugilist, and cricketer. Sheffield, in its, palmiest days, could not hold a candle to our running tracks, and now it seems we are going to lead the world in the "sport of kings," by giving the enormous sum of £10 000 for the next Melbourne Cup. Donovan received £12,000 for his win of the Lancashire Plate (Eng), certainly, but as the £10,000 for the Melbourne Cup will be in addition to the sweepstakes of nominators, there is not much doubt the Victorian Racing Club will score a best on record next November. The growth of the Melbourne Cup has been phenomenal. The first cup was in 1861, when the added money was £200. This was raised in 1868 to £300, and it was not till 1876 that it reached £500, in which year "the Cup" was won by a mare, Breisis, for the only time in the history of the race. 1883 saw £1,000; 1886, £2,000; £1887, £2,500; 1888. £3,000; 1889, £5,000, and now with a gigantic stride the Cup of 1890 will be for the plum of $10,000 added money.

The death of Searle and the rather complicated condition in which he has left the aquatic championship must be my excuse for inserting an aqueous item in my usual turf letter. Searle died in Melbourne, but his body was brought to Sydney, where he was accorded a public funeral, when the biggest crowd yet known to gather together in Sydney turned out, as may be judged from the fact that it took the procession five hours to force its way a distance of some two miles. With regard to the shoulders upon which the championship mantle is to descend, Searle, on his death-bed, expressed a wish that the honor should be competed for by colonial scullers. Old England, who certainly dies hard, expresses the opinion through its press, that O'Connor is entitled to it, but it seems to me that the trouble rests between America and Australia, both of whose second or third class-men could beat England's best. The general opinion in Australia is that it should revert to Peter Kemp, from whom Searle wrested it, but in any case without a contest, the title is an empty one. However, Searle went to the other side of the world to give you a chance for it, so it only seems fair your best man—O'Connor, I suppose—should come over here and return the compliment. Stansbury, the young fellow who rowed Searle, the only hard race the latter ever pulled, is our most likely man, but Searle improved to a vast extent by the time he met O'Connor, but it remains to be seen "how Stansbury has gone ahead." THE JUNGLE.

SYDNEY, N. S. WALES, Australia, Dec. 24. '89.

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Club Stables, Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Question.

My mare is lame; has been so for four weeks; very sore in both fore feet, and can hardly stand. The feet are very hot.

Answer.—In all probability your mare has laminitis. Remove the shoes, cut down the soles, and poultice the feet. Give the mare one dose of physic containing Barb Aloes, six drams, and one dram of ginger. I would advise you to call in a veterinary surgeon.

J. T. J.

In reference to your enquiry for a recommendation to a horse-shoer, I would suggest that you look at the advertisements in BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

J. P. Shafter.

I cannot possibly advise you with reference to your colt without first seeing him. It is one of those cases that a veterinary surgeon cannot diagnose without an examination.

The Science of Horse Breeding.

The Law of Sex.

WRITTEN FOR THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

With regard to natural laws regulating sex, many theories have been promulgated from time to time, but the one most likely to approach the solution of this (to breeders) most important question is that of the American writer, Starkweather. His valuable work on "The Law of Sex" was published in 1883, but so far back as 1878 I find notes of my own observations which are corroborated by his book. He bases his theory (in human beings) on the intellectual and physical superiority of either male or female. Thus, if the male is superior in intellect and health to his mate, he fixes the sex, making it opposite to his own, and vice versa. This is sound reasoning in the main, or else why do we so rarely see brilliant sons following brilliant fathers. If marriages were polygamous this would be obviated, but as it is the exception for a man to marry twice the opportunity of reversing a mistake is remote. By way of illustration of the above theory, and applying it to horses, I take from my note-book of 1878, the case of Kelpie (imp). This stallion came into possession of the late Mr. George Wyndham of Dalwood and Bukulla, about 1862, and presided (at the latter property) over as choice a harem as then existed in the country, sireing such undeniably good racehorses as Stockwell and Cyclone, both a stone better than Kingfisher (winner of the Sydney Cup), Kareola, Cronstadt, Trump Card, Tommy Dodd, Brolga, Plover, Mariner, and a score of lesser lights, who "swept the boards" in the northern districts of New South Wales for many years. In all that time, however, he never sired a filly up to the commonest selling plate form, and as a matter of fact the mares threw a very large proportion of colts. The knowledge of this set me thinking, and I put it down to two causes: First, the excessively bad care taken of the horse both between and during the seasons. To save trouble in exercising, the stable door leading into a black-soil yard was invariably open all day, and in wet weather that same yard was a caution to stallions. Grooming he rarely got, and as the growth of green stuff depended on the spring weather, as often as not he was stinted in proper food. Not so the mares running out on excellent box country, and rare'y foaling until the spring grass was forward. On the one side want of exercise, condition, and careful grooming; on the other, natural free life on the hills with excellent pasture. According to Starkweather, the mares would in such a case fix the sex opposite to their own, and my reasoning led me to a similar conclusion. Starkweather has, however, missed an important factor in this "law of sex," and while the foregoing causes tend very largely to decide the matter, I am convinced that the sex and excellence of same depends as much, or more, on the potency of strains of blood as on health. Consequently, the blood of the mares of the Bukulla stud, rich with infusions of the Darley-Arabian through Cap-a pie, Plover, Scratch, Snake, Whisker (imp), grafted on to branches of the old imported mares Penelope, Miss Lane, Mancipe, and many others, succeeded in carrying the sway against the weatherbit, St. Francis, Taurus and Zinganee strains of Kelpie—and hence the preponderance of (excellent) sons.

Now mark the difference in results when Kelpie was installed at Gordon Brook. Few breeders in New South Wales treat their stallions so wisely as Mr. T. H. Smith, and with the combined advantages of ample exercise, comfortable stabling, grooming, and the best of food, he was far more potent than the mares, which were as a rule covered early (for racing purposes) and before shedding their coats. Moreover, the flashy, speedy strains of blood in their veins such as Pitsford, Livingston, Sir Richard, Glaucus, etc., were as much inferior to Kelpie as he had been to the stout Bukulla blood. As a natural sequence his fillies raced well, and in proof of this I have only to instance Thyra (winner of £1,000 Cup Glen Innes), Maude (a remarkably good mare), Atalanta (dam of Melanion), The Nun, and a dozen others.

While in England in 1882-3 Captain Machell showed me over Lord Calthorpe's stud at Newmarket, where Petrarch was then "lord of the harem." Chatting over his probabilities as a first-class sire, I remarked that his fillies would probably be better than his colts, because he strained so much away from the Darley-Arabian, and to the Byerley Turk and Godolphin, through flashy blood, like Orlando, Alarm, and further back, Castral and Selim and Reubens. I need scarcely say that he was too polite to ridicule the idea, but it was quite too apparent that he did not believe there was anything in it. Nevertheless, I had the satisfaction, after returning to the colony, to see two Oak winners accredited to Petrarch in Busybody and Miss Jummy, against only one really brilliant colt in the person of The Bard, and I cannot recall since Priam any instance of a stallion pulling off the Oaks twice within so short a time of his going to the stud.

THE FARM.

Imported Mutton.

An article in the Journal of the Royal Agricultural Society of England says the National Stockman points out that the frozen mutton trade which only comenced in 1880 has attained very large dimensions. In 1882 only 9 400 tons were imported, while the amount brought in 1888 equaled 49,450 tons, which represents three pounds for each man, woman and child in the United Kingdom. The mutton represented by the live sheep importations in 1888 did not exceed one and a half pounds per head. This makes the total amount of mutton imported both of live and frozen or fresh mutton only four and a half pound per head per annum. Largely, therefore as the new imports have increased the quantity of imported mutton is not yet enough to supply each unit of population with a single ounce of mutton per week, while the produce of English pastures is still sufficient to provide each one with nearly an ounce a day. Foreign mutton supplies are now nearly half a pound more for each of our population than is provided by the much longer established beef The problem, therefore which anyone who is calculating the chances of the further growth of the newer trade must try to face is whether the course of events already seen in the check of fresh beef imports is to be paralleled or not in the case of mutton.

Cattle Without Horns.

Many breeders have been annoyed and had their valuable horses and brood mares injured by cattle. The Holstein Freisian Register says: The experiment of breeding off the horn is nothing new, says Field and Farm. There is no question but in the case of the Red Polls the horns have been dispensed with by breeding hornless cattle to hornless cattle for generations. Editor Cheever, of the New England Farmer, during years of successful breeding, eliminated horns from his dairy cows at Pine Hedge farm, and another Massachusetts man has nearly thirty head descended from this original herd. An Ohio agriculturist has polled Jerseys now in the third generation, the result of crossing a "mooly" and a Jersey bull. From the same State comes report of a breed or family of "polled Durhams," to the development of which perhaps a dozen patient men have been faithfully devoted for a considerable time. Last year specimens of this stock were publicly exhibited, and this season also (at the State and several local fairs) where it attracted favorable comment.

Mr. Morse, of the Windsor Farm Denver, Col., is confident that he will be able by the fourth or fifth generation to produce a family of hornless Holsteins, and bring about the result by persistent dehorning. Says he: "If I fail, then I shall conclude that the theory of breeding as understood at the present day is a delusion and an uncertainty. If from a curby hock in a horse I can get a curby hock, why not from a hornless bovine get a hornless calf? If not the first generation continue it on until you get it. I am a believer in hereditary defect and in hereditary improvement. At all events I am out for the trial, and shall keep the horns going until they are gone."

American Steers in Germany.

A short time ago the attention of the Department of Agriculture was called to a recent shipment of American cattle sold in the Rhenish province. Through the Department of State, the Department of Agriculture was placed in possession of a consul at Cologne, in which this gentleman reported the sale of some thirty head of American cattle in that market in reference to which he made the following statement:

"The quality of these oxen was good, but too fat, which, however, can be remedied. The price obtained per 100 lbs. of the dressed meat, that is, exclusive of the head, hide, feet and entrails, which fall to the butcher, was Marks 70 being the same price paid for the home stock. Therefore, American cattle can compete with the home production.

"There is a difference among oxen fattened on pastures and those fattened in stables. The latter are preferred here, especially the red and checked ones, which might command a higher price, say Marks 72 per 100 pounds. Both kinds are readily marketed here. There being rather a scarcity of cattle here this year and a consequent rise in the price of beef meat, it is thought that a considerable number of American cattle can be sold here, and I am informed that another large shipment is on its way from America for the German market."

In order to be able to give to our American stock raisers full information on this subject, the Secretary of agriculture addressed a communication to the Department of State, requesting information in regard to the laws now in force in Germany with reference to cattle imported from the United States, and in a recent communication from the Department of State, enclosing the report on this subject of the American Consul at Hamburg, the Secretary of State promises to obtain further information which shall include the law on the subject of the exclusion of pork and any efforts that may have been made recently to secure its repeal, allusion to which was made in American papers in the form of a press dispatch, purporting to have been sent from Berlin, under date of Nov. 20th.

In the meantime, for the information of those interested, the substance of the correspondence between the Department of State and the American consuls at the points referred to, is here given. It would appear from the report of the consul at Hamburg and the enclosures forwarded with his communication, that cattle imported into any of the German States and Provinces from the United States, South America or Great Britain, are subject to a four week's quarantine, and furthermore, that there is no likelihood of such quarantine being either abolished or modified. It should also be stated, that the cattle sold in Cologne, formed part of a shipment of 160 head sold in the Rhenish Provinces, and that the data in regard to them was obtained from Messrs. Salm & Whil, one of the largest cattle dealing firms in Cologne. It appears further, that during the early part of last fall, some six or seven hundred head of cattle were landed in the port of Toening, from the United States, and that these were subjected to only five or six days' quarantine, but that this was due to a special permit from the imperial chancellor, which was granted in view of the fact, that the persons interested had entered into contracts for the delivery of said cattle, without a knowledge of the existence of the quarantine regulations, and would consequently have sustained heavy pecuniary loss had the cattle been subjected to the regular four weeks' quarantine. At the same time, however, strict orders were issued, that henceforth the regulations must be rigidly enforced. The consul at Hamburg also informs the Department of State, that until recently, large quantities of American beef have been used in the Province of Schleswig in Prussia, for the consumption of the German army. An order has since been issued, however, prohibiting its further use for that purpose.

The above is substantially all the formation of the Department of Agriculture has been able to procure on this subject up to date. THE STOCK GROWER.

Red Polled Cattle.

When a demand for these Norfolk and Suffolk cattle began to spring up in America the English breeders in most instances wisely refused to part with their best, even at advanced high prices. They said they would keep them for ten years to breed from, after this, obtaining an abundant produce, they would sell a part of them for exportation. The ten years have about expired, so we suppose our breeders can now import from the choicest of Red Polls, which we trust they will do abundantly, for they are among the most profitable of all cattle to bring up to maturity. The absence of horns makes considerable difference in the economy of their rearing, it is calculated as six to five of equal weights over horned stock; and then they are not wounding and even killing horses and other cattle pasturing and yarded with them; men also occasionally.

An objection was first made by Americans to these cattle on account of their size, they not being large enough, but many of the English breeders have been increasing them for a few years past, cows often weighing at present 900 to 1,000 pounds, and bulls 1,200 to 1,600. Indeed, well fattened at three to four years old some have attained still heavier weights, and bullocks over 1,700 to 1,900 pounds.

The average milk from fairly selected cows for eight months after calving, on pasture only, is from 10 to 15 quarts per day, and for six to seven months 16 to 20 quarts per day. This milk is generally of superior quality, commonly showing 15 to 20 per cent. of cream, and occasionally 30 to 35 per cent. Taking these things into consideration, and that they are hardy, thrifty and cheaply fattened, making beef of superior quality, we think the general run of our farmers would find it advantageous to stock their acres with a majority of these Red Polls. By using bulls to their native cows their half-bred calves would be found a decided improvement over their dams, and those three-fourths bred, for utility would be nearly as good as the full bred.—Stockman & Farmer.

Cattle Judging by Decimal Scale.

Many a good standard has been made abortive through the scale of points by which it was applied. I hold that the application of all standards should be by the use of a single scale of points, and that the decimal scale, being one of ten sections, each section consisting of ten points. Perfection then becomes of equal value in each section, and ten the synonym of it; 100 points become the grand total of perfection in the whole animal.

This necessitates that each animal be divided into ten equal sections, and to describe in the printed text minutely and clearly each of these sections, and the principle laid down that perfection must result from points of as equal value in head as in back or loin; that defects which destroy perfection shall be determined by computation of the percentage by which perfection is marred: To wit, if judgment determines a head be damaged 25 per cent., that it be cut 2½ points, and if back and loin 25 per cent. defective, that it shall be cut 2½ points. The mean value of the section has nothing to do with it; it is the percentage that perfection is damaged in such sections.

All standards serve two purposes—development and punishment of defects. A would-be Solomon, who desires special development in a certain section, demands that a large proportion of the points in the scale be apportioned to said section. He forgets that these points are never used except to punish; therefore has he, by this disproportionate number of points, only secured an unequal and more severe punishment for all defects found to exist in his hobby section. Perfection is next to a miracle, and defects the universal rule; therefore has he established the rule of an unjust cut for his hobby section. There is no equality except as development and punishment for want of it are in harmony, and this we can have only when we divide our animal up into equal sections, and give each section the same numerical value, and this we see most strongly demonstrated by the use of the decimal scale. It metes out exact justice to each section of a cow, equal justice to each breed, as competing with other breeds, and equal justice to species as compared and competing with other species. So long as each kind is divided into ten sections of ten each, and each breed and species be accurately described, then all, no matter what—cattle, horses, dogs, fowls, beasts of prey, or man—all can compete for prizes with equal chances to win, and by any other standard or scale of points they cannot.

Let us make the scale of points by which the standard is to be applied, and I can secure the prizes, for by so doing I will make the cow I am competing with the standard by which all the others must be cut, by simply making the sections in which my cow is comparatively perfect those of large value in points, while to those in which she is faulty I would give but a few points in value. But suppose we made for the Jersey and Ayrshire cattle the following scale of points:

BULLS.

Head and ears	10
Neck and brisket	10
Shoulders and legs	10
Back and loins with tail	10
Barrel and flanks	10
Hips and rumps	10
Escutcheon and rowels	10
Scrotum with rudimentary teat and milk vein	10
Color of hair, color and handling of skin	10
Typical appearance and condition	10
	100

FEMALES.

Head and ears	10
Neck and brisket	10
Shoulder and legs	10
Back and loin, with tail	10
Barrel and flanks	10
Hips and rump	10
Forward udder	10
Rear udder	10
Escutcheon teats and milk veins	10
	100

As these several sections are improved by condition and typical appearance, we say: In case of ties, typical appearance and condition shall break the tie and demand the first award. Ossified joints or any unsoundness detrimental to breeding or loss in practical points, should disqualify from competition, as should also cows not having had calves inside of two years, or three-year-old heifers not having had calves.

One will see that by such a scale, and an accurate description in the text of the structure, all can compete on an equality, irrespective of sex, breed or species, simply from the fact that each standard is applied by the same scale of points. The judge can readily select five of a class competing, to be scored, in which surely the best three of a class are to be found, when the scoring would take but a few moments, the highest score to win. The law becoming a law, intelligent judges' scores would go a long way in determining the worth of the animals, One could, by consulting these, determine to a great extent the species, beauty and quality. I believe the day not far distant when cattle will be sold on their score, as poultry is now being sold.

Such a standard and scale would secure prime all-round specimens. It is useless to deny that beauty is quality, so long as beauty in a horse, cow, dog or chicken brings a larger price in the market than equal weight without beauty. In this age, then, beauty is of practical worth and has a cash value to the farmer and breeder. The judge in open judging does not ignore this law, for he will every time give beauty with fair quality the first place, extra quality lacking beauty the second place. Standards are keen-edged knives that are used only to slay and discount.

Many are carried away by the mere shape of the udder, and they have placed the value of the fore udder at 13 points, That feature is faulty all of 49 times in 50 of the cows exhibited, and not one cow in five hundred out of all the females of the race will pass uncut To give one cow in 500 a large value for this merit, the making of their standard cuts the other 499 in an unjust ratio for their defects, and it takes one of little intelligence to see that the Jersey standard, as now applied by their scale of points, militates against the best cows whenever scoring is resorted to, and for this reason good judges fight shy of its use.

I have written out a scale, but were I to come close to my own sense of fitness of things, I should say—forward udder, with milk veins, 10; rear udder, with teats, 10; and making a section of typical appearance and condition, 10 for the female, instead of, as now, placing thirty points in the udder and adjuncts. The present standard of the Jersey Club has 39 points; but I defy any judge to tell anything about the quantity of milk a cow will give by the mere shape of her udder. The color and handling of the hide, the wedge shape of body and milk-vein development are ten times more reliable as a means of determining the quality and quantity of the product. It matters not in what kind of a storehouse we place our wares, any more than the shape of the bag that holds the milk. To place 13 points in the fore udder secures a cut of from 1½ to 8 points in nineteen-twentieths of all the exhibited animals. A cow may be equally faulty in five other sections and perfect in this one, and win over them, if the defects are computed on a fair percentage of their effect on the perfection of said section.

In the judging of the future, is it not worth considering the feasibility of—1. Securing a division of the animal into 10 just and equal sections, giving each the same value in points; 2 To demand perfections of equal value, and determine its defects by this percentage plan; 3. Demanding that males be judged on 100 points as well as females?

To-day we are told to judge the males, omitting all milk adjuncts. Will any breeder deny the fact that a bull with a smooth scrotum, having no rudimentary teats and no indication of milk vein, will get heifers with fawn shape and large-sized teats? Will any breeder deny the fact that bulls of high degrees of excellence, coming from the fine cows of the day, have not well-defined teats and rudimentary milk veins? As a breeder, I would not keep or own a bull of the acknowledged dairy breeds that did not show well developed teats and the ordinary course of the milk vein.

But I have said enough to set the ball in motion. Let us hear from others. A radical change in our standard and scale of points in cattle, and the promulgation of more correct ones, and then their general use, is a demand of the times.—I. K. FELCH, in Country Gentleman.

Notes.

Russell & Bradley, Elko county, have gathered about 1,200 head of cattle off their range in the last week, and will ship them to California or ship hay for them from California.

Five Union county (Oregon) farmers have butchered 450 hogs his winter that averaged 317lbs. At 4 cents the pork would be worth $5706. That's a good way to farm. It pays, and keeps that much money from going back East.

Kirman & Rickey are feeding 10,000 head of cattle on hay at their Douglas county ranch. The firm has 20,000 head of cattle in Humboldt County, nearly all of which they expect to lose on account of the heavy snowfall in that region.

The Argentine Republic has recently granted a bounty of five per cent on capital of companies exporting dressed beef. This has led to several establishmeents exporting on a very large scale, fitting up, special steamers with machinery for freezing and stowing cargoes.

Canadian cattle foreign trade is decidedly on the increase, the present season boing the largest on record It is stated that in the future all beasts from Canada will be shipped to the ports on the west coast of Ireland, and there pastured for a few weeks before being sent to market.

George Russell says that his advices from his Idaho and Snake river ranges are that the cattle are all right, but he is anticipating quite a loss on his Elko county range. He has ordered 200 tons of hay shipped from California to Elko, and will feed all the poorer cattle and in that way save them.

The outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease at Steinbruck, Hungary, the great cattle depot, compelled the slaughter of 1,509 head of cattle. According to the congress of veterinarians recently held at Paris, tuberculosis is spreading in Continental Europe. Over one per cent. of animals slaughtered in Paris are affected by this disease.

Editor Kelly, of the Winnemucca Silver State is quite frosty, he says: The cold weather, deep snow and scarcity of feed is severe on stock, and many poor cattle are dying. Some say if cattle could get water out in the sagebrush they would weather it through. When a poor animal lies down hungry in the snow these cold nights, the chances are against it getting on its legs again.

The cold snap has been very severe in Nevada and many cattle have suffered severly. The Truckee Republican says: The train men on the west-bound overland express reported at Reno that 1000 head of cattle had frozen to death on a range near Carlin in Elko county, and that stockmen say that not a hoof will be left on Eastern Nevada ranges if the cold wave lingers much longer. The depth of snow is too great to admit of the cattle browsing on sagebrush.

IMPORTANT SALE OF

Standard Trotting Mares Young Stallions and Fillies,

ROAD AND DRIVING HORSES Farming Implements, Etc.

By direction of MRS. SILAS SKINNER.

Mrs. Skinner having determined to retire permanently from the breeding of Fine Stock, has decided to offer at

PUBLIC AUCTION

Thursday, March 6, '90,

at 12 M., on the Premises.

THE WELL-KNOWN

WOODSIDE FARM,

Near Napa,

The brood mares at Woodside are among the choicest in the State. Among them are mares by Almont, dam by Alexander's Abdallah; by Cassius M. Clay Jr., dam by Joe Downing; by Cassius M. Clay Jr., dam by Richelieu son of Mambrino Chief; by Duke of Orange Jr, dam by Cassius M. Clay Jr.; by Almont Mambrino, dam by Blood's Black Hawk; by Alcona—dam Fontana, dam of Flora Belle, 2:24, and Silas Skinner, trial 2 23¼—by Almont; by Alcona Clay—dam Metamora, dam of Clay Duke, 2:31½—by Duke of Orange Jr. These mares have been bred to Director, Noonday, Mountain Boy and Wildwood, and are with foal. The young stallions are by Sitka, son of Alaska, by Electioneer, Whippleton, sire of Lillie Stanley, 2:17½, Alcona Clay, etc. About twenty head well-bred trotting and driving animals will be sold in addition to the standard bred horses.

Catalogues giving extended pedigrees and full information are being prepared, and will be forwarded upon application.

At the conclusion of sale of horses,

WOODSIDE FARM

will be sold.

WOODSIDE FARM is situated three and a half miles from Napa City, up the river, upon what is known as the middle or big ranch road. It contains 87 1-2 acres of the choicest quality of land for alfalfa or any kind of grain, 40 acres being now in alfalfa over a foot high. The land produces from four to six tons of hay to the acre, of choice quality. Five of the fields are in pasture, four in alfalfa, one in timothy, the other kept in hay or grain necessary for stock, though well adapted for alfalfa. There is a nice orchard, small vineyard, and comfortable dwelling house of nine rooms. There is a good school house directly opposite, the best in the county. As to its adaptability as a stock ranch: There is living water in every field, and plenty of it, corrals and stock yards, stable room for forty horses, besides seven good box stalls two good stables, granery, etc. It is within two miles of the Napa Agricultural Society's race track, the finest constructed in the State for years. Should there not be sufficient land, 62 acres adjoining can be purchased at reasonable figures.

There is no more eligible location in the State for a small stock farm, and this affords a rare opportunity, with the stock, to at once engage in this remunerative pursuit.

The sale will be positive. Mrs Skinner having large interests in Oregon which will require her personal attention during the greater portion of the year, compels the sale of the Woodside Farm.

Parties are invited to visit the farm and look over the stock. The undersigned will be glad to give any information required, either as to stock or ranch.

The Trotting Stallion

CUPID,

Full Brother to Adonis 2:14,

—Sired by—

The Celebrated SIDNEY 2:19 3-4, and out of Venus.

Will make the season of 1890 at the OAKLAND TROTTING PARK.

PEDIGREE.

CUPID is by Sidney out of Venus by Capt. Webster 10173, record 2:30, and sire of Freestone 2:19. Second dam by Skenandoah 936, sire of Daisy Burns 2:29½, Erwin Davis (sire of two in the 30 list) and dams of four in the 30 list.

DESCRIPTION.

Cupid is a handsome bright bay 15.2½ hands high, weighs 1100 lbs.; was foaled in 1886. As a yearling, with very little work he showed quarters in 42 seconds, and at 2 years old, quarters in 38 seconds. As a three year old he has not been worked, but he shows the speed and endurance that must come from his excellent blood lines.

TERMS $50 for the season, with the usual return privileges. Good pasturage near the track at $5 per month. The best of care taken of mares in any way that owners may desire, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

For further particulars address

WHIPPLETON is not only the sire of trotters, but he is the greatest sire of Carriage Horses on the Pacific Coast. Some of the best carriage and road teams in San Francisco are sired by Whippleton. A carriage team by Whippleton received First Premium at Napa, Petaluma, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton and San Jose. Whippleton and his colts have never been beaten in the show ring.

DESCRIPTION.

WHIPPLETON is black, tan muzzle and flanks, 17 hands, and weighs 1,100 lbs. Most of his colts are 16 hands or over, and with a few exceptions, bay, brown or black. He never sired a sorrel or white face colt. (If he does, I agree to refund service money.)

PEDIGREE.

WHIPPLETON, sired by Hambletonian Jr. (sire of Hancock 2:29), by Whipple's Hambletonian (sire of Graves, 2:19 Westfield, 2:20½, Express, 2:24, and 12 others in the 2:30 list), dam Lady Livingston (dam of Lady Blanchard, 2:26¼, Bloomfield Maid, trial 2:22), by General Taylor (sire of the dams of Wells Fargo, 2:18¾, Nerea, 2:23½, Bickford, 2:29½, Lady Blanchard, 2:26¼, etc., and sire of grandam of Hazel Wilkes, 2:20) by the Morse Horse 6, sire of Norman 25 (sire of Lulu, 2:14¾, May Queen 2:20, etc.),

TERMS at $50, limited to 20 mares, for the season, usual return privileges. I would like to get about ten well bred mares with the proper combination of blood to breed to Whippleton on shares this season.

Alcona 730.

Sire of

FLORA BELLE	Record	2:24
CLAY DUKE	"	2:31½

ALCONA will be a great sire, but four of his colts have ever been trained, and all have shown full miles better than 2:30, and two of them as good as 2:20. Two of his first sons each sired a colt as a two-year-old, and last season one as a four-year-old trotted a full mile in 2:23½, and the other, a three-year-old, a mile in 2:31. With opportunities, Alcona is destined to be one of Almont's best sons. Almont, for his opportunities, is beyond doubt the most prepotent sire of his age. He has 36 representatives in the 2:30 list; 49 sons and 22 daughters that have already produced 2:30 performers. Almont died five years ago at 20 years old. If he lived he would be but 25 years old.

PEDIGREE.

ALCONA sired by the great Almont (sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Fanny Witherspoon 2:16¼, Piedmont 2:17¼, and 34 others with records better than 2:30, and grandsire of Belle Hamlin 2:12¾, etc.); by Alexander's Abdallah (sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14), he by Rysdyk's Hambletonian. Alcona's dam, Queen Mary, by Mambrino Chief (sire of Lady Thorne 2:18 1-4, and 5 others in the 2:30 list, and sire of the dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17¼, Onward 2:25 1-4, Red Wilkes, Almont, Belmont and many other noted sires).

DESCRIPTION.

Alcona is a beautiful chestnut 16 3 1-2 hands high, and weighs 1300 lbs. His colts possess speed, style, finish and beauty, and if they don't trot they command the highest prices for carriage horses.

$40 for the season. Usual return privilege.

Grandissimo,

Sired by Le Grande [son of Almont and out of Jessie Pepper, by Mambrino Chief. Jessie Pepper is the dam of Ione 2:17 1-2, Alpha 2:23 1-2, and granddam of Montezuma 2:29¾. First dam Norma [dam of Grandee 2:23 1-2], by Arthurton [sire of Arab 2:15, Joe Arthurton 2:20 1-2, etc.]; second dam Nourmahal 2:39 [full sister to A. W. GRANDISSIMO, with limited training as a three year old last year showed 1-4 mile in 35 seconds, and, barring accidents, will trot fast next fall.

Limited to 20 mares at $50 each; usual return privileges.

Season on Grandissimo ends June 1st, 1890.

Season on Whippleton and Alcona ends July 1st, 1890.

Best kind of pasturage at $4 per month. Mares kept in any manner desired.

The Stanford Stakes for 1892.

FOALS OF 1889.

OPEN TO THE WORLD.

MILE HEATS.—Three in five. Entrance $100, with $100 added for each starter over two and up to five head, and $25 for each additional starter up to ten head Payments: $10 on March 1st, 1890; $10 on January 2nd, 1891; $ 0 on January 2nd, 1 92; $20 on May 1st 1892; and $30 on the fifth day preceding the first advertised day of the meeting at which the stake shall be trotted.

CONDITIONS.

First payment, whether for purses payable in installments or for stakes, MUST ACCOMPANY NOMINATIONS or they will not be considered.

Neglect to provide payments on the dates stipulated will incur forfeiture of all previous payments,

All States and Territories lying in whole or in part west of the Rocky Mountains are held to be part of the Pacific Coast.

The Directors reserve the right to change the hour and day of any race except when it becomes necessary to antedate a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days notice of change by mail to address of entry.

Entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race, shall be required to start.

When there is more than one entry to a purse or stake by one person or in one interest, the horse to be started must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race.

Purses and stakes will be divided into four moneys, viz., 50 per cent. to the winner, 25 per cent. to the second horse, 15 per cent. to the third horse, and 10 per cent. to the fourth horse.

No added money will be paid for a walk-over. If only three horses start in a stake race, only first, second and third money shall be paid—if but two start, the Directors reserve the right to call it a walk-over and divide the stake money paid in, two thirds to the winner and one-third to the second horse. In case of a walk-over, only the money received from entries to said stake will be paid. In purse races, three horses will be required to start.

A horse distancing the field shall only be entitled to first and third moneys.

The Board of Directors reserve the right to declare any purse or stake filled or not filled without binding itself to any specified number of entries.

Trotting and racing colors shall be named by six o'clock on the day preceding the race, and MUST be worn upon the track.

Otherwise than the above, National or American Trotting Association Rules—as this Association may select—will govern the stake and purse races offered.

Persons desirous of making entries in the above purses and stakes, and who have not as yet joined the P. C. T. H. B. A., should make application for membership to the Secretary, and remit the sum of $25 to cover membership fee before March 1, 1890.

STALLIONS, BROODMARES AND FILLIES

ONE STALLION FIVE YEARS OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2:17 1-2 Homestakes 2:16 1-2, etc.), dam Sally Gorham by Werner's Rattler. This horse is scarcely 15 1-2 hands high, but very compactly built. He breeds exceptionally large and well finished colts. Any one understanding the business could clear him in one season, or he would make a No. 1 road horse, as he can trot a 40 gait any time.

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2: 17 1-2, Homestakes 2:16 1-2, etc.) dam Sally Gorham, etc. This ought to make a great General Purpose sire, and with opportunities get trotters, as he is compact, strong-boned, and will measure when grown about 16 hands and weighs 1,200 lbs. With a little road work last fall he developed a wonderful burst of speed.

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD, BLACK, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2 17 1-2, etc.), dam by Nanbuc (sire of the dam of Eva W. 2:23 1-2, etc.), full brother to Thomas Jefferson, 2 23. This horse will be fully 16 1-2 hands high. He is smooth, rapid gaited and from size and conformation should breed, like his sire, large, rangy, finished colts.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BRIGHT CHESTNUT, sired by DAWN 2.18¾, dam Alida (dam of Directa, three-year-old record 2:31½, trial 2:26) by Admiral (sire of sister 2:19 1-2, Nona Y 2:25, etc). This colt is the making of an extraordinary horse. He is large boned and will be over sixteen hands high when grown; he is of the true Nutwood type, is clean gaited and can lead a pace as fast as any man's colt.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BLOOD BAY, (full brother to Alcona Jr. sire of Silas Skinner trial 2:23) sired by ALCONA (sire of Flora Belle 2:24, etc.,) dam Madonna by Cassius M. Clay Jr. This colt will make a trotter and a great stock horse if developed; he has the combined blood of Almont, Mambrino Chief, Cassius M. Clay Jr. and Joe Downing.

These colts are all sound and promising. The only reason I offer them for sale is, that I have three aged stallions in use, and the surplus is growing on me. If I were starting a breeding business for profit, I should consider either of these colts a representative to commence with. Also brood mares and fillies for sale. Correspondence solicted.

DESCRIPTION.

Black; sixteen hands; weighs, in exercise, 1,260 lbs. For style, finish, symmetry and proportion, comparison is challenged with any trotting bred horse. His colts follow in size, style and beau y. Balkan, for instance, being "facile princeps" of trotters in these particulars.

PEDIGREE.

Sired by Geo. Wilkes, sire of Harry Wilkes, 2:13½, Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, and 60 other trotters in the 2:30 list, in addition to 6 pacers, and of the sire of Axtell, 2 12 (three-year-old) beating all stallions of any age, and the sire of Regal Wilkes, 2:20¾, best two-year-old stallion record.

First dam Lady Chrisman by Mambrino (Todhunter's, son of Mambrino Chief 11; sire of Lady Thorn, 2:18¼; Woodford Mambrino, 2:21½, and four others in 2:30. and of the dams of Director, 2:17, Piedmont, 2:17¼, Onward, 2 25¼, etc.

Second dam by Pilot Jr. 12, sire of nine in the 2:30 list, and of the dams of Maud S., 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Nutwood, 2:18¾, Viking, 2:19¾, Pilot Boy, 2:20, Naiad Queen 2:20¾, etc.

TERMS.

Mares from a distance will be received at the Dexter Stables, Oakland, or Livery Stable, Martinez, the owner notifying Smith Hill, Superintendent at the farm. Good pasture and plenty of water. For the purpose of placing the service of a Wilkes within reach of breeders, the same rate will be maintained as last year, to wit, $75 for the season. Although it is not admitted thereby that this horse is inferior as a producer to the horses whose fees are placed at from $150 to $500. Address

Thoroughbred Stallion

Prince of Norfolk.

Will Make the Season of 1890, from Feb 1st to July 1st, at Sacramento.

Prince of Norfolk, chestnut horse, foaled 1881, by Norfolk; first dam Marion by Malcolm; second dam Maggie Mitchell by imp. Yorkshire; third dam Charmer by imp. Glencoe; fourth d.m Betsy Malone by Stockholder; fifth dam by Potomac, sixth dam by imp. Diomed; seventh dam by Pegasus, etc. Norfolk, the unbeaten son of Lexington, is the sire of Winters, Twilight, Connor, Ballot Box, Trade Dollar, Flood, Duchess of Norfolk, Lou Spencer, the Great Emperor of Norfolk, the unbeaten El Rio Rey, and many others. Marion's sire, Malcolm, was one of the first horses to bring Bonnie Scotland into notice. Through the Maggie Mitchell cross comes the blood of two of the most celebrated race-mares of their day, Charmer a d Betsy Malone. The combined speed of these great families seem to be concentrated in the get of Norfolk and Marion, as is instanced in the case of the Emperor of Norfolk, and El Rio Rey, who are full brothers to the Prince of Norfolk.

The blood lines here displayed cannot be surpassed in the world, there not being a single cross that has not been celebrated for speed and endurance, and it is fair to assume that the get of this stallion will show equally well with those of past generations.

TERMS: $50 for the season. We offer first-class pasturage on our own ranch, at $3 per month, and the best of care will be taken of mares sent to us, but no responsibility can be incurred. For further particulars, address by mail or wire,

    - Twilight, by Lexington, sire of the dam of Ansel, 2:20.

NOODAY is a dark seal brown, foaled 1884, 15 hands 1¼ inches high. Individually he is equal to his royal breeding. He is all that can be desired in conformation, intelligence, color and trotting action, and no stallion now in public service can show a pedigree with such fast records and royal game trotting blood as Noonday.

DON MARVIN,

Record 2:28 as a five-year-old. Standard by Breeding and Performance

Standard No. 7927.

Don Marvin 2:28.

Don Marvin is a beautiful seal brown, foaled 1884, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford, Palo Alto, Cal., standing 16 hands, and weighs, in ordinary condition, 1200 lbs. He is a fine individual, good style and form, combined with great substance, and good temper. Is very level headed; in his first race the past season he only made one break in five closely contested heats. He has great speed and endurance, with the pure, rapid Electioneer gait. He trots without toe weights, and wears only 8 oz. shoes in front. He gained his record the past season in the third heat, on a slow track, after making a season (serving over 60 mares), with scarcely any preparation. His record is no mark of his speed. He was a natural born trotter, and Mr. Charles Marvin considered him the fastest two year old at Palo Alto that season.

By FALLIS, 2:23, - - by Electioneer, sire of
Sire of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Sunol, three-year-old, 2:10 1-2, Palo Alto, 2:12¾, and 47 others in 2:30 list.

Dam CORA, by Don Victor by Belmont, sire of
Dam of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Ventura, 2:27¼, and sire of the dam of Bell Echo, 2:20, and six others in 2.30 list.

2d dam CLARABEL, - by Abdallah Star,
Dam of Clifton Bell, 2:24 1-2, and grandam of Rexford, three years, 2:24. — Sire of Hattie Maples, 2:33.

3d dam FAIRY, - - by Rysdyk's Hambletonian,
Sister of Sweepstakes, sire of 16 in 2.30 list. — Sire of Electioneer, George Wilkes, and many other noted sires and trotters.

4th dam EMMA MILLS, by Seely's American Star,
Dam of 4 horses that have 2:30 performers. — The great broodmare sire of the world.

The above pedigree should show every intelligent breeder that Don Marvin is "high" bred though very strong in trotting blood. All the comment it is deemed necessary to make as to the value of "thoroughbred blood" in the trotter is simply to refer to the very significant fact that the first and second dams of Maud S., 2 08¾, Jay-Eye-See 2:10. Sunol, three years 2:10 1-2, Palo Alto 2:12¾, Anteeo 2:16½, Nutwood 2:18¾, Wedgewood 2:19, and many other successful sires and sensational trotters of the day are thoroughbred.

TERMS—Don Marvin will make the ensuing season from February 1st to July 1st, 1890, at $40 the season, with the usual privilege of returning the mare next season if not proving in foal. Mares from a distance met at the cars or boats on notification, and carefully handled, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

Good alfalfa pasture furnished (free from barb wire fence) at $4 per month. For further particulars or complete circulars address

The Thoroughbred Stallion

INTRUDER

Will make the Season of 1890 at Agricultural Park, SACRAMENTO.

By Crater, Son of Orlando and Vesuvienne by Gladiator.

1st dam Lady Bountiful by Rataplan (Rataplan is own brother to Stockwell, and winner of 42 races, including the Doncaster Cup and 19 Queen's Plates, and proved himself the most distinguished race horse of his day in England).

3d dam Plenty by Bay Middleton (winner of the Derby and Two Thousand Guinea Stakes).

6th dam by Selim, winner of the One Thousand Guinea Stakes.

7th dam by Pypilina, by Sir Peter.

8th dam Rally, by Trumpeter.

9th dam Fancy, by Florizel. Fancy was full sister to Diomed, the first Derby winner in England, and after his importation into this country, sired the illustrious Sir Archy, etc. See English Stud Book.

Imported INTRUDER is a beautiful bay, standing fully 16 hands high, of great length and substance, and descends through close and strong currents from the most illustrious winners and winning lines of blood of which the English Stud Book bears record.

A careful review of the first six crosses of the pedigree of INTRUDER will show nine Derby winners; five St. Leger winners; two winners of The Oaks; two winners of the Two Thousand Guineas; two winners of the One Thousand Guineas; one Goodwood Cup winner; one Cæsarwich Cup winner; one Cambridgeshire Stakes winner, and four Doncaster Cups, in addition to a great number of Steeplechases and other races of less import.

INTRUDER, at the great fair held at St. Louis, Mo., in 1876, was awarded the highest stallion honors—the blue ribbon and the $500 purse—in the sweepstakes ring for stallion of any age or blood. The list of competitors embraced the large number of thirty-three animals, and they represented England, Canada, Kentucky, Tennessee, and other states. He also took first premium in his class and in sweepstakes for the best stallion of any age or breed at the State Fair at Peoria, Ill., 1882. He is the sire of Tidal Wave, George Hakes, Bernice and April Fool.

INTRUDER is the sire of Interpose, who is the dam of Spokane, winner of the Kentucky Derby, in which he beat the great horse Proctor Knott and broke the record.

TERMS: $50 for the season. Mares not proving with foal can be returned the next season free of charge. Good pasturage at $4 per month. Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire, and fed on hay and grain, either or both, at reasonable rates. While every precaution will be taken, no responsibility will be assumed for escapes or accidents. Mares sent from a distance in care of the undersigned, will be met and taken to the park. BALKAN

By Mambrino Wilkes.

(See that Horse's Advertisement.)

DAM FANNY FERN BY JACK HAWKINS

Son of Boston.

The grandam of Maud S. (2:08¾) was by Boston and the grandam of Jay-Eye-See (2:10) was by Lexington, son of Boston. So Balkan is the same remove from Boston that Maud is, and one remove nearer than Jay-Eye-See.

Fanny Fern has produced Molly Drew, Onyx, Fred Arnold Molly Fern and Balkan, all by different sires.

Balkan's sire and dam both being producers, and he being a trotter himself with a record of 2:29 1 2 three-year-old) and timed separately 2:22 1-4 in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track. October 14, 1889—it is but fair to presume that he will get trotters of the highest order.

DESCRIPTION.

He is seal brown, 16-1 hands high, in style rivalled by few, and excelled by none with as pure a gait as has yet been exhibited in public—bar none.

Balkan will be at Oakland Trotting Park for the season of 1890, and will be limited to ten mares, at $100 fee, in order to be put in training early, as it is morally certain that if given a reasonable opportunity he will be fast enough to compete with the best of his age. A Son of the World Renowned

SIDNEY,

Will Make the Season of 1890, at the Oakland Trotting Park.

ST. NICHOLAS was bred by Mr. G. Valensin at the Arno Stock Farm, Sacramento Co., California, in 1885. He is a beautifully proportioned bright bay horse, 15.3 hands high; is well muscled, lengthy, and lots of bone, with splendid natural action and a phenomenal turn of speed. As a three-year-old he easily worked three heats on the Oakland Track in 2:32, 2:29 and 2:27¼. His breeding is just what one would expect from such a highly formed bloodlike horse. Sidney, his sire is the most successful young stallion—whether for getting pacers or trotters—America has ever seen and no wonder for his blood lines are exceptional fine and are all trotting lines, Santa Claus, Strathmore, Rysdyk's Hambletonian and Abdallah, while Sweetness again runs back through that great sire Volunteer, to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and also through her dam to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and Harry Clay 45, the sire of Electioneer's dam. St. Nicholas' dam is by Echo, an exceptionally prepotent son of Hambletonian thus giving St. Nicholas four Rysdyk's Hambletonian crosses and further back a Harry Clay cross which with his grand dam's thorough bred cross should make him invaluable in the stud.

TERMS: Fifty dollars the season, which will commence on the 5th of February and close on the 1st of July. Due care will be taken of mares, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes.

Mares taken and kept as desired by the owners, and at reasonable rates.

    - Colon. Dam of Caliban, sire of 3 in 2:30 list

As will be seen, Simmocolon is by a performing and producing son of George Wilkes. 2:22. He has back of him three producing dams, and combines the blood of the great sire George Wilkes handsomely blended with the blood of the greatest broodmare families. On the dam's side Mambrino Patchen, Strathmore, Clark Chief and Clay. A fine individual himself, pure gaited and very fast.

Terms, $150, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes Pasturage $5 per month. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

BOYCE TABLETS.

Leg and Body Wash.

THE BOYCE TABLETS are packed in a nicely decorated metal box with hinged lid—one hundred tablets in each box; directions for use plainly engraved upon the box; therefore, the convenience of the package—no liability to leakage and breakage—economy and ready solubility, together with the absolute certainty of their action, will at once commend the use of BOYCE'S TABLETS to the intelligent horsemen of the country. TABLETS sufficient to make one hundred pints of leg and body wash are conveniently carried in an inside coat pocket or in the hip-pocket of the trousers.

The BOYCE WASH can be applied ALL OVER THE BODY WITHOUT FEAR OF BLISTERING OR AFFECTING THE KIDNEYS.

The BOYCE WASH will cure CRACKED HEELS, PUFFS, STOCKINGS, SCRATCHES, INFLAMED TENDONS and FEVERED LEGS.

Price per Box of One Hundred Tablets, $2, sent postpaid to any part of the United States; six boxes for $10. A sample of BOYCE'S TABLETS will be mailed to any address on application. These TABLETS are warranted to keep in any climate. Address

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2¼ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level headed, seldom making a break; wears 7-ounce shoes in front. His record 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

        - Fannie Fern
          - Irwin's Tuckahoe.
          - dam of Lefflers' Consul.

MEMO is, as can be seen at a glance, one of the best bred young stallions in service, having three crosses of Rysdyk's Hambletonian and one of Harry Clay, the sire of Green Mountain Maid (dam of Electioneer, etc.), while Long Isl nd Black Hawk and Flaxtail also contribute to his blood. Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:49, though he was close to Grandee in a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31. 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little quest on tha' he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:20 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 34 seconds.

As a four-year-old Memo only s'arted once at Sacramento -when, although out of condition, he showed great spee 1, and improving as he went on, gre t hopes were entertained of his going well down in the 'teens at the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting, bur after showing several very fast miles his leg filled and he was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His col r is a glossy black, with both fore-feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being report d not in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $ 00, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. I ast irage $5 per month. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain Best of care taken of mares, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

Being the oldest established firm in the live-stock business on this Coast, and having conducted the important auction sales in this line for the past fifteen years, amounting to one half a million of dollars, we feel justified in claiming unequaled facilities for disposing of live stock of every description, either at auction or private sale. Our list of correspondents embraces every breeder and dealer of prominence upon the Pacific Coast, thus enabling us to give full publicity to animals placed with us for sale. Private purchases and sales of live stock of all descriptions will be made on commission, and stock shipped with the utmost care. Purchases and sales made of land of every description. We are authorized to refer to the gentlemen whose names are appended.

THE IMPROVED NOYES ROAD - CART.

PATENTED JULY 17, 1883, AND JUNE 8, 1886.

Some of the Advantages of the Noyes Cart Over All Others.

There is no bar for the rider to climb over in getting in or out. The horse can be hitched eighteen inches nearer than any other road-cart made. You can get in or out with perfect safety—no danger of being thrown into the wheel—a great advantage in breaking colts. THE EASIEST CART FOR ROAD OR TRACK. The only cart that a horse can be speeded to within one second as fast as to a sulky. All our carts are made of the very best materials and are warranted. Manufactured by the NOYES CART COMPANY, Kalamazoo, Mich.

They are indorsed by the following horsemen, all of whom are using them. Ask their opinion of the Noyes Cart: John Splan, who drove Guy a full mile in 2:17¾ and Chanter a half-mile in 1:10½ to a Noyes Cart, says he would not take $250 for it if he could not get another; W. OSSIDINE

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used. Very respectfully yours,

S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Wherein Lies the Disgrace?

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I clip the following from a contribution by Mr. Jos. Cairn Simpson. "The letters received. * * * * Criticise the programme adopted, especially in regard to limiting contests to a presumably inferior class of horses, in this way encouraging the breeding of a lower rate of animals, and also having a direct tendency to limit attendance. * * * * Three-year-olds that have not beaten three minutes, four-year-olds that have not achieved 2:40, and the "get" of sires, the prcgeny of which have not shown merit enough to obtain a place in "the list" will not be "drawing cards," and the stallion purse, with eligibility depending on so slow a rate as 2:30, will hardly entice many people to witness the big event of the meeting. Taken as a whole, the programme can be termed a disgrace to the Pacific Coast. Occupying the position of the greatest horse breeding country on the continent, especially in the line of fast trotters, an association which adopts the name, and formulates a bill with six of the ten events hampered with conditions which do not encourage the breeding of the best type of horses, takes a narrow view of the position." (The italics are mine).

The breeders of the Pacific Coast owes no thanks to Mr. Simpson for the foregoing misleading statement of the action regarding stakes and purses offered by the Board of Directors of the P. C. T. H. B. A.

I have no objection to, and sincerely hope that everything the Board may do will receive fair criticism, but I doubt very much if such articles as the above are written in the right spirit, or will tend to benefit any breeder or the breeding interests on this coast.

Mr. Simpson in the first place condemns a programme, which he does not so much as care to publish and which, if published, would have placed his sharp criticism in a very peculiar light before the majority of our breeders.

Before passing any further comments, therefore, on the extracts above quoted, I will give, so far as it has been at present decided on, the programme that has called forth Mr. Simpson's very terse condemnation:

1.—Free-for-all Yearling Trotting Stakes; $50 entrance.
2.— " " 2-year-old Trotting Stakes; $75 " $250 added.
5.—3:00 Class; 3-year-old Trotting; Purse $500.
6.—2:40 Class; 4-year old Trotting; Purse $500.
7.— } Open to the get of stallions } 2-year-old Trotting; Purse $500.
8.— } with no representatives in } 3-year-old Trotting; Purse $500.
9.— } 2:30 list. } 4-year-old Trotting; Purse $500.
10—2:30 Class, Stallion Trotting; Purse $1,000.

Mr. Simpson, on authority that he does not quote, refers to No. 10 as the big event of the meeting. I trust it may prove such, but if he intended to convey the meaning, and had himself inferred that this is the annual "National Stallion Race" that has become a feature of our meetings, all I have to say is that he owes the association an apology for a most egregious blunder which he has gratuitously published to the world on no better authority than his own hasty conclusions.

Mr. Simpson also criticises the programme, especially in regard to limiting contests to a presumably inferior class of animals!

If trotting colts are inferior, why then there is a "limit," but otherwise there is nothing to bar any lunatic, if he so desire, from entering Clydesdales, Normans or thoroughbreds (if they will only trot) in stakes 1 to 4 against such a class of colts as Sunol, Lillian Wilkes, Margaret S., or Regal Wilkes. As the Board was somewhat of the opinion that there would not be a superabundance of contestants against these phenomens, they decided to offer two other classes (5 and 6) for the ages in which these exceptional colts would appear. Do Mr. Simpson and his correspondents maintain that the Board should have told these breeders: "You must either start against Sunol and Regal Wilkes or stay out?"

Had the "bar record" been set somewhat lower, in Nos. 5 and 6, it might have done as well, but at the same time, it would have brought out the old complaint: "I see you just cut me out, but let so and so in." Placed where it is, it will come pretty near giving us "green" colts altogether, and as, aside from the bar named, there is nothing to prevent full brothers and sisters, to the above, starting in one stake or the other (for none of them have records of any kind), I fail to see wherein purses 5 and 6 are a disgrace to the State, or wherein they discourage the breeding of the best type of horses; nor is there any reason why the colts should not trot as fast for purses 5 and 6 and the contests proved as good "drawing cards," as those that are offered under stakes 1 to 4.

It was on my motion that purses Nos. 7, 8 and 9 were offered for the get of stallions that have no representatives in the 2:30 list. In his condemnation of the purses and stakes offered, Mr. Simpson has thought it necessary to put in a disclaimer of his being actuated by personal motives or self-interest, perhaps it will be as well for me to do as much. I have no colts of my own breeding, sired by my own stallions, that are older than yearlings, and have only two of these that are likely to be worth training. The association has not offered a purse or stakes for yearlings under this seemingly obnoxious and "disgraceful" condition.

Mr. Simpson dubs Nos. 7, 8 and 9 purses for the get of sires, the progeny of which have not showed merit enough to obtain a place in the list. Correct, Mr. Simpson, in a measure, but they also admit foals of such inferior stallions as Antevolo, 2:19½ (sold by you for $18,000; re-sold for $40,000); Anteros (full brother to Antevolo); Palo Alto, 2:12¾; Norval, 2:17½ (sire of Norlaine, one-year-old, 2:31½); Albert W., 2:20; Ansel, 2:20; Woolsey (full brother to Sunol, 2:10½); Elector, 2:21¼ (sire of Edwin C., pacer, 2:15); Clay, 2:25; Azmoor, 2:24¾; Bentonian, Benton Frolic, Benefit, Alfred, Alban, (sires by Gen. Benton in use at Palo Alto); Clovis (son of Sultan); Bay Rose (son of Sultan); Soudan, 2:27¾ (son of Sultan); Dexter Prince (son of Kentucky Prince and a sister of Dexter); Alpheus, 2:27 (by Mambrino Wilkes); Sable Wilkes, 2:18 (by Guy Wilkes); Napa Wilkes (by Guy Wilkes); Dawn, 2:18¾ (by Nutwood); Mount Vernon, 2:21 (by Nutwood); Menlo, 2:21½ (by Nutwood), etc., and a host of other well-bred sons of Electioneer, Director, Gen. Benton, Guy Wilkes, Piedmont, Nutwood, Sidney, Sultan, and others, scattered throughout the length and breadth of the Pacific Coast, many of which are owned by small breeders who depend upon the incomes their stallions bring them, to defray the expense of training one or two of the few colts they themselves raise.

These small breeders are, or should be, members of the P. C. T. H. B. A. They have been repeatedly invited to join it. Is there any inducement for them to belong when Mr. Simpson commences by pronouncing their stallions 'inferior,' unless they are willing to pit the foals of such stallions against the phenominal produce of Electioneer, Guy Wilkes, Sidney and other proved producers of speed?

Let me try to draw a parallel between one colt and the other. On the one hand we have (1) for sire Electioneer, the greatest sire of early speed living, or that ever did live; (2) for dam any one of forty mares that have already thrown speed, and extreme speed, to the cover of Electioneer or some other stallion; (3) for trainer and driver, Charles Marvin; (4) colts trained from yearlings up; (5) every convenience in the shape of kindergarten, track, stalls, feed, etc., conceivable; (6) a selection of ten or more in at least forty to make entries from; (7) a selection of one in ten to fifteen to start.

On the other hand we have (1) an untried son of Electioneer; (2) one half dozen or a dozen mares, usually of uncertain breeding, none of which was ever known to throw a 2:30 horse to the cover of anything; (3) for trainer Mr. Forty or Mr. Sixty Dollars Amonth; (4) colts taken up in April or May, sometimes at two years old, generally not before three years old; (5) for kindergarten a square cow corral, no box-stall, a draughty stable, no track until he goes to Mr. So Much Amonth; (6) a selection of one in six down to one in one to make entries from; (7) one in one to start or pay forfeit on.

Now add to this handicap a repetition of favorable circumstances similar to those at Palo Alto, as enjoyed by the entries made by San Mateo, Rosemeade, Pleasanton, and Valensin stock farms. What I should like to know is the odds against colt number two getting a share of the purse. Admitting even that the owner of the latter has no one but himself to blame and that he adopts all the measures used at these farms, is not the produce of his untried sire out of an untried mare still unreasonably handicapped?

Palo Alto usually enters in stakes foals by two or three stallions other than Electioneer, and usually, also, the starter to represent the stable is by Electioneer. Does this brand the sires of the other entries as "inferior?" Certainly inferior to Electioneer. They and their get may not hold a candle to the old horse and his produce, yet the former may be great horses. These other stallions also have the use of these "producing" mares, and yet they are seldom started. Why then ask still more heavily handicapped stallions on the outside either to come in and compete with the best of Palo Alto, San Mateo, Pleasanton, etc., or stay out altogether, when, as a rule, Palo Alto itself dare not start any but the best foal of its best stud?

Palo Alto is run on business principles and to pay its way; when we see its trainer behind a horse we all know he is out for the stuff and for the fame of its great stallions; we do not see Mr. Marvin bring out an Electioneer when there is a moral certainty of his being distanced by a phenomenal colt like Regal Wilkes, that happened along last fall.

Did Marvin acknowledge Electioneer to be an 'inferior, stallion to Guy Wilkes by staying in the stable on this occasion? Of course not. Why then expect the small breeder to put himself in that position with the odds ten times greater against him than against Palo Alto or any other great breeding farm.

Did Marvin disgrace this coast, the Palo Alto Farm and the great Electioneer when he entered Palo Alto in the 2:20 class, and not in the free-for-all in the early part of last fall's circuit, or Express in the 2:30 class and not in the 2:20 class, after he had shown them 2:18 on the farm?

Certainly not: he entered them where they had a right to enter and where they had a reasonable chance to win their share of the money, and that is all that the smaller breeders are asking and that the Board of Directors have offered to them in purses 7, 8 and 9.

A great many small breeders own sons of Electioneer, Guy Wilkes, Sultan, etc., and although they may all hope, there are but few who expect them to prove as great producers as their sires. A little encouragement will go a long way with them as with most horsemen. Trotting a close second to Palo Alto, San Mateo or Pleasanton in 2:20 or even 2:16 may be glory, but it does not so much as give one a record of 2:30, and is most decidedly encouraging. It is the record that tells.

Alfred G. trotted a most wonderful race at Oakland against Atto Rex, Express and others, and I believe another great race at Stockton; but, so far as his fame in Kentucky is concerned, the mark he achieved at Napa against time, is worth five hundred such races as the one at Oakland in which he never won a heat, and therefore got no record. In the former instance he proved to a few spectators that he was a fast and game horse. In the latter he proved to the world what rate of speed he could and did carry, and the mark set opposite his name becomes part of that name.

The smaller breeders have no desire to go in for 'tin cup' marks, but they want a chance to get records and to g[illegible] honestly in fair contests. It is not for an associ[illegible]

the P. C. T. H. B. A. to turn up its nose at these small breeders and say, 'Look here, gentlemen, we want your annual and membership dues, but if you expect us to return any part of it to your 'inferior' horses or their scrub produce, you have come to the wrong shop.'

The small breeders, the beginners and purchasers of the sons of the great stallions fully appreciate that whatever is beneficial to the owners of the great speed producers is more or less beneficial to them.

The owners of stallions of established reputation should keep in mind, that those reputations will be still further entranced of their sons be given the opportunity to prove that they also will breed speed, six grandsons and daughters of Electioneer last year fought their way into the 2:30 list. Not a single one of them was placed there by Palo Alto; nor did any of them get there in free for all colt stakes.

The sires of every one of these six were prior to last year 'inferior' horses whose progeny were not of sufficient merit to obtain a place in the list. To-day their produce are being sought after for shipment to the East.

If the P. C. T. H. B. A. was gotten up for the sole purpose of exhibiting Sunols, Regal Wilkes, Faustinos, Directs, Palo Altos, Stambouls and their equals and condemning everything else as inferior and 'a disgrace to the Pacific Coast,' we might as well close out the small breeders and the Association at once.

I have given my reasons at length for offering this class of colt stakes, and I trust that Mr. Simpson's correspondents will do as much for opposing them. I believe that in suggesting colt stakes Nos. 7, 8, and 9, I met the desires of a majority of the large and small breeders who belong to the association; I therefore invite them to express their views through the press or by letters addressed to the secretary with or without permission to print them over their signatures. I know that it is not my intention to go counter to the general desires of the members and I have no reason to believe any of my fellow directors to feel differently to myself in that respect.

Certainly, if the members view the programme as Mr. Simpson does, as a disgrace to the Pacific Coast, the action of the Board will necessarily reflect on the Association and indirectly on the individual members." I trust therefore they will make their opinions known as above suggested.

Respectfully, yours, WILFRED PAGE.

A Hundred Years Ago.

Stud Fees of the Olden Time in Contrast With Those of To-day.

The advertisements of stallions in the old Kentucky Gazette of 1789, just a hundred years ago, furnish curious reading in this day of high priced stud fees. Now we are standing horses at a thousand, five hundred and down to a hundred dollars, and a few below these figures, says the Live Stock Record. In looking over the Kentucky Gazette of 1789 we find the following list of stallions, their pedigrees and the fees asked for their services. The stud fees at the present times, $500 and $1,000, are more than these horses of a hundred years ago cost, judging by service fees.

Don Carlos, bay, 15 hands, foaled 1772, by imp Figaro, dam Primrose by imp Dove, stood at Gen. Charles Scott's at 40 shillings a mare, payable in corn, beef, bacon, cows, calves, sheep, hogs, butter or lard.

Don Careless, bay, 15½ hands, by Old Don Careless, said to have been imported by Col. Taylor of Virginia, dam by Tom Jones, stood at Francis Keene's at $5 the season, payable in corn, calves, neat cattle, sheep, pork, wheat, rye or oats, at their cash value.

Dolphin, bay, 15 hands, foaled 1782, by Godolphin, dam Kitty Fisher, by Fitzhugh's Regulus, grandam imp. Lady Northumberland, by Northumberland, etc., stood at Samuel Beeler's at $4, or 10 shillings a leap, payable in cash or country produce at market rates.

Ferguson's Guy, gray, by Simm's Wildair, dam by Skipworth's Comus, grandam by Imp. Jolly Roger, etc., stood at Bryant Ferguson's at 20 shillings, or country produce at cash prices.

Laburnam, chestnut, 15 hands, by Imp. Lath, dam Imp. Kitty Fisher, by Cade, at $10 the season, or 400 pounds of tobacco, or 10 barrels of corn, or 400 pounds of pork, or 20 bushels of rye, or any merchantable produce.

Mogul, bay, by imp Lath, at $4, payable in corn, rye, wheat, bacon, etc. Arabian, gray, but his breeding is not given. They were advertised by John Crittenden to stand at Horatio Turpin's.

The Godolphin, bay, 15 hands by Godolphin Arabian, dam imp Kitty Fisher. This horse is not recorded and we give it as stated in the advertisement. He stood at Nicholas Lafon's at 30 shillings or 200 pounds of tobacco.

Tippoo Saib, gray, foaled 1871, by imp Lath, dam Brandon, dam of Meade's Celer, Pilgrim, Clodius, etc., by imp Aristotle, etc., stud at S. Johnson's near mouth of Hickman at 50 shillings the season, with a proviso that the season might be discharged by the payment of 40 shillings in cash, or in beef, young cattle, tobacco, pork, hemp, butter, etc., at market rates.

Union, bay, foaled 1772, by Shakespeare, dam by Nonpareil, grandam by imp. Traveller, &c., stood at George Blackburn's in Woodford County at 3 pounds, or 5 pounds to insure. It is well to state a Kentucky shilling was worth 16⅔ cents, and a Kentucky pound was $3.33. It will be seen by the above that in those times a hundred years ago stud horses in Fayette County and that immediate neighborhood were extremely well bred, and doubtless from the figures asked for their service can be explained to a great extent the good foundation laid for Kentucky stock. Without exception they were well bred and no other kind were advertised, so farmers and breeders had to use them or nothing. Only ten were advertised when we have hundreds at this day, and the highest priced fee was $10, while ours are up to $500 and in some cases $1000.

Its Wonderful Mechanism.

The Horse's Heart a Great Double Force Pump.

The ablest physiologist cannot tell what is life, though he can give a thousand proofs that stagnation is death; the chemist cannot tell how oxygen and carbon combine so as to maintain heat with such unerring regularity in any climate; the mechanic cannot discover how a fluid so thick as blood is passed so rapidly through tubes too fine to pass the purest water, nor can he show us where the motive power originates. The most elaborate, complete and delicate machine ever constructed by the skill of man is a clumsy, bungling, wasteful piece of mechanism compared to the organization that circulates, warms and invigorates the blood of the horse —the heart, the great double force pump which appears to keep all in motion.

To the right side of the heart comes a stream of dark fluid, composed of blood, that has gone the round of the system, and of newly made chyle, selected and extracted by very fine lacteals from the food passing through the bowels. This mixture is immediately pumped out of the heart into the lungs to be warmed, purified, and supplied with new oxygen. It there gets rid of its load of poisonous carbonic acid gas, and is changed from a dull dark to a bright red color. How is all this done in a few seconds? The lungs are a beautiful sight under the microscope, and would be far more so if it were possible to see them at work. They contain millions of cells, too minute to be seen by the eye, yet each cell receives its particle of blood or its particle of air, and without confusing them together allows the air to get near enough to the blood to give it oxygen and to take away carbonic acid gas, to burn up waste material and to effect all the known and unknown changes necessary to fit it to carry new life and heat and vigor to every part of the body.

Every particle of blood is made to meet the fresh air, not only without cooling it, but heating it in the process, and heating it most when the air introduced is coldest. Having been thus fitted for its work, the blood goes back to the heart, entering it now on the left side, and is immediately pumped into the arteries which carry it all over the system, delivering the required quantity as fresh and pure at the feet as at the heart itself, pulling down and building up wherever and whatever is necessary, carrying nerves, brain, muscles, hair, hoofs, skin, or bones, through vessels too small to carry water and flowing into the veins comes back again to the right side of the heart to be again passed through the warming and purifying fire in the lungs. All this is done so rapidly that the whole of the blood in the body passes through the heart in a time varying from one to three minutes, and the faster it is kept going by reasonable exercise the more completely does it accomplish its work

Fire is the rapid combination of carbon with oxygen. Wherever this combination takes place, either quickly or slowly, heat is produced in exact proportion to the amount of carbon and oxygen mixed together. It is seen going in hearth fires fast enough to produce a destructive flame, and still faster in the smith's fire, where the oxygen is rapidly forced into contact with the carbon by the smith's bellows.

The same thing goes on slowly in the lungs, restrained and regulated by a strictly limited supply of oxygen. One principal reason why the blood is heated most in cold weather is because cold air lies in less compass than warm air, so that the same pipes can convey more of it, and consequently more oxygen at each inspiration.

The lungs are a wonderful self regulating furnace that warms the blood just as much and no more than is needed, while the warm blood, by its rapid circulation through a beautiful system of pipes, warms every inch of the body, and with the help of a good, healthy clean skin, will preserve a uniform temperature of about 100 degrees, whether surrounded by a temperature 20 degrees below zero or 260 degrees above it. Thus the blood is always kept warm enough to circulate through tubes too small to be seen, yet never warm enough to injure the inconceivably fine texture that composes the millions of cells in which the blood meets, without mingling with, the air in the lungs.

There is a beautiful and wonderful feature in connection with circulation which cannot be understood without going a little into the composition of the blood itself. The greater part of the blood is greasy water, but about 13 per cent. of it consists of minute onion shaped particles, or little soft, tough, flattened circles, about the three-thousandth part of an inch through their greatest diameter, and the ten-thousandth of an inch between their flatter sides.

These are called blood corpuscles, or blood cells, and consist of a material called cruor, which has the property of attracting oxygen from the air, and of parting with it to the various tissues of the body, or, in other words, of picking it up in the lungs and carrying it to any part of the body that wants it.

These little cells go out from the lungs loaded with oxygen, which they take to combine with carbon in the distant tissues of the body. They return with their color changed from red to black and loaded with carbonic acid gas, produced by the combination of the oxygen with the carbon, in the exhausted tissues of the body.

Thus while the purely liquid part of the blood gathers heat in the lungs and carries it to every part of the body, just as warm water would do passing through a furnace and running back through the pipes of a hot house, these little blood cells go out, not only warmed themselves, but carrying out the material with which to keep up a little fire at the extremities and bring back the poisonous products of that fire, to be sent out with the warm, moist air from the lungs. They thus keep up heat by burning away waste material at the extremities, just as it is kept up on a larger scale in the lungs. They are so tough that they will squeeze through a space smaller than themselves and recover their original form. They are smaller in the horse than in man, and are still smaller in the deer, probably smallest in those liable to be called on for the most rapid circulation or most remarkable for speed and endurance.

Blood corpuscles compose 13 per cent. of the blood, but that is only a rough average estimate. They vary from something like 5 to 20 per cent., and the cause of their variation is a most important consideration in connection with the subject of this chapter. The smallest percentage is found in the blood of poor needle women, or of any females poorly fed, getting little active exercise, and above all shut up in close rooms. The largest percentage is found in the blood of man or any other animal constantly at work in the cold open air, with enough good nutritious food. With women shut up from the open air the blood cells are usually so few that their feet are kept warm with difficulty, if at all. With too much hard work in the cold open air the blood cells may get so large a percentage of the blood as to give a tendency to inflammation when food or drink of an inflammatory character are indulged in. Poor blood can only be made good blood by good food and plenty of exercise in the open air; high feeding without the exercise in the open air will only do mischief, and especially endanger the lungs. The blood cells can be slowly increased by the open air exercise, they can be rapidly decreased by shutting up in bad air, they can be instantly lessened by bleeding, and the corpuscles so lost cannot be restored for some weeks or month under the very best treatment."

Thus Mrs. Heman's allusion to the "rich blood" of the Arab is as pyhsologically correct as it is poetically beautiful, and such rich blood must be cultivated in any animal that is to be capable of any extraordinary exertion. In other words, if the horse is to be fit for much he must both be taken into the open air and the pure air must be taken into him, if he is to be shut up at all. He must not breathe air that has already parted with its free oxygen and become loaded with carbonic acid gas, or with the ammonia arising from stones reeking with the excretions of his own body.

The Standard.

[AS REVISED AND ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TROTTING-HORSE BREEDERS, DECEMBER 14, 1887.]

IN order to define what constitutes a trotting-bred horse and to establish a BREED of trotters on a more intelligent basis, the following rules are adopted to control admission to the records of pedigrees. When an animal meets the requirements of admission and is duly registered, it shall be accepted as a standard trotting-bred animal:—

FIRST.—Any stallion that has himself a record of two minutes and thirty seconds (2:30) or better, provided any of his get has a record of 2:35 or better, or provided his sire or his dam is already a standard animal.

SECOND.—Any mare or gelding that has a record of 2:30 or better.

THIRD.—Any horse that is the sire of two animals with a record of 2:30 or better.

FOURTH.—Any horse that is the sire of one animal with a record of 2:30 or better, provided he has either of the additional qualifications: (1) A record himself of 2:35 or better. (2) Is the sire of two other animals with a record of 2:35 or better. (2) Has a sire or dam that is already a standard animal.

FIFTH.—Any mare that has produced an animal with a record of 2:30 or better.

SIXTH.—The progeny of a standsrd horse when out of a standard mare.

SEVENTH.—The female progeny of a standard horse when out of a mare by a standard horse.

NINTH.—Any mare that has a record of 2:35 or better, and whos sire or dam is a standard animal.

Grim's Gossip.

The noted turf writer "Aurelius" says that he never attended a dozen trotting meetings in his life.

It is now stated on what should be good authority that G. S. Davis paid Mr. Steele of Philadelphia $35,000 for Antevolo.

C. F. Emery of the Forest City Farm has engaged Caton, the driver, and will have a string of trotters on the circuit this year.

It is reported that T. J. Dunbar may handle Maud S. next season. Dunbar is head trainer at Fashion Farm, but his term does not expire until next fall.

Last week I mentioned that R. Steele of Philadelphia had sold Antevolo for $40,000. It now turns out that Geo. S. Davis of the Clairevew Stock Farm, near Detroit is the purchaser.

We have been asked quite a number of times when Goodwin's Annual Turf Guide would appear. From information received from the office, we can state that they will be out inside of ten days.

L. J. Rose will have eighty six head of horses in the coming New York Auction Sale and the Valensin Stock Farm will be represented with twenty head. The sale is set for March 5th and 6th.

John Faylor has accepted a position with E. J. Baldwin and left for the Santa Anita ranch yesterday. He will have full charge of the breeding department at which he has had many years of experience.

R. Porter Ashe will have seven racers in his stable this year, including, of course, the now famous Geraldine. Letters from the East assure the owner that the great sprinter is better than ever before.

Mike Kelly paid the city a flying visit a few days ago. He reports the stock at the Ashe Farm in splendid condition, and also thinks he can show up a number of speedy two year olds this year that will be hard to beat.

Fred Barrett one of England's crack riders, sailed on Christmas eve for Buenos Ayres. He will ride a few races there and return to England in the latter part of February, expecting to be back by the 6th of March.

J. H. White, of Lakeville, Sonoma County, is unfortunate in the death of Accident, one of his best broodmares. She was by Frank McClellan, out of the Ralston mare. Her death resulted from an injury which she received several weeks ago.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I contradict the statement made last week about the damage to the grand stand at Glenbrook Park. It seems that the only damage done by the snow, was to some temporary buildings and the stand is uninjured.

Some of the turfmen around Louisville have made a proposition to have a farm for horses that have been successful racers in which to spend their old age. The project appears to be a good one, and will probably be carried out by those that are interested in it.

The Leonard Bros., Elsmeade Stud, Lexington Ky. has sold to Governor Leland Stanford, Palo Alto Stock Farm, a bay yearling colt by Electioneer, dam Winona, by Almona, by Almont; second dam Dolly, dam of Onward, 2:20½; Director, 2:17, and Thorndale 2:22½.

Work on the new Monmouth Park race track is progressing steadily and enough has now been done to indicate that long before the Monmouth Park racing season begins the grandest race track surely on the American continent, and most likely on any other continent will be ready for occupancy.

Seth Griffin, who has prepared all the fast tracks over which Maud S has made her records, has written Robert Bonner from Philadelphia to come and see the soil and material put on Belmont track; and if Maud S. can ever beat her record, she should be able to do it over that track.

Judson H. Clark, of Elmira, but well-known in this city, refused a bonafide offer of $102,000 for the great Bell Boy, a few days before he was burned to death. The income from the horse this year would have been $32,500. Mr. Hopper owned a half interest in the nag.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

A few weeks ago I mentioned in Gossip that Geo. Middleton of Chicago was willing to match Jack 2:15 against any trotter in the country. In an interview recently held with the gentleman he stated that he was convinced that his grey gelding would make a mark of 2:10 or better during the season of 1890.

Philadelphia has a pair of car horses which for sagacity are wonderful, if the story is true. They say that if these horses, on nearing a crossing at night, see a man standing on a corner of a street with a lighted cigar in his hand, and at the approach of the car he throws it into the street, the horses will come to a full stop at the crossing.

Mr. L. J. Rose is talking in a confident manner about Stamboul making a record of 2:10 sometime this year. There were many who thought he was too enthusiastic when he made the wager with Crawforn last year. But there is not a person who saw the mile made at Napa but what knows perfectly well that only the elements prevented the accomplishment of the allotted task

A number of the horsemen who live in and around Petaluma have contributed toward a common fund and will purchase a set of Wallace's Register and year books, Chester's Trotting and Pacing Records, and also a set of Bruce's American Stud books. This will be a great convenience, for there are questions coming up continually that can only be answered by having the authorities at hand.

The Pleasanton Stock Farm is not going to be out done by the other large producers who have annual sales, so Mr. Salisbury has made arrangements with Mr. Peter C. Kellogg & Co., and will sell a consignment from the home of Director on March 7th, the day following the conclusion of the Rose and Valensin sale.

An Eastern contemporary states that W. Mulkey, Kansas City, Mo., has sold to California parties the bay filly Mary M., foaled 1887, by Lucifer, dam Lady Veto, by Veto, out of Julia Howard's Glencoe; Lela, brown mare, foaled 1884, by Virginius, dam Lady Veto, and the chestnut horse War Sign, foaled 1880, by War Dance, dam Louisa by imp Australian, out of Luileme by Lexington.

Next year's Derby in England will be run under entirely new conditions. It will be a stake of £6,000, the winner taking £5,000, the nominator of the winner £500, and the owners of the second and third horses £300 and £200 respectively. The subscription is £50 each, or £25 forfeit if declared by January 7th. Probably no animal will be left in that will not be prepared for the race.

A letter received from the Valensin Stock Farm, notifies me that Venus (dam of Adonis, 2:14) gave birth to a beautiful chestnut filly, by Sidney, on the morning of January 28th. The only white on this valuable foal is a white diamond on the nose. A full sister to Adonis should be a very valuable animal, and there will be plenty of fanciers who will be willing to pay a long price for this little damsel.

"In discussing the point why thoroughbreds are unable to maintain for a mile their best speed for a quarter," says Robert Bonner, "I think many men overlook the fact that it is the pace that kills. The ox never tires because, although he keeps constantly at work, he doesn't move fast enough to drain his strength. Even with machinery, to obtain high speed, the power must be increased in greater ratio."

Mike McManus has again assumed command of a string of trotters for D. M. Reavis of Chico, Mike has altogether about twenty head at the race track, and he confidently believes that he has a number of good ones among them. It is now many years since Mike last worked for Mr. Reavis, and it is to be hoped that he will bring out prominently some of the old Blackbird stock of which there are so many on the ranch.

With Kingstone, Firenzi, Tenny, Hanover, Salvator, Britannic, Geraldine, Volunteer, Prince Royal, Badge, Blue Rock Cracksman, Proctor Knott, Los Angeles. Come to Taw, Belle d'Or, Tipstaff and exactly 100 others on his hand, the adjuster of the Toboggan Slide handicap, at three-quarters of a mile, will have something to keep him busy for a week. The New York Jockey club did wisely in giving the sprinters a chance.—New York Mail and Express.

Beautiful Bells, dam of Bell Boy 2:19¼, and Hinda Rose 2:19½, is the only mare that ever threw two foals that at 3 years old had records of 2:20 or better. She also has the honor of being the dam of the highest price horse ever sold at auction in America, her son Bell Boy, brining $51,000 at public sale. The highest price ever paid for a horse in the world at auction was given for Blair Athol, in England, he being knocked down at a bid of $62,500.—(Kentucky Stock Farm.)

The race horse has often the advantage of very accomplished teachers. Men from whom much can be learned. The innumerable vices, so often conspicuous on the public racecourse, are little seen in the private training stable and those who judge the one from the other and think that everything connected with the race horse must be depraved, would be surprised to witness the command of temper, the high character, and the noble self control of some of the men who are entrusted with the care of the most valuable race horses.

F. A. Lovecraft, Secretary of the American Jockey Club, has sent to all interested, the following circular:

In accordance with "Racing Rule" No. 10. the following stakes for 1890 and 1891, already closed, will be run over the course of the New York Jockey Club, Westchester, New York, under the control of the American Jockey Club, viz.:

The Juvenile, Withers, Belmont, Ladies, for the Spring, and the Jerome, Mosholu, Hunter, Nursery and Titan for the Fall of 1890.

The Wither, Ladies, Belmont, for the Spring and the Jerome, Hunter and Mosholu for the Fall of 1891.

The daily press of San Francisco yesterday received the following dispatch:—"The Times-Index will this evening publish a statement on the authority of Governor Waterman that Richard Gird of this county will be appointed a director of the State Agricultural Society, to succeed G. W. Hancock, whose term has expired. Mr. Gird will also be appointed the Manager of the State Citrus Fair for Southern California, which is to be held at Los Angeles in March, in place of Mr. Hancock. The appointment is satisfactory to every one, and the fruit growers in San Bernardino County will assist in the State Citrus Fair."

After pronouncing El Rio Rey the greatest two-year-old the country has ever seen, the Week's Sport says: "If the sickness he suffered from last fall has not interfered with him, he promises to be the most perfect three-year-old America has yet produced, good enough to win the English Derby any year, and to be a "world-beater" indeed. If, however, the attack was as severe as represented, it is quite probable he may take a year to get over it, as has often been found to be the case. From El Rio Rey it is a long step to the next one, whichever one takes that to be, whether Reclare or Gregory. In either case there is a most curious contrast in the surroundings. El Rio Rey is essentially a lordly colt, the property of a millionaire, racing for glory as much as for money, though his winnings are so great while Reclare and Gregory are animals that have had to earn their daily bread."

A week or two ago mention was made in this column about a race that had been arranged to take place at Bakersfield between horses owned by Harrison Jones and Charles Kerr. The match was for two races, one, a mile dash and the second a half mile dash, there to be only twenty minutes intervening between the two races. Well, the event has been decided, Mr Kerr winning with his stallion Apache both races easily. Those who were acquainted with the running qualities of the Jones horse, fancied that it was impossible to lose, and as a consequence were early on the scene of action to place their money as best they could. Mr. Kerr, so we are informed wagered $3 200 on the result and the backers of Harrison Jones' horse are trying to borrow money enough to get home. Apache is a beautiful chestnut by imp Mortemar, dam Tue Bashee by Lexington. He was taken in hand by Hanger Jones to prepare for the last meeting of the Blood Horse Association but failed to show form enough to warrant his owner in starting him. The chances are that he may be seen at the Bay District Track in April,

The most remarkable performer ever foaled was the Hungarian thoroughbred mare Kincsem (pronounced Keen-chem). She won fifty-four races, and was never beaten. In one of her races Prince Giles the First, the best horse of his day in Germany, was pitted against her The Prince got much the best of the start, but the mare ran him to a dead heat and then easily beat him in the run-off. Her races were run in Austria, Germany, England and other countries, and she won $96,634 in stakes and purses She met with an accident which caused her death, thus losing her to the stud.

As was told my readers last week, Harry J. Agnew, of Honolulu, arrived on the steamer which arrived on Saturday. He has brought over with him a green pacer called Boswell Jr., by Boswell, a son of Almont. The dam is Maude, 2:20, by Black Hawk Bertrand; 2d dam by Hamilton Chief. He is a neat turned horse, and can show a good, lively mile even now. Mr. Agnew has also brought with him two two-year-old fillies, one called Angie Wilkes, by Guy Wilkes, dam Maude (the dam of Boswell Jr.), and she is as pretty a little trotter as one would wish to see. When I was present, Mr. Wm. Corbitt offered $1,500 for her, but Harry values the daughter of Guy at a much higher figure. The second of the fillies is a tall, stately miss by Doncaster, son of Elmo, dam Kitty Malone by Patchen Vernon. Mr. Agnew will now look around for a stock farm, and prepare to start in the breeding business on an extensive scale.

I have received numerous letters in regard to the bay gelding Diamond, 2:21¼, and many have made offers less than our catalogue price, which is useless, as we have only one price to all, and if changed will be changed to all alike. I will now make this proposition (and I am still outside of an insane asylum): I will sell Diamond for $10 000 cash, and will then bet any man $2,500 against $10,000 (which is 1 to 4) that I can and will, within six months from March 1, 1890 give him a record of 2:10 or better, I to have entire control of horse and the selecting of his groom, and all other matters, the same as if he was my own, the owner paying all expenses of horse and groom, which I will guarantee shall not exceed $150 per month for the six months. This will make anyone a very cheap horse from any standpoint. If he fails to make the time specified he will then stand his owner not over $8,400, and if he does make the specified time the cost to his owner will be $18,400. I have within the last ten days refused more than the first amount for him, so that I have not got this up as a scheme to reduce the price, but the reverse, as I think it very probable that with the above arrangement I would realize more than our catalogue price.

Yours, DELL BARKER, Agent.

L. M. Lasley, writing to me from Nashville, says:

Not much fast work has been done here yet, though just prior to the close of the stakes some few were sent short spins, and were generally satisfactory. A three-year-old, Burford, by Boulevard, and a two-year-old by the same sire, were thought to have shown the best. The latter, to my thinking, is a little coarse, but has lots of stamina and driving power, yet not so even turned and symmetrical as I like; still a large chestnut and very much like his sire. El Rio Rey is expected here about the 1st of February, and will meet an ovation, for everybody is on tiptoe to see the great champion. His stable may be glad he is not here now, for it has rained continually up to a day or two since, and, without warning, turned very cold and froze up tight and hard; still I saw some horses galloping this morning on a very hard, frozen track. No objection to that, as they were not mine; perhaps it was better they did. There are now about one hundred quartered here, and mostly seem to be doing well. The stakes just closed have filled well beyond expectation, which, by the way, is just and due the liberal management pursued by the officers in charge. The track is a good one indeed, having been recently—as one old gentleman told me —"hosstiled," and other needful work done. A great meeting the one next April will be and should be. The Belle Meade and other sales will bring the largest crowd ever seen here.

Capt. B. C. Harris on the Pedigree of Lorena.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—In the last issue of your paper, under the head of Grim's Gossip, it is suggested that I should tell where I got the pedigree of the mare Princess 2:27½. The facts, in brief, are simply these: When I purchased Princess I also got another mare Lady Loud of Mr. Bridge, and upon asking him concerning their breeding, his reply was that he did not know how they were bred, but that one of them was known as the Loud mare, and the other, Princess, was the well known fast roadster, formerly owned and driven by Moses Alma then deceased. Upon this information, (designing the mare for brood purposes) and having often heard Mr. Alma speak of his "Mambrino mare," her breeding, etc., besides having some personal knowledge of her speed as a roadster, I set about the work of tracing up their pedigrees, as best I could. Of Mr. Warren Loud, who bred Lady Loud, I easily obtained her pedigree; while in regard to that of Princess I found much trouble, as, in those days, pedigrees of animals on the Pacific Coast were not as carefully preserved as they are now. Upon making further inquiry of several persons concerning their knowledge of Princess, I chanced to meet with Mr. Albert Whipple, who was, at the time, also looking after some breeding items for his brother S. B. Whipple. From him I obtained the information that (while looking over some files of papers, pedigrees and books belonging to W. F. Williamson, who had for a long time been the turf writer for the Alta and reporter for the California Spirit of the Times, and who was, in his day the accepted authority on all horse matters in the State of California) he came across the pedigree of the Alma mare, and as he was going to send the books and papers, among other things to some one in the East, I obtained the data which I then copied in my book. In regard to the discrepency in the name of sires, I made a note of the names Mambrino Chief or Woodford Mambrino, which accounts for it as shown in the pedigrees published. As to the writings of that popular authority Hark Comstock, I can only say, that while the fair was in progress at Petaluma last fall, he asked me the breeding of Lorena's sire and dam, to which I replied as follows: "Sired by Jim Mulvenna, a son of Nutwood, dam Elmorene by Elmo. In his writing of the California two-year-olds, she has sometimes been called Loretta. Such mistakes are trivial and quite common, and are frequently typographical Mr. Briggs' whose truthfulness is not to be questioned, assures me that he never said that I knew the pedigree of the old mare when I got her! And what could have prompted such a promulgation, unless it be a proneness to falsehood or egotism for appearing in print, I cannot see.

J. H. McCormick has purchased the well known five-year-old mare Belinda.

The Governor has appointed John Harney and A. J. Stice Directors of Agricnlural District No. 22.

Superintendent Van Keuren has been confined to his house for the past few days with influenza.

It was Glory all the way at Clifton on the 20th, distance and going seeming to have no terrors for the Daly filly.

The Macey Brothers have closed up their large livery business in Lexington, and will attend strictly to educating trotting horses.

Mr. R. S. Veech of Indian Hill farm, who sends 17 mares to Axtell, has taken the vacant places in the book of Phallas, whose fee is $250.

The talk of Monmouth County last week was a rumor that Mr. Littlefield's Pardee filly, Penitent, showed three furlongs recently in 36 seconds.

It is said Frank Whitney the well known equine artist has decided to give up newspaper work and devote his time to color work which is more profitable.

Had Bell Boy lived through this season his stud fees would have left a balance of $11,000; $51,000 was given for him and his fees would have amounted to $62,000.

Morton, who rode for Palo Alto until the last Blood Horse meeting, has—or is going—to San Simeon to ride in the coming season for Senator Hearst's Western contingent.

An Eastern contemporary says the best matched team in New York State is probably the one in Matt Byrnes' stable at Monmouth, which Mr. B. A. Haggin took from California.

Dan McCarty has changed his mind and will fetch his horses from Fresno to San Francisco, in order to give the public a chance to see his trotters work quarters and halves in ——?

The Patterson New Jersey fanciers have tumbled to the fact that racehorsemen are bad to beat at a cock fight. When they win a battle they will have a chance to crow, but it is said they never will.

David, 2:19½, who was shipped to England a while ago, should have a picnic in the pony classes there, as he is nicely under 16 hands, and should have almost a minute in hand with the English ponies.

Bither says Jay Eye See, his pet and pride, will not be seen again in public, when out here Bither had great hopes of his standing another season's work, but it is now decided he will not face the music again.

J. H. Walters, who has purchased the Lakeport Fair Grounds from the Lakeport Agricultural Park Association, purposes renovating and improving the track and grounds so that it will be the equal of any in the State.

Mr. E. B. Muir, a well known trotting horse breeder, residing in Donerail, Ky., is improving in health and will soon be out again. Mr. Muir is the owner of Nellie Burns 2:20¾ and Burns McGregor two-year-old record 2:29¾.

The condition of the local pool rooms has been peculiar for several days. Last Saturday they obtained no returns, but on Monday morning they received the winners, but were left in the same predicament with regard to Monday's races.

Six thoroughbred foals already at Palo Alto speak volumes for the careful management exercised by Superintendent Henry Walsh. Racine's dam Fairy Rose has a filly by imp. Cheviot while Flirt dam of Gorgo and Flambeau has a colt by Flood.

Samuel Gamble has purchased (presumably for Mr. Hobart) of Hart Boswell, Lexington, Ky., Nancy Lee, bay mare, foaled 1868, by Dictator—Sophy, by Alexander's Edwin Forest, for $6,000. She is the dam of the famous Nancy Hanks 2:24½, who was never beaten.

Mr. Baldwin will attempt to raise some January foals next season, and in pursuance of that object several of his younger mares, including probably Mollie's Last, Viente, Rosebud and Atalanta, will be bred this month to The Emperor, Gano, Verano and the other stallions.

Eighteen heavy gray horses were consigned to A. L. Tiplin, Newark, by a dealer in Basto, Pennsylvania, on January 10th. On their arrival at the freight yards of the New Jersey Central Railroad, fifteen were suffocated, there being no ventilation except through the doors.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Coney Island Jockey Club held a fortnight ago, it was resolved that members of the American Jockey Club in good standing, who may apply and be elected to the Coney Island Jockey Club prior to March 1st, shall be admitted without initiation fee.

At the last Stanford sale in New York about a year ago, Lecturer—then 3 years old—by Electioneer, dam Mamie C., dam of Azmoor, 2:24¾, was sold to Professor F. C. Fowler for for $1100; about a fortnight ago Lecturer was resold to Messrs. Rundle and White, Danbury; price, $6,500.

Among the mares book to Axtell for next season is Butterfly 2:19¾. She is by Young Jim, son of George Wilkes, dam Tansey, daughter of George Wilkes, and as Axtell is a grandson of George Wilkes, there will be in Butterfly's foal about as much George Wilkes as it is possible to get. Is it not possible to get too much of a good thing in breeding?

At a meeting of the life members of the Monterey Agricultural Association—District No. 7—held in the City Hall last week, it was agreed to recommend the following named gentlemen to Governor Waterman for appointment as Directors of the association. Dr. Thomas Flint, of San Juan, vice self, term expired; J. H. McDougall, vice Paris Kilburn, resigned.

Capt. Franklin, on his return to New Orleans a fortnight ago, took with him a two-year-old bay colt by Vanderbilt—Eva S ; a three-year-old chestnut colt by Plenipo—Jaconet, and Vatican, a four-year-old black colt by Vanderbilt—Minnie Rogers. He purchased others, including Miss Leon, b f, 4, by Longfellow—Jennie M., which he has left at Nashville.

Clifton race goers and trainers are said to agree that the colt by Stratford out of Gazelle, the dam of Gallus Dan, is the best looking on the track. He will probably be saved for the great American stakes at the Brooklyn Jockey Club meeting in May. The colt was bought by Mr. Levy with another by Alarm out of Blossom by Saxon at the Chesterbrook sale.

A sporting contemporary says: If Red Elm had been well handled in his races this winter what a coup his people could have made. Within his distance he is one of the fastest horses in training. The Montana horse keeps winning every now and again, and last Saturday earned another winning bracket. Montana has several other sprinters who would probably astonish the Easterners.

That well-known turfman and breeder, Mr. Ben F. Pettit, is reported to be at the point of death at his home in Kentucky, from the effects of a severe attack of pneumonia Mr. Pettit is a part owner of the well-known Prince Charlie filly, Princess Bowling, and he also, jointly with Mr. Sanford Lyne, owns the imported stallion Deceiver, who cost his owner $10,000, and who is considered one of the most promising untried sires now in Kentucky.

The well-known performer, Duke of the Highlands, has been broken to harness by his trainer, Brown Dick, who drives him now to a buggy around Lexington every day. The horse's legs are shaky, and Dick, fearing he will not be able to stand training, has concluded to put him into a service, which, while it might appear ignoble to a high mettled racer, at least gives him a chance to earn his oats.

Prince Wilkes was driven but one English mile in 1889, and that he trotted in 2:15¾, which his trainer, Chambers, considers equal to 2:10, the track at Buenos Ayres being that much slow. Chambers, who has recently returned to his home in Kentucky, says the reputation of Prince Wilkes is so great in the Argentine that it will be difficult for him to be raced successfully hereafter on account of the long distances he will be handicapped.

The only horses of Mr. Haggin's that Byrnes has are cared for by his hinchman L. Cummings, in Mr. Byrnes' absence. These are Firenzi and Salvator, also Hawkstone, Ransom Kern, Fitzjames, Fernwood, Rosetta and Schoolboy, a four-year-old maiden half brother to Troubadour, being by King Alfonso—Glenluine. Mr. Cummings thinks Mr. Byrnes will dispose of him. He is simply a giant in stature, being by far the largest horse at the track.

The managers of the new Linden course have begun to make preparations for a meeting at their track, to be held at the same time as the meeting at Elizabeth. It is possible that the officers of the two clubs may arrange matters so that there will not be a conflict between them. Again, it is said that the Elizabeth course will be kept open for the entire month, from April 15th to May 15th, regardless of the movements of the management of other tracks.

Lucien Appleby (late Appleby & Johnson) although not generally credited with owning any horses at present, has by no means abandoned the sport he loves. Mr. Apppleby is now living in a handsome cottage just opposite the Little Silver station, near;Monmouth Park. The cottage, palatial in size, is fitted up with every improvement, and Mr. Appleby enjoys his suburban residence. More than that, Builder Decker is now erecting for him a two story barn and stable with twelve box stalls, and it is being built in the best possible manner.

Reports from Cynthiana say that Hon. T. J. Megibben, the famous breeder and President of the Latonia Jockey Club, still continues in a most dangerous condition, and fears are entertained that he will never arise from his sick bed. His death would not only be a loss to his immediate section, but to the entire turf world, he being honored and esteemed by turfmen all over the United States. It is understood that in the event of his death he has made provisions for the future carrying on of his famous establishment, Edgewater Stud Farm.

Mr. W. G. Withers, Jr., is enthusiastic over his yearling filly by Maximus (son of Almont, dam by Sentinel), and he thinks she is one of the best youngsters ever raised at the famous Fairlawn farm. Though she will not be twelve months old until May 11th, she showed the other day, the third time she was ever hooked up, a quarter in fifty-nine seconds. She is blessed with a faultless gait, and appears to be perfectly level headed. Her young owner thinks she is a wonder, and believes she will show it by the end of the season.

Robert Walden, son of Wyndham Walden, once Mr. Geo. L. Lorillard's famous trainer, and since then breeder, owner and trainer for himself, was at New Orleans last week. The Waldens train Mr. John A. Morris's horses for him, and young Walden, who was in New Orleans on a visit to Mr. Morris, says he has been over to the Morris Breeding Farm in Texas, and thinks the climate and soil are better adapted to breeding farm purposes than California. He thinks the three colts sent on to his father are the finest he ever saw and will make a name for the Texas blue grass belt. Mr. Walden left for home last week.

The following celebrated trotters and pacers are among the 1200 head of horses which will be sold at auction here, at the Brasfield and other sales during February: Susie S., 2:15½; Houri, 2:17; Bud Crook, 2:18½; Protection, 2:19½; Hinder Wilkes, 2:20½; Cognac, 2:20¼, Emulation, 2:21; Elgin Girl, 2:20½; Calinda, 2:23¾; Thalia, 2.26; Lunette, 2:25¾; The King, 2:29¼; Count Wilkes 2:29½; Egbertha. 2:29½; Elkhorn, 2:28¾; Woodford Pilot, 2:23¾; Susette, 2:26½; Danville Wilkes, 2:27; Bessie Wingate, 2:28; Problem, 2:24½, and Rene, 2:26. Never in the history of breeding have so many trial performers been offered at public sale in a single month in the same county.

In England the education of a horse often and wisely begins on the first day of its existence. The little long legged animal is brought into a loose box with its mother, and if not actually haltered and taught to lead, is gently handled from head to foot which has a great effect in making it ever after fearless of the approach of man. The more often this is repeated the better. When two or three months old it is often fed from a manger with its mother, and frequent opportunities taken to handle it. It is sometimes shut up in a loose box during the forced absence of its mother and at others follows her through the roads, over the bridges, and among the sights and scenes of its future life.

The stable of Megibben & Co., including Laura Davidson, Sportsman, that trio of good three-year olds, Avondale, Eberlee and W. G. Morris, and a number of promising two-year-olds, among the latter a brother to Avalon and a sister to Huntress, will race in the East principally this year. The stable will leave the West immediately after the close of the Latonia spring meeting. Avondale is said to be the most improved colt of the lot, although Eberlee and W. G. Morris both show the benefits of their let-up, and Sportsman, it is thought, will be a much better horse than he was last year, and his owners have entered him in the Suburban handicap, believing that, if properly weighted, he will have a chance to carry off that rich prize, for which event he will be especially prepared.

The following horses with records better than 2:30 are booked to stand in Kentucky this season: Bonnie McGregor 2:13½, Phallas 2:13¾, Don Pizarro 2:14¾. Jerome Turner 2:15¾, Anteeo 2:16½, Robert McGregor 2:17½, Norval 2:17½, Duquesne 2:17¾, Baron Wilkes 2:18, C. F. Clay 2:18, Wilton 2:19¼, Alfred G 2:19½, Abbotsford 2:19½, Blue Grass Hambletonian 2:20¾. Eagle Bird 2:21. Hambletonian Mambrino 2:21¼. Bermuda 2:20½, Artillery 2:21½. General Wilkes 2:21¾. King Wilkes 2:22¼. Cyclone 2:23½, Sultan 2:24, Hylos 2:24½, Wilkes Boy 2:24½, Nutbreaker 2:24½, Onward 2:25¼. Shawmut 2:26, Gambetta Wilkes 2:26, Alcander 2:26½, McAlister 2:27, Simmons 2:28, Ellerslie Wilkes 2:28¾, and Macy 2:29¼. A modest valuation of these horses would make them worth more than half a million dollars.

The track at Monmouth Park has been in exceptionally good order this winter, and horses are very forward. Among the trainers located there is Mr. Littlefield, who has 19 head in training, most of which could be put in racing trim in three weeks or less, among them are a good-looking two-year-old My Craft (Fellow Craft—Hegiaz), Heeltaps, who is a brother to Monopole, Adventure, by Miser, out of Peradventure, Simrock (Fellow Craft—Elmira), a very promising two-year-old, having shown better form than any yearling previously handled by Littlefield, and Joe, a two-year-old by Joe Daniels, out of Vestella, purchased at the Haggin yearlings of 1889. The older horses are all doing well, and should give an account of themselves.

Firenzi is in grand order for the time of year, being at present at Monmouth Park; she is enjoying the best of health, far better than a year ago. Indeed, this is a fact as regards all the horses at the track, they are eating well, filling out, and caring nothing about the epidemic grip that has laid so many human beings low. Firenzi was always a slow mare in the spring, but from present indications she may be seen this year in the Suburban. That is, providing the handicapper doesn't ask her to carry several of the other horses the journey before she throws them away and beats them. Salvator has also grown and thickened out well, and all the others in the Haggin string are in good fettle.

It is a mistaken notion that M. Byrnes has a lot of Mr. Haggin's 2-year-olds. He has ten 2-year-olds altogether, two on the Monmouth track and eight at his own farm. The first two are his own property, the latter eight the property of Mr. Marcus Daly. Mr. Byrnes' two are both George Kinneys and good looking, one being the chestnut colt out of Bijou Mr Byrnes, purchased at the Hurstbourne sale. The Marcus Daly lot were all bought at Mr. Haggin's sale in July and are as follows: Silver King, ch c, by St. Blaise—Maud Hampton, and consequently half brother to King Thomas; Montana, b c, by Ban Fox—imp Queen, the other six are all by Sir Modred, as follows: Prince Charming, b c, dam Carissima; Gold Dollar, ch c, dam Trade Dollar; Mistletoe and Namouna, bay fillies, dams Letola and La Favorita, and Lenora and Bonnie Lass, chestnut fillies, dams Lizzie Lucas and Bonnie Kate. The entire lot are youngsters of size, conformation and apparent quality.

Mike Kelly, the Maltese Villa Stable trainer, has been in town for several days arranging for transportation for three two-year-olds, viz, King Alta, Romiata and Judge Terry. They will probably go on the Valensin car to New York and join the stable at Westchester. King Alta is by that good race-horse Alta out of Geraldine's dam, Cousin Peggy; Judge Terry is by Alta out of Pet, by Norfolk, while Romiata is by (imp) Woodlands out of Dizzy Blonde. Cousin Peggy has a yearling filly by Alta, but is not in foal this year, and will be bred back to Alta. Mike will have half a dozen horses East this season, viz, Geraldine, Flood Tide, Abdiel, and the three two-year-olds previously mentioned. J. Wall, Kelly's lieutenant, is in charge of the three at present in the East. Kelly, whose leg is all right now, not having bothered him for some time, says that El Rio Rey will be better than ever this season, while their half-bred mare (for so he says they call her at Westchester), Geraldine, will be pretty hot goods in a sprint or two, and if lightly weighted in the Brooklyn Flood Tide, should give a good account of himself.

Eugene Leigh, the well known trainer, was in Lexington last week inspecting the stables preparatory to choosing one for the accommodation of his own horses and the Hankins string, which is in his charge. Twenty of Hankins' horses will be trained here, while the rest, in charge of Tom Kiley, will go to Memphis to take part in the early spring southern racing It is understood that Terra Cotta, Egmont and Little Minch will all three be placed in the stud this winter, and not be trained again. The latter horse could doubtless stand another campaign, but his owner is of the opinion he has done enough on the turf. He is now ten years old, and since Mr. Hankins purchased him in the winter of 1886 for $6,000, he has won a total of thirty-seven races, and $29,765 in stakes and purses. As to Egmont and Terra Cotta, they are both badly bowed, and while they might be good for a race or two, it is almost certain neither one of them could make a long campaign. Terra Cotta cost his present owner $17,500, and he has won for him $19,065 in stakes and purses, while Egmont since entering the Hankins stable at a cost of $10,500, has won the neat sum of $15,494. Thus Mr. Hankins is several thousand ahead on his stallions.

Marcus Daly's Thoroughbreds.

We have been asked many times what thoroughbreds Marcus Daly has at Riverside Farm on the Bitter Root, Montana. An old correspondent of the BREEDER AND SPROTSMAN visited the ranch just before the first consignment started East, and sends us his opinion of the different bangtails which he saw there:—

Missoula County to-day boasts the possession of twenty-two of the handsomest thoroughbred yearling colts and fillies owned by any one man in the United States. This seems like a broad assertion, but a visit to Mr. Marcus Daly's Riverside Farm at Charlo station on the Bitter Root branch of the Northern Pacific, will be enough to convince the most skeptical. The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN reporter went out there last Monday, and in a stay of three hours saw enough to convince him that there was nothing to equal it either at Woodburn or Belle Meade, and nothing to surpass it at the famous St. Alban's Stud Farm near Geelong in Australia. These youngsters were all bred at Mr. J. B. Haggin's Rancho del Paso, near Sacramento and were sold at auction near New York in July last. The prices paid were the heaviest average per head ever known in America, and the New Yorkers made Mr. Daly pay liberally for all he got. Two of the colts were turned out in a paddock and will not be galloped ll next year. One of these is by Ban Fox out of the imported mare Queen, and the other is by Darebin out of Agenoria, dam of Pontico and Pontiac. The others are as follows:

1. Vergie, br f by Milner, out of a mare by Virgil. Has Star and off heel white. A very racy looking mare.

2. Bay filly by Hyder Ali, out of Pandora by Spendthrift. this is a racy mare with big driving power.

3. Bay filly by Darebin, out of Katy Darling by Longfield. Has a star and two white heels, and is a very pretty mare.

4. Brown filly by Darebin out of Sozodont. Very large and highly formed.

5. Bay filly by Joe Daniels out of Nonage by King Ernest. Long and low, but looks more speedy than enduring.

6 Bay filly by Sir Modred out of Letola. This is one of the most shapely mares in the world and is very mature in her outlines.

7. Bay filly, own sister to Ballarat, winner of the Surf Stakes at Coney Island.

8. Bay colt, by John Happy out of Susan by California Warwick, son of Hubbard. This colt shows the Bonnie Scotland stock all over and may be safely set down as a good and useful horse.

9. Bay colt by Ban Fox, out of the imported mare Queen. This is one of the highest finished colts in America and has no end of quality.

10. Chestnut colt by St. Blaise, out of Maud Hampton, the dam of Ban Fox and King Fox, the best two-year-olds of their day. This youngster is a very rangy fellow, with a narrow blaze in his face and both off legs white. He cost Mr. Daly $22,000 at auction.

11. Bay colt by Sir Modred, out of Carissma by Kingfisher. This colt has a large star and two white heels, and reminds us something of the noted campaigner Volante, behind the saddle, save that he is already a bigger horse.

12. Chestnut colt, without white, by Sir Modred out of Trade Dollar by Norfolk. Here is one of the most beautiful colts in America. His mother was one of the best of Norfolk's daughters, and we believe he will prove himself a goer in good company.

13. Chestnut filly by Sir Modred out of Bonny Kate by Bonnie Scotland. A large and highly formed mare, a trifle leggy but very highly finished.

14. Bay filly by Sir Modred, out of Wanda by Norfolk; a very pretty mare but small as compared with the others.

15. Bay colt by Joe Daniels—long and large in every way. Has a few flaxen hairs in his tail and mane. This is the hardiest and highest strung horse in the bunch.

16. Chestnut filly by Warwick, out of Eliza by Norfolk. Has three white legs and a blaze face. This filly has been sick, and has been given little or no work.

17. Chestnut filly by Sir Modred, out of Lizzie Lucas. Has broad blaze and white heels. This is a very compact mare and looks like a dangerous customer under a mile.

18. Chestnut filly by Hyder Ali, out of Assyria by Lever. She has two white heels, and is a very pretty mare in any country.

19. Chestnut filly by Joe Daniels out of Bessie by Onondaga. Has a blaze and two white heels. She shows her Australian blood plainly.

Our pick of the colts is the bay one by Sir Modred, out of Carissima, with the Ban Fox—Queen colt next. That high priced St. Blaise colt is our third choice and the Trade Dollar colt fourth. Of the fillies, the one out of Letola is the best to our eye, with the Milner filly, Vergie, as second choice, and the sister to Ballarat third. We shall see how these predictions turn out when they come to be trained and face the starter. These youngsters are cantered slowly each day, over a track three-quarters of a mile in circumference, under supervision of Joseph Nelson, who was for a long time in the employ of Mr. Haggin at the Rancho del Paso. He is a very quiet young man, and seems to be thoroughly familiar with his duties. These colts are fed ten quarts of oats per day and all the hay they can eat. They will not be speeded till next year.

Mr. Daly has just completed the handsomest barn in Montana for his young racers. It consists of two tiers of boxes, twenty eight in number, with big double doors. Between them and the outer walls of the barn is an open passage way of twenty-three feet, to be used for slow trotting exercise in rainy weather. The upper stories are for hay and grain. The outer walls of the barn are built in sections so they can be moved in hot weather, and the stables are rendered cooler for the summer months. This is 360x120 feet over all and gave employment to sixty odd carpenters during its construction.

When a bridle has been taken off a young horse without unfastening a curb chain, or in such a way as to twist the bit in his mouth, hitch it in his teeth, or in any way to inflict serious pain upon him, he will often repeat the mischief, in his impatience to avoid it, until it becomes a habit dangerous to himself, and to those who handle him, from the violence with which he will throw up his head, rush back, rear, and sometimes even strike with his forelegs. When it comes to this it is a very serious business, and one that will get worse if the horse continues to hurt himself at it. The safest and quickest way to get over such habit is to put the horse down, and hobbling his legs so that he can only rise to a natural lying position, put the bridle carefully on and off him for an hour. After that, use a bridle on him in which the bit can easily be unbuckled, and dropped quietly out of his mouth, before the bridle is taken off his head. A tall horse that will not let you quietly handle his ears, his eyes, or any part of his head or body, should be put down in the same way, and kindly, but perseveringly handled until he loses all fear of your hand or your brush upon him.

"The Science of Horse Breeding."

In reading C. Bruce Lowe Esq.'s letter to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN on "The Science of Horse Breeding," I was forcibly impressed with his ideas on the influence of the sire's blood upon the dam through the foal while in embryo, or, as he puts it, "impregnation of dam with the sire strain through the foal's circulation previous to birth." That there is much truth in the theory no breeder can doubt if he follows the business by close observation. When I first commenced the breeding business, before I had gained practical experience, through reading and what I might term natural inferences, I formed the idea that whichever, sire or dam, had the strongest physical conformation would control the character and general qualities of the offspring, but in this I found many disappointments. When I first got Whippleton, about eight years ago, and noticed the uniformity of his colts in makeup and color, I began to study and observe the character of his colts each succeeding year closer, and found that in most instances (with few exceptions), as he was bred to a mare continuously, that colts were more like him each year. I have a mare by Dennison's Jack Hawkins; she is bright chestnut in color, with white spot in face, about 14½ hands high. The first colt she had by Nanbuc Prince, a black horse with star and both hind feet white, was a chestnut colt, white strip in face, one white foot. Her next two were by Nanbuc, a black horse; they were chestnut fillies, white strip and one white foot each. Next she was bred to Whippleton (I will here state that Whippleton is a horse of peculiar makeup and individuality, differs from any other sire I know of; he is fully 17 hands high, very high crested, deep through the heart, with long, slim neck, and large boney head, and there is a similarity in all of his colts that is very marked). Her produce was a seal brown colt, no white, a little longer and more of Whippleton type. Next was a bay filly, no white; she is a true Whippleton type, long head, slim neck, and all the leading points. The last, now three years old, is a black colt, and any one can see that he is his sire all over. I had another mare, said to be by John Nelson, about 15 hands high, bright chestnut, no white. Her first colt from Whippleton was a light bay; next a light bay; next seal brown, and her last, now four years old, a black filly a true model of her sire's family. I could cite a great number of cases that have come under personal observation, where small mares were bred successively to Whippleton, where the first colts were small (that is for Whippletons), modelled something like the mare or her stock, and possessed much of the same temperament and general characteristics of the dam; then each succeeding colt would be larger and more like its sire. While the above instances go to show that the "influence of the sire's blood becomes intensified in the dam through the consecutive foals while in embryo," there are instances which have come under my observation that work directly opposite. Some years ago a black mare sired by McCracken's Black Hawk, was bred to Nanbuc, a black horse, and the produce was a black colt, an exact copy of his sire, black, a slim tail, and even the gait was just like the old horse's. She was bred the next season and foaled a sorrell filly (the color of her second dam), with heavy main and tail, and low, straight gaited, just the opposite of the sire of tho other colts. I could name other instances, but this is sufficient for illustration. Now the question for the observer to answer is, "how to account for the differences above cited?"

I believe it is a law of nature that in most instances the sire, or in fact the male of all nature is the most prepotent of the two sexes, and therefore exerts a controlling influence over the offspring. The stronger the prepotency of the sire, the more uniform will be his progeny. But in all of nature we will find antagonistic elements; we will find mares with certain combinations of blood, temperament and qualities that resist the influences of the most prepotent sire, and continue to produce an offspring entirely different from the sire's average progeny when we take this same mare and breed her to an inferior horse, one generally known to be less prepotent, it strikes a happy union and reproduces the sire successively.

Past experiences of breeding the trotting horse have taught us that a certain amount of inbreeding has proven successfully, and that the reuniting of certain strains of blood has intensified the instinct to trot and perfected the physical qualities necessary to carrying and maintaining a high rate of speed.

It is this kindly blending of similar blood elements in sire and dam that result in harmonious and successful unions. When this method of breeding is judiciously carried out, and not carried to extremes, we get the most uniform results. When we cross sires and dams of entirely dissimilar blood elements, and go to entire outcrosses, we then strike the antagonistic elements of nature, and the results are uncertain. We are likely to get either extreme.

Since writing the above, the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN has come to hand, and looking it over I see Mr. Harvey W. Peck's comments on C. Bruce Lowe Esq. article on "Science of Horse Breeding." He seems to ridicule the idea "impregnation of the dam with sire's strains, etc., and gives very decided opinions upon a mare producing a foal resembling a stallion to which she had been bred several seasons before. He attributes the resemblance to the effect the singular appearance of such a sire might have upon a highly organized mare.

I will say that years ago I was an advocate of that theory, but by observation and experiment, I have become thoroughly convinced that there is nothing in it. As a matter of test, and an evidence of my disbelief in the theory, I will allow Mr. Peck, or any other gentleman, to select five or ten mares, sorrel or chestnut, with any white markings (not pintoes, as they are an entire outcross; a fixed, individual type of horse, and according to my theories, the result would be uncertain); take regular broodmares; we will breed them to Whippleton; we will never let them see the horse; blindfold them when being bred, and I will breed the entire number free if they are not all bay brown or black in color.

I do not doubt that some of the colts may possess something in make up and character of the stallions that have previously been bred to the mares, but if there is any foundation for the theory the effect of appearances the sire may have upon a mare, certainly the first and most notable feature would be the color.

I will even go farther; these mares can be brought in contact and associated with any other sire before and after breeding to Whippleton, and the result will be the same. I only use Whippleton as an illustration. The result would be the same with many other sires, inbred to imp. Messenger strains through Hambletonian, Clays, Mambrino Chief, etc.

Electioneer breeds solid color, as did Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Volunteer, Happy Medium, and I am informed that Sable Wilkes colts thus far are all bay, brown or black. These sires were bred to all classes of mares, and if there was anything in the visionary theory, some of them would have lost their control. Another notable feature with all these sires is, that none of them can control the grey. I believe that all of them sire a grey occasionally; this simply proves the hereditary influence of fixed qualities in the blood carried down through generations of inbreeding.

Imp. Messenger, the founder of the Hambletonians and many other noted trotting families, was a grey, and when any of his inbred descendants are coupled with grey mares, the original color frequently predominates. I do not use the argument that color breeding has any particular influence upon the production of speed or endurance, as the great Nutwood was a chestnut in color, and that same color predominates in most of his descendants, but I do maintain that any sire that breeds strictly after his own color (no matter what that color is), proves his individual merit as a uniform producer of his own qualities. FRED W. LOEBER.

Old Reminiscences.

One of the oldest horsemen now on the Pacific Coast is undoubtedly Thomas Clark, Esq., of Springville, Ventura county. The gentleman is seventy-five years of age, and has been interested in horses for over sixty years. His memory is of the best, and it is a delightful experience to sit and listen to the old gentleman recall old races and historical horses whose names will always be known to the turf loving public. He left England many years ago, but can recall with vivid distinctness any number of contests which he witnessed at Newmarket, and he can also give the pedigrees and history of many of the old horses which were brought to this coast in the "early days." Having asked Mr. Clark to give an account of the old Lummax horse, he writes as follows:

I got acquainted with John and Jerry Welch in Oregon in 1854, they having arrived in 1851 or 2, and settled eight miles south of Eugene City, in Lane County, on Donation Claims. They brought out with them a fine black mare by imp. Consternation who was a son of Confederate, out of Curiosity by Figaro. About the same time the Welch boys arrived, there came across the plains two brothers named Bailey who originally lived in Missouri and they brought with them a colt by Leviathan Jr., whose dam was a Stockholder mare. Leviathan Jr. was by imp. Leviathan, and was also out of a stockholder mare. The Bailey colt was also called Leviathan. He was bred by a Mr. Weaver in Missouri who brought his horses from Virginia.

I mention particularly about the colt brought over by the Bailey Bros. as the Welchs bre the Consternation mare to Leviathan twice and secured two foals the oldest of which was a grey, like the sire, and was sold when about five years old to Mr. Cornelius Hill who resided on the Willamette River, some seven or eight miles above Eugene City. The other was a bay with a white stripe in the face, and I think, one hind foot, (however, I only saw him once) he was named Gilpatrick and afterwards came to California, as Mr. Winfield Wright of Santa Rosa, informed me in 1862 that he had been breeding to a horse of that name that came from Oregon. A near neighbor of ours, Mr. Henry Hadley, claimed to me, however, that Gilpatrick was sired by a two year old colt of his, by "Old Lummax" (called at one time "Old Celer." The name, I think, was a corruption of Selim). This Lummax, Celer or Selim, was a horse brought to Oregon by an old gentleman named Owensby, who lived near Corvallis. The Owensby horse was the sire of old Dan, who was the sire of Sim Oldham's Comet, a noted quarter mile and six hundred yard horse, and many other fast ones, including a large river grown colt bred by Mr. Jenkins, on Long Tom, Lane County, Oregon. This colt was named Jo, but from his monstrous size was nicknamed Lummux, and it is from this horse that the Lummax breed of horses first originated. The last I heard of this horse he was at or near Clear Lake in the northern part of California. The horse Gilpatrick was more like a Lummux than a Leviathan, and they all run out loose together on the range. The big colt Lummux ran a race as a three year old against a horse with a very bad name (not fit for publication), sired by Lute Savage's horse Old George, but Lummux was beaten easily, although during the following season he beat the same horse quite readily for a wager of $600. After John Welch sold the gray colt, which I have spoken about before, to Mr. Hill, he started East and rented old Consternation, standing him two years in Kentucky, if my memory serves me aright. In the first year he bought Rifleman and sent him to Oregon by a friend named Ralph Geer, who lived in the Waldo Hills, several miles northeast from Salem, and the following year he returned, bringing with him the mare Mary Chilton, and then the two brothers followed their profession of surveyors. Their horse Rifleman was not very popular in Oregon, as the neighbors were taken up with the Lute Savage horse, Old George, the Lummux horse, Little Tom (Whip and Printer) and Walnut Bark, owned by John Edmonson.

Rifleman covered a few mares, mostly on shares, as the people did not feel like paying $100 for something that they did not know anything about. Then reports were circulated that Rifleman was only a half breed, and that his dam was a Spanish horse and that he had never been further East than California, and any quantity of other derogatory rumors were started. Consequently his patronage was not extensive. After keeping him in Oregon about two years John Welch took him to California, and also Gilpatrick and the filly Mary Chilton, and, my impression is, ran them with poor success, finally selling Rifleman to a man named Doll, who afterwards transferred him to J. C. Tyler of Tehama. The filly was sold to John Boggs of Princeton, and it was from her that came the great son of Langford, Thad Stevens. It was after this sale that he started East to purchase something in the thoroughbred line that would surpass anything we had here then, but poor fellow, he lost his life returning. At about this same time Felix Scott, ex-Lieutenant Governor of Missouri, was killed by the red devils in the Modoc country, He had gone back to Virginia and purchased five fine fillies, but the Indians killed him and his two men, and that was the last heard of the blooded stock.

Yours respectfully,

THOS.

Valuable Dogs Drowned.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—When I arrived home from San Francisco, I found misfortune awaiting me in the shape of a flood. The flood came at 1 A. M. Sunday night, and the water rose so suddenly that my wife's family barely had time to get up stairs, losing their clothing, etc. The water stood three feet in my house, and five feet in the kennels. Everything we have is ruined. Mr. Jas. E. Watson's Jet (black pointer bitch), Mr. William Curlett's Leo (Point—Blossom), and my dog Roscoe (Don—Sal) were drowned, the remaining two dogs were saved. My man came very near being drowned trying to reach the kennels, having been swept several hundred yards by the current.

Very truly yours, GEO. T. ALLENDER.

Big Racers.

Studying the Eccentricities of the Horse—Busy Scenes About the Stables.

There is a charm about racing life that the casual visitor in the grand stand never tastes, and that the anxious, dusty betting crowd that has only the hope of striking a winner in view knows nothing of. This is the life around the stables where the horses are in training. From the grand stand one gets a glimpse, now and then, of long, low, weather-beaten buildings in the distance, with here and there a boy moving about lazily, or a procession of muffled-up horses, each led by a boy, walking solemnly in a circle. But it is only through rare good luck that closer inspection is obtained, for trainers do not court attention, but guard their stable secrets religiously. In those rambling buildings the horses are housed, and to every track during its racing season a colony of men and boys follow the horses and do nothing but take care of them.

I went down to Monmouth Park on an off-day when there was no racing to see for myself just how the horses spend their time when they are not tearing madly around the track for a lot of money; and also to find out how such glossy, shining, spirited beauties that prance and cavort at the starting post are evolved from the shaggy, long-legged shy little creatures that I've seen kicking up their heels in pastures. The place looked as pleasant as a village forty miles from a railroad station. Here and there were strings of horses walking about, and at the stables the horses that had been out were indolently nodding their heads out of the open stall doors. The boys who had finished their morning work were lying, heels up, in the feed-rooms, or basking like puppies in the sun. Occasionally I caught a glimpse of a jockey looking strangely stuffed, with his coat buttoned to his chin over his sweater, swinging along at a strong pace, stick in hand, and a companion in short sleeves at his side, blowing and perspiring.

Talk about the care and attention given to babies, it isn't a circumstance to that given to race horses. Trainers hold as varied opinions as mothers on the right way to attain the greatest perfection in their charges, and they have to be just as careful and study as closely the dispositions they have to deal with. Successful trainers, like poets and good mothers, are born, not made, for sometimes it is only their horse instinct that will guide them. I asked some of the trainers who have developed the racing qualities of famous horses how they selected yearlings; what points they noted.

"It is a pretty hard thing to select a yearling," I was told. "It is like buying a ticket in a lottery. It may turn out well, and it may not. Many owners, especially proprietors of large stables, are influenced by a youngster's pedigree, and it's a right good thing to go by. Then, if a brother or a sister has turned out well, the yearling is considered very desirable on account of the hope that he has the same qualities. Blood will tell, especially in horse flesh. Good legs and feet to accomplish the hard work that they are asked to do in their two or three-year-old forms, broad jowl and plenty of heart room that promises good breathing power, and a back not too long, well ribbed back, leaving no weak spots, showing a good weight carrier, are the points eagerly looked for. Sometimes we get familiar with the characteristics and peculiarities of a certain strain of horses, and prefer handling them. The Bonnie Scotlands are notoriously strong and hardy; the Leamingtons all suffer more or less from contracted feet, and the Billet colts, of which Raceland is one, are very delicate."

"What do you call a large horse?"

"About sixteen hands, while fifteen hands is a small horse."

"How about the size of race horses? Do you like big horses best?"

"Not always. Big horses are generally preferred on account of their superior weight-carrying powers. But occasionally you find a small horse that can pick up the same weight and walk away from a big horse. This is on account of his perfect action Perfect action is one of the most desirable possessions of a horse. You have seen horses that, when they run, seemed to run all over; their hoofs thundered on the track and they lifted their feet high and bent their knees as much as if they were trying to walk upstairs. A climber like this will soon tire himself out, and he will have no chance with a nice, smooth-going horse that seems to skim over the ground and scarcely lift his feet. Perfect action in a horse is like the work of finely adjusted machinery—the movement of each is just enough to accomplish the task imposed without any waste, while too much action in a horse is like the 'false motion' of a compositor—he makes unnecessary movements, which retard his progress and tire him.

"A horse's age is reckoned from the first day of the year he is foaled. For instance, if he was foaled the last day of December 1888, or the 1st of January, 1889, he is officially counted a year old, although he is but a day old in reality. In June of the year following their birth they are taken up from the paddock, where they have been allowed to disport themselves and fight each other, and are sold at the annual sale of yearlings. These little untried animals, with untold possibilities hidden in their lively bodies, bring all sorts of prices, from a hundred to many thousand dollars; but the highest price ever paid for a yearling was given by Senator Hearst for King Thomas, the last of the King Bans. He and Marcien Appleby, of Appleby & Johnson, ran the bids up from $5,000 to $38,000, at which figure the colt was knocked down to Mr. Appleby. A short time after the public sale it was announced that the costly colt had passed into Senator Hearst's possession, and $40,000 of the Senator's money was resting snugly in Mr. Appleby's wallet. The excitement caused by the purchase at that figure has not even yet died away.

"The youngsters are broken in July, and during August and September they are exercised and worked. Then in October they are given their first trial on their owner's private track, or at whatever race track they are. When their training begins they are handled like a baby learning to walk, trying a little more day by day. They are worked short distances, which are gradually increased as they grow stronger and hardier, till the trial, which is three-eighths of a mile. This they run with full weight up, 115 pounds, and if a yearling accomplishes the distance on the Sheepshead Bay track in thirty-six seconds he is considered well worthy of further attention. After this trial, which is to determine if there is a racer in him, his work is gradually lessened when the stable goes into winter quarters and finally ceases. In January he is again taken up and gradually prepared for his career as a two-year-old.

In training these young things the greatest care and patience is required, and many a horse's disposition has been irretrievably ruined by the viciousness and stupidity of bad stable boys, while at the same time hereditary bad tempers have been overcome by judicious handling.

The horses' legs always receive the greatest care, and it is while they are yearlings that their shins are "bucked"—that is, made sore from much work. I suppose it on the same principle that unusual exercise causes soreness and inflammation in persons' legs. Sometimes their shins get bucked in the natural course of events and sometimes trainers buck them on purpose, then blister them and get it over with. For if they don't get sore while they are yearlings they will later on, and possibly interfere with some of their engagements as two-year-olds.

The same methods will not succeed with every horse, nor can any rule be laid down prescribing the amount of work. What would scarcely affect one horse would wear another one out. Some horses are of a sluggish nature and require continual work to get them in racing condition, while others are so exceedingly nervous and excitable that they fret themselves thin. They differ greatly about their eating, too. Some horses are hearty and will eat all that is given them, but the delicate ones need a deal of humoring and fussing over. Careful trainers give such animals only a handful of oats at a time, and when that is eaten another handful is given, until a sufficient amount has been eaten. Where a good deal depends on a horse feeling all right the trainer will often get up at night and feed him daintily. They frequently become track-weary, and do not perform so well when they exercised on the track all the time.

Frequently horses that have been raced several seasons grow cunning and turn rogues. They refuse to work and can't be extended at trials in order to find out what they can do. All sorts of expedients are resorted; they are sent out to work in the company of other horses, sometimes even a boy in racing colors is put up to make them think they are in a race. They get so shrewd that they will not try in a race and on that account are often started at steeplechasing. Some horses can tell when they are going to be raced, and get nervous about it, and don't eat or sleep well and cause the trainer anxiety and trouble.

During the winter months, when there is no racing except at little tracks, the horses are put into winter quarters and given a rest. Many of the horsemen have breeding farms to which they are sent. On such a farm there is a track measuring from half a mile to a mile; the stables are on the most approved plan; there are quarters for the boys, and there is a straw track under cover on which to exercise the horses in inclement weather. The Belmont farm at Babylon, L. I., has a mile track and the straw track is a sixteenth of a mile. Those who have not farms winter at some of the race tracks

When racing is done they gradually cease exercising them, and then turn them out after taking off their shoes. They are taken up every night and fed, but as little as possible is done to them in order to let them have a good rest, to tone up and take on flesh. In January they begin to prepare them for the spring racing, and then the sporting writers begin to send news about the progress of this filly or that colt, or the whereabouts of a popular mare or fate of some broken-down horse with a stirring history that reads for all the world like society notes. The horses are at first led around the straw track and given very gentle exercise. On fine days they are taken out, and as the spring advances their work is gradually increased to the distance they are expected to run, and the muscles are hardened till they are like steel and every superfluous ounce of flesh is worked off.

This work has to be gradually done as to make the change scarc ly perceptible from day to day, and the muscles are hardened by hours of rubbing as well as by exercise. When an exercise boy takes a horse on the track the trainer watches with practiced eye every movement of the horse. If his work tires him it is not increased. If he does it with ease he gets more to do next day, and so on till he is "wound up and thoroughly clean inside, and fit to run for a man's life." The most difficult thing to discover is when a horse is "fit." When his muscles are hard he eats well and when he can run the distance of a race in which he is entered in good shape and time, his trainer feels safe about starting him. Before a race a horse is generally tried over the distance at his full speed, but this is not always done with nervous, delicate horses that, as the saying goes, "have to be trained around a pocket handkerchief." Their powers are reserved for the final test, Even when a horse does well at a trial he may not redeem his promise in the race, and a horse may run well one day and fail utterly the next. This is called running in and out.

When the horses are fit then comes the bustle and excitement of the opening racing season, when every man's heart is full of hope from the promising work of his beauties and he is on the qui vive for any signs of improvements or retrogression on his rival's string, and the voice of the bookmaker is heard in the land. Then the big tracks echo with the sound of hammer and saw, plows and harrows are busy, the big frame stables are opened and fresh straw put in the roomy boxes, the horses arrive from all directions and are walked up and down and admired, the stable boys are filled with glee and deviltry at meeting old friends again, and the ball is started rolling for the summer.

The trainer fixes up his quarters in a box adjoining the pride of the stable, and makes it look like a bower with the pretty things his wife and sisters and cousins and aunts have filled his trunks with The boys decorate their quarters over the boxes with play bills and advertising cards, and in the stalls of their favorite horses put up the colored lithographs of actors and actresses, and the cook sets out his dishes and pots and pans in fancy piles on the kitchen shelves, and almost covers the walls with highly colored pictures, generally of fair burlesquers, and the pretty advertising bills of jockey clubs. To be sure all these things have to be taken down and moved and put up again every few weeks, but it is done with never a thought that it is any trouble. The trainer sleeps at the stable, usually with one eye open, and there is always a faithful canine attached that keeps both eyes open during the night to guard the jewels of the turf. For every two horses there are two attendants, a man and an exercise boy, and often the horses get so accustomed to having the same attendance that they will not allow any others to come near them.

At the track each horse has a nice large box-stall in which he can move around easily. His several suits of clothing are hung against the walls of the box on a line stretched from corner to corner, and the floor is covered with clean fresh straw. At the door are all the toilet articles, including brushes, towels, chamois skin, sponge, etc., his bandages, his water-bucket, and his feed-box. His day begins at dawn, which, in summer, begins about 4 o'clock. He is given a hasty rub, sometimes a quart of oats, and is led out for a walk. Then he is taken on the track and trotted and cantered with an exercise boy on his back. Perhaps his trainer will let him work a certain distance at racing speed while he sits on the fence, watch in hand, with his eyes fastened on the horse. These early morning trials are eagerly watched for by the touts, who resort to all sorts of stratagems to learn something definite of a horse's movements, but the trainers are just as acute in frustrating their attempts. After the horse is taken off the track several boys go to work on him to dry him out by rubbing him with towels. He is given a few sups of water, his legs are washed, rubbed and bandaged, a linsey is put on him, and he is walked around for awhile longer until he has cooled out and the excitement incident to his exercise has passed away. Then he goes through another stage of his elaborate toilet, being rubbed and brushed and polished until he shines like richest satin and there isn't a speck of dirt on him as big as the head of a pin. Then comes food and rest and quiet in his box. If the day is cool the box is closed and he has a chance to meditate in the dark, and if it is warm the upper half of the door is left open and he can thrust his head out and take note of events or amuse himself nipping at passers-by. Here he stays in placid comfort, while his trainer sees that he doesn't suffer from any change of temperature, and the stable boys busy themselves in cleaning saddles and bridals and scouring stirrups and bits till they shine like silver. This morning exercise and toilet last for about an hour and a half: at 4 o'clock he is taken out again and walked and cared for, fed and put up for the night.

This is the day's programme during the racing season when the horse is in condition and has not a race to run. The night before he runs a race he is not fed so much, and if he is a glutton a muzzle is put on him to keep him from eating his bedding. Every precaution is taken to afford him a good night's rest, and he is given very little to do in the morning. Before the race he is "warmed up" to feel like running, and after it is over he is cooled out gradually and carefully guarded from taking cold, and if he fails he is not, unlike a human contestant for a prize, given hard knocks and abuse, but the good care and the good feeding go on as before.

In a stable there are always some horses that need attention beyond this. Some horse is ailing and needs the care of a fever patient, and generally there is one that has to have his legs or feet doctored. There are soaking-tubs for the horse's feet, which they stand in while a boy with a tin cup sits near dipping up water and pouring it on their legs. Sometimes the feet must be soaked in oiled meal, or the legs rubbed with liniment and bandaged.

The stable boys are a queer lot, and many of them as improvident as a traveling tinker. They are sometimes very troublesome, too. "Where do they all come from?" I asked. "They seem foot-loose, with no other ties than those that bind them to their stable, and they are with it winter and summer."

Some of them are obtained from charitable institutions, from villages, from parents who are ambitious to see them successful jockeys, and some, darkies especially, just drift into the work because they couldn't be happy away from the atmosphere of a stable. They are all bound to their employers. Some of the large stables provide teachers and have a night-school for the boys during the winter. The apprentice boys are obliged to attend, and the larger boys are at liberty to do so if they wish. They all bet more or less, and if a stable boy has just a hundred dollars in the world and likes a horse he will put it on him as coolly as he will five. The darkies buy sweetmeats, watermelons, or anything particularly toothsome, bet on the horses, play cards and shoot carps, but rarely spend their money for clothes. I asked an ebony attendant of a $10,000 mare, The Lioness, what he would rather do than be in a racing stable.

"Nothing I know of," he said, with a grin. "This suits me well enough."

"How do you amuse yourself?"

"Play ball, play cards and go boating."

"Shoot craps?"

"Only about the first of the month. Don't take long to lose all my money."

A horseshoer who makes a specialty of shoeing race horses follows from track to track, as does a veterinary surgeon. Each stable has its own kitchen outfit and cook, which it carries with it, and there are kitchens built at every track for the stables. Even the cooking stove is packed up and carried from place to place. Some stables, however, that visit the same tracks year after year, and occupy the same stables, buy a stove for each place and so avoid the necessity of moving such a cumbersome article.

Horsemen are famous as good livers. They have good cooks and buy the best in the market. They are hospitality itself, and I treasure pleasant memories of some delightful track dinners.

The expenses of a racing stable are enormous. The feed for the horses is of the best; nothing is too good for them, and what was said about an old English trainer is true of many a one here: "That he would give his horses gold to eat if he thought they would eat it and that it would do them good." The oats are of the finest quality, and before fed to the horses are sifted and cleaned of every bit of dust. The racing plates cost $4 a set, and a horse needs not less than four or five sets in a season, and frequently as many as eight or ten The clothing of different weights for a horse costs from $20 to $30 and each has his own outfit. Bridles cost $8 or $9, martingales about $3, saddles from $25 to $50, racing colors from $10 to $75. A jockey gets a retrainer of from $1,000 to $12,000 a year, and in addition he is entitled to $10 for every losing mount and $25 for every winning mount. For every two horses a man and a boy must be kept. It costs on an average $4 a week to feed each person. Then there are heavy traveling expenses, entrance fees and sundries, that pile up mountain high, and when all this is added up and subtracted from the winnings it makes a mighty big hole in them.

The trainers and many of the boys entertain the warmest affection for the horses. They know them like a book, and with their eyes shut they can sometimes distinguish them coming down the stretch by the beat of their hoofs.—Horse Review.

THE FARM.

To Cure Barb Wire Injuries.

If the cuts are on the limbs the parts should be poulticed with linseed meal having a little weak solution of carbolic acid mixed in the poultice Change poultices twice daily, and when removed bathe the part well with warm water. Continue poulticing so long as discharge continues to issue from the wound. When it ceases a solution of two drachms of carbolic acid and one of glycerine in a pint of water should be applied twice daily, after cleansing the wound. If a fungous outshoot should appear, apply a little of a solution of two ounces of sulphate of zinc in a pint of water twice daily.

What to Avoid in Swine Breeding.

Perhaps of all things in connection with swine breeding there is none which is more necessary to avoid than that of in-breeding. The Chicago Market Review says: It is a question which has for ages been discussed, both by those who are opposed to it and those who have been compelled to resort to it in order to produce the ideal type which they had set up. In these days of so many different strains of blood, together with so many family types, we do not believe it is necessary either to cross parent with offspring or even the males and females of that offspring together. To one of knowledge and judgment it cannot be difficult to procure the type of animal he requires, whereas the extra trouble and expense which it may likely give him to find and purchase it, can in no way be compared with the trouble and loss which is certain to ensue from the very pernicious habit of in-breeding.

First Impressions.

Experienced breeders claim that with the majority of stock the first impression influences to a greater or less extent the future offspring. Hence the importance of being very careful in the selection of the breeding animals, especially so of males, using nothing but the very best full-blooded animals which have been well matured. This is applicable to all kinds of stock, but more especially to hogs.

Under present conditions no farmer can afford to keep anything but the best stock, and in breeding care must be taken to select good animals. It is too often the case that in breeding farm hogs considerable carelessness is shown with the young sows. Pains are not taken to castrate the young boars as soon as they should be, and the pigs are allowed to run together, and in consequence more or less of the young sows will get with pig before they are sufficiently matured to breed properly and before the boars are old enough to use as breeders. Such a plan will not give the best pigs for breeding, nor will it be an advantage to the sows in the future.

It is of course necessary to use young sows for breeding, and if the standard of the herd is kept up it will be necessary to take good care in the selection and then in the mating and breeding. It is a settled fact that carefully selected sows, even though they are only common stock, mated with thoroughbred, well matured males, will bring about a very rapid improvement in the quality of the hogs; with good stock it is especially true. But the stock must be well matured. A very good plan of management is to use the older boars upon the young sows. If kept in a proper condition for breeding better, stronger and thriftier pigs will be secured than by using all young stock for breeding. With the young sows that are being used for breeding the first time, good care should be taken to use a well matured thoroughbred male, which is in good condition, healthy and vigorous

It is best to select the breeding stock early and feed them especially for this purpose. A good development of bone and muscle are important things, and the feed is an important item in this respect. By selecting early and feeding for this especial purpose a better quality of animals for breeding, may be secured, and then with good care in the management the herd may be kept up to the standard.—Aaron in Stockman and Farmer.

Border Leicester Sheep.

Professor Wrightson, who has contributed to the Live Stock Journal a series of articles on sheep and their management in Britain, devoted the fifteenth of the series to Border Leicesters. In his introductory notice he says:

"The Border Leicester sheep is full of interest to north-country farmers. Not only has it achieved an independent position as a breed, but it has out-rivalled in its distribution, as well as in its value, the original Dishley stock from which it is descended. It is not too much to say that the Border Leicester is the mainstay of Border counties' farming. It is constantly crossed both with Cheviots and Blackfaces for the purpose of breeding wether lambs, and it is also well maintained as pure-bred stock over many large districts, and its improvement has been, and is, carried on with great enthusiasm."

The professor, after reciting the early history of the breed, proceeds to notice the prevalent ideas regarding its origin, thus:—'The idea which has been expressed that Border Leicesters were produced by crossing Cheviotes and Leicesters is not accepted by their breeders, and Mr. Archibald, who has been already quoted, points it as untrue. The well-known history of such flocks as the Mertoun, Mongoswalls, Mellendean, Bonnington, Mersington, and The Rock are sufficient guarantee that Dishley was the original home of both English and Border Leicesters, and that the brothers Culley brought out the Border Leicesters by repeated crossings of Dishley rams upon Teeswater ewes. In Northumberland, which is the native county of the breed, they found patrons in the Bosanquets at the Rock, in the Greys of Millfield, and, later, in the Messrs. Dinning, the late Mr. John Atkinson, of Bywell-hall (Peepy), and Andrew Wood on the banks of the Tyne. Among the most noted breeders of Border Leicesters, Lord Polwarth stands prominently forward. The late A. R. Melvin is now represented by executors, who exhibited specimens of the Bonnington flock last June at Windsor. The Crichton Mains flock, owned by Mr. Samuel Jack, is of genuine old blood, as is well known to those who are versed in Border Leicesters. The Right Hon. Arthur James Balfour, M. P., breeds exceptionally good sheep at Whittinghame, Prestonkirk, and secured the first prize at Windsor for his shearling ram. Mr. George Simson, of Courthill, Kelso, is another well-known breeder, who realized an average of £10 17s over 42 rams, and £75 for one in 1888. In Cumberland we may mention Mr. John Twentyman, of Hawkrigg-house, Wighton, as a successful breeder. The Earl of Dalhousie, Mr. T. Clarke, Miss Stark, Mr. Bain, Mr. Marks, Mr. W S Ferguson, the Earl of Morton, Mr. G. Robeson, and many others are distinguished in the ranks of breeders of Border Leicester sheep. Others ought no doubt to be mentioned, but it would be impossible to do full justice to the many farmers who hold genuine Border Leicester flocks."

The Butcher Steer of the Future.

Every year, in view of his Christmas show of meat, Mr. John Jones, Central Buildings, Llandudno, Wales, issues a circular of a unique character, bearing upon his experience as an agriculturist, purveyor of meat, and student of the market and the general requirements of the public. This year he has enunciated some new and what might be called startling theories, which may cause some consternation among breeders of cattle, sheep and pigs, and to lead to much controversy.

We reprint the salient points. "For several years I have exhibited to the public at my Christmas show the fattest animals in the United Kingdom, the great majority of them being prize winners at the leading shows. Each succeeding Christmas I found that the taste of my customers increased against over-fat and unprofitable meat, and such was the disinclination of the public last Christmas to purchase fat meat, that, although I exhibited probably the finest collection of show animals I ever had, the meat was so unsaleable that I had the greatest difficulty in disposing of it, and my experience has led me to the conclusion that the interest of the public ceases in over-fat show animals, when asked to purchase the meat. It is noticeable that the days of fat show animals are drawing to a close with the public and exhibitors, and in the near future will disappear as prize winners in our great fat stock shows. They have served the purpose of the breeder in proving the possibility of breeding and rearing animals almost to any size and fatness, and the conclusions of to-day are based upon the experience of the past as to the feeding properties and development of meat of the various breeds. The breeder of the ideal butcher's beast of the future, from a consumer's point of view, will have to be guided more by the standard of value, realized by his fat stock, than to the purity of their breed."—London Live Stock Journal.

Age of Cattle.

The subject of dentition has long been a vexed one in relation to young pigs at shows. With a view to promote uniformity in judging, the Smithfield Club has compiled and issued the following code of regulations:—

Cattle having their central permanent incisors cut will be considered as exceeding one year and six months. Cattle having their central permanent incisors fully up will be considered as exceeding one year and nine months. Cattle having their second pair of permanent incisors fully up will be considered as exceeding two years and three months. Cattle having their third pair of permanent incisors cut will be considered as exceeding two years and eight months. Cattle having their fourth pair (corner) of permanent incisors fully up and their anterior molar showing signs of wear, will be considered as exceeding three years. Sheep having their central permanent incisors cut will be considered as exceeding ten months. Sheep having their central permanent incisors fully up will be considered as exceeding 12 months. Sheep having their third pair of permanent incisors cut will be considered as exceeding 19 months. Sheep having their third pair of permanent incisors fully up and the temporary molars shed will be considered as exceeding 24 months. Sheep having their corner permanent incisors well up and showing marks of wear will be considered as exceeding three years. Pigs having their corner permanent incisors cut will be considered as exceeding six months. Pigs having their permanent tusks more than half up will be considered as exceeding nine months, Pigs having their central permanent incisors up and any of the first three permanent molars cut will be considered as exceeding 12 months. Pigs having their lateral temporary incisors shed and the permanents appearing will be considered as exceeding 15 months. Pigs having their lateral permanent incisors fully up will be considered as exceeding 18 months.

The Ayrshire Cow.

The Ayrshire cow now ranks very high as to both the quality and quantity of its produce. A fair average of herds of, say 50 cows, not especially selected, runs from 640 to 680 gallons of milk per annum, according to as excellent authority as The Mark Lane Express, which furnishes an interesting account of the recent development of this breed.

An Ayrshire cow generally shows 13 per cent. of solids, 13 to 16 per cent. of cream, and 3½ to 4½ per cent. of butter fat. In the milking competitions of the London dairy show and the Oxfordshire and other shows, the Ayrshires have stepped far ahead of the Shorthorns, Guernseys, etc., in the quantity and quality of the milk they yielded.

The milk of the Ayrshire is pre-eminently suited for cheese making. All samples of milk under the microscope are seen to be composed of a homogeneous fluid, in which float little globules of butter fat. These globules very in size, and while in the Jersey they are comparatively large, in the Ayrshire they are small and not rising quickly, but, mixing with the curd butter, make an evenly rich cheese. The quantity of cheese yielded by such animal is about six hundredweight, estimated in so many stones of twenty-four pounds each.

As to the butter yielding properties of the Ayrshire dairy cow, the ordinary milk shows about 4 to 4½ per cent. of butter fat, while selected animals come up to, if they do not exceed, the Jerseys. The average yield, so far as records go, ought to be something about 240 pounds per annum. The writer has had recently tested a 4-year-old Ayshire cow, which is yielding fifteen pounds of butter per week.

It is customary with some breeders of cattle to speak disparagingly of the Ayrshire from a butcher's point of view. We venture, however, to maintain that of all the races of milk producing animals, she dies best and most profitably when no longer desired for the milk pail.

The development of this breed within the past fifty years has been very marked and rapid. The Ayrshire cow is fast superseding other dairy races in England. She graces innumerable dairy farms in Holland, has crossed the wide Atlantic, and feeds along the northern as well as the southern shores of the river St. Lawrence, and rests beneath the shadow of the Rocky mountains. Possessed of the finest and nicest woolly coat of any breed of cattle, she has lately been extensively imported to the stormy regions of Russia, and at present she is unquestionably the favored dairy animal of Australia and New Zealand.

The English Shropshire Society has 245 life and 130 annual members, and a cash balance of $5 700. "Export trade" says the report, "has been well sustained during the past season, and some countries had taken Shropshires for the first time Exporters now confine their purchases to registered flocks entirely, and this is to a certain extent much the same with the home buyers, the difference in price between registered and unregistered flocks being very marked.'

Pleuro-Pneumonia.

The health of farm live stock, and the best methods of preserving it, are subjects of never failing interest in Great Britain and its numerous dependencies. On the question whether a country can be safely regarded as free from pleuro-pneumonia wide differences of opinion are still found to exist, and some difficulties which present themselves have been brought to the surface of late. In the Netherlands, some years ago, an outbreak of pleuro occurred amongst cattle grazing in a gentleman's park. "This," states a veterinary surgeon, through the Live Stock Journal, "was followed by the slaughter of the entire herd, except one or two milking-cows, who, having been attacked lightly, had quickly been restored to health; but, singular to say, time after time, as fresh stock was introduced although the neighborhood was free, outbreaks again occurred that necessitated their slaughter. Every precaution was adopted, and the sanitary condition of the premises was carefully attended to, but still the disease hung around the place. At last the two cows that had been attacked, and recovered some years previously, were fattened and slaughtered, and in the lungs of the one was found a large cyst, or agglomeration of decayed organic matter almost like cheese, and in this the germs of the disease were supposed to have lurked, and have been occasionally given off with the breath, to the infection of the cattle that came in contact with it. At least, after her death, from that time to this, the locality has been free from every symptom of the disease." This is justly regarded as an exemplification of the hidden dangers of pleuro.

Notes.

The Griffin Bros. have purchased the Levi Morris Rancho, four miles north of Winters, for $60,000.

The celebrated racehorse Ormonde is to be followed to Buenos Ayres by one of the finest of the Queen's bulls at Windsor. Favourite is his name; he is one of the famous Court House breed, and he lately took the first prize at the Windsor show.

It is said that Pedro Altube of Independence valley has turned out 3,000 head of cattle to shift for themselves or die in the attempt, as he has not feed sufficient to carry them through. It is not likely that many of the poor brutes will survive the winter.

The Humboldt Creamery Company evidently finds business good, for they have rented the Vedder cheese factory at Coffee Creek for one year. It is the intention of the company to put in a couple of separators and receive milk at that place. The cream will be hauled to the Arlynda Creamery to be made into butter.

A Tacoma dispatch says at least ten human beings and thousands of cattle and sheep have perished in the blizzards which have raged over the State of Washington since the first of the year. Reports from Colville Reservation are that the cattle are dying by hundreds from starvation and thirst. Cattlemen believe they will lose half their herds.

A sale of American bred Merino sheep at Sydney, New South Wales is reported in the English papers The animals were specially picked and imported by Messrs. E D. Morrison and Laymond D. Clerk, of Vermont. The highest price for a ram was 455 gs. The average made by sixty-seven rams was £103 12s, and on eighteen ewes £107 18s. 4d.

Foot-and-mouth disease continues to rage among the live stock in various districts of the Continent of Europe. The authorities are doing their best to deal with the disease, but its progress seems to be unchecked. In Hungary over 1,000 farms were effected when the last government statistics were published, and there are also many cases in both Upper and Lower Austria.

The loss of young stock this winter in Humboldt County has already been unprecedented. Even the dairymen and stockraisers on bottom lands, who are accustomed to sheltering and feeding a portion of the time in winter, report a considerable loss in yearling calves. Among the stockmen on the ridges, where snow has remained for nearly a month, the loss must be even greater. The sheepmen, however, will probably be the greatest losers.

At the Birmingham (Eng) Fat Stock Show, in which the Queen was particularly successful, there were the following entries, as compared with the last five years.

At a recent meeting of the live-stock commissioners and veterinary, held in Springfield, Ills., big-jaw was, among other subjects, under discussion. The conference resolved as follows:

"Whereas, It is the expressed opinion of leading scientists that actino-mycosis, or big jaw, is a contagious disease, capable of communication from one animal to another, and from animals to mankind.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this conference that animals affected with this disease should be destroyed, and that the carcasses thereof should not be used for human food."

A correspondent in Australia sent the London Fanciers' Gazette the following: "A few weeks back a certain vessel arrived at a port which shall be nameless with a pen of fine fowls (of a clean-legged breed) for a well known poultry fancier. The intimation of the birds' presence on board was notified in the Fanciers' Gazette, and consequently several persons went to inspect them, the new arrivals meeting with considerable praise. When the question was asked the official in charge as to whether the hens had laid recently, with a wink he replied, 'Well, yes, I think I've got an egg or two stowed away somewhere.' This evidently greatly interested the visitors, who evinced a desire to have a look at them; and the official went off, returning very shortly with five eggs! 'Why, they're quite fresh looking' 'Of course they are,' replied the wily official. 'Will you sell them? What price?' After a few moments' thought the answer came in the affirmative, and the visitors left with the five eggs the vendor enriched to the tune of one guinea sterling. Very carefully were those eggs placed under a hen, and the result eagerly looked forward to; but, consternation! three eggs only proved fertile, and these three chicks feather legged. More consternation! And the wily official scored considerably, for the eggs had been purchased at the previous port of call for the ship's supply!"

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARIPPUS.

SUMMARY.

The athletes have abandoned all hopes of being able to get in condition for the coming field days. The prospects for a dry spell at present are no brighter than they were a month ago. Even if the sun should shine continually for the next couple of weeks the tracks would not be dry enough for good performances.

It is more than probable that the Olympic Club will not give a full programme of games on Washington's Birthday. If at all possible some races will be held but the chances are they will be open only to members of the club. The formal opening of the grounds will not take place until such time as the weather will be favorable for out-door training.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

The cross country run of the Olympic Club will not come off until after Washington's Birthday.

Several of the Alpine athletes took advantage of the fine weather on Sunday last and exercised mildly on their new track at Harbor View Park.

The New York Clipper Annual for 1890, contains an account of the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association championship games from 1886 up to the present time. This is the first time that these games have been recorded in the Annual.

T. Buchanan, the Australian amateur shot and weight per former, will take part in the exhibition on "Ladies Night" at the Olympic Club rooms.

Since the storm began the Bay District track has undergone a complete transformation. The surface of the track at present looks like a skating rink, the coarse clay having been washed completely away. On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday last a party of athletes exercised on the track, and one of the party, an old time amateur runner, said that the Bay District, in its present condition, was as fast for foot racing as any track in the United States. Between showers a good many of the amateurs will take their spins out there until the other new tracks are finished.

Victor E. Schifferstein, the amateur sprinter and long jumper, is engaged in the real estate business at San Jose, Cal. His health is very poor at present and it will be impossible for him to train for the coming championship games.

John Purcell is undecided whether he will enter the championship games or not. If he can afford time to train he will compete in the pole vault and shot putting events.

A. H. Lean is seriously thinking about competing in the championship games on Decoration Day. He has fully recovered from his recent illness.

F. C. Philips, the well known amateur pedestrian, has joined the Alpine Club.

Several of the local professional runners and walkers are strongly advocating the organization of a professional annex in connection with one of the leading amateur clubs. They claim that it is just as proper to have a professional annex attached to an amateur club as it is to have an amateur annex in connection with a professional club.

Through being defeated by Billy Smith at the Occidental Club rooms on Monday evening last, Joe Bowers, according to the opinions of a good many of the sporting fraternity, dropped from the pinnacle of victory to the level of disgrace. It may be true that Mr. Bowers in all his fights was fortunate enough not to have met his match, but at all events there is no denying that he has defeated some really good men, and if he was guilty of showing the white feather on Monday evening that was no reason why the sporting reporters should have taken away his credit for past victories. The old proverb that "when a man is down his enemies will try to keep him down," was painfully illustrated in this instance. In all of his previous battles Bowers made a good showing, and it was very unkind of certain local papers to try and shatter his reputation.

A. H. Lean and E. A. Kolb met at the Olympic Club on Monday evening, and signed articles to wrestle for the amateur middle weight championship of the Pacific Coast and a $200 trophy. The match will come off in the Olympic Club gymnasium on the evening of March 6th. The following rules of the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association will govern the contest:

That neither competitor shall exceed 154 pounds in weight at 8 P. M., on March 5, 1890, nor exceed 158 pounds at 8 P. M., on the evening of the contest, at both of which times they shall submit themselves to be weighed by the leader of the Olympic Club at its rooms, both to have the privilege of weighing stripped.

Should both contestants exceed 158 pounds in weight on the night of the contest no championship or trophy shall be competed for. Should one be overweight, and the other be within weight, and the former win, he will not be awarded either the championship or the trophy; but in the event of the latter winning under those conditions he shall be declared the victor.

A rest of one-half hour will be allowed between falls, but, aside from that, the contest shall be prosecuted to a finish without delay.

Greasing the body, pulling hair, biting, gouging, digging finger nails into the flesh, clutching by the throat or twisting the fingers shall constitute a foul.

The winner must get two out of three falls.

H. C. Moffet, of the University Athletic Club, may possibly be sent East this summer to represent his club in the Intercollegiate championship games. He would certainly win three first prizes, viz, the hurdle race, the long and high jumps.

THE WHEELMEN.

Chief Consul R. M. Thompson, has almost entirely recovered from an attack of La Grippe.

The competitive drill did not take place at the Mechanic's Pavilion as announced on Saturday evening last, owing to the fact that several members of the Stockton and San Jose teams were suffering from the effects of La Grippe.

The Bay City wheelmen team, however, gave an excellent exhibition drill which they repeated last evening. The $150 trophy will be given to this team.

Several of the members who are interested in the whist tournament which is in progress at the Bay City Wheelmen's club rooms are down with La Grippe and the attendance during the week has been unusually small.

The introduction of safety tandem races at future race meets would certainly prove a novelty. A couple of good men such as Cook, Elwell, Davis, Plummer or Wetmore mounted on one of these machines would very easily beat the Eastern record which is somewhere in the neighborhood of 2:37.

JOTTINGS FROM ALL OVER.

Owing to the delayed mails we are unable this week to present our readers with the usual Eastern news.

The seventy two hours go as-you-please race at Waterbury, Conn., ended at midnight January 18th, with the following announced score: Davis 391 miles, Golden 375, Hughes 372, Tracey fourth and Curley fifth. Davis received about $280, Golden $175, Hughes $105, Tracey and Curley $56.

Thomas Howarth was the winner of the seventy-two hours go-as-you-please race that ended at the rink in Detroit, Mich., January 18th. Score: Howarth 374 miles, Hart, 341, Noremac 337, Smith 329, Horan 328.

The Manhattan Athletic Club of New York City will have to vacate their grounds at Eighty-sixth street and Eighth avenue this year, as a considerable portion of the property on the Eighty-sixth street side has already been disposed of for building purposes, and more will soon go. A committee has been appointed to secure an eligible site for a new outdoor headquarters, but they find great difficulty in obtaining what they want. The club may have to cross the Harlem River, or perhaps go to Staten Island.

The Staten Island Athletic Club a few days ago passed a resolution that hereafter the club should not pay the entrance fees and traveling expenses of members to athletic games other than those for the championship. While there may not be any reasonable objection, so far as the amateur law is concerned, to the club defraying such expenses, athletes cannot find good and sufficient reasons to find fault with this action, which at most can only necessitate a curtailment of their sphere of action. Therefore, it is a matter of regret that, as reported, some members of the island club feel so much aggrieved at the course pursued by the organization, that they threaten to withdraw therefrom and offer their more or less valuable services to some other club. Under such circumstances, the fact of such disgruntled members having joined could hardly be regarded as an acquisition to the club or clubs to which their allegiance was transferred.

IN THE SURF.

It would be well for those who are unacquainted with the art of swimming to take lessons at once, for there is no telling when the city will be under water.

Oarsman P. H. McDonnell fell overboard on Sunday last last at Long Bridge, dressed in his new Sunday clothes. Unlike McGinty, however, he did no go to the bottom but quietly swam ashore. After witnessing the performance Mr. Long stated that he was willing to wave his right to the "Swimming Championship."

AT THE OARS.

A dispatch from Toronto says that O'Connor was shown some remarks made by Hanlan in a New York paper to the effect that O'Connor would tire at the end of a mile if pushed. O'Connor is rather annoyed at the constant disparagement of his staying powers by Hanlan, and says he is willing to row the latter any distance from 100 yards to 100 miles, and will bet him $10,000 to $5,000 or any amount at 2 to 1 that he can beat him. If Hanlan will make a match, O'Connor says he will return from San Francisco and row him on any water in America.

Sunday was the first good day this season for the rowing men, but the storm had left the adjuncts to the boat houses in such a terrible condition that the majority of the club men devoted the entire forenoon in replacing their floats. The Pioneer and Ariel boat houses were damaged most, and in each case new floats will be required before the boats can be launched with safety.

Ed. Finley, L. F. Nunan, H. Pless and Johnson Hardy, all of the Ariel Club, visited the Lurline Club at North Beach in the afternoon.

Eugene Flanders, Henry Whitkopp and E. Phelan of the Ariels took the whitehall and went to the other side of the oil wharf in search of a better site for the new club house. They will lay the application before the Harbor Commissioners at their next meeting.

The Lurline Club has some very ambitious oarsmen. A. C. Ronard takes exercise daily in his canoe, the "Ho-bo". He has acquired such skill with the paddles that his many challenges to his club-mates remain unanswered.

E Heenan of the Pioneer Club has just finished a new shell, and he deserves great credit for his initial effort. The The boat is a model of the mechanic's art. He has a contract with his club to build three new shells during the coming season.

Charley Long accompained by his club mate, E. Heenan, took a spin to the sugar refinery.

The Alpine Club will have its new barge before the regatta, which will be held under the auspices of the Pacific Rowing Association.

When Charley Long of the Pioneer Club was defeated by Henry Henceman at Stockton, the former was not at all in enjoyment of good health. Some of the local oarsmen think that Mr. Long acted foolishly in challenging Heneman again but the "knowing ones" only smile and say, "If at first you don't succeed etc." So far the challenge remains unanswered, and perhaps Mr. Henceman will take time for consideration before deciding whether he will accept or not.

One of the daily papers made an error in announcing that the Dolphin Club would hold its high jinks on Sunday last. As a consequence several persons visited the boat house only to be disappointed in their expectations. The affair will not come off until about the 23 of next month.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

Director Dally's expose of the doings of the officers of the California Athletic Club was by no means a startling revelation. For some time past it has been generally known that at least twenty five per cent. of the persons who attend the fight of the club were admitted on "dead head" tickets. If the members are satisfied with this kind of management so much the better for the directors who are hardly to be blamed for feathering their own nests. But why did not Mr. Dally make his accusations long ago?

The regular monthly exhibition of the Occidental Athletic Club was held on Monday evening last.

The P. C. A. A. A. will hold its next meeting on Feb. 6, and will hold meetings every two weeks after that date until after May 30.

The Olympic Club "Ladies Night" has been postponed to February 13, on account of several of the members who were to take part in the exhibition being affected with La Grippe.

After all the Golden Gate Athletic Club is likely to remain in the P. C. A. A. A.

Secretary J. J. Jamison informs us that the G. G. A. C. will be represented at the championship games on May 30. In a brief interview Mr. Jamison said: "Why so many persons are down on the Golden Gate Athletic Club I cannot for the life of me see. Up to about a year and a half ago we had in our Amateur Annex some of the finest athletes on the Pacific Coast, including runners, walkers, jumpers and weight performers. At the annual championship meetings of the P. C. A. A. A. the Golden Gate Athletes were always feared. A couple of years ago our team would have won the flag had not one of its members been ill Immediately after these games the Directors of the California Club came to the conclusion that such an excellent team of Amateurs would help to boom their club and they accordingly set about capturing our champions. They were offered free entrance into the California Club, and with the numerous other inducements which were held out to them they could scarcely stand the temptation, and so they bolted. After waiting a year they were convinced that the inducements which had drawn them from their own club were merely "air bubbles", and now the same party of athletes have resigned from the California Club in order to identify themselves with clubs that will better appreciate their services. Several of our old athletes have wandered back to us and I can confidently assure you that the amateur annex of the Golden Gate Athletic has no idea of disbanding Persons who share in the opinion that the club lives only for prize fighting are grossly mistaken, and during the coming year we hope to be able to prove to our amateurs that they are not entirely forgotten.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

Another Dog Lost.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—How little did I think when I reported the sad death of "Lady Elaine" that I should so soon report the death of "Countess Lynnette" which occurred on Saturday, the 18th. She was taken the same way that "Lady Elaine" was, cramps in the bowels. We did all we could for her, but nothing seemed to relieve her. I did not dissect Lady Elaine, being satisfied it was the coal ashes that killed her at the time she swallowed it. Countess also got a piece in her mouth, but I ran and took it from her as I thought before she had swallowed any, but in this I was mistaken as I found three or four hard bunches that had grown in the small intestines, completely stopping the passage, which being opened, showed signs of a hard, gritty substance, which I think must have been the coal ashes. It was a hard blow to us, and I am afraid it will be a long day before their place can be filled in our kennel. They were a remarkably fine brace. Now side by side they rest in peace.

C. A. LOUD.

Spaniels.

America and California seem to have a hazy idea of what a spaniel really is. The Fanciers' Gazette says: "There is probably no variety of the canine race which differs so much in type as the spaniel—leaving out the English and Irish water spaniel, it has four distinct varieties—the Clumber, the Sussex, the Field and the Cocker. In some points, however, they are all similar, such as flatness of coat, and length of ears and feathering. The three first-named are built on the same lines, important properties being great length of body and shortness of legs, as distinct from the Cocker, which is shorter in body in comparison to its height. It is in the shape at the head, which is the indicator of type in every breed of dogs, that the whole four differ. Taking the Clumber first the predominant color is white, with lemon patches on head and body. It should have a large square head with a deep stop, the upper lip slightly overhanging the lower, and the eyes showing the haw; the nose flesh-color, length from tip of nose to set on of stern up to 45in., or more if possible; weight up to 65lb; height, 15in. to 18in. The Sussex spaniel is golden-liver in color, the head more square and shorter than the field spaniel, but with less stop than the Clumber, more liver-color; weight from 26lb. to 46lb.; length from tip of nose to set on of stern up to 35in.; height from 13in. to 15in. The field spaniel (in which we include black, black and-white, liver, liver-and-white, black-and-tan, liver and-tan and roan) has a longer and narrower head than either the Clumber or the Sussex, but must not be at all snipey in muzzle, and, like the Sussex, must not show the haw in the eyes; the ears are also set rather lower; weight from 26lb. to 56lb; length from tip of nose to set on of stern up to 40in., and sometimes more; height 13in. to 15in.; nose black in all but the livers, when it is the same as the body color. The Cocker is smaller, weighing not more than 26lb, and is more sprightly in action, the head, like the body, is not so long, nor the muzzle so broad as the other varieties, and the skull is not so flat, the ears being set rather higher; height from 10in. to 12in; length from tip of nose to set on of tail up to 29in. Small field spaniels are sometimes exhibited in the Cocker class, and have won prizes, but the disposition is now to send them back to their own class."

The Best All-Round Sporting Dog.

The Australasian, which is the best all-round sporting paper published in the colonies, has had a series of letters in regard to which is the best sporting dog for their country. Several of their correspondents have so much instructive matter in their letters, that we publish some of them in extenso.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE AUSTRALASIAN—

Sir: The shooting season will be opened in another month, and as a good dog is as necessary to good shooting almost as much as a good gun, I trust you will allow me to ask, through your columns, which is the best dog for all-round shooting in this colony?

The spaniel, retriever, pointer, setter, and even the fox-terrier, all have champions, as they all have been shot over, and if sportsmen who have tried them will give their experiences, it will assist those who have not yet got a dog to decide which breed to go in for.

I am surprised that the English setter has not more admirers in Victoria. He has the best record as a field dog in America and in England, and if trained according to "Kennelman's" instructions, he cannot be beaten in the field for all-round work, from retrieving a duck to pointing a quail. The English setter makes a capital water-dog, and cannot be improved upon much as a companion. Yet, there are not, I believe, 50 first-class English setters in Victoria. I cannot understand why this is, unless the idea that they are headstrong and hard to train frightens sportsmen from them. To show how erroneous an impression of this sort is, I may mention that I have an English setter pup, which at three months old retrieves land and water, and goes down to hand and shot readily. I am, etc. ENGLISH SETTER.

North-eastern District, November 13th.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE AUSTRALASIAN—

Sir: "English Setter" inquires through your columns of November 30th, which is the best dog for all-round shooting? I presume he is aware that a setter taught to retrieve will not be first-class at either setting or retrieving, but will become unsteady when in the field and flush his birds—especially if birds are at all wild. I should not advise "English Setter" to train a dog all-round, but obtain a good setter and a retriever; he will then have a dog, each adapted to its own particular business.

Your correspondent is altogether wrong in his ideas as to the English setter being headstrong and hard to train. My experience is that this class of dog cannot be beaten for nose or steadiness in the field, and is not at all difficult to break in. I find the Gordon the most headstrong and hard to break, and far too much inclined to range wide. A good pointer comes next to the English setter for steadiness—in fact, too steady, or, I should say, slow, because if birds are inclined to run, which they will very often do, the pointer is not so quick in following up as the English setter A Gordon makes a better all-round dog than the English, being fonder of the water, and with patience and careful training, can be made a useful dog; but a true sportsman likes to own a dog well trained to its own legitimate business, and "English Setter" will find much more satisfaction in keeping a setter and a retriever, instead of one imperfect "all-round dog." I am, etc., POINTER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE AUSTRALASIAN—

Sir: In answer to the letter, signed "English Setter," which appeared in your issue of Saturday last, I beg to make a few remarks on the subject of the heading of this epistle. The best all-round sporting dog, in my opinion, is not to be found in any of the dogs mentioned by "English Setter," but in a cross between the pointer and retriever. By this cross you get a dog with a nose good enough for all purposes. He can be made to stand to game, either feather or fur, just as well as setter or pointer; and as a retriever, either on land or water, he is all that can be desired. Other points in his favor are that he travels at a pace that enables his olfactory powers to be used to the best advantage, and that, whilst the possessor, as a rule, of plenty of courage, he is an easy dog to break. He is also capable of great endurance.

Whilst conceding all these good points, it is only fair to state that in the matter of carriage, he is not to be compared to either pointer or setter, nor is his attitude, whilst pointing, so finely marked as the above. He also has a strong tendency to hunt low, and it requires some trouble to cure him of this habit, if, indeed, it can be accomplished at all. I have had both the English and Irish setter, and have paid some attention to their education, but in neither case was I satisfied that, for all-round work, very great excellence could be attained. I have now a highly-bred Gordon setter and a crossbred in hand, and intend to give them a good trial in the field as soon as the close season for quail terminates; and whichever dog shows the greatest superiority in nose (this being the most important natural quality we look for), will have the fact credited in his favor. Although I am partial to the crossbred as an all-round performer, I do not expect, nor do I intend it, that my praises in his behalf will induce shootists (the majority of whom are dog fanciers) to select him in preference to a pure-bred dog of any breed. I take it that most sportsmen like either a setter, pointer, spaniel, or retriever. If not, perhaps, the best all-round dogs, we know that they each have specialties which, under good tuition, can be brought out to perfection, while in appearance they have much to recommend them to either the shooter or non-shooter. Besides, they can always be placed on the show-bench, when, if beaten, we can take consolation in the "pastime" of condemning the judge or judges as incompetent; or, if good-natured enough to take our gruel kindly, can hope for better "luck next time." With the crossbred there is none of this, although in intelligence and sagacity he stands second to none.

"English Setter" laments the fact that the English setter has so few admirers in the colony, and speaks of him as being a good all-round dog. I am not prepared to deny this latter assertion, any more than I would if he had mentioned the Irish or Gordon, as I feel that the making of the dog, except in the matter of nose, depends wholly upon the breaker. Whether the pointer is a better quail dog than a setter (including the several breeds) is a point about which few of us in the colonies can speak with authority. Before this can be done we must have field trials, the institution of which I was pleased to observe, has recently been advocated in your columns. Our estimate of these breeds is arrived at in something after the following fashion: Jones, on a good scenting day, and probably favored with a good supply of birds and a clear eye, kills (say) 10 brace over his pointer; while Jenkins, who finds himself all abroad with his Purdey (caused probably by an over-indulgence in a whisky manufactured in the Isle of Skye), and birds none too plentiful, bags only five brace on a still day to his setter. Without considering anything beyond the size of the bag, the pointer-fancier at one concludes that he is the better-dog and that therefore, all setters are inferior to pointers. From experience I am not prepared to speak with any weight on this question, although I have repeatedly heard it argued that the pointer is superior to the setter on quail. In the old country of recent years the setter invariably beats the pointer in the trails, and for my own part I should prefer him (the setter) as a quail dog, provided he is properly broken. I must confess to having digressed from the main question, but in a measure I did it purposely, in the hope that any future discussion on the subject of "The Best All-round Sporting Dog" may be generalised after the fashion I have adopted; only, let us hope by more competent authorities. Yours, etc.,

BENALLA, December, 2, CROSSBRED.

BASE BALL.

The Opening Game At Central Park—A Victory for the Brotherhood.

The first game of the California Players' League was contested last Sunday at Central Park, the protracted storm having prevented the playing of the games previously scheduled. If the rain holds off some interesting contests may be looked for during the next two months.

Stockwell has signed with the Cleveland League team for the season of 1890 at a salary of $2,400. Californians will take quite an interest in the "Spiders" now, for in addition to Stockwell, Smalley and Veach will be in that club.

Judge O'Brien of New York has decided the injunction suit of the New York Ball Club vs. John M. Ward in favor of the latter. This is virtually a victory for the Brotherhood, yet bets are freely offered that the new Players' League will never pitch a ball over the plate.

The wet weather has knocked the life out of base ball matters on the Coast, and there has been absolutely nothing to record in the shape of news. Even the managers have been too disgusted to slosh around after players, and but few contracts have been signed.

The Stockton management has raised the $2 000 necessary for them to hold their franchise, and this week a certified check for that amount was deposited with President Moore. This settles Harris' chances of having a team in the California League during the coming season.

Henry Harris will take a team of professional ball players to Oregon and Washington next May, and if practicable will establish a league composed of the principal cities of the northwest. The venture ought to be a success, and the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN wishes the gentleman all the good luck he deserves.

Hen Moore will again don a Stockton uniform this season Fudger will play third base for the Slough City's and Selna has been signed to guard the initial. Truly, there is a good foundation for a team of pennant winners.

Charlie Sweeney has attached his autograph to a 'Frisco contract. He will play first base. The home team is now complete with the exception of a second baseman, and a rattling good team it is.

Power has got the Eastern fever in a violent form and it looks as though "Smiling Tom" will not grace a California diamond this season. For heaven's sake don't let him go; we need him right here.

Another illustration of Johnny Mone's business capabilities. For the sake of saving a few dollars he has refused to accede to Jack Sheridan's terms, and the best umpire that ever stepped behind a plate will go to the Brotherhood. Well, Mone can rattle his dollars for a while, but it's silver to copper that he will find it dear economy before the season is half over.

It is doubtful if Danny Long will play with Oakland this season. Too many week day games interfere with his business and he prefers to devote his attention to law.

THE GUN.

A good deal has been written and spoken in regard to ruffed grouse. The Forest and Stream of January 2nd has in its correspondence the following letter which gives one a good idea of the weight of that picturesque bird:

Editor Forest and Stream:

I note in the issues for Dec. 12 and Dec. 19 what two correspondents say in regard to the weight of ruffed grouse I have probably weighed more grouse than any other man living, it having been my practice for years to weigh all the birds coming to my hand, and as I handled them largely for several years I must have weighed a good many thousands of them all told; and the result of my weighing is this. The average weight varies from year to year, according to circumstance—food, weather, etc. It also varies in different localities; for instance, birds shot in a territory covered with beech trees, in a year when beechnuts are plenty, are always heavy, while birds in an oak and chestnut territory always run smaller. Then again, a large crop of blackberries means an addition of at least 3oz. average over a year when there are no berries.

The smallest average I ever took was of 20oz. This was very unusual and happened eight or nine years ago. The birds were very poor and were evidently ill fed. With the exception of this one season the average has been pretty regular at 23oz., which corresponds with Dr. Morris's opinion, until this year, when it was 24oz.

Now a word as to the big birds. Out of the tens of thousands that I have weighed the heaviest bird weighed 29oz, while the same year I killed two or three that weighed 28oz., and altogether I have weighed probably five or six, not more than that number, weighing 28oz., probably twenty-five weighing 27oz., 100 or probably more weighing 26oz., and so on down. Now I have heard of these phenomenally large birds weighing 2½lbs., 2½lbs., and 2¾lbs, "as large as a hen," "as large as a turkey," and even as large "as an old Tom turkey." I bunch these stories all together and simply "want to weigh the bird myself." At this moment there comes to me the recollection of a story told me of a bird killed in Litchfield, Conn. It ended something like this: "And what do you think that bird weighed? Well, sir, that partridge weighed just 2lbs. and ¾." Now the man was drunk when he told the story, he was probably in the same condition when he weighed the bird; and all that I believe was, that it was a lie pure and simple. I do not wish Mr. Obl to think that I discredit his story of the 2 1-16lbs grouse, nor Dr. Morris's account of half a dozen 2lbs. grouse, but I look at it this way: There is a chance that the scales might vary on that, possibly a mistake was made by the weigher.

The Kennel Department.

We have to apologize to our readers for not having a full and complete report of the field trials, but the kennel editor is at present confined to his bed, and it was impossible to get the copy in time for this week's issue. We trust that next week we will be able to make up for the deficiency.

The Clash Continues.

The conflict of dates seems no nearer an end than when the last number of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN was issued. No word has been received from San Jose, and the Directors at Petaluma are determined to hold to the week which they have taken for so many years. It would seem that irrespective of the selection of dates by the Trotting Horse Breeders Association, Fresno has also resolved to claim the same dates they had last year as the following letter shows:

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 27, '90.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—DEAR SIR:—I see by your paper that the Breeders Meeting comes after Stockton. Would like to have you change to some other dates for we will have our meeting the next week after Stockton, irrespective of any other association's claims on that week.

Yours respectfully, N. I. BALDWIN, Sec'y.

Whether the Directors of the Breeders Association will give way and take some other date remains to be seen. However, at present, things are in a perfect muddle.

Sacramento Colt Stakes Association.

Once more the association, who has for a name the caption of this article, appear before the public with an exceptionally good list of colt stakes, entries for which are solicited. Considerable interest has already been manifested by those owning promising youngsters in the section from which entries may be made, and it is confidently believed that there will be a generous representation from all points north of Stockton.

As the conditions of the different stakes vary somewhat, we give each in detail, so that there may be no misunderstanding as to payments by those who desire to contend for the stakes.

The first is the yearling trotting event, for which the entrance is $75, of which $10 must accompany nomination; $15 to be paid May 1, 1890; $25 August 1, 1890, and $25 on the Saturday before the race. To be trotted at Sacramento during the State Fair of 1890. One mile dash. First colt to receive 50 per cent., second colt 30 per cent., and third colt 20 per cent. of stake.

The second is the trotting stake for two-year-olds. $75 entrance, of which $10 must accompany nomination; $15 to be paid April 1, 1890; $25 May 1, 1890, and $25 June 9, 1890. To be trotted at Sacramento June 10, 1890, good day and track. One mile and repeat. First colt to receive 50 per cent., second colt 30 per cent., and third colt 20 per cent. of stake.

Then comes the stake for three-year-old trotters. $75 entrance, of which $10 must accompany nomination; $15 to be paid April 1, 1890; $25 to be paid May 1, 1890, and $25 June 9, 1890. To be trotted at Sacramento June 10, 1890, good day and track. Mile heats, three in five. First colt to receive 50 per cent., second colt 30 per cent., and third colt 20 per cent. of stake.

The sidewheel fraternity are also afforded splendid opportunities to show what they can do, the Association fixing a stake for yearling pacers as follows: $75 entrance, of which $10 must accompany nomination; $15 to be paid May 1st, 1890; $25 August 1st, 1890; and $25 on the Saturday before the race. To be paced at Sacramento the first Monday in November, 1890, good day and track. One mile dash. First colt to receive 50 per cent., second colt 30 per cent. and third colt 20 per cent of stake.

The two year old pacers are taken care of as follows: $75 entrance, of which $10 must accompany nomination; $15 to be paid May 1st, 1890; $25 August 1st, 1890, and $25 on the Saturday before the race. To be paced at Sacramento the first Monday in November, 1890, good day and track. Mile and repeat. First colt to receive 50 per cent., second colt 30 per cent. and third colt 20 per cent. of stake.

The last of the stakes is for the three year olds, the conditions being the same as in the other pacing stakes: $75 entrance, of which $10 must accompany nomination; $15 to be paid May 1st, 1890; $25 August 1st, 1890 and $25 on the Saturday before the race. To be paced at Sacramento the first Monday in November, 1890, good day and track. Mile heats, three in five. First colt to receive 50 per cent., second colt 30 per cent. and third colt 20 per cent. of stake.

As stated before, entries are eligible to all horses owned north of and including the city of Stockton Failure to make payment in any of the stakes when due forfeits all previous payments. Entries to all of the stakes close Feb. 15th, 1890, with the Secretary. Those having nominations to make should read the advertisement.

Foals of 1890.

PLEASANTON, Jan. 26, 1890.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—On the night of Tuesday, January 21st, Faustina (dam of Faustino, yearling record 2:35) dropped a filly by Sidney. As you will see, she is a full sister to Faustino; color, a beautiful bay with black points and star in forehead; good size, and magnificently framed. I herewith claim for her the name of "Fausta." She was the first foal of the season on the ranch Yours, etc.,

G. VALENSIN.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The following colts and fillies have been dropped at Palo Alto since January 1st:

News From Ventura.

The late storms have done a great deal of damage in Ventura County. A great deal of the vineyard at Carmelos has been destroyed by the floods of the Santa Clara river, and all along the river banks many acres of alfalfa have been carried away. Farmers have not been able to plow, and the weeds have grown so that cultivating the lands will be no easy matter. The many fine horses at Carmelos are doing well. A yearling by Hockhocking that Ulpicarea Del Valle of Carmelos bought last fall at auction in Los Angeles is growing and he looks all over a runner.

The A. W. Richmond fillies and mares in Ventura County are all finely gaited and promising, and they command a good price for brood mares. L. J. Rose, Jr., has a string of mares and geldings in his stables at Ventura worth looking at and as fine as you can find in any stable. Mr. Rose is jogging Richmond Jr, brown gelding by A. W. Richmond. Last year as a four-year-old, he obtained a record of 2:22¾, which he trotted in the sixth heat of a race, which he won. Richmond Jr. is so speedy and so gamey that he will make another Jack. It is not saying too much that he will trot in 2:18 or better this year.

Richmond Jr. has a plain head, but pleasing to the eye, and a remarkable feature of this speedy gelding is his prominent eye, which betrays a keen intelligence, and added to this he has a mild and kind disposition. His shoulders are oblique and very muscular, and his loins denote much power, his hips are well elevated and his legs have plenty of bone and without blemishes. Mr. Rose has also a brown gelding not named, by A. W. Richmond, and a dead mate to Richmond Jr. He is five years old, and although he has no record, he has shown the ability to beat 2:30. He has a two-year-old filly by Stamboul, dam by A. W. Richmond, second dam by Rifleman, he by imp Glencoe. Mr. Rose said of this filly: "This one is the sweetest gaited one I have ever seen." The famous Inez, 2:30, dam of Vesolia, 2-year-old record 2:29¾, is also in Mr. Rose's barn and is in foal to Stamboul —San Mateo Maid—by Whipple's Hambletonian, with foal to Alcazar. The latter three will leave on the 25th of February next for New York in their consignment of 84 head to be sold by Peter Kellogg & Co., March 6th and 7th.

L. J. Rose, Jr., has also in his stable at Ventura a three-year-old by A. W. Richmond, dam by Ben Wade, and a three year old by Le Grande, dam by Arthurton.

Were I at the sale of Peter Kellogg and Co. on March 6th and 7th, I should certainly want to purchase the two-year-old filly by Stamboul, dam by A. W. Richmond. She is bred just as I would want my mares to be bred. She has lots of thoroughbred in her, and she is so evenly gaited that she should be a great broodmare. A colt out of her by the famous Palo Alto would make a colt that would endanger all records of trotters. She is certainly a most handsome filly, and will command a fashionable figure.

The handsome brown mare Inez, by The Moor, is as handsome a broodmare as ever adorned any fashionable stock farm. Just think, she has a record of 2:30, the dam of Vesolia, two-year-old record of 2:29¾, and she is with foal by Stamboul.

The farmers around Santa Paula have many fine horses, and many young ones are being trained, as this summer will be a most propitious one to the owners of trotters and runners for the purses that will be given in Ventura City. Hueneme, Ventura County, and Santa Barbara will be very liberal. When the rain gives up, and gentle Spring dethrones old Winter, the tracks will be put in condition, and all the youngsters will be put to work.

J. M. Kaiser, W. R. Willoughby, Chrisman Boneste, L. J. Rose, Jr, and others, are doing a great deal towards improving the stock of horses in the county of Ventura. The half-mile track of the little city can be made a fast track if properly worked. It wants to be widened, and the turns well thrown up so that the horses trotting around them can be well balanced.

They need stables on the track very much, and a high fence along the seashore side to break the cold winds in the afternoon. It is to be hoped that the people of Ventura will offer inducements for horses from the surrounding counties. In the past they have had too many races opened restricted to horses of their county. They have fast and promising horses and they should be allowed to compete with outsiders. Let Santa Barbarr, San Luis Obispo and Los Angeles have an opportunity to compete next summer and fall. If they can not win they will give you good sport, and your horses will have a good opportunity to show their speed and endurance. That county has bred and reared one good trotter and a very fast running mare, and many new ones will come in for honors this year. This year will be a great season for records. It is an even bet that Sunol will lower Maud S.'s record, and one of the pacers, perhaps Roy Wilkes, will lower Johnstone's record.

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Club Stables, Taylor Street, San Francisco.

Questions and Answers.

F. R. I.

Have got a bay mare which has a split on her off fore foot. My blacksmith says the split can be united by the application of a steel band. Please give me your opinion.

Answer.—In answer to your inquiry with reference to your mare, I beg to inform you that a steel band will not bring about a reunion. The best thing for you to do is to cut the fissure down to the bottom, then blister round the coronet, and after a time turn out to pasture, and allow time for the foot to grow down.

W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

J. H.

Two years ago the "big-jaw," so called, made its appearance among range cattle, a few solitary cases appearing before. We have always thrown the animal (mostly two-year-olds or over), cut the swelling and pressed out the bad swelling matter. The animal apparently recovers, with seldom a recurrence of the swellings. Swellings are always on the head—generally back of the lower jaw-bone. Through the country one sees a case here and there. Is this disease actinomycosis? Is there any remedy to prevent its spreading? Say an animal with it is cut, etc., to-day, and—as far as looks go—recovers, with the exception of a slight swelling round the scar; two years hence, is this animal as meat, dangerous to handle?

Answer.—By your description, I do not consider the disease "actinomycosis." If you find any trace of contagion, I would advise you to destroy the animals affected, and also those that show any trace of the disease. It would be dangerous to handle the meat, and it would be unfit for human consumption. If you get an opportunity to send up a specimen, I would be able to give you more information on the subject.

Shylock.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—There was an inquiry in a late number of your paper in regard to the pedigree of Shylock, and so many others desire the same information I will give what heresay evidence I have in the hope it may lead to something more tangible.

Shylock was bred by the late Dr. Hugh Isom, then of Bloomfield, Sonoma County, and later of Moro, San Luis Obispo County, where Shylock made two or three seasons about 1873 or 1874. The horse was afterwards taken to Lemoore, Tulare County.

He was a chestnut stallion sired by Boston Jr., dam variously given, generally as the dam of Orphan Boy, sometimes as Kate by Medoc, again as by Imp. Lawyer. Dr. Isom was prominently identified with the race horse interests of Sonoma County in the sixties, and there should be no trouble in tracing Shylock's pedigree through information obtained among the old residents of that county.

Yours truly,

T. H. K.

THE BEN HOLLIDAY MARE.

Can any of our readers furnish information about a bay mare owned and driven by the late Ben Holliday, who is said to have imported her. The mare was subsequently owned by Benjamin Fish and was sold by him to S. C. Talcott, of San Francisco. We wish, if possible, to trace the mare to the person from whom Mr. Holliday bought her, and ascertain her breeding. Anyone knowing the mare will confer a favor by writing, and although the information might not be considered material by the writer, it might lead to the knowledge of persons names who might, upon correspondence, furnish valuable information. So please give the names (and address if known) of all persons who might know the mare or her breeding.

J. A. H.

Will you please give me the pedigree of old Milton Medium and his record, if he has any? Is he still alive?

Answer—Milton Medium was foaled 1871, by Happy Medium 400, dam (the dam of Hattie 2:29¾) by Hambletonian 1727 (Sacket's). His record is 2:25½. He died at Walla Walla, W. T.

D. & E.

Please give the pedigree of Elmo, both sire and dam; also please state how many colts Elmo has in the 2:30 list and their names.

Answer.—By Mohawk 604, dam untraced. He has in the list Alfred S., Como, Emma G., Overman, Sunflower and the pacer Elma.

P. M. Hanford.

Is Revolution, a black horse owned by a Mr. Dudley at or near Stockton, four or five years ago, registered; if so give pedigree and number.

Answer.—He does not appear in the register. The only horse of the name registered is owned in Maine.

G. J., San Jose.

Please give pedigree of the stallion Director; also of a horse called Contention. Is he stallion or gelding?

Answer.—By Dictator 113, dam Dolly by Mambrino Chief 11, 2nd dam said to be by a son of Potomac, 3rd dam by Saxe Weimar. Contention is a stallion by Director, dam Helen Benton by Gen. Benton, 2nd dam Nettie George by Norfolk.

A Reader.

The rule as laid down for the measurement of a track is as near correct as can possibly be given by simple figures. There is probably no track in the world that is exactly one mile in length, and if you had thought for an instant that fact might have occurred to you. The rule as given is the best that can be devised without going into fractions, and saves hiring a surveyor.

A Subscriber.

Kindly inform me through your valuable paper what the best 100 yard record is, made by any amatuer or professional, foot racer.

Answer—H. M. Johnson, Cleveland, O., July 31st, 1886, 9 4 5 seconds, the same time was also made by Harry Bethune, Oakland, Cal., Feb. 22d, 1888. We do not credit Geo. Seward with the 9¼ seconds usually attributed to him.

J. A. A.

Will you please inform me what is the best time made by the running horse Moses B. in one mile and one mile and a half.

Answer.—The horse has not won at either one mile or one mile and a half.

Snipe Hunter.

Can you tell me anything about the breeding of Arab Massoud, who sired Old Transylvania, and was imported to America by A. Keene Richards, of Scott Co., Ky.; also, Roger Hanson, by imp. Sythian, who sired the dam of Cousin Judy, by Beacon, son of Lexington?

Answer.—Arab Massoud, chestnut horse, an Arab stallion from the Anayza tribe, foaled 1844, imported by Mr. Richards in 1853, died 1859. Roger Hanson by imp. Scythian, dam Doty by Denmark; 2d dam Polly C. by Wagner; 3d dam Cinderella by Kosciusko; 4th dam by Kennedy's Diomed, etc.

Southern California News.

Los Angeles, Jan. 29th.

The wet weather has interfered with the work of the Palo Alto youngsters recently purchased by L. J. Rose. I watched a half dozen being put through their facings the other morning. The track was too heavy for fast work, so I did not produce the chronometer borrowed for the occasion. Mr. Rose tells me that he will breed several of the fillies to Dr. Ross' Australian stallion Cheviot. A trial will be made in a few days, and the fillies which show the least speed will be sinted. It is anticipated that the string to make the Eastern journey will not contain more than a dozen horses It will surprise me if Racine and Flambeau are not in the string, notwithstanding that it was an oversight not to have had the matter arranged so that these crack California youngsters could have measured strides with the Eastern article in some of the big stakes for three-year-olds.

Will Alcazar be sold outside of this State? That is the question agitating the minds of several of the local breeders. It is whispered around in horse circles that Senator Stanford has an eye on the son of Sultan and Minnehaha. Another gentleman desirous of securing Alcazar is Mr. Bachman, the breeder of Electioneer.

There is a two-year-old filly at Santa Anita that is reported to be very speedy. I rather think it is Esperanza. The following is a full list of those now in training at Santa Anita:

Emperor of Norfolk, b h, 5, Norfolk—Marion.
Los Angeles, ch m, 5, Glenelg-La Polka.
Gannymede, b h, 4, Grinstead—Jennie B.
Honduras, ch c, 3, Grinstead—Jennie B.
Clio, b c, 3, Grinstead—Glenita.
Amigo, ch c, 3, Prince Charley—Mission Belle.
Santiago, b c, 3, Grinstead—Clara D.
Sinaloa, ch f, 3, Grinstead—Maggie Emerson.
St. Cecilia, ch f, 3, Grinstead—Sister Anne.
Magdalena, b f, 3, Glenelg—Malta.
Guadaloupe, ch c, 3, Grinstead—Josie C.
San Joaquin, b c, 2, Longfellow—Santa Anita Belle.
Ensenada, b c, 2, Rutherford—Arreta.
Silverado, ch c, 2, Rutherford—Josie C.
San Rafael, ch c, 2, Gano—Glenita.
San Gabriel, b c, 2, Rutherford—Santa Anita.
El Carmen, ch c, 2, Gano—Gray Anna.
Esperanza, b f, 2, Grinstead—Hermosa.
Cleopatra, b f, 2, Grinstead—Maggie Emerson.
Santa Ana, b f, 2, Grinstead—Clara D.
Ogrita, b f, 2, Longfellow—Mission Belle.
Blazeaway, b f, 2, Blazes—Dolly L.
La Cienga, b f, 2, Grinstead—Jennie D.

The following above are all in training at Santa Anita except Guadaloupe, who will be prepared in the East. I should expect Sinaloa to develop into the best three-year-old, and it is my opinion that Sinaloa will be the stable favorite for the American Derby, but prognostications are a trifle premature at this stage of the game.

QUARTER STRETCH GOSSIP.

Gladiator is now being driven in a buggy at Santa Anita.

Two Stamboul youngsters arrived at Rosemeade on the last day of the year.

Pike Barnes and Graham West will ride for Santa Anita this year. Barnes was expected here Wednesday.

L. J. Rose will breed two mares to Stamboul this season.

Sam Caton, the well known driver, who has a string of trotters at the Agricultural Park, has been confined to his bed with the prevailing epidemic.

Tom Rodman has just recovered from an attack of the la grippe.

The Santa Anita flyers make their debut at the Brooklyn meeting this year.

Mr. Outhwaite, a Cleveland capitalist, is about to establish a breeding farm in close proximity to Rosemeade.

Emperor of Norfolk continues to show up well in his work The chances are that he will be seen on several Eastern tracks this season.

W. J. Robinson, the owner of Edgemont, the new breeding farm established near Rosemeade, is visiting the East.

Welcome is to be bred to Ed McGinnis.

Rico and Los Angeles are the Los Angeles entries for the suburban.

There is some talk of another race-track for Los Angeles.

Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, Long Beach, Santa Ana, San Diego, Coronado, Escondido, Downey and Los Angeles, are the towns in Southern California which can boast of race-tracks.

There are several right-smart youngsters in Rose's string at the Agricultural Park. The most of them are well entered at the Blood Horse meeting.

Cy Mulkey will winter his horses here. He will shortly receive from Bakersfield several brothers and sisters of Gladstone.

Mr. Ross says that he will take Oro and Kitty Van East this season.

Fallen Leaf and Grisette are in foal to Emperor of Norfolk. Miss Ford who was beaten by a head by C. H. Todd for the American Derby is also in foal.

It is the general impression that Dave Bridges will be the trainer for the Rose string which will be sent East.

John Treat is hopelessly broken down. He was a great race horse and has given the talent a black eye on divers occasions. The son of Shiloh has won a mint of money for the betting men of this city.

Dagworth.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Noonday.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—I have been asked what is to be done with the mares that proved not in foal to Noonday last season? I will say to those who bred to Noonday in 1889 that if the same mare prove not in foal and the service bill is paid up, they will have a return privilege, free, on said mare. I find quite a number on my books that have not paid their bills. I have sent to F. P. Lowell, Esq., 1520 F street, Sacramento, a list of all that have paid the service fee for last season, and they can send the mare to him if she proves not with foal. I will also send him a list of those who have not paid the service fee, so that he may know whom to refuse.

Yours respectfully,

Samuel Gamble.

The Thoroughbred Stallion

INTRUDER

Will make the Season of 1890 at Agricultural Park, SACRAMENTO.

Bay Horse, foaled 1871, bred by Sir L. Newman, England. Imported by D. D. Withers, Esq., New York.

By Crater, Son of Orlando and Vesuvienne by Gladiator.

1st dam Lady Bountiful by Rataplan (Rataplan is own brother to Stockwell, and winner of 42 races, including the Doncaster Cup and 19 Queen's Plates, and proved himself the most distinguished race horse of his day in England).

2d dam Plentiful by Don John (the winner of St. Leger and Doncaster Cup).

3d dam Plenty by Bay Middleton (winner of the Derby and Two Thousand Guinea Stakes).

6th dam by Selim, winner of the One Thousand Guinea Stakes.

7th dam by Pipilina, by Sir Peter.

8th dam Rally, by Trumpeter.

9th dam Fancy, by Florizel. Fancy was full sister to Diomed, the first Derby winner in England, and after his importation into this country, sired the illustrious Sir Archy, etc. See English Stud Book.

Imported INTRUDER is a beautiful bay, standing fully 16 hands high, of great length and substance, and descends through close and strong currents from the most illustrious winners and winning lines of blood of which the English Stud Book bears record.

A careful review of the first six crosses of the pedigree of INTRUDER will show nine Derby winners; five St. Leger winners; two winners of The Oaks; two winners of the Two Thousand Guineas; two winners of the One Thousand Guineas; one Goodwood Cup winner; one Cæsarwich Cup winner; one Cambridgeshire Stakes winner, and four Doncaster Cups, in addition to a great number of Steeplechases and other races of less import.

INTRUDER, at the great fair held at St. Louis, Mo., in 1878, was awarded the highest stallion honors—the blue ribbon and the $500 purse—in the sweepstakes ring for stallion of any age or blood. The list of competitors embraced the large number of thirty-three animals, and they represented England, Canada, Kentucky, Tennessee, and other states. He also took first premium in his class and in sweepstakes for the best stallion of any age or breed at the State Fair at Peoria, Ill., 1882. He is the sire of Tidal Wave, George Hakes, Bernice and April Fool.

INTRUDER is the sire of Interpose, who is the dam of Spokane, winner of the Kentucky Derby, in which he beat the great horse Proctor Knott and broke the record.

Terms: $50 for the season. Mares not proving with foal can be returned the next season free of charge. Good pasturage at $4 per month. Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire, and fed on hay and grain, either or both, at reasonable rates. While every precaution will be taken, no responsibility will be assumed for escapes or accidents. Mares sent from a distance in care of the undersigned, will be met and taken to the park. RECORD 2:28, (Full Brother to Rosa Wilkes, 2:18 1-4), Sire of Nine in 2:30 List at 10 Years Old.

First dam Gurgle, pacing record 2:20; trial of 2:15½ for W. H. Crawford; by Pocahontas Boy, sire of Buffalo Girl, 2:12½; Raven Boy, 2:15½, and ten others in the list.

Second dam Matlock by Grey Diomed.

Third dam by Tom Hal.

DESCRIPTION.

Brown bay, right hind foot and left inside hind heel white. Foaled May 20, 1887. Bred by W. H. Wilson, Abdallah Park, Cynthiana, Ky.

He is a grand individual, large boned, fine size and appearance. When fully matured will probably be 16 hands, and weigh 1200 lbs.

Is of speedy conformation and level headed. His blood lines are stout and fashionable, being the Wilkes and Mambrino Patchen on pacing and thoroughbred foundations, and from a family of producers on both sides.

Can be seen until February 1st at Agricultural Park, Los Angeles, in charge of C. A. Durfee, after which he will serve ten approved mares at $60 the season, with usual privilege of return in 1891, at Lockhaven Stock Farm, Burbank, Cal. Mares kept on grass $3 per month, and extra charge where grain and alfalfa are fed. For further particulars, address

STANDARD No. 4178

DESCRIPTION.

Dark bay, black points, 15 1-2 hands high, weight 1000 pounds, foaled May 30, 1885; bred by General W. T. Withers, Lexington, Ky.

PEDIGREE.

By Happy Medium, sire of Maxey Cobb 2:13¼ and 52 with records of 2:30 or better. First dam Abdalletta by Cassius M. Clay Jr., sire of Durango 2:23¼, Harry Clay 2:23½ and sire of the dams of Minnehaha, Bertha 2:27¼, Charley West 2:28½, Grandmont 2:25 1-2, Lottie K 2:26¼, Mambrino Diamond 2:26, Richwood 2 25 1-2, Topsy 2 2-¼, Happy Thought 2 2' 1-2, Pequot 2:23 1-2, Fairlawn Medium 2 27 1-2, Folley 2:27¼ and Mambrino Boy 2 26 1-2; second dam Laura Crockett by Almont, sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Puritan 2 16, Fanny Witherspoon 2 16¼, Piedmont 2: 7¼, Aline 2.19¼, and 37 with records better than 2:3 ; third dam Sally Tee by Alexander's Abdallah, sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14; fourth dam Kate Crockett, the dam of Lulu 2:14¾, by imp Hooton.

Illustrious is a horse of extra fine finish, large clean bone, good feet, back short and strong, loins and quarters well muscled, and powerful. He has a kind disposition and splendid trotting action, and is as handsome and bloodlike in form and finish as any trotting stallion in the land

He is pronounced by his breeder, General Withers, to be the best bred son of Happy Medium living, and is undoubtedly one of the very best bred trotting stallions in the State. He has had but six weeks' regular training, and a part of that time was sick with epizootic, but was trotted quarters in 39 1-4 seconds, and barring accidents will certainly trot better than 2:30 this season.

TERMS—$50 the season. Mares not proving with foal may be returned next year free.

Good pasturage at $3 per month.

Season to begin February 1st and end June 15th.

WoodsideFarm

IMPORTANT SALE OF

Standard Trotting Mares Young Stallions and Fillies,

ROAD AND DRIVING HORSES
Farming Implements,
Etc.

By direction of MRS. SILAS SKINNER.

Mrs. Skinner having determined to retire permanently from the breeding of Fine Stock, has decided to offer at

PUBLIC AUCTION
Thursday, March 6, '90,

at 12 M., on the Premises.

THE WELL-KNOWN

WOODSIDE FARM,

Near Napa,

The brood mares at Woodside are among the choicest in the State. Among them are mares by Almont, dam by Alexander's Abdallah; by Cassius M. Clay Jr., dam by Joe Downing; by Cassius M. Clay Jr., dam by Richelieu son of Mambrino Chief; by Duke of Orange Jr., dam by Cassius M. Clay Jr.; by Almont Mambrino, dam by Blood's Black Hawk; by Alcona—dam Fontana, dam of Flora Belle, 2:24, and Silas Skinner, trial 2 23¼—by Almont; by Alcona Clay—dam Metamora, dam of Clay Duke, 2:31½—by Duke of Orange Jr. These mares have been bred to Director, Noonday, Mountain Boy and Wildwood, and are with foal. The young stallions are by Sitka, son of Alaska, by Electioneer, Whippleton, sire of Lillie Stanley, 2:17½, Alcona Clay, etc. About twenty head well-bred trotting and driving animals will be sold in addition to the standard bred horses.

Catalogues giving extended pedigrees and full information are being prepared, and will be forwarded upon application.

At the conclusion of sale of horses,

WOODSIDE FARM

will be sold.

WOODSIDE FARM is situated three and a half miles from Napa City, up the river, upon what is known as the middle or big ranch road. It contains 67 1-2 acres of the choicest quality of land for alfalfa or any kind of grain, 40 acres being now in alfalfa over a foot high. The land produces from four to six tons of hay to the acre, of choice quality. Five of the fields are in pasture, four in alfalfa, one in timothy, the other kept in hay or grain necessary for stock, though well adapted for alfalfa. There is a nice orchard, small vineyard, and comfortable dwelling house of nine rooms. There is a good school house directly opposite, the best in the county. As to its adaptability as a stock ranch: There is living water in every field, and plenty of it, corrals and stock yards, stable room for forty horses, besides seven good box stalls two good stables, granery, etc. It is within two miles of the Napa Agricultural Society's race track, the finest constructed in the State for years. Should there not be sufficient land, 62 acres adjoining can be purchased at reasonable figures.

There is no more eligible location in the State for a small stock farm, and this affords a rare opportunity, with the stock, to at once engage in this remunerative pursuit.

The sale will be positive. Upon all sales of Live Stock and personal property, one years' credit will be given on approved notes. Interest 10 per cent. per annum. Three per cent. discount for cash.

Upon Land, one-half cash: balance can remain upon mortgage for a term of years to suit purchasers. Interest eight per cent. per annum.

Vehicles will be in attendance at Napa Depot to convey parties to the farm. Lunch will be served upon the ground.

Mrs Skinner having large interests in Oregon which will require her personal attention during the greater portion of the year, compels the sale of the Woodside Farm.

Parties are invited to visit the farm and look over the stock. The undersigned will be glad to give any information required, either as to stock or ranch.

STALLIONS, BROODMARES AND FILLIES

ONE STALLION FIVE YEARS OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lily Stanley, 2:17 1-2 Homestakes 2:16 1-2, etc.), dam Sally Gorham by Werner's Rattler. This horse is scarcely 15 1-2 hands high, but very compactly built. He breeds exceptionally large and well finished colts. Any one understanding the business could clear him in one season, or he would make a No, 1 road horse, as he can trot a 40 gait any time.

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2: 17 1-2, Homestakes 2 16 1-2, etc.) dam Sally Gorham, etc. This ought to make a great General Purpose sire, and with opportunities get trotters, as he is compact, strong-boned, and will measure when grown about 16 hands and weighs 1,200 lbs. With a little road work last fall he developed a wonderful burst of speed.

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD, BLACK, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2 17 1-2, etc.), dam by Nanbuc (sire of the dam of Eva W, 2:23 1-2, etc.), full brother to Thomas Jefferson, 2 23. This horse will be fully 16 1-2 hands high. He is smooth rapid gaited and from size and conformation should breed, like his sire, large, rangy, finished colts.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BRIGHT CHESTNUT, sired by DAWN 2 18¾, dam Alida (dam of Directa, three-year-old record 2:31¼, trial 2:26) by Admiral (sire of sister 2:19 1-2, Nona Y 2:25, etc). This colt is the making of an extraordinary horse. He is large boned and will be over sixteen hands high when grown; he is of the true Nutwood type, is clean gaited and can lead a piece as fast as any man's colt.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BLOOD BAY, (full brother to Alcona Jr. sire of Silas Skinner, trial 2:23) sired by ALCONA (sire of Flora Belle 2:24, etc.,) dam Madonna by Cassius M. Clay Jr. This colt will make a trotter and a great stock horse if developed; he has the combined blood of Almont, Mambrino Chief, Cassius M. Clay Jr. and Joe Downing.

These colts are all sound and promising. The only reason I offer them for sale is, that I have three aged stallions in use, and the surplus is growing on me. If I were starting a breeding business for profit, I should consider either of these colts a representative to commence with. Also brood mares and fillies for sale. Correspondence solicted.

Carter, at the Nutwood Sto^k Farm, by ,iteros 6020,by Electioneer,and full brother to Anteeo, :6¼, and Antevolo, four-year-old, record 2:19¼. ? rst dam Newark Belle by Nutwood, 2:18¾, and :lf-brother to Maud S., 2:08¾ – Queen of the Turf Second dam Tilly, 2:40, by San Bruno, by David Hill, Vermont Blackhawk. This colt is very large of ; age, and looks enough like Sunol to be her full ·ther.

:lectio' eer and Nutwood are his grandsires, both rving mares at $5 0 each. Nutwood is half-brother the fastest trotter in the world - Maud S ,2:08¾; Electioneer, the sire of the fastest three-year-old, Sunol, :0¼.

TERMS.

This colt will be limited to ten mares, outside of my .n, for $50 the season.

Mares not proving in foal can be returned the follow- g season by paying difference in price, if any.

---

he National Trotting Stallion

ILOT NUTWOOD (Cyrus R.)

Will make the season of 1890 at the stable of T. W. ,rstow, corner of San Fernand Street and Wilson 'enue, San Jose.

TERMS.

50 for the season, with usual return privileges, by ying difference in price. No fee if this horse does t secure a record of 2 30 or better in 18 0, barring cidents. Limited to 15 outside mares. Season from ·bruary 1st to July 1st, 1890. The best care and atten- on given to mares, but no responsibility assumed for cidents or escapes. Good pasturage at $3 per month 100 acres of the best feed in Santa Clara County.

DESCRIPTION.

Pilot Nutwood, 2:42, black horse; small star; foaled 1881; 15¾ hands; was worked five weeks, and got a ;ord of 2 42 as a three-year-old; he was not worked ain until 1888; after having six weeks work, showed ; owner a mile in 2:26, and the last half in 1 10½. red by the mighty Nutwood, 2:18¾, half-brother to aud S., 2:08¾ – Queen of the Turf.

First dam Belle by Jack Roberts. half-brother to d St Clair; 2d dam by Shakespeare, thoroughbred, ck Roberts by Eclair or Leck, and he by old pacing t, and his dam by Copperbottom.

This gives Pilot Nutwood two crosses of the great lot blood, coming through both sire and dam. This the kind of breeding that breeders should be look- ; after in order to get to the front.

CHALLENGE.

To back my assertion made in the San Jose Mercury ' ecember last, I will match this horse against any otting stallion in San Jose, one or two-mile heats, y time after July 1st. The parties accepting this allenge can set the time and track, and I the right name the amount. For further particulars, address,

ST. NICHOLAS.

. Son of the World Renowned

SIDNEY,

'ill Make the Season of 1890, at the Oakland Trotting Park.

ST. NICHOLAS was bred by Mr. G. Valensin at e Arno Stock Farm, Sacramento Co., California, 1 85. He is a beautifully proportioned bright bay rse, 15.3 hands high; is well muscled, lengthy, and :s of bone, with splendid natural action and a phe menal turn of speed. As a three-year-old he easily orked three heats on the Oakland Track in 2:32, 2:29 d 2:27½. His breeding is just what one would expect om such a highly formed bloodlike horse. Sidney, s sire is the most successful young stallion— iether for getting pacers or trotters – America has er seen and no wonder for his blood lines are ex- ptional fine and are all trotting lines, Santa Claus, rathmore, Rysdyk's Hambletonian and Abdal- ı, while Sweetness again runs back through that eat sire Volunteer, to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and so through her dam to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and arry Clay 45, the sire of Electioneer's dam. St. cholas' dam is by Echo, an exceptionally pre- tent son of Hambletonian thus giving St. Nicholas ır Rysdyk's Hambletonian crosses and further ck a Harry Clay cross which with his grand dam's orough bred cross should make him invaluable in e stud.

TERMS: Fifty dollars the season, which will com- ence on the 5th of February and close on the 1st of ly. Due care will be taken of mares, but no re- onsibility for accidents or escapes.

Mares taken and kept as desired by the owners, and reasonable rates.

  - Fanny Fern ....
    - Irwin's Tuckaho By Herod's Tuckahoe Sire of dam of Smuggler, 2:15¼.
    - Dau. of Leffler's Consul.

As will be seen from the tabulated pedigree and performances above, Shamrock is not only a phenomenal horse himself, but his ancestors on both sides have shown themselves to be uniformly producers of GREAT and PARTICULARLY early speed, and his record like many others of his family was made in a hotly contested race, instead of a trial against time.

HE IS NOW IN SPLENDID FORM, AND I TRULY BELIEVE WILL LOWER HIS RECORD TO 2:15 THIS YEAR.

TERMS. $100, with usual return privilege, for a limited number of CHOICE mares, season ending June 1st.

Electo.

CUPID,

Full Brother to Adonis 2:14,

——Sired by——

The Celebrated SIDNEY 2:19 3-4, and out of Venus.

Will make the season of 1890 at the OAKLAND TROTTING PARK.

PEDIGREE.

CUPID is by Sidney out of Venus by Capt. Webster 10173, record 2:30, and sire of Freestone 2:29. Second dam by Skenandoah 936, sire of Daisy Burns 2·29¾, Erwin Davis (sire of two in the 30 list) and dams of four in the 30 list.

DESCRIPTION.

Cupid is a handsome bright bay 15.2½ hands high, weighs 1100 lbs.; was foaled in 1886. As a yearling, with very little work he showed quarters in 42 seconds, and at 2 years old, quarters in 36 seconds. As a three year old he has not been worked, but he shows the speed and endurance that must come from his excellent blood lines.

TERMS $50 for the season, with the usual return privileges. Good pasturage near the track at $5 per month. The best of care taken of mares in any way that owners may desire, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

WHIPPLETON is not only the sire of trotters, but he is the greatest sire of Carriage Horses on the Pacific Coast. Some of the best carriage and road teams in San Francisco are sired by Whippleton A carriage team by Whippleton received First Premium at Napa, Petaluma, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton and San Jose. Whippleton and his colts have never been beaten in the show ring.

DESCRIPTION.

WHIPPLETON is black, tan muzzle and flanks, 17 hands, and weighs 1,400 lbs. Most of his colts are 16 hands or over, and with a few exceptions, bay, brown or black. He never sired a sorrel or white face colt. (If he does, I agree to refund service money.)

PEDIGREE.

WHIPPLETON, sired by Hambletonian Jr. (sire of Hancock 2.29), by Whipple's Hambletonian (sire of Groves, 2 19 Westfield, 2:20½, Express, 2:24, and 12 others in the 2 30 list), dam Lady Livingston (dam of Lady Blanchard, 2 26¼, Bloomfield Maid, trial 2:22 , by General Taylor (sire of the dams of Wells Fargo, 2:18¾, Nerea, 2·23½ Bickford, 2:29½, Lady Blanchard, 2 26¼, etc , and sire of grandam of Hazel Wilkes, 2:20) by the Morse Horse 6 sire of Norman 25 (sire of Lulu, 2:14¾, May Queen 2 20 etc.).

TERMS at $50, limited to 20 mares, for the season, usual return privileges. I would like to get about ten well bred mares with the proper combination of blood to breed to Whippleton on shares this season.

Alcona 730.

Sire of

FLORA BELLE - - -	Record	2:24
CLAY DUKE - - - -	"	2:31¼

ALCONA will be a great sire, but four of his colts have ever been trained, and all have shown full miles better than 2:30, and two of them as good as 2:20. Two of his first sons each sired a colt as a two-year-old, and last season one as a four-year-old trotted a full mile in 2·23½, and the other, a three-year-old, a mile in 2 31. With opportunities, Alcona is destined to be one of Almont's best sons Almont, for his opportunities, is beyond doubt the most prepotent sire of his age. He has 36 representatives in the 2:30 list; 49 sons and 22 daughters that have already produced 2:30 performers. Almont died five years ago at 20 years old. If he lived he would be but 25 years old.

PEDIGREE.

ALCONA sired by the great Almont (sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Fanny Witherspoon 2:16¼, Piedmont 2:17¼, and 34 others with records better than 2:30, and grandsire of Belle Hamlin 2:12¾, etc.); by Alexander's Abdallah (sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14), he by Rysdyk's Hambletonian. Alcona's dam, Queen Mary, by Mambrino Chief (sire of Lady Thorne 2 18 1-4, and 5 others in the 2:30 list, and sire of the dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17¼, Onward 2:25 1-4, Red Wilkes, Almont, Belmont and many other noted sires).

DESCRIPTION.

Alcona is a beautiful chestnut 16 3 1-2 hands high, and weighs 1300 lbs. His colts possess speed, style, finish and beauty, and if they don't trot they command the highest prices for carriage horses.

$10 for the season. Usual return privilege.

Grandissimo,

Full Brother to GRANDEE, Three Year Old Record 2:23 1-2.

Sired by Le Grande [son of Almont and out of Jessie Pepper, by Mambrino Chief. Jessie Pepper is the dam of Ione 2:17 1-2, Alpha 2:23 1-2, and granddam of Montezuma 2:29¾. First dam Norma [dam of Grandee 2:23 1-2], by Arthurton [sire of Arab 2:15, Joe Arthurton 2:20 1-2, etc.]; second dam Nourmahal 2:39 [full sister to A. GRANDISSIMO, with limited training as a three year old last year showed 1-4 mile in 38 seconds, and, barring accidents, will trot fast next fall.

Limited to 20 mares at $50 each; usual return privileges.

Season on Grandissimo ends June 1st, 1890.

Season on Whippleton and Alcona ends July 1st, 1890.

Best kind of pasturage at $4 per month. Mares kept in any manner desired.

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2¾ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level headed seldom making a break; wears ounce shoes in front. His record 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

Sidney (Memo's sire) is universally known as the best young sire in the world, a producer of extreme speed at an early age.

PERFORMANCES.

MEMO trotted in public in his two year-old form, obtaining a record of 2:49, though he was close to Sandeein a race on the Bay District Track, the second heat of which was made in 2:31. 1-2, the first in 2:32. He exhibited phenomenal speed when three years old, and had it not been for a slight strain of his fore fetlock, there is little question that he would have shown in public very close to the best record. On the Oakland track he was timed a mile in 2:20 1-2, and frequently trotted quarters in from 32 1-2 to 34 seconds.

As a four-year-old Memo only started once - at Sacramento - when, although out of condition, he showed great speed, and improving as he went on, great hopes were entertained of his going well down in the 'teens at the P. C. T. H. B. A. meeting, but after showing several very fast miles his leg filled and he was laid up for the season. He is sixteen hands high, and of powerful build throughout. His color is a glossy black, with both fore-feet white. His disposition is all that could be desired, and his action superb. He is a sure foal getter, only one mare being reported not in foal during his last season.

TERMS, $.00, with usual return privileges, for a limited number of mares. Season to close JUNE 15th, when he will be prepared for track purposes. Pasturage $5 per month. Reasonable charges if fed hay and grain. Best of care taken of mares, but positively no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. For further particulars address

1890 Three Anteeo Stallions 1890

SUNSET, 5 years old, by Anteeo
ANTEEOF, 4 years old, by Anteeo
ANTEEOP, 3 years old, by Anteeo

ANTEEO. Standard 7868. Record, 2:16 1-4. He by Stanford's Electioneer, and dam Columbine.

DESCRIPTIONS, PEDIGREES AND CONDITIONS.

"SUNSET" is a rich, dark bay, small star on forehead, portion of hind left foot white; was foaled March 11, 1885; is by ANTEEO and the inbred HAMBLETONIAN mare, BESSIE G, she by KING PHILLIP, son of WHIPPLE'S HAMBLETONIAN. He is 16 1-2 hands high, and weighs 1,200 lbs. He is of perfect build and splendid action cool headed and great speed for his size, having trotted a trial mile as a three-year-old in 2:38. He then entered heavy in the stud and was matched against Whalebone at the Healdsburg races November 2, 1888, winning just as he pleased in three straight heats; time, 2:47, 2:46 1-2, 2:52 1-2. He was then matched for a race to come off last Thanksgiving Day at Petaluma, but owing to the heavy rains the event did not take place. A few days previous to Thanksgiving Day Mr. Lawrence worked Sunset out and then he trotted three square miles and heats in 2:33¾, 2:34 and 2:37.

SUNSET will be bred to 40 mares only, at $50 each, no colt no pay.

"ANTEEOF" is a jet black, was foaled April 13, 1886, is 16¼ hands high, and weighs 1,200 lbs., has a very fine, heavy black mane and tail; is well proportioned, moves majestically, is of easy, lofty carriage; is symmetrical, in fact is a beautiful horse. He was sired by Anteeo and the O. A. Taylor mare "Nance," her dam was raised by Dr. Oliver Plummer, of Consumnes, Cal., and sired by "Napoleon"; Napoleon was foaled May 29, 1853, and raised by James Kyle of Butler County, Ohio. He was sired by Benj. Sweet's horse Bellfounder, and he by Old Bellfounder, his dam was sired by Doc. Daniel Melligan's horse, Cadmus, G. G. sire the celebrated Eclipse; his G. dam was sired by Big Shakespeare, G. G., sires dam by Messenger and Expedition.

ANTEEOF will be bred to 25 mares only, at $50 each. No colt, no pay.

"ANTEEOP" is a rich seal brown, was foaled March 7, 1887; by Anteeo and the inbred Hambletonian mare Bessie G., also dam of Sunset, his full brother and Midget his full sister; he is 15 1-2 hands high and weighs 950 lbs, and measures 22 inches around the arm, good head, fine neck, full, broad breast; withers and rump on nearly equal line, well proportioned bones, ankle, shoulders, loins and hips; strong legs all around, with great muscular development and splendid sinews; wirey pasterns and sound, compact feet; the lines from hip to hoof show power and speed; stands square and has excellent action, has a superb lustrous coat of rich deep brown fur of seal color without defect; an even, honest trotter, and has gone the mile as a two-year-old in 2:43, the last quarter in 38 seconds; is intelligent and of high spirit, with much temper, but is not vicious, has very fine eyes, is a handsome, showy colt; attractive in harness.

ANTEEOP will be bred to 15 mares only, at $50. No colt, no pay.

SEASON to commence February 1st, ending July 1, 1890. Book now ready. Apply to John H. Lawrence, "Manager and Trainer," on my fruit and hop ranch, 1 mile east of Court House, on Sonoma road. Excellent pasture furnished with running water, also dry knolls with oak shelter, at $3 per month for mares. Two of the above stallions will be for sale after the expiration of the their stud season.

The Stanford Stakes for 1892.

FOALS OF 1889.

OPEN TO THE WORLD.

MILE HEATS.—Three in five. Entrance $100, with $100 added for each starter over two and up to five head, and $25 for each additional starter up to ten head. Payments: $10 on March 1st, 1890; $10 on January 2nd, 1891; $10 on January 2nd, 1892; $20 on May 1st, 1892; and $50 on the fifth day preceding the first advertised day of the meeting at which the stake shall be trotted.

CONDITIONS.

First payment, whether for purses payable in installments or for stakes, MUST ACCOMPANY NOMINATIONS or they will not be considered.

Neglect to provide payments on the dates stipulated will incur forfeiture of all previous payments.

No horses and colts owned on the Pacific Coast by others than members of the P. C. T H. B. A. are eligible to the above purses and stakes (excepting the Stanford stake), but horses and colts OWNED outside of the Pacific Coast are eligible thereto regardless of membership.

All States and Territories lying in whole or in part west of the Rocky Mountains are held to be part of the Pacific Coast.

The Directors reserve the right to change the hour and day of any race except when it becomes necessary to ante-date a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days notice of change by mail to address of entry.

Entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race, shall be required to start.

When there is more than one entry to a purse or stake by one person or in one interest, the horse to be started must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race.

Purses and stakes will be divided into four moneys, viz., 50 per cent. to the winner, 25 per cent. to the second horse, 15 per cent. to the third horse, and 10 per cent. to the fourth horse.

No added money will be paid for a walk-over. If only three horses start in a stake race, only first, second and third money shall be paid—if but two start, the Directors reserve the right to call it a walk-over, and divide the stake money paid in, two-thirds to the winner and one-third to the second horse. In case of a walk-over, only the money received from entries to said stake will be paid. In purse races, three horses will be required to start.

A horse distancing the field shall only be entitled to first and third moneys.

The Board of Directors reserve the right to declare any purse or stake filled or not filled without binding itself to any specified number of entries.

Trotting and racing colors shall be named by six o'clock on the day preceding the race, and MUST be worn upon the track.

Otherwise than the above, National or American Trotting Association Rules—as this Association may select—will govern the stake and purse races offered.

Persons desirous of making entries in the above purses and stakes, and who have not as yet joined the P. C. T. H. B. A., should make application for membership to the Secretary, and remit the sum of $25 to cover membership fee before March 1, 1890.

DESCRIPTION.

Dark bay, 15 hands, weighs 1050 pounds, form stout and elegant, gait pure and rapid. He was foaled July 15, 1880, has done but little work in the stud, but enough to demonstrate that he is one of the best foal getters in the State. Only one of his get has had any systematic handling, and that could have gone into the 2:30 list last year as a two-year-old, had the owner desired.

It will be observed from an examination of Lynwood's pedigree, that he is one of the best bred sons of the GREAT NUTWOOD, who commands a service fee of $500 for the season.

BALKAN

By Mambrino Wilkes.

(See that Horse's Advertisement.)

DAM FANNY FERN BY JACK HAWKINS Son of Boston.

The grandam of Maud S, (2:08¾) was by Boston and the grandam of Jay-Eye-See (2:10) was by Lexington, son of Boston. So Balkan is the same remove from Boston that Maud is, and one remove nearer than Jay-Eye-See.

Fanny Fern has produced Molly Drew, Onyx, Fred Arnold Molly Fern and Balkan, all by different sires. Balkan's sire and dam both being producers, and he being a trotter himself with a record of 2:29 1-2 (three-year-old) and timed separately 2:22 1-4 in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track, October 14, 1889—it is but fair to presume that he will get trotters of the highest order.

DESCRIPTION.

He is seal brown, 16-1 hands high, in style rivalled by few, and excelled by none with as pure a gait as has yet been exhibited in public—bar none.

Balkan will be at Oakland Trotting Park for the season of 1890, and will be limited to ten mares, at $100 fee, in order to be put in training early, as it is morally certain that if given a reasonable opportunity he will be fast enough to compete with the best of his age. BROWN'S BELLFOUNDER.

By imp. Bellfounder; 1st dam Lady Allport, by Mambrino; 2nd dam by Tippo Saib son of imp. Messenger; 3rd dam by imp. Messenger.

DESCRIPTION.

ALEXANDER BUTTON is a dark bay with fine flowing mane and tail; stands 15-3½ hands high; weighs 1,200 pounds, and is of excellent disposition. He is a natural trotter, inherited through the speed-lines of his ancestors, and imparts his speed to his offspring with uniform certainty. His colts show him to be a wonderful producer—and with his breeding and terms of service, he is the cheapest and most wonderful horse in the State.

SIRE OF

GUS WILKES, 2:22; ALPHEUS, 2:27; CLARA P, 2:29½; BALKAN, 2:29½ (3-year-old) and timed separately 2:22¼ in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track, October 14, 1889.

DESCRIPTION.

Black; sixteen hands; weighs, in exercise, 1,260 lbs. For style, finish, symmetry and proportion, comparison is challenged with any trotting bred horse. His colts follow in size, style and beau y. Balkan, for instance, being "facile princeps" of trotters in these particulars.

PEDIGREE.

Sired by Geo. Wilkes, sire of Harry Wilkes, 2:13¼, Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, and 60 other trotters in the 2:30 list, in addition to 6 pacers, and of the sire of Axtell, 2.12 (three-year-old) beating all stallions of any age, and the sire of Regal Wilkes, 2:20¾, best two-year-old stallion record.

First dam Lady Chrisman by Mambrino (Todhunter's, son of Mambrino Chief 11; sire of Lady Thorn, 2:18¼; Woodford Mambrino, 2:21½, and four others in 2:30. and of the dams of Director, 2:17, Piedmont, 2:17¼, Onward, 2:25¼, etc.

Second dam by Pilot Jr. 12, sire of nine in the 2:30 list, and of the dams of Maud S., 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Nutwood, 2:18¾, Viking, 2:19¾, Pilot Boy, 2:20, Naiad Queen, 2:20¼, etc.

TERMS.

Mares from a distance will be received at the Dexter Stables, Oakland, or Livery Stable, Martin z, the owner notifying Smith Hill, Superintendent at the farm. Good pasture and plenty of water. For the purpose of placing the service of a Wilkes within reach of breeders, the same rate will be maintained as last year, to wit, $75 for the season. Thoroughbred Stallion

Prince of Norfolk.

Will Make the Season of 1890, from Feb 1st to July 1st, at Sacramento.

Prince of Norfolk, chestnut horse, foaled 1881, by Norfolk; first dam Marion by Malcolm; second dam Maggie Mitchell by imp. Yorkshire; third dam Charmer by imp. Glencoe; fourth dam Betsy Malone by Stockholder; fifth dam by Potomac, sixth dam by imp. Diomed; seventh dam by Pegasus, etc. Norfolk, the unbeaten son of Lexington, is the sire of Winters, Twilight, Connor, Ballot Box, Trade Dollar, Flood, Duchess of Norfolk, Lou Spencer, the Great Emperor of Norfolk, the unbeaten El Rio Rey, and many others. Marion's sire, Malcolm, was one of the first horses to bring Bonnie Scotland into notice. Through the Maggie Mitchell cross comes the blood of two of the most celebrated racemares of their day, Charmer and Betsy Malone. The combined speed of these great families seem to be concentrated in the get of Norfolk and Marion, as is instanced in the case of the Emperor of Norfolk, and El Rio Rey, who are full brothers to the Prince of Norfolk

The blood lines here displayed cannot be surpassed in the world, there not being a single cross that has not been celebrated for speed and endurance, and it is fair to assume that the get of this stallion will show equally well with those of past generations.

TERMS: $50 for the season. We offer first-class pasturage on our own ranch, at $3 per month, and the best of care will be taken of mares sent to us, but no responsibility can be incurred. For further particulars, address by mail or wire,

    - Twilight, by Lexington, sire of the dam of Ansel, 2:20.

NOODAY is a dark seal brown, foaled 1884, 15 hands 1½ inches high. Individually he is equal to his royal breeding. He is all that can be desired in conformation, intelligence, color and trotting action, and no stallion now in public service can show a pedigree with such fast records and royal game trotting blood as Noonday.

DON MARVIN,

Record 2:28 as a five-year-old. Standard by Breeding and Performance

Standard No. 7927.

Don Marvin 2:28.

Don Marvin is a beautiful seal brown, foaled 1884, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford, Palo Alto, Cal., standing 15 hands, and weighs, in ordinary condition, 1200 lbs. He is a fine individual, good style and form, combined with great substance, and good temper. Is very level headed; in his first race the past season he only made one break in five closely contested heats. He has great speed and endurance, with the pure, rapid Electioneer gait. He trots without toe weights, and wears only 8 oz. shoes in front. He gained his record the past season in the third heat, on a slow track, after making a season (serving over 60 mares), with scarcely any preparation. His record is no mark of his speed. He was a natural born trotter, and Mr. Charles Marvin considered him the fastest two year old at Palo Alto that season.

By FALLIS, 2:23, - - by Electioneer, sire of
Sire of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Sunol, three-year-old, 2:10 1-2, Palo Alto, 2:12¼, and 47 others in 2:30 list.

Dam CORA, by Don Victor by Belmont, sire of
Dam of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Ventura, 2:27¼, and sire of the dam of Bell Echo, 2:20, and six others in 2.30 list.

2d dam CLARABEL, - by Abdallah Star,
Dam of Clifton Bell, 2:24 1-2, and grandam of Rexford, three years, 2:24. — Sire of Hattie Maples, 2:33.

3d dam FAIRY, - - by Rysdyk's Hambletonian,
Sister of Sweepstakes, sire of 16 in 2 30 list. — Sire of Electioneer, George Wilkes, and many other noted sires and trotters.

4th dam EMMA MILLS, by Seely's American Star,
Dam of 4 horses that have 2:30 performers. — The great broodmare sire of the world.

The above pedigree should show every intelligent breeder that Don Marvin is "high" bred though very strong in trotting blood. All the comment it is deemed necessary to make as to the value of "thoroughbred blood" in the trotter is simply to refer to the very significant fact that the first and second dams of Maud S., 2 08¾, Jay-Eye-See 2:10. Sunol, three years 2.10 1-2, Palo Alto 2:12¼, Anteeo 2:16¼, Nutwood 2.18¾, Wedgewood 2:19, and many other successful sires and sensational trotters of the day are thoroughbred.

TERMS—Don Marvin will make the ensuing season from February 1st to July 1st, 1890, at $40 the season, with the usual privilege of returning the mare next season if not proving in foal. Mares from a distance met at the cars or boats on notification, and carefully handled, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

Good alfalfa pasture furnished (free from barb wire fence) at $4 per month. For further particulars or complete circulars address

DESCRIPTION.

EROS is a rich seal brown stallion, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford at Palo Alto, and is the nearest living likeness of his celebrated sire, Electioneer. Stands 15.2 hands high, and weighs 1050 pounds

In breeding to Eros the owners of mares will strictly follow the great rule of breeding, viz, breed to a stallion by a producer and out of a sure producer of great speed. Eros is by the stallion that has produced more 2:30 trotters than any living horse, and is also the sire of more 2:20 performers than any horse living or dead.

EROS is out of the dam of Sally Benton, four years old, record 2:27¾, Sport 2:22¾, and Eros 2:29½ in the sixth heat, against a field of nine horses. He is from a family that is endowed with great natural speed, trot fast at an early age, train on through trotters from all classes of mares, are of good substance, bone, style and action, and breed solid colors.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with the privilege of return next season should mares not be in foal and horse and mare still remain in the same hands.

Good pasturage can be obtained at $5 per month, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes. There are a large number of box stalls, and animals can be kept up and fed on hay and grain at reasonable rates if required. Mares already in foal can be sent to the ranch for foaling, and will receive all the attention bestowed upon our own mares. Mares left with Mr. Peter Pomyea, Broadway Street Stable, Oakland, or with Mr. F. H. Burke, 401 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be forwarded to the ranch free of charge.

Second dam by Bright Eyes, son of Boanarages. Prompter (sire of Apex, record 2:26, and Transit, 2:26 1-2), by Wilson's Blue Bull, by Pruden's Blue Bull, son of Merring's Blue Bull. Promptor's dam Prairie Bird, by Flaxtail; second dam by John the Baptist, son of Tally Ho Morgan, by Sherman Morgan; third dam Fannie Fern by Irwin's Tuckaho.

Apex made his appearance in the circuit as a two-year-old, and obtained a record of 2:42. As a three-year-old he reduced this in a race at Santa Rosa against Stamboul to 2:31, it taking six heats to decide the contest, which was won by Apex. As a four year-old he gained his present record of 2:26.

Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire. Pasturage $2 per month. Every care exercised, but no liabilities for escapes or accidents. Mares not proving with foal can be returned next season, providing I still own this stallion.

The Standard Stallion

JUNIO,

RECORD 2:22.

WILL MAKE THE PRESENT SEASON OF 1890 AT FRESNO FAIR GROUNDS.

Season Commencing Feb. 1st and ending July 1st.

TERMS—$100 the season, due at time of service.

JUNIO is eight years old, a handsome dark bay 16 hands high, and weighs 1250 pounds. He is the personification of the light harness horse, and his trotting action is superb. At the State Fair of 1886 he took first premium over forty of the finest trotters in the State.

PEDIGREE.

Junio, by Electioneer, premier stallion of Palo Alto (sire of Sunol 2 10 1-2, Palto Alto 2:12 1-4, and 47 others in the 2 30 list,. Dam by Granger by imp. Hercules.

Granger, by imp. Hercules, dam Jenny Lind, by Stockbridge Chief, Jr., he by Stockbridge Chief, he by Vermont Black Hawk. Second dam by Kentucky Whip.

Imp. Hercules, by Kingston, first dam daughter of Tuscar, by Bay Middleton, second dam Malvina, by Oscar; 3rd dam Spotless by Walton; 4th dam by Trumpator (see Bruce's American Stud Book Vol. I, page 26). Hercules is the sire of the dam of Azmoor 2.20¼; also sire of dam of Menlo 2:21 1-2.

Mares not proving in foal may be returned next year free of charge, providing I still have the horse. Pastura e $3 per month. While every care will be taken of horses, no liability will be assumed for accidents or escapes.

THE IMPROVED NOYES ROAD - CART.

PATENTED JULY 17, 1883, AND JUNE 8, 1886.

Some of the Advantages of the Noyes Cart Over All Others.

There is no bar for the rider to climb over in getting in or out. The horse can be hitched eighteen inches nearer than any other road-cart made. You can get in or out with perfect safety—no danger of being thrown into the wheel—a great advantage in breaking colts. THE EASIEST CART FOR ROAD OR TRACK. The only cart that a horse can be speeded to within one second as fast as to a sulky. All our carts are made of the very best materials and are warranted. Manufactured by the NOYES CART COMPANY, Kalamazoo, Mich.

They are indorsed by the following horsemen, all of whom are using them. Ask their opinion of the Noyes Cart: John Splan, who drove Guy a full mile in 2:17¼ and Chanter a half-mile in 1:10½ to a Noyes Cart, says he would not take $250 for it if he could not get another; W. Splint, Ring & Sidebone, Spavin ALL Bone Enlargements. Cures Shins, &c. Richard Cole TRADE MARK

OSSIDINE

Results obtained at the well-known KALAMAZOO FARM.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used.

Very respectfully yours,

S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),

Hollywood Farm.

The old race track is situated about three miles from Vallejo on the Napa railroad, and being one of the few railroads in the State which were open last week, a representative of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN was carefully put down within four hundred yards of the track, which, with an additional six hundred acres of land, was purchased by B. C. Holly four years ago. Mr. Holly or By Holly, as he is generally known, is one of the most noted trotting and men in America, equally facile and adept at either game, holding the reins over a trotter or training a runner.

Starting out years ago (born in 43) as a small light weight boy in a racing stable, by perseverance and careful attention to business, combined with a still tongue and a level head, the astute Easterner has, besides acquiring a little of this world's gear, proved himself on either a running or trotting track able to hold his own with the best in the country. He drove his first race in 1859 at Kalamazoo, Michigan. On the day Flora Temple trotted in 2:19¾, Holly drove a horse in the four-year-old class, and among his opponents was our late visitor, Luke DuBois, and since then his reputation has increased, so that now no man can say he is his superior in judgment and cool quiet style or in conditioning a horse. Mr. Holly's ranch includes about 700 acres of good land well inclosed and split up into suitable paddocks, while the race track, which is a ver ygood one, is of a good width, so that the outside may be used for runners.

There are a hundred box-stalls, and a covered oblong drive about a furlong will be in full use before next season; at present only about half of it is under cover.

Last year Mr. Holly sold Woodnut, 2:16½, for $20,000, a sale he has probably regretted ever since, although his place is worthily filled by one of the highest bred horses money could procure, viz., the brown stallion Mountain Boy, 4841, bred by Charles Backman, Orange County, New York, foaled 1882, sire Kentucky Prince, dam Elise, by Messenger Duroc; grandam Green Mountain Maid by Harry Clay 45, 3rd dam Shanghai Mary.

Mountain Boy has no record, owing to bad usage, as a youngster, but he can show an exceptional turn of speed, quarters in 35, being easily negotiated by him. His speed lines are so well known that it is almost superfluous to explain that Elise is a sister to Elaine, 2:20, Prospero, 2:20, and four others in the 2:30 list, while she is more than half sister to Electioneer. Kentucky Prince is the sire of Guy, 2:10¾, and a host of others. Election, a bay son of Electioneer, was the next horse to face us, and a handsomer high class trotter has never been seen; from his beautifully shaped head and neck and good back, down to the ground no fault can be found with him unless it were that he shows almost too much quality, evidently brought about in part through Arnold Harris, the sire of his great grandam. Election was purchased a fortnight ago from Mr. Crocker, who bought him at Palo Alto as a yearling. Election will make a season in the stud, and then be taken through the circuit. A good looking, short-legged, nicely topped bay, three year old, looking fit to compete in any company, was brought out for inspection, but his head gave him away at once, a true Sultan head, and Kafir, as the colt is called, carried it well, as his lineage would indicate. He is by Alcazar, 2:20½, dam Flower Girl by Arthurton, sire of Arab, 2:15; grandam Flora, double team record 2:33, by General McClellan 144, sire of three in the 2:30 list, great-grandam by Langford, he by Williamson's Belmont.

The next youngster was a beautifully turned chestnut, uncommonly like his renowned sire; he was Woodside, sire Woodnut, 2:16½, dam Veronica by Alcona 730, grandam Fontana by Almont 33, great-grandam Fannie Williams by Alexander's Abdallah 15.

Mr. Holly should in time forget his loss of Woodnut in his handsome son, for he moves in the same free, easy style, and is bound to trot fast. Mart Boorham is a useful looking bay son of Sydney, 2:19¾, first dam Towhead by Echo; he is a full brother to St. Nicholas, John Rowen's colt, who showed a mile in 2:27¼ at three years old.

The above mentioned will, with the exception of Woodside whose book is full, take a few outside mares at a figure which places them within reach of anyone. Mr. Holly also has Reveille the sire of Tycoon and Gladstone—the fast sprinter taken east by Albert Cooper. Reveille is a big powerful gray and evidently is a good producer, his stud fee is like the rest of Mr. Holly's horses low enough to suit anyone.

There were three foals on the ranch, the oldest being the bay colt Premature, who came on the 28th of December. He is by Woodnut, dam Mollie McCarthy by Eugene Casserly; his mother unfortunately died, but strange to say, a workmare who had a three months old colt, took him quite naturally, and he is thriving well, except a wound caused by running into a fork.

The second colt is a fortnight old, by Woodnut, out of Alice by Admiral, grandam by John Nelson. He is a fine slashing chestnut, with plenty of quality, good, big knees and hocks, and very stylish.

Economy, 2:30, by Echo, dam by Muldoon, has a very neat taking filly, only two days old, when she was seen, but as active and sprightly as a kitten. She is entered in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN Futurity Stakes, and her owner says, has a mortgage on it.

San Diego, Allorita and J. R. were all on view looking particularly well. As soon as the weather clears up they will go to their Eastern home. Pink, 2:25, has wintered very well, and will be put in trim for next season. Senator, 2:22, was under saddle, leading colts as handily as could be, single-footing in nice, easy style, looking himself as sound and fresh as a two-year-old. A black two year-old stallion by Alcona, out of Pansy by Cassius M. Clay Jr., was jogged on the road; he has a smooth way of going.

Mr. Holly also has two horses, the property of D. D. Streeter, Esq., President Denver Driving Club. One is a useful-looking gelding, and the other a rattling-bred three-year-old stallion by Sentinel, dam by Startle, grandam Flora Temple, 2:19¾. Mr. Streeter sent them to get the benefit of a California winter. Flora G., 2:29½, a trim-looking brown mare by Altoona 8850, dam Susie by Patchen (Conway's) was recently purchased by Mr. Holly, who will campaign her this season, and probably breed her later on.

A whole host of yearlings were looked over, the most taking-looking being Hollywood 11778, by Woodnut, 2:16½, dam Aurelia by Albert W., 2:20, grandam Pacific Maid by Elmo, next dam by David Hill, out of a General Taylor mare, whose dam was by Williamson's Belmont. The colt is worthy of his illustrious lineage, a brilliant bay, with splendid head and neck, grand shoulders and good back, with good muscular thighs, big, clean hocks and knees, good feet, and a grand, free, easy, natural trotting action. No wonder his owner refused a few months ago to be tempted, although offered $2,800 for him. Extravagant is a neatly turned daughter of Woodnut and Economy, 2:30. Extravagant already has almost a record, for Economy obtained her mark, 2:30, at Santa Rosa six months before the filly was foaled. She is entered in the Occident Stake of 1892, and should render a good account of herself, for she has her sire's resolute, frictionless style of going. Several other Woodnuts were looked over, all of whom showed so much quality and style, that we could understand how sorry Mr. Holly feels for parting with the horse.

A whole host of rattling-bred, good-looking broodmares were looked over, the first being a strong, neat, grey mare, Jennie H. (sister to El Monte, 2:29), by Echo 462, dam Lightfoot by Hubbard, grandam Brunette by Rifleman, out o Fannie Frazier by Bertrand. She was bred to Mountain Boy last season, and will be bred back to him. Lisette, a good-looking daughter of Abdallah Wilkes 7562, and Musette, by Startle, was bred to Mountain Boy.

Annie Almont is a black mare by Tilton Almont out of Madam Nelson by John Nelson. Violette (in foal to Happy Prince) a grey mare 6 years old by George M. Patchen Jr., out of Viola by Echo grand dam by Woodbine. Clara Belle (in foal to Happy Prince) is by Alaska out of the Dooley filly by Muldoon, grand dam by McCracken's Black Hawk, great grand dam the Hedge mare.

Hattie W 7 years old by Alaska out of Sallie Coward by Mayboy grand dam Young Molly by Lodi; is in foal to Happy Prince.

Phyllis by imp Admirable, out of Daphne by Whipple's Hambletonian out of Phœbe Carey by Chieftain, next dam by Jim Crow. Phyllis had a filly last year by Woodnut which was sold for $1,000. She is in foal this year to Mambrino Eclipse. Economy 2:30 by Echo 462, out of Lady Berkey by Muldoon, grandam by St. Clair. She obtained her record at Santa Rosa, two years ago, in the fourth heat when heavy in foal. She has shown several miles better than 2:25, and is as sound as a bell; her produce have already been mentioned. Aurelia or 'the twin filly' was one of the twins by Albert W., out of Pacific Maid. She showed tremendous pace in Goldsmith's hands, but was not driven for a record, and evidently will produce well for her yearling has been mentioned as the best looking yearling on the ranch. She is in foal to Happy Prince.

A bay mare by Victor, dam by Echo, is in foal to Redwood 2:24½. Belle by Gus 2:26¾, dam by Mambrino Eclipse, is in foal to Kafir. A good looking mare by Bedouin, dam by Milton Medium was purchased from H. S. Hogoboom. Lou Medium, the dam of Redwood 2:24½ by Milton Medium was bred to Mountain Boy by the owners and will probably be bred back. She looked wonderfully well. A whole host of other well bred mares were seen and then some of the thoroughbred brood mares were looked over, the first being Ninena, who is heavy in foal to Sid. The daughter of Jim Brown and Nanny Hubbard by Hubbard was a good race mare in her day, winning five races as a two-year-old in 1886 and nine in 1887, and although rather lightish built should make a good brood mare with the right cross. A useful looking four-year-old chestnut mare is by Milner out of Mollie Ward by imp Intruder out of Kate Ward by Lexington. She was bred late last season to Kafir. Another four-year old chestnut mare (in foal to Tyrant) was by Joe Daniels out of Amanda L. by Shannon out of Eva Ashton by Ashland; Fusillades Last was heavy in foal to Sid.

She was a fine race mare, winning six races at two and three years old, and is exceptionally well bred, being by John W. Norton (a Bonnie Scotland) out of Fusillade, by War Dance, her dam by Planet. Old Fusillade was Mr. Holly's favorite mare, winning over $7,000 in races for him, and eventually, when well in the lead, broke her leg. Mr. Holly had her put in slings, and she recovered. He got two foals from her, but when Fusillade's Last was at her side the mother was struck by lightning, and the pet was raised on the bottle. Irish Lass, by Kyrle Daly out of Daisy Miller by Revolver, won seven races as a two year old in 1884, and seven as a three year old in 1885. She was covered the day Woodnut left for his Eastern home, and was due to foal last Sunday. Why Not, by Three Cheers, out of Nellie Collier, a sister to the well known racehorse, Fred Collier, is a three year old filly purchased by Mr. Holly from Mr. Hogoboom, who bought her of her breeder, Mr Winters. She, despite having a hip down, won several good races, and should prove an acquisition to the stud.

As the day was rapidly waning, we wended our way to the railroad and were soon back in the city after, despite the weather, a very pleasant visit to one of the handiest and best breeding farms of the State.

A Race Track for San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb, 5, 1890.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—DEAR SIR:—Knowing the importance to the racing interests of California that a good and convenient race track should be established in the immediate vicinity of San Francisco, I have ventured to send you my views upon the subject. First of all, it should be understood without the shadow of a doubt, that such a track must be upon this side of the Bay. This is demonstrated by the fact that when the Blood Horse Association held its meeting at Oakland, the takings of the gate were far below the expenses, while the meetings of the same association at the Bay District track have for several years past paid fairly. The growth of the suburb of Richmond will soon absorb the Bay District Track, and even if it did not, the nature of the track causes it to be almost useless for winter work. It has long been the boast of Californians that their State is the best in the Union in which to winter race horses, whether runners or trotters, because good exercising and training can be had with but little interruption during the winter months. For these reasons a site should be chosen for a track where the nature of the soil, facilities for drainage, etc , insure the quick drying of the earth. Under these circumstances I venture to think that there is no spot so well adapted for a race track in this city and county as the site of the old Ocean House track. It has manifold advantages, as the climate is always mild; there is little wind and fog, and the soil is a light, sandy loam, easily drained, and can be kept in fine condition at slight expense. The space formerly occupied by the old track is now surrounded by trees, some forty feet high, making a great change in the climate for the better. The old track has been rendered historical by the great races held on it in early days, notably the contest between Norfolk and Lodi, and the great four mile and repeat race won by Thad Stevens. Its superior facilities for winter work can be easily proved by reference to many old drivers and trainers, among whom may be named Hickok, Da Poyster, Albert Cooper, Henry Welch, and many others. The old track is already graded, and by carting a little sand on one quarter, could be easily put in order, so that if this plan is adopted it will save great expense, as the work required to level the old track would be very inconsiderable as compared with the work of grading, top dressing, draining, etc., a new piece of ground.

The most serious question in regard to the choice of the old Ocean House track for the new track is the means of getting there. At present the track can be reached by five roads, viz., by Golden Gate Park to Ocean House road; Golden Gate Park via Almshouse road to Ocean House road; Mission road and by Industrial School to Ocean House road; by Market St. Extension and 17th Street to Ocean House road and by the Golden Gate Park and along the beach to Ocean House road. It may, and no doubt will be said, that while the means of reaching the track mentioned above would prove sufficient for those who own or can afford to hire buggies, visiting the track would necessite a delightful drive; it would not meet with those who depend upon the street cars to reach the race track. While there is some truth in this objection, it may be argued that the formation of a new track is not so much for the present as for the future. At present visitors can easily, and at a small expense, be carried to and from the track from the Industrial School station, and in a very few years the means of reaching the track will be as numerous, convenient and cheap as now enjoyed by the Bay District.

The Great Highway, as the grand boulevard along the Ocean Beach from the Cliff House to the county line is called, must be constructed soon. The improvements going on south of the park and the demands of the public require this.

To that splendid section of the city lying south of the park, this highway is necessary as a bulkhead to prevent the sea sand drifting inland, and the property owners in this locality are now clamoring to have it built. The Park Commissioners are also in favor of it, and all that is wanted is a proper appropriation for the purpose which should be granted at the next session of the Legislature. Once let the Great Highway be built, and it will become the favorite holiday resort of all classes. The present Haight St. R. R. will be insufficient to meet the wants of the public, and other roads will be built south of the park. If 16th Street is not graded through, 17th Street will be, and sooner or later a road will run direct from the Miss on to park and ocean.

The building of the Great Highway and a railroad down I or J Street would wonderfully improve communications with the track, but what would most benefit it would be the extension of Market Street, which would meet the track itself. The fact that the grade of the street between Valencia and Castro Streets is about to be equalized and the old reservoir hill removed are signs that Market street is to be carried further West, and the matter is now receiving considerable attention. It has not yet been decided whether the street shall run over the Twin Peaks or round them, but that Market Street will one day be continued to the ocean there can be no doubt. The racing interests of this State are increasing year by year, and would be fostered by the construction of a good track near this city. Once let the track be built and races of sufficient interest arranged, and there will be found no difficulty in making the track; the demand for transportation facilities are sure to produce them.

Therefore, Mr. Editor, taking into consideration climate, soil and location, I honestly believe that the best place for the new track is upon the same ground as where Thad Stevens and Norfolk obtained their great victories.

There are other places in the same neighborhood admirably suited for a race track. The Spring Valley Water Company own land upon the peninsula between the two lakes which would do well for this purpose. This land is close to the Ocean House road, and also to the proposed continuation of that road to Ocean View and Colma, which will make a saving of three miles. The land in question would be surrounded by water on three sides. All that would be required would be to fence it where it joins the land, and to plant trees round it. The soil is the same as on the old track.

Another location, owned by Adolph Sutro must be mentioned It is a beautiful spot, sheltered by hills, covered by trees, and only half a mile from the San Jose railroad. A switch line from Industrial School station running westerly, would reach the track in this distance and at little expense. Mr. Sutro has done so much to beautify and improve this neighborhood by planting trees, etc , that there is little doubt that he would do all in his power to facilitate the building of a race track. The soil is the same as at the other places described, and a race track here would be sure to be popular with horse-owners and trainers. It should be mentioned that there is splendid winter grazing all through this neighborhood, which would add to the attractions of a race track.

I have written to you at length upon this subject, because I have noticed that all the newspaper articles published on the subject, ignore the neighborhood above described for the purposes of a speed track. Such articles invariably hint at locating such a track either across the bay or in San Mateo County. I consider the distance of all such locations too far from this city for race-meetings to pay, and as before stated, San Franciscans will not cross the bay to witness races. Any point upon the Ocean House road would be sure to be popular with owners of horses, who are the main supporters of racing, and livery-stable keepers would be greatly benefitted thereby. Altogether, I believe the above described places to be the best suited for a race track of any situated within an easy distance of the city, and in this matter I have no doubt that E. J. Baldwin, Budd Doble, Orrin Hickok, and all the principal owners and trainers will agree with me. C. S.

Blood Horse Programme.

At a meeting of the programme committee of the Blood Horse Association which met last Tuesday, the following programme was arranged for the four days' racing which they have announced to commence April 12th:—

FIRST DAY—SATURDAY, APRIL 12TH.

No, 13—The Sequel Stakes for all ages; $25 each, half forfeit; $5 if declared out, with $500 added, second horse to receive $75, third to save stakes. Weights announced Wednesday, April 16th, at 10 o'clock A. M. Declarations at 5 P. M. the same day. One mile and three-eighths.

FOURTH DAY—SATURDAY, APRIL 19th.

No. 14—Purse $350, of which $50 to the second horse. A handicap for two year olds. Entrance fee for starters: declaration $5, to go to the racing fund. Weights announced Friday, April 18th, at ten o'clock A. M. Declarations due at five P. M. same day. Eleven-sixteenths of a mile.

No. 15—Selling Purse $350, of which $50 to the second. For all ages. Horses entered to be sold for $100 to carry rule weights; 3 lbs. allowed for each $100 less. Three fourths of a mile.

No. 16—Purse $400, of which $50 to second; $25 to third. For three year olds and upwards. Winners of any race at this distance or more at this meeting when carrying weights for age or more, to carry 5 lbs. extra; of two such races, 8 lbs. Horses beaten at this distance once allowed 3 lbs.; twice, 5 lbs. One mile.

No. 17—Purse $350, of which $50 to second horse. An owners' handicap for horses that have started and not won at this meeting. Weights to be given through the entry box at five o'clock P. M. the day before the race. Ten pounds over weight allowed; winners excused without penalty. One and one-sixteenth miles.

No. 18—The Ocean Handicap; a sweepstake; for all ages; $20 entrance; $10 forfeit, $5 if declared; with $600 added, of which $75 to the second, third to save stake. Weights announced Thursday, April 17th, at six o'clock P M. Declaration due Friday, April 18th, at five o'clock P. M. One mile and five-eighths.

Lynwood.

Among the many horses standing for public service in Stockton and the immediate vicinity, there is none of which we have heard so much in the last few weeks as Lynwood; the bay stallion has several times shown that he could readily obtain a record low down in the twenties, and his breeding is superexcellent. Sire Nutwood 2:18¾, sire of Woodnut 2:16½, Dawn 2:18¾, Belmont Boy (pacer) 2:15, and thirty others in the 2:30 list; dam Hattie Morrison, a well known road mare, who trotted in 2:36½, by Ethan Allen Jr. (a son of old Ethan Allen and a Hambletonian two-year-old mare), out of the Grigsby mare, through whom he gets a thoroughbred cross. Lynwood's colts all take after their sire, being racey, game, trotting looking youngsters. One of them, Lynnette, won a two year old race at Sacramento in easy style, and was so good later on in the season that Worth Ober said she could easily trot in 2:30, if necessary. Another of his colts is in Oakland, the property of Judge Greene. The colt was seen last Sunday, and if only Lynwood gets all his colts like the Judge's, his fame will last, as the bay colt is as neatly turned, and shapely looking as any one's, and has a real trotting look all over. Lynwood will make the coming season at Stockton at the low price of $50.

Cattle are prevented from taking Epizooty, Pink-eye, etc., by using Darbys Fluid.

Norfolk.

BY GRIM.

There is a certain amount of fascination to all lovers of the sports of the turf, in reading anything that appertains to the old celebrities who have achieved honor on the track, and certainly, to residents of California, the name of Norfolk will be ever green, and reminiscences about the great unbeaten horse are always in order, and it is a source of satisfaction to me to add another good word for the horse that has tended so much to bring the merits of California as a breeding State before the world at large. His progeny have been of the best, and the fame of El Rio Rey is only compassed by the bounds of the earth. Yet even with the wonderful career of the great two-year-old so vividly before us, we are promised a still greater wonder in his younger brother, who has shown already some really marvelous performances. It is only a few days ago that I happened to cross the bay, and on the boat met Dick Havey, who came out to California with the unbeaten Norfolk shortly after his purchase by Mr. Winters. As we were both going in the same direction, a great deal of the time was spent in discussing old racing stories, and it was only natural that Norfolk and his career should occupy most of our conversation. Dick recalled the day when Norfolk started at the Abbey racecourse, the day when he stamped himself as the superior of any racehorse in the country, winning in a common gallop from such a grand thoroughbred as Tipperary, in addition to a large field of horses. Notwithstanding he ran away before the race and completed a full mile in 1:47, he was brought back and the judges allowed the trainer five minutes to prepare him for the start. When the word was given he cut out the work and again the mile was compassed, in 1:46, Norfolk winning as he pleased. After the race Mr. Winters looked him carefully over, as did also Jim Eoff, who was with the party.

As will be remembered, there was a spirit of rivalry existing between C. H. Bryan and Theodore Winters. The former owned Lodi, and he had beaten a favorite mare of Mr. Winters, and the latter determined to go back East and buy the best horse that money could procure, for he wanted to get even with Mr. Bryan for past losses. It was with this object in view that caused him to visit St. Louis, and as before stated, he examined Norfolk thoroughly when the race was over. Mr. Alexander was asked what he would take for the colt and he answered $15,000. Mr. Winters agreed to take him, and the gentleman were to meet next morning and complete the sale. When the buyer and seller met next day Mr. Alexander told Mr. Winters that he could not have the horse, and gave as his reason the wager he had made that he would sell a colt by Lexington for more money than he paid for the old horse. Mr. Winters then asked what would purchase Norfolk. Mr. Alexander answered, "I will have to raise you a dollar." Eoff began laughing, and said he would pay the extra dollar, whereupon the money was paid and the great horse changed owners. He was entered in several races in the North, among others the first Derby ever instituted in this country. The race was to take place at Paterson, N. J., but as Mr. Winters had business in Washington the horse was sent to New Jersey under the guidance of Mr. Eoff. John Morrissey was then a prominent feature of the turf, and it was not long before he and Eoff met, and discussed the probability of Norfolk winning. The outcome of the interview was that Eoff bet the noted gambler $1,000 that Norfolk would not start in the Derby. He also wagered him $3,000 that if Norfolk started the colt would win. Before the race the two men again met and many more thousands were bet. There were thirteen starters in the race, and it is now historical with what ease the son of Lexington and Novice won. Morrissey's losses made him very much annoyed, and he manipulated things so that Norfolk and Eoff were ruled off prior to the second day's racing, in which Norfolk was entered in a two mile and a quarter dash. As it is reasonable to suppose, Eoff was "mad all over." He knew perfectly well whose hand had managed one of the greatest wrongs ever perpetrated on a race track. It was a diabolical outrage and was so characterized by all lovers of fair play. Norfolk could not possibly have lost, but it did not suit the schemers to allow him to start. Morrissey and Eoff met, the former trying to induce the latter to match Norfolk, but the interview only resulted in talk and nothing came of it.

On July 13th Norfolk was shipped, there being on the same vessel Messrs. Winters, Eoff, Pickett, Barker, Marsh and Havey, he having been engaged to come to California immediately on the conclusion of the Derby, he having rode one of the horses in that race. The voyage was a very tempestuous one, and it was thought by many that they would never see land again. Thirty-one days were consumed on the trip, Norfolk landing in good shape. What he accomplished after his arrival in the State is too well known to need recapitulation here. Mr. Winters was amply repaid for his outlay, as he accomplished what he desired, viz , to beat Lodi.

A Desirable Colt.

In another column will be found an advertisement of an Antevolo colt for sale. It will well repay any person in search of a colt to look at Rex Volo. In appearance and disposition, he is all that the most fastidious could desire, in fact, a more gentle colt is but seldom seen. His dam Catchup, by Rustic, is a very speedy road mare, and her owner says can now show better than a forty gait in the park. She won the Petaluma Yearling Colt Stakes, but meeting with an accident when two years old, was thrown out of training. Everything considered, the price asked for Rex Volo is low. He can be seen any time at the corner of 24th and Castro Streets, opposite the car house.

California Nutwood.

The Nutwood Stock Farm is beautifully situated one mile from Irvington, with plenty of good, moderately-sized paddocks. The crack stallion on the ranch, California Nutwood, is one anyone would be proud to own. He is a dark chestnut, 16½ hands high, weighs (when in condition) 1250 lbs.; his action, like his appearance, is a counterpart of his sire's free, easy, frictionless movement, and when handled for speed, there is no doubt he will add even more lustre to his worthy father. Nutwood, 2:18¾, is the sire of Woodnut, 2:16½ (money cannot buy him now), and 27 other trotters in the 2:30 list, also of Belmont Boy, 2:15, and four other pacers. California Nutwood is out of Fanny Patchen by Geo. M. Patchen Jr., sire of Wells Fargo, 2:18¾, and a host of other well known performers, and is great grandsire of Yolo Maid, the invincible pacer. California Nutwood will stand at the extremely low figure of $40, and should be invaluable among some of our well-bred mares, having through Nutwood and Patchen some almost improvable strains of blood, viz., Belmont on Clay, which should be stout, hard and fast.

Grim's Gossip.

Ed. Bither will work this season at the Allen Stock Farm.

The well-known stallion Bay Rose 2:20½ is at the Oakland rack.

Dolly McMann and her daughter, Lillie Stanley, 2:17¼, will both visit the harem of Director, 2;17, this season.

Mr. B. Allison of Oakland, is the proud possessor of a fine young horse named Abdol. He has splendid action and can show a very fast clip even now.

John Rowen is jogging St. Nicholas preparatory to getting him ready for a heavy stud season. This son of Sidney is very popular, and mares are being booked to him at a lively rate.

James A. Dustin has decided to forego his Eastern trip for the present and will now stay here until next fall. His Dexter Prince youngster gives indication of being as fast as J. R.

Dr. Carpenter was called by telegraph to attend "Alta" which is at R. P. Ashe's Merced Stock Farm. The notod stallion had a severe attack of colic, but has now recovered.

David Bonner, than whom there is no better judge of trotters, says that Guy Wilkes reminds him more of old Hambletonian over the back and loins than any horse he has seen in a long time.

Redwood 2:24½, has arrived at the Oakland Track from Petaluma, and is greatly admired by the visitors. He will stand during the season over there, and already a number of mares are booked to him.

Maj. Dubois is happy as all his horses are in fine condition. He blistered the coronets of all four of Superior's feet, and now they are much improved. The stable will remain some time before they go back to Denver.

In a note from Mr. Kemper of Oakland, he informs me that B. C. Holly has offered $500, for the Alice B. colt by Woodnut. He is a handsome chestnut and full of promise. The mare will be bred this year to Election.

Billy Johnson, who drove Longworth 2:19, and Ringwood last season, is now training a thoroughbred which A. C. Dietz bought at one of Killip & Co.'s auction sales at Sacramento last fall. It is reported that he is showing up well.

To show the dimensions to which the trotting interests of California has grown, it is only necessary to say that 109 second payments were made from this state alone, to the N. Y. Spirit of the Times Purse. Verily California is in the van.

John Woods, who formerly assisted J. A. Dustin, has accepted a situation with Capt. Drake of Vallejo, and will handle the horses at the home of Admiral. He is a careful, conscientious man, and should do well with those placed under his charge.

John F. English of 313 Davis street, this city, has purchased from Henry Voorman a yearling filly by Harris's Tempest, dam Kitty Dubois. The filly is entered in the Occident Stake, and will also be in the Stanford. She is a beautiful brown and can trot a streak.

About a week from to-morrow there will be a race at the Oakland track between Chas. Nathan's trotter, Encinal, Wm. Schulte's grey pacer and Mr. Lapin's grey pacer. Some little interest is manifested in the three cornered contest, as all of the horses have many personal admirers.

Killip & Co. announced this week that they will sell on March 1st, 1890, for account of Capt. Ben E. Harris, twenty-five superior roadsters and saddle horses of all gaits. Catalogues can be had on application at the office 22 Montgomery St.

Several leading Australian bookmakers talk of coming to New York to ply their trade, feeling convinced that Australia has seen its best day. Joe and Barney Thompson have concluded to stay in England bookmaking, and if business is not renumerative they will then lay siege to New York.

From a carefully prepared table in an Eastern contemporary, it is shown that Yolo Maid paced a faster quarter than any other of the noted sidewheelers who heard the bell ring during the season of 1889. Her time is 30 seconds, while Gold Leaf and Johnston are each accredited with 31 seconds.

R. H. Newton writes me from Woodland that his fast young pacer Tom Ryder 2:20½ has wintered well, and that his lameness has entirely disappeared. Good reports also come from Belle Button and John H., and it is extremely likely that those of the lateral motion will be in high feather this year.

Mr. Irwin Ayres had fully expected to send back East several of his well bred Mambrino Wilkes representives, but as two of them were taken ill, the owner of San Miguel Stock Farm decided to cancel the entries to the sale and await for some other favorable opportunity to dispose of first-class stock at auction prices.

A would be sporting paper published in this city had the following last week: "The thoroughbred stallion Apache, gave a telling exhibition at Haggin's farm this week. Taking in consideration the state of the track, the time 2:15 for a mile is wonderful. Lorillard will undoubtedly be pleased to hear of this performance as the stallion was bred by him."

Dr. Thomas Bowhill, formerly veterinary editor of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, has delayed his visit to Europe for a couple of weeks so that he might accompany the large consignment of trotters to be sent East by J. B. Haggin, Esq. The doctor had established a fine practice in this State, and his many clients will be sorry to lose the services of such a good "vet."

Lenmar, the property of A. T. Hatch, has been taken to the Oakland track, where he will be prepared for the coming campaign. He is a good colt, and should make a low mark this year. Guide 2:29 is also reported as being in fine fettle. He will stand during the season for a few approved mares at Pleasanton. If there is anything in signs Guide will be another Director to enter the "twenty list" in 1890.

The effect of the severe weather can plainly be seen at the Oakland track, the two bridges having been carried away by the storms. The loss is considerable, but Mr. Hinchman will have them put in proper order at once, so that there will be no interference with the horses in training. The Bay District track is in much better condition than could be expected under the circumstances, and the harrow was put on, a week ago yesterday.

Cupid, a full brother to Adonis 2:14 will stand at the Oakland Track during the present stallion season. The terms are only $50, and it will be marvelous if his book does not fill rapidly. Unlike his brother, he is a natural trotter and as a two year old showed quarters in 36 seconds. He was not worked last year, but will be at the conclusion of the present season.

The Oakland Driving Club consists of some forty members all of them enthusiastic horsemen, and owners of horses. As soon as the track at the Park is repaired the members propose to give several matinees open only to those who belong to the club, and for which valuable prizes will be given to the winners. In the course of a few days a meeting will be held to elect permanent officers at which time a programme will be arranged for racing days.

The trotting stallion Bonanza has been domiciled at the Oakland track and is receiving gentle exercise every day. As yet his record is only 2:29½, but I have seen him go many a better mile, and the probabilities are strong that he will materially lower that mark this year. The son of Arthurton and sister (dam of Albert W. 2:20) never looked better in his life, and there are many who will feel pleased for his owner's sake if he touches 2:20 this season.

Brasfield & Co. of Lexington, Ky., have forwarded to this office a list of the animals which will be sold by them at their great sale commencing next Monday. There is not a celebrated sire in the country but what is represented in the catalogue. The list is a very extensive one, and animals have been entered from half the States in the union. If there are any of my readers who care about telegraphing a commission back to buy any of those offered for sale, the catalogue is at their service.

Baltimore reports are to the effect that Professor Ward has at his infirmary a horse with a clearly defined case of la grippe. The symptoms of la grippe in a horse are similar to those of human beings who have it, beginning with sneezing. Then a high fever sets in, which is the forerunner of pneumonia, and which sometimes ends fatally. During the epidemic of influenza which swept over Europe in 1729 and 1730 horses were attacked with a disease having all the symptoms of the human influenza.

La Grippe has played sad havoc with many of the horsemen. J. L. Hinds has been confined to his residence for several weeks, and Jimmy Hamilton has been exercising the Irving Ayres string during Mr. Hinds' absence. L. M. Smith who has charge of the Du Bois Bros.' stable, has also been confined to his bed for two weeks, but is able to be up and around once more. Mr. Valensin put in an appearance for the first time in ten days during the early part of the week.

I had the pleasure of taking a look at P. J. Williams' beautiful bay colt Silver Bow a few days ago, and he is worth a visit from any one. Perfect in every point, he is a grand individual, and is justly entitled to all the praise showered on him by the owner. Mr. Williams intends to take the colt through the Montana Circuit, after which he will be brought back to Stockton and participate in all the meetings which take place after that. Silver Bow will serve fifteen mares at the Oakland track before he is prepared for the campaign. The pedigree of Silver Bow can be found on another page.

It is very rarely that a race track fully equipped is advertised for sale, but in this issue the Directors of the Sonoma County Agricultural Park Association offer for sale their one mile track and grounds, consisting of eighty four acres There are 300 box and cattle stalls, a two story pavilion 60 by 120, commodious grand stand and many out buildings. There is a lovely park of fifteen acres, a good wind break, and an abundance of water. Sealed bids will be received for the same up to February 17th 1890. The purchaser can be put in immediate possession.

The Los Angeles Herald last Sunday published a turf article in which the Santa Anita policy in breeding is severlly criticized. Here is an extract: "The prevailing idea is that Mr. Baldwin made a great mistake in not leaving this famous colt and Volante at the East, where they could stand for larger figures than in California, and fill the Santa Anita stud with an importation either from England or Australia. The latter horses are preferable, as having better bones, generally speaking, besides which they are matured in a dry climate and not addicted to "roaring." Mr. Haggin has already led the way by importing one stallion from Australia and another from New Zealand, and the fact that out of six Sir Modred colts tried last year four proved to be stake-winners, should have set the millionaire of Santa Anita to studying which foreign cross would be most desirable to succeed the once famous Grinstead, now slowly waning into senility, with Rutherford a downright failure."

I saw the original telegram sent by Ed. Bither to Mr. Valensin in which the former accepted the terms offered by the latter and it also stated that the contract had been forwarded. Evidently Mr. Bither is of a changeable mind for he has sent a second telegram to the Valensin Stock Farm in which he abrogates his previous acceptance and now states that he cannot come. Mr. Valensin is much put out and he has decided to send several horses to the New York sale that would have been kept here for trotting purposes on the next circuit. Kellogg & Co. have been telegraphed to and in addition to the horses already catalogued, there will also be sent, Fleet 2:24; full sister to Longworth 2:19, which was expected to beat 2:20 this year; Habibi, two year old has shown quarters in 36 seconds. The stable will not have any horses in training this season, and the colts engagements will all be canceled. The consignment will start on the 18th of this month and will be sold at public auction on March 7th at the American Institute building, New York City.

There has been a meeting of delegates from all of the Montana Associations with the exception of Helena, which was not represented. According to the programme laid out at the meeting the season will begin in July at Missoula, where the meeting will last six days. Another six-day meeting will immediately follow at Deer Lodge. Next in order comes Anaconda with a ten days meeting, beginning on July 30. Last will be the Butte meeting, which will also continue for ten days beginning August 14.

The purses will aggregate $56,00 or more. The sum of $15,000 will be given in Anaconda and a like sum in Butte The totals in Missoula and Deer Lodge are not quite so large, as the meetings there are not quite so long. The programme for each place will be prepared and announced in due time. The season chosen for the circuit will come in between the meetings of the Salt Lake and Salem associations, and there is every indication of very numerous and very important entries. Encouraged by past successes, a grand season is anticipated the coming summer.

On the first of the present month, entries closed to the two handicaps which are given below for the Sacramento Spring meeting and the showing is a good one.

The Chris. Green Handicap—A sweepstakes for all ages, of $50 each, h f or $10 if declared; with $500 added; second horse to receive $100 out of stakes. Weights announced March 1st. Declarations due by 6 P. M. April 1st. A winner of any race after publication of weights of one mile or upwards, to carry 3 pounds: of two races, 5 pounds; of three or more, 7 pounds. This will not apply to horses handicapped at 125 or over. One and one-quarter miles.

A jockey club has been inaugurated by the young men visiting Santa Barbara and is called the Arlington Jockey Club: The following are the officers: President, H. B. Duryea; Secretary and Treasurer, W. S Barnes; Board of Stewards: H. B. Duryea, Chairman ex-officio; W. S. Barnes, Secretary ex-officio, Bayard Thayer, C. E. Bigelow, P. H. Duryea, R. H. Kissel, C. S. Fay. Among their rules and regulations are the following, self explanatory: The object of the club shall be: 1. To encourage racing and sports in general in Santa Barbara. 2. To promote the racing of native bred horses to the exclusion of thoroughbreds. 3. To rent the track of the Santa Barbara Association for the purpose of leveling and carrying on races, tournaments and such other sporting events as may be desirable. 4. All blooded horses, except in special and in announced events, shall be barred from contesting in any races which may be held under the auspices of this club. 5. Any horse entering any race may be subjected to a handicap which shall be arbitrary and from which there can be no appeal. 6. The club reserves the right to reject any and all entries that may be made for any event held under its auspices. 7. The club will conduct its events subject to the rules of the Blood Horse Association of California; but in special cases reserves the right to make its own rulings, which shall be decisive and final. These meetings will be very popular in Santa Barbara, as the officers and members of the Arlington Jockey Club are prominent, fond of equine sports, and are anxious to amuse themselves as well as the public. The races should be well contested and the meetings should be patronized. They purpose to hold two meetings a week. Next Saturday will be their inaugural meeting. The track will be in good condition and the following programme will be run off: First event—The Commercial Stakes open to all cold blooded horses; distance, one quarter of a mile; purse $30, of which $25 to first horse and $5 to second. Entrance fees $2 50. Weight 165 pounds. Second event—Mexican Fancy riding. Sweepstakes of 50 cents each; $20 added, 80 per cent given to first, 20 per cent to second. Third event—The Thayer Stakes, open to all cold blooded horses; half mile heats, best two in three; sweepstakes of $3 each; $50 added by Bayard Thayer Esq. 70 per cent given to the first horse, 20 per cent to second, and 10 per cent to third. Weight 165 pounds. Overweight allowed. Winners of Commercial Stakes five pounds extra. The second event should prove a very interesting one, for there are many very fine riders here who have horses that are very well trained. What the Spanish riders can do on their well trained horses is almost incredible. They ride with grace and perform intricate maneuverings with ease and confidence. And some of the native bred horses have shown an ability to run well and carry the weight that will be alloted to them in the races. The officers of the jockey club are gentlemen of experience and judement. They realize the importance of fair play in all races and they will be always on the alert that all races should be conducted on the square. They have betrayed their acuteness and good judgment in their selection of a starter. S. P. Stow, Esq., of Santa Barbara, will be official starter for the season. Good starts are assured for Mr Stow's ability to start a lot of unprofessional jockeys can not be questioned.

To purify the air in stables, use the best disinfectant known—Darbys Fluid.

TURF AND TRACK.

Baylock will ride for the Beverwyck stable.

Allen will ride for Brown Dick again this season.

Palmer is engaged to ride for McMahon this season.

Freeman will ride for Dave Pulsifer in the coming season.

Alf Estill has been duly dubbed Capt. Estill by the Eastern press.

The New York Spirit seems to think Hanover's racing days are numbered.

Mr. August Belmont will have a new 24 stall stable erected at Westchester.

"Father Bill" Daly bought Lemon Blossom for $1,050 a fortnight ago.

Cruiser is said to be looking horse at New Orleans, and also in the best trim.

Proctor Knott is wintering well and will be in good order for an early start this season.

John Dickerson will have a select stable round the big circuit in the East this coming season.

J. H. Thomas has sold the three year old trotter Elite by Ambassador for $11,000 to Hipple & Co.

According to Col. Chester's compilation, 782 horses entered the 2:30 list of trotters and pacers.

George Noble, who won the City and Suburban in England in 1863 on Adventurer, the well-known Newminster horse, is at Richmond, Yorks, horse-breaking for a living.

Christopher Green, Esq., was unanimously re-elected President of the State Board of Agriculture last week.

It was rumored at Clifton last week that Garrison had signed to ride for the Dywer Stable next season.

Geneva and Elista, with respective records of 2:19¾ and 2:22¾, are being driven to pole at the Allen Farm.

The Buffalo Express says Mr. Hamlin wishes to trot Belle Hamlin against either Palo Alto or the peerless Sunol.

Isaac Murphy says he can ride at 112 pounds with 24 hours notice. He has not been so light for several seasons.

Secretary Brewster is on deck again, wonderfully pleased with the satisfactory list of entries at Washington Park.

Harry Hill will have a tavern and chop-house near the Westchester race track if he can procure suitable property.

The Chicago Stable (George Hankins, Eugene Leigh and Tom Kiley) will have thirty-five head of horses this season.

Directors La Rue and Hancock were reappointed Superintendents of the Sacramento Pavilion and Park respectively.

The best of F. B. Harper's two-year-olds is reported to be St. August by St. Blaise out of Secret; he is 15.2 and well developed.

A few weeks ago Lion started a pool room at Hot Springs, and has been so successful that probably there will be another in full swing.

The Matron Stakes at Westchester for 1892 closed with 979 nominations, the largest number ever made for any American stake.

Johnny Osborne, the well-known English rider, was 57 years old on the 7th of January, and the pusher is almost as good as ever.

The imported horse Earl Clifden 11, by Blair Athol out of Curiosity, is said to have worked a half mile at Clifton in 49½ seconds last week.

A well known horseman sent among his Washington Park entries three well bred trotters. Is he hoping to beat Gov. Stanford's theory?

The Hon. J. C. Sibley, of Prospect Hill Farm, left New York last week for California, on the lookout for invigorating climate and trotters.

William Angel, who was for a time with the Chicago stable, is now in charge of Charles Reed & Son's string of racers at the Westchester track.

The well known owner and trainer Byron McClelland was the last runner up for the Brook Farm in Kentucky purchased by Col. Pepper.

That excellent colt Gregory is reported to be in fine fettle just now, and will make some of the three-year-olds hustle to beat him this Summer.

Sallie Hagan, the four-year old filly who injured herself in her stall at New Orleans, is in a bad way. It is feared she will never wholly recover.

Jack Sheehan, the well-known tipster, applied for the position as starter at Clifton, but when Mr. Caldwell put in an appearance the wizard quit.

W. B. Cheatham's thoroughbred yearlings this year are all by Saxon and number nine colts and seven fillies. They will be sold at auction in Nashville.

Jockey French who was injured recently by a fall with Sunshine of the Excelsior Stable, has so far recovered that he will probably ride again next week.

Green B Morris has sold the sulky Barrister to Abe Carson of the Excelsior stable for $1,200 with the understanding that he has the first stake Barrister wins.

Thos. P. Raymond, Louisville, Ky., recently lost the gray mare Hiawasse (dam of Cuban Queen) by War Dance, dam Sallie Knight by imp Knight of St. George.

G. R. Bohannon & Co, Midway, Ky., have sold to Beard Bros., of Ohio, the bay horse Procrastinator foaled 1884, by Bulwark, dam Bessie Lee by Hunter's Lexington.

Field Bros, Lexington, Ky., have sold to J. B. Davis, agent for Jesse Armstrong, a bay filly two years old, by Harry O'Fallon, dam Fleta (Chandler's dam) by imp Hurrah.

It's about worn threadbare, but still good, viz: "blood will tell." Breed to a good stallion with a well authenticated pedigree, and it is also just as well to have a racing bred one too.

J. B. Perry of Lexington, Ky., has sold his roan yearling colt by St. Bel, full brother to Bell Boy, out of a Mambrino Gift mare, to Thomas Weiser of Bethlehem, Penn., for $1,500

Tudor, Jack Cocks, Leman, T. J. Rush, Clara Moore and other well known race horses, are wintering at Galveston, Texas, and are said to be enjoying the salt water baths.

Checkmate the celebrated old racehorse after doing menial service in an omnibus at Versailles, Ky., has been turned out on Capt. Franklin's farm for the rest he so well has earned.

Alec Waugh, son of the Newmarket trainer, has been appointed official starter to the Hungarian and Austrian Jockey Club, and will go to Vienna this month to take up his duties.

Col. R. S. Strader, of Lexington, Ky, has sold to James Cox, Liverpool, England, for $3500, the six year old bay stallion Belview, by Belmont dam Lady Simmons by Volunteer.

B. J. Tracy, Ashland Park, Lexington, Ky., has sold to J. B. Davis, agent for Jesse Armstrong, a black filly two years old by imp The Rake, dam imp Scrubbing Brush by Saunterer.

Tulare County is gradually going in more and more for racing, especially Porterville. They will probably have a day or two of racing in the latter part of February at Kelley's Track.

L U. Shippee of Stockton will send to the Peoria Fair Grounds, Illinois, two car loads of trotters, principally youngsters by Hawthorne 10,935. The sale takes place on the 7th of March.

George Barbee's two-year-old colt Eblis (Iroquois—Evandine), broke down in the off fore-leg a fortnight ago; he was well thought of, having worked 7 furlongs in 1:31 with 125 pounds up.

St. Blaise the very successful imported stallion belonging to the Hon. August Belmont will be used as a private stallion hereafter and will be kept at his Nursery Stud Farm in Kentucky.

Minnehaha, the famous brood mare was bought for $200, and has directly and indirectly returned her owner $100,000. Green Mountain Maid returned even a greater amount to Stony Ford.

Knap McCarthy has to look after one hundred and thirty-two thoroughbreds at Brookdale Farm, the breeding establishment of D. D. Withers. He reports his horses in training as looking in superb condition.

Provision has been made in Charles Backman's will that the plot of ground on which stands the monument erected to the memory of Green Mountain Maid shall always be kept for the purpose for which it is now used.

Baron Hirsch the well known millionaire banker and racing man was black balled by the Paris Jockey Club, several prominent members including one of the Rothschilds have threatened to resign in consequence.

A. A. Jackson has been elected as delegate to represent the Willows Agricultural Association at the Annual Congress of the National Trotting Association, to be held at Buffalo, New York, on the 12th of February next.

Waldo Olney owner and trainer of the horses running in the name of the Clifton Stable, was married last week at Kreyer's Hotel on the King's Highway, Coney Island, to Adeline the oldest daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Kreyer.

James B. Clay, Iroquois Stud, Lexington, Ky., lost on January 9th, from the effects of slipping a foal the bay mare Taloolah, foaled 1886, by Dudley, dam Wahtawah by John C. Breckenridge, her dam Adele by imp Albion.

The Lamasney Brothers, finding the company in the East too "hot" for them, have decided to race only in the West this year, where there seems to be a better chance for their rather second class lot of horses to win some money.

The Governor last week reappointed George W. Hancock and Frederick Cox as members of the State Board of Agriculture, their terms having expired. Also Richard Gird of San Bernardino to succeed Charles F. Swan, term expired.

The fine farm of the late John G. Brooks, near Midway, Ky., containing 406 acres were sold at auction, 16th inst., to Colonel R. P. Pepper, of Frankfort, Ky, for $108 50 per acre, and will be used by him hereafter for a stock farm.

It is said Garrison has been retained to ride A. G. Newsome's gelding, Mt. Lebanon, in the Derby. The chestnut son of George Kinney and Accidenta must have improved on his two-year-old form of eleven starts without a bracket.

M. Daumas, Municipal Councillor of Paris, says in his report, that by the suppression of bookmakers, Paris loses a revenue of £50,000, and gets instead a rent of £18,000 from the Paris mutuel offices, a dead loss of £22,000 to the city.

Trainer M. T. Donovan has purchased of Mr. J. A. Morris the chestnut colt, three years old, by imp Pizarro—Pinafore. Mr. Donovan now has some twenty-two horses in his charge, including the Issaquena filly and all of the Western Union Stable.

To show how much Mr. Z. E. Simmons, formerly one of the owners of George Wilkes, thinks of Anteeo, it may be said that last season he bred to him Hattie Woodward, 2:15½; Eva 2:30½, by George Wilkes, and four other daughters of the same horse.

The Beverwyck stables have returned to F. B. Harper. Annie Blackburn, the half sister to Freeland. They were given her running qualities to recompense them for the loss of Valuable; owing to a leg, however, Annie was returned and will be bred to Rossington.

The Warnkes, who made a snug little fortune of $20,000 with their filly Reclare last year, have another filly, who looks enough like Reclare to be her sister, though not related to her. She is said to be very fast, and even more promising than was Reclare at her age.

Frank McCabe has had excellent luck with the Dwyer string this winter; there are no sick horses in the stable. Inspector B, Bella B., and several others of the cripples are at W. Daly's Hartford farm, and will not be worked until just before the Monmouth meeting.

The only mare whose ten first foals were all winners is Mariposa, the foals being Helmsman, Beatitude, Boulevard, Bliss, Beatrice, Swift, Glideaway, Emmet, Ada D. and Marshall Luke. She is the property of the Belle Meade stud, is 21 years old, and won but one race.

Prices for trotters that should improve in form are now ruling high. C. J. Hamlin says that he has refused $25,000 for the five-year-old Mocking Bird, whose record is 2:17¼. Knapsack McCarty says: "Put Mocking Bird and Geneva S. toge her, and they can beat the double team record."

Dave Gideon's French Park is said to be standing up excellently through this trying weather. His legs appear to be all right now, and if they will stand some good, fast gallops he should be a great handicap horse this coming season, for his two year old form was remarkably brilliant.

H. D. Bowman, of Louisville, has purchased a two-year-old colt by a brother to Clingstone, dam by Kentucky Prince; 2nd dam by Hambletonian; 3d dam by American Star; also, a black filly by Pretender, son of Dictator, dam Miss Ada by Almont; 2d dam Mother Hubbard by Johnston's Toronto.

Matt Allen has been giving Senator Hearst's horses a lot of work of late and Gorgo is almost in racing condition. Golden Horn and King Thomas are also in fine fettle and look as if they should do as good work this year as was expected of them last year. The lot are at the Sheepshead Bay track.

While here, Mr. Bonner made Senator Stanford an offer for the now three-year-old filly by Woolsey (brother to Sunol, 2:10½) out of Belle by Kentucky Prince 2470, out of Belle of Richmond (dam of Bergen, 2:27), by Hambletonian, and has since purchased her, Senator Stanford having accepted his offer.

The bay horse Gunner, foaled 1879, by Alarm, out of War Reel by War Dance, her dam Dixie by imp. Sovereign out of St. Mary by Hamlet, etc., died January 16th of colic, at Meadowthorpe Stock Farm, Lexington, Ky. Gunner was a promising young sire, and was the sire of Gunwad and Gunshot.

John H. Shults is greatly pleased with the improved condition of his famous stallion, Pancoast. Parkville, another of Mr. Shults' stallions, will command attention this spring. He is a bay 15.2 hands, and was foaled in 1884, being by Electioneer out of Aurora 2:27, by John Nelson, son of imp. Trustee.

John Faylor, the well known old time rider and erstwhile trainer, has gone down to Santa Anita to superintend the breeding department. Johnny should soon have the breeding end of the business in much improved shape, that it has been neglected of late is evinced by the small inbred two-year-olds.

Mr. G. Valensin received a telegram from Bither last Monday, saying the contract drawn up did not suit, and all negotiations are finished between them. In consequence, Fleet and several more of Mr. Valensin's horses will be sold in New York which would otherwise have been trained and campaigned next season.

Green Morris's old racer, Favor, will begin his services in the stud this year at the McGrathiana farm of Milton Young, near Lexington, Ky., at $50 the season. His companions on the farm are Onondaga, Macduff, Duke of Montrose, Woodland, and Strathmore. Favor ought to prove as good a sire as any of them.

Steel Gray, probably the best trotter England ever produced, died the other day. She had a ten mile record of 26 min 56½ sec. I recollect years ago seeing her at Manchester, when crowds were round her box in the show grounds all day. When out in the ring her action was almost the perfection of pure trotting.

To name a thoroughbred after a Kentucky Senator appears to be bad luck, as neither Joe Blackburn nor Jim Beck earned any turf distinction. On the other hand, to be named for a Governor of that commonwealth seems to be an earnest of success, for both Luke Blackburn and Proctor Knott made national reputations on the turf.

William E. Weeks, who not long ago went to France to show the Frenchmen how to ride a trotting horse, writes that he did not find the French capital a very inviting field for his labor, and that he has crossed to London, and was preparing to return home. Weeks is a great favorite on the grand circuit, and will be seen there again.

Mr. Allen, the well known proprietor of the Allen Farm, Pittsfield, among other purchases in California bought from Palo Alto, Electrite 10878, (brother to Sphinx 2:23) by Electioneer, dam Sprite by Belmont out of Waterwitch by Pilot Jr. A few weeks ago, he refused $50,000 for the two-year-old, saying he was not for sale.

Dick Roche, the well-known Western racing man, bookmaker, etc., and owner of Lioness and other crack horses, arrived here last Tuesday with W. Donohue, the Eastern jockey. They will stay here some few weeks. Donohue has several relatives here. He and Roche will have a look at some of the large breeding farms in the State.

George Hankins of the Chicago Stables has just bought a twelve hundred dollar pair of carriage horses from A. M. Spellman of Minerva, O. The team is expected to make a sensation on Chicago boulevards in fine weather. They are dark chestnuts, five years old, stand 16 hands, high knee action, are matched to a hair and drive as one horse.

Committees on Revision of the Premium List for the State Fair were appointed as follows: Park—Directors Hancock, Cox and Singleterry. Pavilion—Directors Shippee, LaRue and Delong. Speed Programme—Directors Chase, Shippee, LaRue, Delong and Hancock, (President Green added). The date of the Fair was fixed for September 8th to 20th.

David Waldo and G. W. Poole will combine forces, with Soden as their principal jockey, this season, and race under the firm name of Waldo & Poole. Racegoers believe they have been doing that at the winter tracks already. Spaulding, Hamlet, Steve Jerome, Sayre, Irma H., Zulu, Lewis Clark, Gold Bond, Cassandra, St. Nick, Autumn Leaf, and others will make up their stable.

Dave Pulsifer's horses are at Westchester with Trainer Donovan in charge. Tenny is the crack and pride of the lot, and has filled out well, having great muscular development, and is expected to turn out in better form than last year if that were possible. The black Onaway is in the pink of condition; he has filled out into a grand looking horse, while the rest of the stable look equally well.

Barnes leads the winning jockeys with 170 wins out of 661; Beigan is second with 147 out of 633; Taylor third with 123 out of 463; Hamilton fourth with 113 out of 419; De Long is next with 106 out of 463 and Gerhardy follows close with 105 out of 444. Among the heavy weight cranks Garrison has 70 wins out of 236; Murphy 58 out of 195, Hayward 39 out of 174; McLaughlin 21 out of 50.

C. J. Hamlin has offered to match Chimes against any son of Beautiful Bells. Chimes showed up indifferently as a three year old, on account of a quarter crack; and was not trained at either four years or five years. He is being jogged now on the roads about Buffalo, and is going perfectly Chimes will be sent for a record next autumn, barring accident.

The colors of the Dywer Brothers, August Belmont, and other owners of large racing stables who have not heretofore raced at Clifton, will probably be seen in the Early Blossom Stakes, for two-year-olds, at three furlongs, which is to be run Feb. 14, weather permitting. The entries will close Feb. 1, and William Lakeland thinks he has a mortgage on it with one of his California bred youngsters.

The young Earl of Dudley has already commenced realizing by selling the gallery of paintings collected by his father. Among the most valuable in the collection was Turner's "Grand Canal Venice," which was said to be that great master's chef d' oeuvre. Cornelius Vanderbilt has paid £20,000 for the painting. The young Lord is evidently finding racing or something else rather expensive.

W. B. Jennings, the well-known owner and trainer, will relegate eighteen mares to his stock farm at Teesburg, Va. Among them will probable be Swift, Telie Doe, Romp, Utility, Biggonet, Yorkshire Lass and Temptation. The premier stallion is imp. Superior by Petrarch, out of Thoughtless by The Hermit, grandam Salamanca by Student, etc. Superior is therefore half-brother to Senator Stanford's (imp.) Amalia.

The stables quartered at the Memphis track last week were Mr. Tucker, with 11; Mr. King, with 3; Mr. Mahone, with 3; Mr. Duke, with 3; Mr. Spink, with 2; Mr. Weidner, with 9; W. McGuigan, with 15; Messrs. Roody Bros., with 12; E. Corrigan, with 21; P. Corrigan, with 6; Mr. McClonddem, with 6; Messrs. Cassidy & Co., with 12; Messrs. Dougherty & Co., with 11; Mr. Simmons, with 2; Messrs. Newsum & Co., with 15.

Friends of the Western Turf Congress do not attatch any importance to the withdrawal of the Louisiana Jockey Club, or believe it indicates popular sentiment against the rule forbidding races for three-year-olds and upward less than a mile. They say that, as a matter of fact, the club was practically out of the congress before the rule was passed, as it had not paid its dues for the past year, and was not represented at the last meeting.

It is extremely probably that Hindoocraft will never face the starter again. He hurt his right leg before his last race at the Brooklyn track, when he ran third to Badge and Bronzomarte and that accounts for the poor showing he made. Dr. Shepherd was called in and gave it as his opinion that with a good winter's rest the horse would be as good as ever He has had the rest, but the leg is not improved, and he will very likely be retired.

J. C. Sibley of Franklin, Penn., is one of the converts to the theory that an infusion of good thoroughbred blood in good racing families will alone produce the very highest rate of speed. So he has mated his stallion St. Bel, who is a son of Electioneer and Beautiful Bells, to thoroughbred mares, and has in their offspring a lot of youngsters who have as much speed, at least, and are as level-headed as are the sons and daughters of standard-bred mares.

"The English Hackney," says a well-known horseman who has just returned from abroad, "is a grand little animal, closely resembling the old-time Morgan. They are hardy and plucky, making excellent long-distance roadsters when not too high in their knee-action. They are rather small, though, for this country, being only from 14½ to 15½ hands, but no doubt would breed some fine light carriage-drivers, where high action is a desideratum."

The Monmouth Park Racing Association has announced its list of sweepstakes opened for the current year. They are 38 in number, two more than those opened at a corresponding period last year. Twelve of the lot are for two year olds, all at three-quarters of a mile; ten are for three year olds, all at a distance over a mile, and the balance, for all ages, mostly handicaps, at distances varying from a mile to the cup, at a mile and a quarter.

Racing for big stakes is not to be confined entirely to the United States, England and Australia. Italy steps into the game with the Roman Grand Prize of £3,200 to the winner, £480 to the second, £200 to the third and £120 to the fourth. The race is for three-year-olds, to be run at the Rome spring meeting in May. The meeting will be under a distinguished directorate, which includes Prince John Baptist Borghees, Marquis Roccagiovine and Baron Michael Lazzaroni.

The fiat has gone forth that the Homewood Driving Park, Pittsburg, shall be no more. The property is now placed upon the market, and before spring opens up it will probably be staked off in "town lots." Although this race course has had a short and checquered career, it has many associations which will keep it fresh in the minds of horsemen. Here Maud S. lowered her record from 2:10¾ to 2:10¼ on the 13th of July, 1881. Bonesetter, 2:19, dropped dead on this track after a hard fought heat.

Edward Moser the very gentlemanly and competent young jockey who was under Father Bill Daly's tuition during the past year has been secured by the Dwyer Brothers as their chief light-weightjockey next season. He is a very bright boy, a son of Mr. Moser, the Superintendent of J. H. Shults's stock farm at Parkville and one of the most promising youngsters seen in the saddle in late years. Above all he is thoroughly honest, and so Frank McCabe will find in him an able assistant in trying to place the Dwyer Brothers once more at the top of list of winning stables. Moser is about nineteen years old, and can easily ride at 100 pounds. He begins work with the Dwyers April 1.

The entries to the June running meeting of the Kansas City Jockey Club which have closed last week are very flattering. There are 365 entries to the nine stakes and among the horses entered are Riley, Milliken, Dollikens, English Lady, Wrestler, Robespierre, Cruiser, Kitty Cheatham, Huntress, Kaloolah, Macbeth, Swifter, Lepremier, Pilgrim, Joe, Ja-Ja, Morse and other cracks. The average is forty dollars to each stake race.

Among the foals on hand at Palo Alto up to last Thursday were eight thoroughbreds, Aurelia (imp) having a Cyrus colt; Cornelia (imp) by Isonomy has a Flood colt, Fairy Rose (imp), a Cheviot filly Flirt (imp) a filly by Flood, Getaway (imp) a Cyrus colt, Goula (imp) a filly by Flood, Laelia (imp) a colt by Cyrus, and Raglan a filly by Argyle. "Example is better than precept," and Senator Stanford's superintendent sets an example to the whole world.

The Winter racing at New Orleans this year has been of a peculiarly shady character, and as a result of Abbas's peculiar riding on Little Bess he has been ruled off the track. Little Ray, the colored jockey, is at New Orleans, but is not permitted to ride there, because he was ruled off at Louisville last Fall. He is the jockey who, Mr. Scoggan declares, pulled Hindoocraft at Sheepshead Bay in the race won by Bronzomarte. Ray is a fairly clever jockey, but has the reputation of being "in" with a bad lot of speculators.

Among the many California trotters and pacers to be sold in New York this spring will be Gold Leaf 2:11½, Mr. Salisbury's crack Sidney pacer. A good deal of curiosity has been evinced as to who will buy her. One well known Californian said in the Grand Hotel the other day that he would make some of them pay high for her as he had never seen a mare he would rather have for the road. She is easy to handle, with a smooth, quiet style of going, does not wear a boot or weight, is level headed, and with her exceptional burst of speed no one could pass her on the road.

Homer Saxe is one of our best known purchasers of cattle and trotting stock. Of the latter he generally has a few on hand for private use. Last week he was persuaded by the Conkling Bros, Inyo County, to part with his well known three year old stallion Mount Vernon Prince by Mount Vernon, 2:21, out of a sister of Molly Drew by Winthrop, out of Fanny Fern by Jack Hawkins. The son of Mount Vernon should give a good account of himself in Inyo, if breeding and appearance are any criterion of a stallion.

Fox has signed again this season to ride the horses in the stable of the Richmond, Ky., turfman, Mr. W. R Letcher, who, in addition to Longalight, Kate Malone and Rosemont, his well known tried performers, will have in his string some well bred and promising two-year-olds. Although Fox's name is omitted from Goodwin Bros.' list of winning jockeys, he won quite a number of good races last season, his taking of numerous long shot events at Washington Park, Chicago, being one of the features there. He rides with good judgment and is a fine finisher.

Pike Barnes and his valet, Horace Jackson, have left for California, the famous lightweight having engaged to ride for E. J. Baldwin this season at a salary of $8000. Barnes will appear at the Memphis, races where he will ride for E. S. Gardner, who has the second call on his services. The Times Democrat of the 26th ult. makes the above remarks. Evidently the colored crack lightweight is getting the bighead. There is an old Latin saying familiar to most people: Facilis est decensus averni. Barnes might with advantage study it. The end does not seem far distant.

As the dam of El Rio Rey, Emperor of Norfolk, The Czar, Duchess of Norfolk, and a number of other less famous but all good racers, Marian is beyond question the most famous broodmare living, and is priceless so far as her owner is concerned. And yet her sire, Malcolm, by Bonnie Scotland, perished meanly in a cellar in Chicago not so very long ago. Neglected and forgotten, the grandsire of El Rio Rey on the maternal side was kept in this hole a long time before death came to his relief. With any chance he might have been one of the famous sires of the age.

The Live Stock Record has the following:

Wanted.—I am commissioned to buy a horse that can run half mile heats in fifty seconds or less on half mile track (not an association track), not over six years, gelding preferred, no blemishes, must be cheap. Address, TOM WALLACE,
Shelbyville, Ky.

That above should suit plenty of our short-horsemen who could sell a few of that kind and would probably have a better left if the purchaser wished to match him.

The Waldo Racing Park, Kansas City, has been sold under a deed of trust by William H. Lucas, trustee, to John I. Blair for $11,000. The deed of trust was given to secure notes given by David Waldo and others for money loaned. At one time a fabulous sum was offered for this tract of land, but the Waldos refused it, demanding $2,000 an acre for the property, which is six miles southeast of Westfort. In May, 1887, an option was given on this land for $1,500,000. The deal afterwards went through. John I. Blair has also purchased the Kansas City, Mastin Park and Westfort Railroad, which leads to Waldo Park, at trustee's sale for $5,600.

Dr. George Beerman, of Berlin, and Mr. Tappan, an American trainer, who has been with H. Moessinger, of Frankfort on-the-Main, are in the States, intending to buy twenty or thirty high stepping roadsters and ten trotters with records better than 2:30 and one able to beat 2:20. Only stallions and mares are wanted, as geldings have no chance for the richest prizes. Fashionable pedigree is not appreciated in Germany as in this country. Speed, staying qualities and good behavior in the animal are all the foreigners are up to yet. Dr. Beerman offered $10.000 for Geneva S. but "Knap" wants $15,000. This great mare is enjoying a let up, unblanketed, under her owner's care at Red Bank, N. J.

The Hon. T. J. Megibben, President of the Latonia Jockey Club, died after only a fortnight's illness, and was buried last week, his funeral at Cynthiana being attended by most of Kentucky's celebrated racing men. The late Mr. Megibben was 59 years old. He was one of Kentucky's wealthiest men, and also one of the most popular. Some years ago he started his breeding farm near Cynthiana, and purchased Springbok as lord of the harem. He had a lot of good broodmares, and besides racing a few horses with his brother James, sold yearlings for large figures every year. Andrain, who won the second Hindoo Stake at Latonia, now the Latonia Derby, was one of his best horses, but when at his best, went blind and was retired.

It looks now as though Aubine and Geneva S., would practically have the big 2:20 purses at their mercy next season, as they can surely trot in 2:17, and there seems to be nothing else in their class capable of beating them both being game as well as fast Geneva S., is still owned by "Knap" McCarthy and will be trained next season. McCarthy thinks a great deal of this mare, believing her to be good for a record of 2:15, or better, and this was well illustrated a short time since when he refused a cash offer of $10,000 for her from Mr. John Shepard of Boston. McCarthy cannot train the mare himself on account of his being trainer of the runners belonging to Mr. D. D. Withers, he will let some friend do this, but he will appear behind her on race days when the purses are large, and handle the ribbons himself.

Last week a friend of the well-known pool seller, Lowry, who was Ira E. Bride's partner last year, has been staying in Lexington. He says in the Times Democrat that Lowry cleared no less than $70,000 last year, although he commenced the season with only $8,000. His profits were principally derived from his commissions, but he also struck several "good things" during his rounds, which paid him handsomely. He is now at his home in Pittsburg, but will be with Bride again this year. The most successful meeting he attended last season was that of the Kentucky Horse Breeders' Association, when, during its five days' trotting, he sold $500,000 worth of pools. Lowry is only thirty years old, and his career promises to be fully as successful as that of either Dr. Underwood, or the late lamented Rob Cathcart.

The other day, Mr. Ed Graves, a well known gentleman rider of Lexington, and Isaac Murphy, the noted colored jockey, got into a dispute at the association track over two colts, one owned by Graves and the other by Murphy. It was finally agreed to run them a quarter of a mile although the track was deep with mud. They each rode his own colt, and the race was on at once. It was a close contest every foot of the way, Graves winning in a desperate fight by a short head. Both riders were literally covered with mud, and Murphy was deeply chagrined at being defeated by an amateur rider, while, of course, Graves was correspondingly elated. Murphy is not at all satisfied with the result of the race, and when the track gets good another match between his colt and Graves' will possibly come off.

Among the horses that take a turn out South every day those that frequent the roads recognize the Electioneer four-year-old Electwood, with Charles Stiles holding the reins. He is a smooth-going young horse, and will be out for the money after his season. In conversation with his owner a few days ago says the Horseman he told why he put some money in the get of Electioneer. "A few years ago," he said, "I bought three Sultan colts and sent them to Kentucky. While they were eating their heads off Marvin came over with a stable of Electioneers, Manzanita being in the party. I played against her a couple of times, and when she came back again the following year it looked to me as if Patron could throw her down at St. Louis. You know the result, Palo Alto also made it interesting for me when he defeated C. F. Clay, Charley Hogan, Albert France, and Libby S. I was advised to take my money out, but could not believe that a four-year-old could upset such a field. Now I know different, and have a horse I think pretty well of, by the same sire."

One of the busiest men in town is Dr. Harry Carpenter. Last Sunday, I glanced through his well appointed infirmary on Golden Gate Avenue and was surprised to see how neatly and carefully the stable had been supplied with all the latest appliances and surgical instruments, etc., necessary in such a commodious establishment. A well arranged operating table is so made that with no trouble a horse can be safely and securely laid on it without throwing the horse, or running any other risk while the city ambulance wagon which is in Dr Carpenter's care would insure no unnecessary risks while bringing horses to his stable. Dr. Carpenter last Sunday had in his stables several horses well known to racegoers, viz., Bay Rose whose leg is so far improved that he will be able to stand a season, Jim Duffy the chestnut sprinter who has been artistically bred, Elwood now used as Dr. Harry Carpenter's hack, and (imp.) Cheviot (a brother to Sir Modred) who has wintered there. Cheviot has since gone to his stud duties at Sacramento, Bay Rose to Oakland, and Jim Duffy to San Jose. The Doctor says he never keeps horses long, speedy cures procure quick payments.

The Roslyn Heights farm did not take imported Bonnie Charlie owing to his being unable to pass the Vet. Their agent has however bought Regent who is on his way out now, he is by Statesman (Young Melbourne dam by Orlando) out of The Orphan by Newminister. He was bred by T. E. Walker, Studley Castle Warwick, foaled 1877 and under John Dawson's handling he won 9 races out of 39 during his six seasons on the turf, he never started as a two year old being a biggish overgrown colt. His pedigree is a particularly good one having two Touchstone crosses through Orlando and Newminster while his grand dam was a full sister to Weathergage a Czarewich winner, and eventually runs back to a Barb mare. Regent has been used as a hunting sire for the last few seasons in Warwickshire and should be suitable for that purpose as he is a powerful good looking bay horse with black points while his having stood training for seven seasons is proof of his soundness. His pedigree as I said is exceptionally good in fact for that reason he should get more than hunters though he himself was never more than moderate second class.

Buenos Ayres is always buying high priced horses, and their local sales were said to be very heavy, yearlings being exceptionally dear. One sale, which took place the latter part of last year, gives some idea of the prices, but the final lines spoil the high priced illusion. The animals were the property of Mr. W. Kemmis, of Las Rosas, province of Santa Fe, and made the highest average yet obtained in that, or perhaps any other country. Thirty-five lots were offered for sale—twenty five colts and ten fillies. They realized the enormous total of $305,600, or an average of $8,731. Nine of the colts and two of the fillies were thoroughbreds, the remainder having in them three or four crosses of the thoroughbred blood. Balmoral, a pure-bred colt by Phœnix, out of Blood Royal, topped the market with the magnificent price of $32,500. Mr. Bonetti, who will be well remembered in this country as the buyer of the unbeaten Ormonde and many other famous English horses, was the purchaser. Rockstone, a colt by Phœnix out of Fairy, fetched $25,000, and Bothwell, a colt by Phœnix out of Mary Seton, $12,000. It may be mentioned that Marie Stuart, the dam of the last named, is out of Blood Royal by Collie, and also was foaled in Buenos Ayres. A believed filly Heart's Delight by Phœnix, out of Blossom, sold for $15,500. It should be added in connection with these prices, that the dollar, which a few years ago was at par, is now only worth 2s.

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Olympic Stables, Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Navicular Disease in Horses.

My attention having been drawn to a paragraph in the Examiner with reference to the above disease, I deem it advisable to make a few remarks to the readers of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. The remarks of our contemporary are likely to mislead the majority of horse-owners. It is a well-known fact, both to veterinary surgeons and horse-owners and trainers, that navicular disease does not occur in the hind feet, hence the absurdity of dividing the nerve above the hock. Any veterinarian knows perfectly well that the division of the nerve above the hock could not possibly affect the foot, owing to various sources with which it is supplied with nerve power.

Navicular disease may be produced by hereditary pre-disposition, and from the result of hard work over hard metalled roads; also from the result of bad shoeing.

The first indications of the disease are, a disinclination of the animal to travel with his usual freedom; the feet become hot, and the horse shows febrile symptoms. The lameness, when it has become apparent, shows itself more in going down an incline or a hill. In the stable he will point one foot then the other, endeavoring to take the weight off and so relieve himself from pain.

It is very seldom curable by any external remedy. Should the horse be a young one, it would be advisable to keep him on soft ground, and by so doing avoid concussion. Having tried for several years all sorts of remedial treatment, I have come to the conclusion that "neurotomy" (the division of the meta-carpal nerve) is the best remedy.

The only risk after the operation, is that the foot below the division of the nerves is devoid of all sensation, and that the animal may be pricked by the smith and would not feel any pain. The probable result will be suppuration will supervene, and in a few days the hoof will slough off. Many cases are put down to navicular disease which do not exist. I would advise all horse-owners before having their horses operated upon, to have them examined by a duly qualified veterinary surgeon, and not rely on the word of the charlatan, whose name is legion.

Dr. Stimpson's Veterinary Infirmary.

Last Saturday, being in Oakland, I called at Dr. Stimpson's Infirmary, 19th St., Oakland, and luckily found the doctor at home, and was courteously conducted through his well appointed infirmary and stables. The infirmary was, of course, fitted out with all the latest improvements and devices suitable and necessary for medical purposes. Dr. Stimpson, who is quite a trotting horseman, had in his stables among other patients, Longworth, the well known Sidney pacer, who obtained a four-year-old record of 2:19 last year. He has been fired on his fore legs and the job has been done in Dr. Stimpson's best style, for though, of course, the traces of the iron are plainly visible, the work has been very effectively done and it is only a few days before he will be in work again. Dr. Stimpson is now the owner of Shamrock (a black son of Buccaneer) who obtained his record of 2:25 when two years old, and with ordinary luck will assuredly go well down in the "teens" whenever asked. His legs and feet are as sound and fresh as the day he was foaled, while his glossy black coat indicates his good healthy condition. He will serve a few mares at $100 and judging from the extreme speed produced at an early age by his sire, Buccaneer, and especially with the Flaxtail cross below it, the Doctor will be inundated with mares. Electo, another of Stimpson's horses, a beautifully shaped three year old Antevolo, having all the racy, thoroughbred appearance of his sire, with just the same easy, pure gait. On his dam's side Electo is by Capt. Webster, sire of the dam of Adonis 2:14 Dr. Stimpson has wisely limited the youngster to 15 mares at $50. The last horse seen was a powerfully built pure bay, with short black legs. He is one of the most stylish Cleveland Bays ever seen in California. He was imported from Yorkshire, the home of the Cleveland, after a successful career in the show ring at the Yorkshire and other big shows (fairs) there. His color and size, combined with his brilliant shape and gentle disposition, should make him worth his weight in gold for getting good, honest, gentle carriage horses. Dr. Stimpson is breeding, among others, two mares to his horse Shamrock, which should produce flyers, one of which is Jenny O Jones, record 3:30, trotting; one-half mile running 51 seconds. She is by Hubbard (a son of Planet, sire of Dame Winnie) out of a Gen. Taylor mare, she out of a Belmont mare; and the other is by Newland's Hambletonian, out of a Langford mare.

A Daniel Come to Judgment.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—I clip the following from the Mirror and Farmer:

"I fear," says a practical horseman, "some breeders will go wrong on this thoroughbred nonsense, and until Gov. Stanford produces trotters from other stallions than Electioneer, it will be better not to use thoroughbred blood. Piedmont, 2:18¼, is better bred than Electioneer, but his success in this line is not assured."

It will be of interest to breeders to learn that Piedmont is a better bred horse than Electioneer, but the funny part of it is that the discovery has been made by a man who is down on "thoroughbred foolishness." As Hambletonian sired one and Almont the other, it won't require much argument to show that on the side of his sire, at least, Electioneer will not have to take a back seat. Now as to their dams, this genius, who is afraid of thoroughbred blood in the trotter, declares that Mag Ferguson, by Mambrino Chief, out of a thoroughbred mare, when bred to Almont, produced a better bred foal than was the son of Hambletonian and Green Mountain Maid. The man who can swallow Mag Ferguson and not gag at the thoroughbred in her, can come pretty near to taking Dame Winnie for a trotter. Her dam being entirely thoroughbred, and her sire a son of Mambrino Paymaster, out of a common mare, it would be interesting to know where the dam of Piedmont gets the blood that makes her a better bred trotting mare than Green Mountain Maid. As a fact, according to Wallace's Trotting Register, Mag Ferguson was just 11-16 thoroughbred and 5 16 unknown.

To add to the absurdity of the "practical horseman's" position, we should note the fact that Piedmont's paternal grandam, Kate Darling, belonged to the unknowns. To a man up a tree, it would look as though the fact that Electioneer can get trotters from thoroughbreds, and Piedmont can't, were due to some other cause than Piedmont's superior breeding.

DENVER.

The Chicago Sale.

Chicago January, 15, 1890.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Among the many entries received during the past week to the Kidd, Edmonson and Morse great fine horse combination sale at Chicago, March 17 to 23, is Judge Hayes 4429, by Robert McGregor 2:17½; dam Luna (record 2:39½) by Almont 33; 2nd dam Sallie Tee by Alexander's Abdallah; 3nd dam Kate Crockett (the dam of Lula 2:14¾) by imp Hooton. Judge Hayes is owned by Col. Crockett of Waukegan, Ill., and is a horse of remarkable finish and beauty. He has never been trained, but undoubtedly has the ability or capacity to trot very fast. His breeding entitles him to rank as one of the best and most prepotent bred horses in America. It is seldom so fine an individual and so stout a bred horse is offered to the public. In the show ring he has the best record of any horse in Illinois. Col. Crockett will also sell at the same time Flaxman 10148 by Lexington Wilkes 4878 (recently bought by J. I. Case, Racine, for $10,000); dam Sallie Tee by Alexanders' Abdallah, 15; 2nd dam Katie Crockett, dam of Lula 2:14¾, by imp Hooton.

The sale now promises to be very large, both of light harness and draft horses. Several large importers of draft horses have expressed their intention of making consignments to the sale, and this department as well as the trotting is enjoying a boom.

Yours truly,
KIDD, EDMONSON & MORSE.

THE KENNEL.

Dog owners are requested to send for publication the earliest possible notices of whelps, sales, names claimed, presentations and deaths, in their kennels, in all instances writing plainly names of sire and dam and of grandparents, colors, dates and breed.

Pacific Coast Field Trials.

The seventh field meeting of the Pacific Coast Field Trial Club held at Bakersfield, on January 20th, 21st, 22nd and 23rd was different in some respects from preceding gatherings of the club. The generally prevalent influenza had placed several of the most prominent members of the club upon their backs in bed. Others were not sufficiently recovered to make it safe for them to attend. Still others, though present, were yet suffering from the weakness and general bad feeling which follows "la grippe." Many familiar faces were missed, some of them being those of men who have always attended the trials, and whose presence has been most enjoyable, Joe and Henry Bassford could not be present. The former because of the prevalent malady—the other because there are now six in his family instead of five. William Schreiber, most anxious to attend, did not dare set at defiance the orders of his physician.

N. E. White, in universal demand, was detained by death in the family. W. W. Foote could not forsake important interests in a case on trial. L. J. Rose Jr. was also kept away by business interests. Sam Meriwether, living in far away New York, was present only in spirit, and the list might be greatly prolonged if it was not pleasanter to write of the sunshiny side of the affair than of the glowering aspects. If some rare ones were away, some of those who did attend partially atoned for the absentees by an exhuberance of spirits and hearty enjoyment of all the sport offered, that helped to lift all their friends to a plane upon which enthusiasm was possible.

That magnificent specimen of manly development, P. D. Linville, was careering about on a fine black horse, giving vent to screeches that could be heard for miles, ordering people about in an imperious way that was superb, and generally filling the office of marshal in incomparable style.

Lots of new men were on hand, and it is no discredit to the old timers to write that the new hands are keen as briars both at shooting and with dogs. Porter Ashe, with all his bonhomie, pervaded two days. Austin B. Sperry could not help being sardonic, even though his pointer puppy Count Dick did make a brilliant race. Andrew Jackson forsook his Napa soda heaven, and proved himself a rare pedestrian—walking for several days with that easy carriage and springy step which indicates an accomplished tramper. F. B. Dexter, from Fresno, smooth, pretty as a picture and shrewd as anybody, amused himself in the daytime, and in the evening sang "Annie Rooney." J. W. Harper from Suisun, not the shortest man in the company, had one eye out for points and the others alert for cotton-tails, of which several were in sight all the time. Harper hired out as driver to a reporter for nothing in particular, and it is only his meed to write that he is a crack driver as well as splendid company.

Clarence A. Haight, after many years of threats, did actually attend the trials, and in future years will be in demand both for his general jollity, and the dainty tenor voice. J. M. Kilgarif, an fait in most sports, is now an authority on field trials. Ramon E Wilson, after repeated failures in attempts to see a trial, at last can say that he knows what they are. A. B. Truman insouciant as ever, kept up a hot pace.

M. H. Drummond left Davisville to mourn while he watched with keen eyes every movement of dogs and judges. John Hughes from Capay, not obtrusive, but as courteous as possible, impressed himself upon all whom he met as a rare good 'un. The list of new men is a long one, and of each it may be written that he is a sportsman, a gentleman and the best of company. Of such were C. Sinnsse from New York, J. S. Dunham from Stockton, Wm. Dormer and Horace Lawrence from this city, Uncle Robert Liddle, John Lakeman from London, Eng., H. L. Love, L. J. Miller and W. E Saunders from Fresno, Charles Studarus from Routiers, P. W. Trest from Davisville, and others. The judges, Messrs. W. C. Nelson, D. M. Pyle and I. N. Aldrich, did their best, and it was a good attempt. Mr. Nelson showed himself the keen, thoroughly posted, cool hand. He saw everything, knew what it was worth, and was unreserved in his judgments. His associates were quite as painstaking, and the judgments, as a whole, met general approval.

The field trialers were accommodated by Mr. A. O. Thoms in his newly finished and beautiful hotel, the Ingleside. Nice rooms, scrupulously kept, a fine table, every convenience and the jolliest most engaging of landlords make the Ingleside the ideal hotel. As usual the rates were kept at a most moderate figure, as were the livery charges by that quaintest of characters, Mr. Dan A. Leonard, who has always provided the horses and carriages for the club. Adjacent to friend Thoms' Hotel, and communicating with it by sundry electric wires, is the hall of the Students and Sportsman's Club, a very handsome, large, elegantly furnished apartment where the gentlemen of Bakersfield meet in nightly vigils, and to which all visitors were welcomed during trial week. There by a huge brick fireside, the stories were told, the triumphs re-enacted, and unlimited numbers of Thoms' dainty rejuvenators absorbed.

Bakersfield is not yet rebuilt, and a few of the visitors had perforce to cast themselves upon the hospitality of citizens. It need not be said that the draft was honored. Mr. W. E. Houghton sheltered several. Mr. Richard Seymour resigned his elegant rooms to the Marshal. Mrs. Webb was fortunate in sheltering Clarence Haight and Mr. Broder, and so it went.

The usual cordial welcome was extended by Mr. Houghton, Mr. Henry Borgwardt, Messrs. Ed and Harry Lechner, Richard Seymour and Dan Miller, Dan Leonard, I. L. Miller, and the other noblemen to whose good graces the club is indebted for so much, and whose hearty sympathy and kindly co-operation makes a visit to Bakersfield a time to be remembered.

On Tuesday evening of field-trial week, the Trials Club held its annual meeting in the hall of the Students and Sportsman's Club, and after the transaction of routine business, the following officers were chosen for the current year: J. G. Edwards, President; Austin B. Sperry, first vice-President; M. H. Drummond, 2d vice-President; H. H. Briggs, 313 Bush Street, S. F., Secretary; J. Kilgarif, Treasurer. Executive Committee—C. N. Post, D. M. Pyle, J. S. Dunham, J. M. Bassford and William Schrieber.

The club decided to hold next year's field trials in Bakersfield, beginning on the third Monday of January, 1891, and voted their thanks to the citizens of Bakersfield and to the members of the Student and Sportsman's Club for the courteous treatment extended. The following new members were elected: R. Porter Ashe of San Francisco, Andrew Jackson of Napa, A. M. Wilder of Honolulu, J. M. Kilgarif of San Francisco, Robert Liddle of San Francisco, Austin B. Sperry of Stockton, Charles W. Binsse of New York, Fred B. Dexter of Fresno, and William Dormer of San Francisco.

Of the dogs which were run, several are familiar to readers. In the Derby the winner Salina showed herself a rarely keen, quick, tasty and independent animal. Her breaker was necessarily absent during her race, and Judge Post, but slightly acquainted with the animal, was compelled to handle her. She is a medium weight, nicely coated, pretty bitch and fit for any Derby Company. Second went to Sankey a pretty mover, free and merry and showing much bird sense. Sankey had had most of his handling at the hands of his owner Mr. Hughes, but as Geo. W. Bassford owned his field trial qualities he preferred to handle the dog, rather to his disadvantage it was thought. The winner of third, Stephanie, has not the rare caution and high tension of Salina, but will doubtless develope into a cracker.

Of the non-winners, the choice was Mr. Auerbach's beautiful Lissome—not yet at herself. Lissome is a pretty worker, and with work on birds will make a fine hunting dog.

In the aged stake the average quality of performance was high.

Sunlit, the winner, ran almost faultlessly, being positive yet cautious, showing nice style, good pace in the open and the rarest judgment when on birds. Her work in her two latter heats was unexceptionable in every respect, and would have beaten ninety-nine good dogs in every hundred.

Second went to Patti Croxteth T., probably the best pointer, bar Old Black Joe, that has run in California recently. Patti works like an English setter, cuts her ground up systematically, in fine style, is fast, uniform in range and independent, an animal to be proud of anywhere.

The surprise of the stake was Mr. A. B. Sperry's pointer puppy Count Dick, fifteen months old. Uncertainty about his age prevented his entry to the Derby where he should have run. Count Dick, despite his youth and the exceedingly warm company in which he was placed, divided third with credit. A few more months will give him courage and independence. He now has pretty much everything else he needs.

Half of third went to Sirius, a grand dog, perfectly trained, with fine nose, style, range and pace. In his first heat Sirius was perfect, but he then let down, went off in nose, became rank and wholly unlike himself, and got all he deserved. The two unplaced dogs did not meet expectations. Nestor, as grand a mover as any dog, finely trained, in fine condition, raced about like a winner, but was deficient in nose. He should have pointed more birds—had fair opportunities and failed to do it. Dick Foote, upon whose showing in training high hopes had been predicted, was careless: off in nose and nothing like so fast as last year. It was hoped that President J. G. Edwards would be present both because he is a splendid presiding officer and because he has a way of keeping things moving wherever he is. The field trial grounds were in splendid condition and birds were plenty enough. The grounds have often been described, and are, as Judge Nelson often remarked, "the best in America."

The first stake run was

THE DERBY—MONDAY, FIRST SERIES.

SANKEY—LISSOME.—G. W. Bassford's pointer Sankey, handled by owner, and R. H Auerbach's setter Lissome, handled by M. D. Walter, were put down at 11 08 on Section 18, not far from the Red House in a willow-lined slough. After a little spin Sankey found a bevy, and was steady to shot, Walter also shooting, and Lissome being steady. On a back cast Lissome made two flushes across what little wind there was, and Sankey pointed one of the birds killed when the bevy flushed, and to order retrieved. Lissome, a little rank, flushed a pair and drew to a pretty point, was steady to wing and gun, moved on and again pointed, Sankey a little distance away, also finding a bird and pointing it. Both dogs were growing wild. Soon on a salt grass ridge, Sankey drew up on point; Lissome refused to back, ran in and pointed the same bird, but left the point and cast away. Sankey remained steady, and when Bassford killed, the dog was staunch. Through the few remaining minutes of the heat, Lissome scored two inexcusable flushes and two good points; Sankey three points, a refusal to back and a chase. Sankey had the pace, range, better style, and more bird sense. Up at 12.25, Sankey winning.

STEPHANIE-BEN HARRISON.—Stephanie, owned by the California Kennels and handled by M. D. Walter; Ben Harrison, owned and handled by Charles Studaurs. Down at 1:20 after lunch. Neither was up to a very high mark. Stephanie was over-cautious, and had almost to be lifted along. Ben Harrison hunted close to his handler, and did not seem to have a first rate nose. A bevy soon flushed wild from scrubby willows, and on the trail Stephanie pointed a single bird, and then another, being steady to wing both times. After a long round without finding in low alkali grass, Ben Harrison scored two pretty points and behaved nicely to wing and gun. Stephanie then drew up on a single, Ben backing to order, and both being steady to wing. Sent along, Ben flushed two birds, and at 2:30 the dogs were ordered up, Stephanie winning The heat might well have been shortened.

SALINA—ROSE.—Salina owned and handled by Judge C. N. Post and Rose handled by her owner, George W. Bassford, were cast off at 2 50. The race was highly interesting, although one sided. Salina instantly demonstrated herself to be one of the phenomenons of the year. Clean cut, spirited, always looking for birds, a tasty mover, although without stern action, high headed and it must be admitted hard headed. Salina showed herself almost a second Sweetheart. Rose was a little rank, although a very handsome worker.

Birds were scarce, Salina being able to score but one good point and being unsteady to wing. Rose made game once but when the bird ran the little bitch broke in. Running together in low grass several birds flushed wild by the dogs and at 3:35 Salina was given the heat.

TUESDAY—SECOND SERIES.

SANKEY—STEPHANIE.—Stephanie was given her head by her handler Walter and did excellently. She went squarely up to two covey points and picked up three singles nicely. Sankey was better handled than in his first heat, and nailed five single birds handily. Sankey was better in pace, range and style, but on the score it was anybody's race, the judges deciding in favor of Sankey after fifty minutes' work.

SALINA a bye, being the odd dog in the order of running.

THIRD SERIES.

SANKEY—SALINA.—At 1:30, after a luncheon enlivened by all the deviltry that Marshal Linville, Judge Nelson, and the other small boys could think of, Sankey and Salina were cast off to run for first money. Both were brilliant, but reckless. Salina cut out her work in splendid wide casts, and stayed out, after a long round pinning a single prettily, moved on and nailed another, Sankey refusing to back, running in and pointing the same bird. Then Sankey pointed a single bird, and stood to game. Sent along, Sankey pointed uncertainly, but was staunch when the bird was flushed. After a riotous race down wind, during which a dozen birds flushed before the dogs, the brace was taken up and Salina given the heat at 1.53.

FOURTH SERIES.

SANKEY—ROSE.—At 2:13 after the rulable rest second money was run off. Sankey being so clearly superior, and scoring three nice points in such snappy fashion as to win out of hand. Rose did some nice backing in the heat. The brace ran thirty two minutes when Sankey was given the race and second money.

WEDNESDAY—FIFTH SERIES.

STEPHANIE—ROSE.—At 10:30 A. M. on Wednesday third was settled, Stephanie showing the caution, and not making errors or being rank. In twenty five minutes of pretty work, Stephanie established a clear lead and was given the heat and third.

ALL-AGE STAKE.

SIRIUS—NESTOR.—Sirius handled by Wm. DeMott, and Nestor by Geo. T. Allender. Sirius ran a faultless race, although Nestor had the better pace and style. Nestor's range, though wide at times, was not uniform, and when in cover, he did not slow down sufficiently to enable him to keep his nose well ahead of him. Sirius soon pointed, and then again, Nestor backing to order, and both being steady, Sirius retrieving perfectly. Sent along in sedge where birds were running about, Sirius did some grand work in trying to head the birds, but could not stop them, and Nestor running in, flushed several. Nestor then made a swing along the edge of the sedge, and pointed nicely. Ordered on, Nestor again drew to point, moved on when the bird ran, and finally located it and stood to wing. Sirius, meanwhile, was working out a lot of cover, but could find no birds. At 11.40 Sirius was given the heat. Few dogs could have beaten his work.

PATTI CROXTETH T.—SUNLIT.—The race was the sensation of the trials. Patti was handled by Allender and Sunlit by Post. Both men were keen to win, and soon saw there was little choice between the dogs. The handlers lost their tempers, cross-fired at one another, the judges and everybody else. The heat really began at 1:24 after lunch, although the dogs ran twenty minutes before lunch, in nice cover, where scattered birds were plenty, and such a rattling succession of points has rarely been seen. Sunlit was marvellous in her certainty and judgment, two points in which she had the better of Patti. The work was so lively that no detailed report of each point could be kept. Sunlit found a bevy and rolled up eleven points on singles. Patti scored eleven good points on singles. Sunlit backed honestly; Patti at times had to be steadied on back by her handler. Sunlit made a slow, bad find on a dead bird. Patti's handler refused to kill a bird, and the bitch was ordered to retrieve a bird killed by Post, which she did indifferently. Both were quick and snappy among birds. The race was a close thing. At 2 o'clock, after one hour and forty minutes of actual running, Sunlit was given the heat.

DICK FOOTE—COUNT DICK.—Dick Foote handled by De Mott and Count Dick by Walter were cast off at 2:20. Dick Foote was heedless, rank, careless in cover, off in nose and not worth a cent in the early part of the heat. Count Dick moved about tastily, but was puppyish and lacked judgment! After twenty minutes of flushing by Dick Foote, a false point and a refusal to back, during which time Count Dick picked up three nice points and showed steadier to wing and gun Dick Foote settled down a little but could not over come the lead gained by his opponent! At three o'clock Dick was given the heat.

THURSDAY.—SECOND SERIES,

SIRIUS—SUNLIT.—A prettier pair is rarely seen, but as soon as the dogs were started it was seen that Sunlit was maintaining her extraordinary form, while Sirius had gone off at all points, slowed down and lost his caution and much of his nose, forgotten his bird sense, and was in all respects a different dog to what he was in the first series.

At 10.20, upon the bevy used on the first morning, the dogs were cast off. Lit had the foot of the race, and brave old Si was compelled to do more backing than he is accustomed to. Sirius is a perfectly honest dog, honors a back at any distance, and was handicapped by the fact. Lit soon scored a covey point, and then scored eight singles and a pretty retrieve. Sirius was credited with five good single points and perfect brace work. At 11:15 Sunlit was given the heat.

COUNT DICK a bye because he was the odd dog.

THIRD SERIES.

SUNLIT—COUNT DICK.—Count Dick was like the historic character who fell out of the balloon, he "wasn't in it." Sunlit had her mind with her, worked smartly and with perfect judgment, and won hands down. Count Dick made a nevy stand, but the only way he could catch Sunlit was to go the other way. Down at 12 and up at 12.14, with Sunlit a winner.

FOURTH SERIES.

COUNT DICK—PATTI CROXTETH T.—After a side treat to select a dog to run with Count Dick for second, in which Patti Croxteth T. beat Sirius, Patti and Count Dick were sent off for second.

Patti was all herself, worked as daintily and with as much dash as a dog could and although Count Dick held on bravely for an hour and a half, he could not level the scores, and Patti was given the heat and second money.

FIFTH SERIES.

COUNT DICK—SIRIUS.—The last race for third between Count Dick and Sirius was run for fifty minutes and then suspended. The dogs were about even, Count Dick perhaps having a shade the best of it. In the evening the judges placed the dogs equal third and the trials ended.

Sunlit Forever!

Hurrah! for little Sunlit. To be Sirius! She is the dog star. I am Posted if I am no judge! Last year at Bakersfield I looked on Sunlit as the greatest natural hunter on trial, but Black Joe was a born pointer—a diamond of the first water. Allender, that prince of trainers, had him fit to run for a king's ransom. The bitch Sunlit lacked the bird sense. If told last year to look in likely places for birds to range, no barren plains he would cover with his eyes, his educated brain taught him to use his nose except in cover. He did not range away from, but to cover. On a point was as staunch as iron.

All that Sunlit wanted then, I could see, was experience, the great and sometimes cruel master. Last year "Lit", as the jovial judge calls his treasure, was not steadfast in a point, but would leave her point, no doubt to relocate the moving bird, which to my mind is the acme of dog sense. Some dogs hunt for themselves, others for their masters. Those dogs who keep track of the game command the situation.

I am glad the rain did not dampen that ardor of men and dogs. In front of my roaring fire, I longed to see you all and grasp you by the hands; all hands afield grow young again, and discuss the merits of dogs, horses and men, and feel that touch of Dame Nature's hand which makes the whole world akin.

For precocity, as a rule (not to rule), give me a fair representative of the sex. Sunol holds the trotting scepter among horses, Sunlit holds it among dogs. Hurrah! for Sunlit! May many sons and daughters light up "our friend," the judges house and hearth, as did in bygone days, Sweethearts! P. J. SHAFTER.

OLEMA, January 28, 1890.

A joint meeting of committees from the Pacific Kennel Club and the California Kennel Club was held on Wednesday evening last at 436 Montgomery street, those present being Messrs. J. B. Lewis, Chairman; Clarence A. Haight, Secretary; Thomas J. O'Keeffe, J. B. Martin, A. B. Truman and J. M. Crane. Some desultory discussion of the financial condition of the clubs was had, but no conclusion reached. Another meeting will be held on Monday evening next at the same place.

Names Claimed.

J. C. Nattrass, Clearbrook, Wash., claims the name Glaucus for red Irish setter dog puppy, whelped Nov. 6, 1889, by Nat Glencho (Champion Glencoe—Maid)—Judith (Champion Brush—Lucille).

Aurora, for bitch puppy, same litter.
Diana, for bitch puppy, same litter.
Judy Jr., for bitch puppy, same litter.

Fred A. Taft.

Mr. Fred A. Taft, of Truckee, after eight or nine years of uninterruptedly pleasant intercourse with his fellow sportsmen of California, has returned to his home in Dedham, Mass., to remain. Mr. Taft was called from Dedham to Truckee to manage the Pacific Wood and Lumber Company, an institution controlling a vast territory of timber land, and having connections all over the coast. The call implied great executive ability in Mr. Taft, and the outcome has much more than justified the wisdom of the choice. His rigid business methods, tireless activity and incessant forethought, have contributed largely to the success of the company, beside making him a marked man in business circles, and a leader in the community where he made his home. He has longed for years to leave the hardships of his position for the comforts of his staid Massachusetts home, and we congratulate him upon bringing about the change, even though we lose the wise counsel, keen perception and deep knowledge of the life-long sportsman. Few better dog trainers have ever lived, and none more enthusiastic. We hope to hear of many years spent in sunshine by our friend.

Dr. I. W. Hazelet, San Bernardino, claims the name Strictly Business for a white and lemon pointer dog whelped Aug. 9th, 1889, by Scout Croxteth—Blossom.

H. T. Payne, of Los Angeles, President of the State Sportsman's Association and the Southern California Kennel Club, has been seriously ill with the grippe, but under date, January 30th, writes that he is convalescent.

Virtue is not always without its tangible reward. Last Tuesday we found Port Warden Charles B. Smith in Mr. E. T. Allen's store selecting a handsome collar for Mr. Austin B. Sperry's nervy little pointer Count Dick, which divided the All-Aged Stake with Sirius. Count Dick showed himself a grand puppy, and as he is only just too old for the next puppy stake, great things may be expected from him.

Trouble Bruin.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Cougar, wild cats and "bar" are unusually plentiful in Whatcom County, Or., this fall. Old Bruin has retired now for his winter's snooze. Next spring he will be "mosyin erreound," gaunt and hungry, in goodly numbers, and will afford the sportsmen some great "wing shooting." One or more bears are holed up near by and Sililicum and Jay will be after them to-morrow morning. Will send the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN an account. Over a dozen cougars have been seen and killed in this vicinity within the last month. They are hunting the deer incessantly (the cougars are), making our always wild and cunning black tail deer, if possible, even more cunning.

We have only a few more days open for deer. A number of wild cats and bears have been killed this fall. Hope to send you a description of some of our cougar and other big game hunts soon.

JAY SEE EN.

The Selby Smelting and Lead Company is sending out its price lists of Standard shotgun cartridges for 1890. The list covers about all peculiarities in loading that are likely to be met, and throughout all the variations one invariable rule is met, namely, that the utmost accuracy shall prevail. For evenness, excellence, convenience and cheapness the Standards have no equals.

Says the Redwood Times-Gazette, "Uncle Nate Comstock has two deer to his credit already this year."

Our exchange should use its most virulent language in characterizing Comstock's departure from right doing. He has no right to kill deer until July 1st.

Information comes from Jackson, Amador County, that irresponsible men are slaughtering the deer driven down by the snow in numbers. One hundred and sixty does are said to have been killed within a few miles of West Point bridge in two weeks, the carcasses being left to rot. If the District Attorney and officers of Amador are so incompetent or so careless as to overlook flagrant violations of the game laws, why do not some of the sterling citizens, of who so many are to be found in that favored section, take the law into their own hands, and penalize a few of the deer killers in such manner as is likely to suggest itself to a body of indignant citizens.

There will be a grand pigeon shoot at Lathrop on Wednesday, February 12th. The first match will be at fifteen single live birds, Hurlingham style. Entrance fee $7.50 Money to be divided into 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. prizes. The second match will be at ten single birds, 21 yards rise, use of one barrel only. Entrance fee $5. Money to be divided into 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. prizes. The third match will be at ten single birds, 30 yards rise, Hurlingham style. Entrance fee $5. Money to be divided into 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. prizes. The fourth match will be a team shoot between three members of the Stockton Club and three members of the Lathrop Club. Loosers to pay for a supper. The fifth match will be at fifteen single clay birds and five pairs of doubles. Entrance fee $2.50. Money to be divided into 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. prizes. Plenty of live and clay birds will be on hand, and the public are assured of a good day's sport. Shooting to begin at 10 o'clock. Messrs. Scarlett & Howland are managers, and their success with former tournaments is sufficient guarantee that the present venture will be all that can be desired.

ATHLETICS.

Athletic Sports and Other Pastimes.

EDITED BY ARIPHIPPUS.

SUMMARY.

At last the storm is at an end, but the time between now and Washington's Birthday is too short to allow the runners and walkers to get in good condition. The Athletic Committee of the Olympic Club very wisely postponed the opening of the new grounds until such time as everything will be in tip-top condition for the grand initial tournament. The Alpine Club, however, will hold its first out-door meeting on Sunday, February 16th, as the track at Harbor View, owing to its being protected by the trees, suffered but little from the effects of the heavy rains. The wheelmen and oarsmen have started in to practice, and in less than a month out door athletics will be in full blast once more. The postponed "Ladies' Night" of the Olympic Club, which will be celebrated next week, is attracting unusual interest.

RUNNERS, WALKERS, JUMPERS, ETC.

William Zehfuss, the amateur walker, has developed into a first-class boxer.

The postponed cross-country run of the Olympic Club, will take place at Milbrae to-morrow. The athletes who intend taking part in the run are requested to take the 10.30 A. M. train at Fourth and Townsend Streets. A splendid lunch will be provided by the club.

Fair's Athletic Park at Alameda will shortly be divided up into building lots. The grounds have been unoccupied for some time past, owing to the new law which requires all persons giving exhibitions to take out a yearly license of $500. The owner is willing to rent the grounds very cheap, and it is a great pity that some of the flourishing Athletic clubs across the bay do not jump at the chance and lease the place. By being properly managed, the park is bound to pay, as there is every prospect of a boom in amateur athletics during the coming season.

President M. C. Giry, of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club, has just recovered from an attack of la qrippe.

The five-mile handicap run, which will take place in the gymnasium of the Olympic Club on Thursday evening, February 27th, promises to attract a large field of competitors. Only members of the club will be allowed to enter. Three valuable medals will be awarded. Scott and McArthur will probably not enter, which fact will cause Cooley to be placed at scratch.

It is rumored that the championship games will not come off until July 4th, as the Olympic Club intends opening its new grounds on Decoration Day.

During the coming season the O. C. will probably hold a complimentary members out-door meeting once a month.

Several runners and walkers practice daily at the Bay District track.

After this month the Alpine Club will add a couple of open events to its regular monthly programme.

There is at present residing in the city a young Irish amateur athlete who is credited with having thrown the 16 pound hammer a distance of 110 feet. He will possibly represent one of the clubs at the next open out-door meeting.

A very large number of entries have been received for the Alpine games, which will come off at Harbor View Park on Sunday, February 16th, commencing at 1 P. M. The list will close at the club rooms, Murphy Building, at 10 o'clock this evening. Next week we will present the full list, with the handicaps attached.

A. Cooke, the champion heel and toe walker, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, has applied for admission to the Alpine Club.

Espinosa will enter the five mile run at the Olympic Club on the 27th inst. He has been practicing hard for some weeks past and should make things warm for Cooley.

In the half and one mile runs at the coming Alpine games good time will most unquestionably be made Cassidy, Little, Moody, Garrison, Larkey, Tauk and Eldridge will be amongst the starters.

For the half mile novice walk there are a dozen entries and the judge will need to keep his eyes open.

An individual all round championship meeting will probably be held under the auspices of the P. C. A. A. A. during the coming season.

The cinder path at Berkeley is getting into good shape again and the students will soon be able to resume out-door practice.

In a few weeks the members of the Alpine Club will hold their first cross country run from the athletic grounds at Harbor View across the Presidio to the Cliff House and return. Members of other clubs will be invited to join in the run.

Frank O'Kane, of the OC, indulges in an occasional spin and he should certainly win a medal at the next open meeting.

Dave Egan informs us that he may appear on the cinder path again. He is thinking about joining the Olympic Club.

John W. Flynn thinks of entering the sprint events at the championship games.

It is thought that Lucas, the old time amateur, will make his appearance again this year. Many are of the opinion that he would beat Purcell in an all round contest.

The interest in amateur athletics is evidently increasing and before the close of 1890, many of the Pacific Coast records will have fallen by the way side.

J. W. Geoghan and V. Hancock, two well known local athletes are at present giving exhibitions of boxing, club swinging and wrestling up north. They are under engagement to appear at several theatres in Oregon and Washington Territory.

The following is the definition of novice according to the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union:

A "novice" is one who has never won a prize in any athletic competition open to the members of two or more clubs, and his status shall be determined by his record when the entries for such event closed.

According to this ruling several amateurs who have heretofore been barred out of "novice" races will in future be eligible to compete.

Several of the leading Eastern sporting journals at the present time are presenting their readers with full lists of American and English athletic records. The Turf, Field and Farm and The Spirit of the Times have been devoting considerable space to this kind of matter for some weeks past.

Professors Watson, Zellner and Johansen have been engaged by the Occidental Club to instruct the members in boxing, wrestling and gymnastics. The class nights will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

It is to be hoped that Professor Corbett will not be too hasty in arranging matches with some of the Eastern crack fighters. Mr. Corbett is still a very young man, and although he is possessed of considerable science and grit, he should not be too ambitious in the start. His friends regret that he ever went into the fighting business, for a pugilist is certainly an enemy to society. When Jim Corbett was engaged as boxing instructor to the Olympic Club, his social standing was never questioned, but now that he has actually descended to the level of a prize fighter it can hardly be expected that he will be received with the same eclat among his former society friends. Mr. Corbett is far above the calling of a common fighter, and we earnestly hope that his career as a pugilist will not be of long duration. There is still a chance for him to return to his more honorable profession.

A good many of our local athletes are unaware of the fact that a good rubbing down after exercising is just as beneficial as the exercise itself When a man rushes into a dressing room sweating and out of breath he should always, if possible, have a friend to rub him down. No man, no matter how experienced he may be, can get into first class condition without the aid of a rubber.

IN THE SURF.

Albert Sundstrom, the champion all distance swimmer of America, died at the German Hospital on Saturday last of typhoid pneumonia, brought on by a cold contracted while giving exhibitions in the surf at the Cliff House. He has been residing on the coast about two years, during which time Pinckham, the ex-Pacific Coast champion, met with defeat at his hands on more than one occasion. Sundstrom was born in New York and was twenty-six years old at the time of his death

It is safe to predict that an active interest will be taken in swimming during the coming year. The Terrace Club was re-organized a couple of months ago and the present members are determined to make a good showing while the season lasts. There are quite a number of excellent swimmers connected with the Lurline and Alpine Clubs, and as both organizations have their own bathing quarters, many exciting contests will doubtless be witnessed during the summer months. The three clubs will no doubt join hands and give exhibitions at intervals during the season.

AT THE OARS.

Henry Peterson, the champion oarsman of California, has commenced training and is seriously thinking about going to Australia in company with William O'Connor.

The newspaper war between Hanlan and O'Connor will most likely bring about a match between the two men at the Alameda Mole course before O'Connor sails for Australia.

Charley Long, the single sculler of the Pioneer Club, has had his shell repaired in anticipation of a match being arranged between himself and Henry Henceman of Stockton.

The Comyns Amateur four have commenced to take regular exercise in order to prepare themselves thoroughly for the coming regatta of the Pacific Rowing Association.

The Lurlines certainly deserve credit for their push and ambition. Even while the storm was at its heighest the young Lurline members were busy making preparations for coming events. Their first annual regatta will come off on Richardson's Bay during the month of May.

The Columbia Club of Oakland will enter an amateur barge four at the regatta this summer, and the knowing ones say that the crew will stand an excellent chance of carrying the championship to Oakland.

Since the split up in the crew representing the Ariel Club it is very hard to get a crew together who will train as faithfully as Shitkoff, Phelan, Coffy and Hanraham of last season's crew.

The Pacific Rowing Association will hold a monster regatta and picnic at the grounds of the Alpine Club at Harbor View during the coming summer. The matter will come before the regatta committee next week.

The Alameda Boat Club was organized on Tuesday evening last. The course will be located on the estuary, with headquarters at the foot of Chestnut St.

Oarsmen Henry Tauk is training for the sprint runs of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club. He is in splendid condition and recently ran 100 yards inside of 11 seconds.

I. I. Larkey of the Ariel Club is also a good runner and will oppose Tauk on February 16th.

THE WHEELMEN.

Affairs in the wheeling world at the present time are very quiet. The boys are just beginning to realize that the rain has actually stopped, and are making preparations to wipe the rust off their wheels.

The local riders will make an effort to secure a track and training grounds of their own this season. With so many wheelmen in the field there is no reason why they should not be successful in their efforts.

The next regular meeting of the Oakland Bicycle Club will be held at the residence of J. F. Revalk, 1789 William St., Oakland, on Tuesday evening next.

LAWN TENNIS

The California Lawn Tennis Club will hold an open handicap tournament, doubles only, on Saturday, February 22, 1890, commencing at 10 A. M., at the club grounds, southeast corner Bush and Scott streets. The first prize will be the "Gogging's Trophy" and a prize given by the club. A second prize will also be given to be played for by those defeated by the winning team. Entries close February 16, 1890. Entrance fee $1 each player. Friends of the club are cordially invited to witness these games. Luncheon will be served. Entries may be made to E. N. Bee, Secretary, 208 California street.

JOTTINGS FROM ALL OVER.

The proposed Armory of the Thirteenth Regiment, Brooklyn, N. Y., according to specifications issued, will be 400 feet long by 250 wide, and render a fifth of a mile track as well as well as a 125 yard straightaway possible.

The following list shall constitute a championship programme for associations which belong to the Amateur Athletic Union:

RULE VI.—CHAMPIONSHIP EVENTS.

Sec. 1. The annual championship events shall be as follows, unless changed by authority of the Board of Managers.

Sec. 2. Out-door field meeting.
100-yard run.
220-yard run.
440-yard run.
880-yard run.
1-mile run.
5-mile run.
1-mile walk.
3-mile walk.
2 miles, bicycle.
Pole vault for height.
Running high jump.
Running broad jump.
Throwing 16-lb. hammer.
Throwing 56-lb. weight for distance.
Putting 16 lb. shot.
120 yard hurdle, 10 fights, 3ft 6in high.
220-yard hurdle, 10 fights, 2ft 6in high.
Individual tug-of-war, unlimited weight.
Tug-of-war, 4 men, unlimited weight.

For the benefit of our readers we print a few of the most important rules recently adopted by the American Athletic Union:

RULE VII.—RECORDS.

A new record at any distance in swimming, walking, running or hurdling, in order to stand shall be timed by at least three timekeepers, and a new record at jumping, pole vaulting, or in the weight competitions shall be measured by at least three measurers.

The Amateur Athletic Union will not recognize any new record, unless a report of it is made to the Secretary of the Union, properly supported by the affidavits of the referee, timekeepers, scorers, starter or measurers, as the case may be, as to the correctness of the time, measurement, weather, hour of day and place, with signatures of at least six witnesses, including officials.

RULE XV.—TRACK MEASUREMENT.

All distances run or walked shall be measured upon a line eighteen inches outward from the inner edge of the track, except that in races on straightaway tracks the distance shall be measured in a direct line from the starting mark to the finishing line.

RULE XVI.—THE COURSE.

Each competitor shall keep in his respective position from start to finish in all races on straightway tracks, with one or more turns he shall not cross to the inner edge of the track, except when he is at least six feet in advance of his nearest competitor.

The referee shall disqualify from that event any competitor who willfully pushes against, impedes, crosses the course of, or in any way interferes with another competitor.

The referee shall disqualify from further participation in the games any contestant competing to lose, to coach, or in any way impede the chances of another competitor, either in a trial or final contest.

The finish of the course shall be represented by a line between two finishing posts, drawn across and at right angles to the sides of the track, and three feet above which line shall be placed a tape, attached at either end to the finishing posts.

The tape is to be considered the finishing line, and the order of finishing across the track line shall determine the positions of the competitors.

The rules for jumping will be given next week.

RULE XXIII—SWIMMING.

Section 1. Officials shall consist of one referee, three judges at the finish, three timekeepers, one starter, one clerk of the course, with assistants, if necessary.

Sec. 3. Duties and powers of these officials shall be the same as is prescribed for them in the foregoing rules.

Sec. 3. In the 100 yard swimming race each competitor shall stand with one or both feet on the starting line, and when the signal is given shall plunge. Stepping back either before or after the signal will not be allowed.

Sec. 4. The half-mile and one mile start shall be the same as the 100 yards, except that competitors may start in the water (tread water start) from an imaginary line.

Sec. 5. A competitor shall keep a straight course, parallel with the courses of the other competitors, from his starting station to the opposite point in the finish line. Competitors will be started ten feet apart, and each one is entitled to a straight lane of water ten feet wide from start to finish. Any contestant who when out of his own water shall touch another competitor, is liable to disqualification for that event, subject to the discretion of the referee.

Sec. 6. Each competitor shall have finished the race when any part of his person reaches the finish line.

CLUB JOTTINGS.

An important meeting of the Pacific Coast Amateur Athletic Association, was held on Thursday evening last, particulars of which will appear in our next issue.

A general meeting of the Alpine Amateur Athletic Club was held at the club rooms, Murphy Building, on Thursday evening. Final preparations were made for the coming games, and it was decided to lease the Eureka Turn Verein Hall on Powell Street, between Pine and California Streets, as permanent headquarters for the club The gymnasium is 110 feet by 44, and is 30 feet high. Several new members were elected. The club will move to its new rooms early next week.

The California Athletic Club still exists, despite Mr. Dally's effort to "break it up." The members would have attached more importance to the ex-Director's bombas had he spoken earlier in the day. To say the least, it was contemptible of Dally to prefer the charges after he discovered that he was not wanted any more on the "Board."

A very successful athletic entertainment was given by the Acme Club of Oakland on Tuesday evening last. The rooms were crowded to their utmost capacity, and perfect order prevailed throughout the entire evening Aa S 30 Tom Cleary, of the Acme Club, and Will Hogarthy, of East Oakland, stepped into the ring and opened the fun with a four-round exhibition. There were several knock downs during the bouts. Hogarty proved himself to be cleverest of the two. Billy Gallagher, of the Acme Club, and Hugh Gallagher, of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, next gave a clever exhibition in a three-round sparring contest, in which both won considerable applause for scientific displays. J. Kitchen, Jr., the amateur heavy-weight champion boxer of the Pacific Coast, and a blacksmith from East Oakland named Mike Sullivan, followed in an exhibition of science vs. strength. Kitchen merely played with his muscular opponent, much to the amusement of the audience. W. Sharp and L. Wolf, both light-weights of the Acme Club, sparred three rather tame rounds, and when they left the ring the Master of Ceremonies announced that the next contest would be the event of the evening, which was to be a six-round match between Fred Irvin and Walter Smith for the feather-weight championship of the club, and a $50 trophy. R. McArthur, of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, acted as referee, and his club mates, Eugene Van Court and Tom McCord, as judges. The men shook hands at 9 30. The battle was a hot one from the start, and during the three first rounds, Irvin was knocked down several times, and it looked as though the affair would end in a "knock out." In the fourth round Irvin recovered his wind, and attempted to do up Smith in short order. He was too weak, however, and at the end of the sixth round, referee McArthur decided that Smith had fairly won the match.

THE FARM.

Dehorning Cattle at Windsor Farm, Denver Col.

There has been and is a great controversy as to the cruelty (or otherwise) of Dehorning cattle and also as to the benefits produced by it, and lastly whether a race of polled cattle can be produced by dehorning for a few generations. In regard to the two former propositions, the experiments conducted at the Windsor farm, would tend to prove there is no pain, while a Kansas Stockman says every one wanted dehorned cattle. We quote a full description of the experiments at Denver from the Denver Republican which says:

"Windsor Farm, lying seven miles Southeast of Denver, is perhaps the model farm in Colorado if not in the West. It embraces over 1000 acres under a high state of cultivation. Stockmen and agriculturists travel for hundreds of miles to witness the remarkable system of farming and stock raising which is there carried on under the management of Mr. Willard F. Morse, of the firm of Bush & Morse, who own and conduct the wonderful ranch.

Among the celebrated features of the Windsor farm, not the least is its herd of Holstein-Friesian cattle. Including pure bloods and high grades there are over 200 head of these cattle on the farm, of which number 103 are milkers, furnishing the favorite product of the Windsor dairy, the net profit during the past season of which was nearly $20,000. These 100 spotted beauties are carefully stabled and each one of them averages 2 lbs. of butter per day. The first impression of a visitor who walks down the long aisles and observes the cows quietly feeding, is that they are muleys. In one respect they are. They have been dehorned. The horns of every one of the 103 cows have been sawed off close to the head. It is claimed that the dehorning makes them more tractable and quiet, and less liable to injure their companion cows; that in consequence they become better milkers and heavier animals for market. The good effects are no longer disputed, but a great deal of discussion has been going on for years over the question as to whether the practice was not cruel and should not be suppressed by law.

So warm has the debate become that the Humane Society of this city, learning of the practice of dehorning cattle at Windsor place, took the matter up and even threatened to take legal steps to put a stop to what the society conceived to be cruelty to animals, and it was this state of feeling which induced Manager Morse to give a public test of his method and its results, and if it was decided that the method was inhuman and cruel he would hold himself amenable to the law.

In pursuance of this intention Mr. Morse issued invitations to a number of prominent citizens, stockmen and a well-known veterinary surgeon, also to Secretary G. H. Thompson of the Colorado Humane Society, and members of the press, to visit Windsor farm and witness the dehorning process, with a view of determining whether the method was cruel and inhuman, as its opponents claimed.

The invitation was accepted by all the gentlemen with exception of Secretary Thompson or any representative of the Humane Society. About 25 gentlemen drove out to the farm and found everything in readiness to dehorn 25 head of cows and a two year old thoroughbred Holstein bull. The cows had recently been purchase by Mr Morse in Nebraska, and are all high bred Holstein-Friesians, in fair condition, though not up to the flesh carried by the oldest resident of the ranch. Among those present were General William L Campbell, Judge Amos Steck. Charles Limburg, a prominent stock raiser of Western Colorado; Mr. Stokes, a large Monna ranchman; Dr. Charles Cresswell member of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, London, and manager of the Colorado Veterinary Hospital; Mr. Gooding; a Republican representative, and others.

The modus operandi of dehorning a cow is extremely simple. Only three things are necessary: A cow, a stock and a sharp meat saw such as is used by butchers in cutting steaks. The animal is driven into a narrow stall or chute and its head fastened between two upright posts or bars which are opened and closed at the top by means of pulleys and rachets. A halter is thrown over the head, which is then pulled to one side, when an able-bodied man can saw the horns off in from eight to ten seconds.

The first animal, a fine young Holstein cow three years old, was driven into the stall at three o'clock. She was quickly fastened, and Superintendent Hunt sawed both horns off in nine seconds. The animal was somewhat restive, but made no outcry. When released she shook her head and walked to a trough and began licking salt. The stump bled to some extent, but the hemorrhage soon ceased. Nothing at all was applied to the wound, and the animal seemed to take no notice of it after the first few minutes following the operation.

The second cow was dehorned in ten seconds, the third in twelve and the fourth in eight seconds. A young heifer was made a muley in five seconds. She bawled once while the operation was being performed, and then walked off chewing her cud. It was evidently like pulling a tooth; there was momentary pain and it was all over. Sometimes a stump suppurates for a few days, but stockmen present said they never heard of a case resulting fatally. One cow was drinking at the water tank when driven into the stocks. Her horns were amputated in seven seconds. She kicked and plunged at a lively rate, but when released walked placidly to the tank and finished quenching her thirst.

The most interesting features of the operation were the observations taken by Dr. Cresswell, who made minute tests as the operation proceeded. He found that while the horns were being sawn off the animal's respiration and pulse each rose from four to six degrees, but subsided within ten minutes after the subject was released. There was also a proportionate rise of temperature during the operation, but this, too, became normal in a short time. In order to ascertain whether it was pain which caused the increase in respiration and pulse, a cow was driven into the box, her neck fastened and tied in the usual manner. At the end of ten seconds—the length of time required to saw her horns off—it was found by actual test with instruments that the respiration had risen from 46 to 52, and the pulse in the same proportion, showing, as Dr. Cresswell maintained, that the increase was due to excitement and restraint and not to pain.

Dr. Cresswell is of the opinion that sawing the horn itself is comparatively painless, and that whatever acute pain occurs is caused by the saw cutting through the skin which surrounds the base of the horn and that it is but momentary or lasts only as long as the operation of sawing continues. He does not believe that the operation is near as painful as the cruel practice of pressing a red hot branding iron against the side or hip of a cow; neither does the pain continue so long. When a cow is branded it almost invariably bawls in agony. Out of the 26 head of cattle dehorned at Windsor farm recently but two gave way to an expression of pain. One was a heifer who was thoroughly frightened and the other was the bull. He was not in pain, but he was mad.

Manager Morse, who has closely watched the result of dehorning, says that it renders the animals as docile as sheep. There is no bully in the crowd and no bulldozed animal covered with gashes caused by the horns of the bully. The dehorned animals flock together like sheep, eat and drink contentedly and consequently are more cheaply kept and take on flesh more rapidly than a herd of horned cattle In regard to to the ultimate effects of dehorning, a Kansas stockman says;

"Last March we had 1046 head of yearling steers; of that number we dehorned 800. We pastured them through the season. All did well. Could see no difference in the growth of those that had horns and of those that had none The past two months we sold the entire lot in bunches of 50 and 100 head to feeders. Now here is the difference: Men in looking over our steers to get a bunch, all wanted dehorned cattle. There are other very important reasons we discovered for dehorning. We kept all our steers in pastures fenced, some fenced with wire some with Osage hedge. We kept the hornless ones separate from those that had horns, except a few that had horns we put in with 250 without horns. These steers were in pasture fenced with hedge. Those steers that had horns in the latter part of the season gave us trouble breaking through the hedge, while the dehorned ones were much more quiet and gave us no trouble in that way. We had the same experience with those confined within our pastures. We kept 450 head, all dehorned, on one pasture during the season; saw no disposition at all with them to huddle in bunches, tramp each other's feet and produce mud holes. I would say, dehorn everything—cows, steers and bulls."

The Windsor farm is devoting its dairy department entirely to Holsteins. A small herd of Galloways are still on the farm, but it is the intention to dispose of these and keep none but Holstein. These are dehorned when about two years old. It is the opinion of scientific breeders that the system of dehorning if kept up will result in a breed of polled cattle superior in all respects to their horned ancestors.

Good Jersey Beef.

Whether it ever will be possible to select a strain of Jerseys whose surplus male calves will make either veal or beef cheaply we cannot tell. We think it to be quite possible. But there is no doubt about the power of the Kerry to produce such beef and veal makers as well as prime dairy cows. There was no more perfect beef steer in the whole of the classes than Mr. M. J. Sutton's Dexter-Kerry steer No. 251. He weighed 10 cwt. 1 qr. 3 lb. at forty months old, and was prime beef everywhere; and would probably dress 66 per cent. to 68 per cent. of carcass. Animals cannot, in these classes, be got ready for competition at only a year's notice. We do not at all doubt that Jersey breeders will do more in these classes in future years. Still, it must be chronicled that, so the first year's experience goes, the small breeds at Smithfield Club in 1889 go not to either of the Channel Islands breeds, but to the Dexter-Kerry. To the merit of producing wonderful little milch cows must be added that of producing finished Christmas beeves holding their own with the very finest English and Scotch beef cattle.—London Live Stock Journal.

Changing the Color of Birds.

Starting with the observed fact that canaries fed with cayenne pepper acquire a ruddy plumage, Dr. Sauermann, of the Berlin Physiological society, has based upon it a scientific investigation of canaries, fowls, pigeons and other birds. From these he obtained the following results: Feeding with pepper only produces an effect when given to young birds before they molt; the color of the feathers of older birds cannot be affected. Moisture facilitates the change of color to a ruddy hue, which is again discharged under the influence of sunlight and cold. A portion of the constituents of cayenne pepper is quite inactive, as, for instance, piperin and several extractives, similiarly the red coloring matter alone of the pepper has no effect on the color of the feathers.

It is rather the triolein, which occurs in the pepper in large quantities, together with the characteristic pigment which brings about the change of color by holding the red pigment of the pepper in solution. Glycerine may be used instead of triolein to bring about the same result. The same statement holds good with regard to the feeding of birds with aniline colors. The red pigment of the pepper is also stored in the egg yolk as well as in the feathers. The first appearance of the pigment in the yolk may be observed as a colored ring four days after the commencement of feeding with the pigment dissolved in fat. After a further two days' feeding the whole yolk is colored.—Ex.

"Meat" for the Veterinarians.

Capt. I. G. Heaps, of Annawan, Ill., came up to get points on a lump jaw question and succeeded in finding at Hess Bros., where the 109 head were killed a remarkably good specimen of a jaw-bone that was enlarged by the disease. At the lumpy part the bone was nearly twice the normal size, and there were tubes leading into the marrow. Capt. Heaps thinks that the disease is not communicable to the human family and quotes Prof. Williams of England and Prof. Jennings of Philadelphia as his authorities. He says there is no recorded evidence that any sickness ever proceeded from eating the flesh of cattle with lumps on their jaws, and believes that the veterinarians who have lately raised such a hubbub about it have taken it up as an eligible fad after they have worn the "pleuro-pneumonia racket" about thread-bare.

Lump jaw, or actinomycosis, he declares, can be cured easily with the pen knife, before the bone becomes affected. He has removed hundreds of tumorous formations on the jaws of cattle, and says that after washing the wound with carbolic acid it heals up so thoroughly that no one could tell that anything had been the matter with the animal. Capt. Heaps thinks that while there is no real danger from eating the flesh of lumpy jaws, it is best to be on the safe side and condemn such stock, especially where the bone or saliva gland have become affected.

Before the veterinarians found that actinomycosis was a good thing for their business there were just as many lump jaws as now, and as the animals fattened and thrived as well as others, people used them for food purposes without any thought of danger. The captain admitted that he would not knowingly eat the flesh of such an animal, but at the same time said it was more prejudice than anything else and was about on a par with the prejudice which would prevent him from eating horse flesh, though he knew it would not hurt him.—Drovers' Journal.

Race Track for Sale.

The One Mile Track & Grounds
—OF THE—
Sonoma County Agricul'l Park Association, Situated at
SANTA ROSA, CALIFORNIA,

Consisting of 84 acres fine agricultural land, 00 Box and Cattle Stalls, a two story Pavilion 60x120, commodious grand stand, and many out-buildings, a lovely Park of 15 acres, rolling ground, ornamental, nut and native oak trees; a fine cypress "windbreak" hedge 1 mile around the track, and abundant water facilities. MOET & CHANDON
CHAMPAGNE!

The following is from Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular (New York) for January, 1890:

"Moet & Chandon
Imports
During the year 1889 were 17,389 cases, an INCREASE
Over the Importations of 1888 of
Upwards of 52 per cent,
This is a Success
(In figures of this magnitude)
UNPARALLELED IN THE HISTORY OF THE TRADE,
And it shows the enormous feats that a house of the capacity of Messrs. Moet & Chandon is capable of performing when properly backed by their Agents in the United States"

Saratoga Association.

The large number of entries from California to all the principal events in the programmes of the Eastern Associations show that more horses will be raced on the Atlantic Coast representing owners from this State this year, than ever before. Already the columns of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN have contained the advertisements of the leading jockey clubs, and now that old reliable body, the Saratoga Association, proclaim to our readers this week, their list of stakes for both the first and second meetings of 1890.

More money is offered this year than ever before, and there will be many endeavors made to pluck the rich plums offered so freely by the Saratogians. After a heavy campaign at Latonia and Chicago, there is no place in the East where horses will recuperate so fast as they do at the "City of the Springs," and it is a well known fact that horses show higher average form at Saratoga than at any other point on the circuit. The course is one of the best graded, and surely one of the safest, in the country, which, when taken into consideration with the salubrious climate, freedom from mosquitoes, and the purity of the water, makes it one of the most desirable places East to take race-horses. The usual thirty days racing will be given, and already the association has secured the services of Furman T. Nutt, Esq., as presiding judge and Mr. James Sheridan as starter. The Californians who are going to take horses back, or who have horses already in the East, should read the announcement carefully and make entries at once.

Overland Park.

The Overland Park Club Association, of Denver, Col., held their annual meeting on Saturday, Jan. 11th. The report of Superintendent Hall showed the affairs of the club to be in a very satisfactory condition, with a handsome profit on the year's business. The following Directors were elected for the ensuing year: James H. Carille, Joseph K. Choate, William Daniels, B. H. DuBois, Edward Eddy, George H. Estabrook, Phil Feldhauser, A. P. Fowler, Wm. R. Mygatt, D. D. Streeter, N. M. Tabor, J. H. P. Voorhees, and Henry R. Wolcott. The club will hold two meetings during the year 1890, in May and October. The club will also give matinee races once each week during the summer. Both the regular meetings and the weekly race days will provide for trotting, pacing and running races. As will be seen in the advertising columns, the Association announce their stakes for the spring meeting, and with their accustomed liberality have added to the stakes with a bountiful hand. There are two stakes for two year olds, two for three year olds, and two for the all aged horses. The distances are from half a mile to a mile and a half, and it is pleasant to note that neither of the three year old events are at less than a mile. The Denver Trotting Stake is also announced for colts and fillies three years old and under, that have never beaten 2.30. The nominating fee is very light, and this should warrant a large entry list. There has been such an interest manifested in superior breeding throughout Colorado. Utah and Montana that the meeting should be one of the best ever held in Denver. The officers elected are all energetic men, and no effort will be spared to provide for the comfort of those who may become patrons of the Overland Park Club.

Goodwin's Guide.

The annual edition of the now indispensible Goodwin's Guide arrived by mail on Thursday morning, too late for more than a passing notice this week. As usual, it contains the result of every running race which took place during 1889 of which authentic information could be obtained; racing fixtures for 1890; winners of stakes in 1889; scale of weights for the United States; Jockey mounts during 1889; "fastest time" made last year; some of the largest paying mutual pools; fastest time on record; running horses that have died since January 1, 1889; list of horses whose names have been changed during the year; jockeys' lowest weights and to whom engaged for 1890; race track terms and phrases; betting rules and interesting turf events; in fact, it is a perfect encyclopedia of racing matters, and no one can afford to be without it. The Guide is issued by Goodwin Bros., 241 Broadway, N. Y.

On a Trip.

The proprietor of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, Mr. James P. Kerr, has gone East as a delegate to attend the National Trotting Association, which convenes at Buffalo, N. Y., on the 12th inst. Before his return he will visit many of the principal cities of the East, and a many of the large breeding farms as time will admit of.

New York Jockey Club Entries.

The new club located at Westchester will have very successful meetings this year if the entries are any criterion to go by. Although in their infancy as yet, the association made such a bid for public favor last year that the assurance was given that they had come to stay, and the horsemen seem ingly realize that fact, for the best horses in the country have been entered, and almost every State in the Union is represented. The following is the complete total received in each stake:

SPRING MEETING, 1890 - Galliard, 128; Larchmont, 113; Anticipation 105; Van Nest, 101; Debutante, 117; Casanova, 92; Trial, 55; Bowling Brook Handicap, 85; Baychester, 86; Throgg's Neck, 60; Toboggan Slide Handicap, 117; New York Jockey Club Handicap, 68; Westchester Cup, 34; All Breeze, 74; Fort Schuyler, 50.

FALL MEETING, 1890—White Plains Handicap, 270: Dunmow, 230 Fashion, 141; Farewell, 93; Pelham Bay Handicap, 89; Protectory, 114; Echo, 56; Peytona, 58; Country Club Handicap, 97; New Rochelle 83.

FALL MEETING, 1892—Matron Stakes, 979.

The following stakes will also be run at Morris Park, under the supervision of the American Jockey Club:

SPRING MEETING, 1890—Belmont, Withers, Ladies, Juvenile.

FALL MEETING, 1890—Hunter, Jerome, Titan, Mosholu, Nursery.

California is well represented in all the events, Mr. Haggin alone having almost 130 entries in the Matron Stakes. The Bowling Brook Handicap for three-year-olds, one mile and a furlong, have entries from the Golden State, as follows:

Haggin, J. B., blk c Fernwood, Falsetto—Quickstep; b c Hawkstone Hindo—imp Queen Maud: ch f Rosette, Joe Hooker—Rosa B

A Current Falsehood Exposed.

LEXINGTON, Ky., January 18, 1890.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—It is due to parties concerned that the following correspondence be made public:

NATIONAL TROTTING ASSOCIATION,
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT,
LEXINGTON, KY., Jan. 4, 1890.

MR. CHARLES GREENE, ST. LOUIS, MO.—DEAR SIR:—I have received from a correspondent a clipping from a Chicago paper, which had before escaped my notice, in which you are reported as saying:

"The overtures for consolidation came from the National some time ago, and so eager were the officers of that body to bring about such a result that they offered to step down and out and offered to accept the officers of the American as the governing board of the proposed association. We refused to accept the proposition for several reasons. I am firmly convinced that this country is entirely too large to be governed by one body with central organization. The only plan on which the National and American Associations could combine would be for each to retain its present staff of officers and appoint an executive board from the two associations to confer together. This is hardly necessary, as it would not bring the two bodies much nearer together. We work in perfect harmony now, and any horse ruled off by either party is debarred from races given under the auspices of the other. I think that is the nearest we will ever come to consolidation."

These statements require a response at my hands, and I do not feel authorized to assume that you are correctly quoted without first calling your attention to the language and asking you to inform me if you are. Trusting you will favor me with an early reply, I am very respectfully,

P. P. JOHNSTON.

ST. LOUIS, January, 6, 1890.

JUDGE P. P. JOHNSTON, LEXINGTON, KY.—DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 4th inst. to hand. The clipping referred to in your letter, and reported as emanating from me is not true.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES GREEN.

It is a matter of regret that currency should have been given to an irresponsible statement that carried on its face evidence of a reckless regard of truth, conclusive to the mind of every well-informed horseman; especially when the aim of the fabrication was to arouse antagonism hurtful to the horse interest.

Very many thoughtful breeders and horsemen believe that the existence of two independent powers, administering law on the same subject matter in the same territory, is a misfortune that ought to be remedied. The personal business relations of the enlightened breeders and horsemen throughout the country are of a cordial character, and they work together harmoniously for the advancement and elevation of trotting interests. When anything of an irritable character, calculated to perpetuate the differences that unfortunately occurred a few years ago, is thrust before the public, it is, as a rule, without respectable paternity, and may be traced to some parasite on the trotting interest, who hopes to fatten on the disease he creates.

Personally, I would have no hesitation about making overtures to gentlemen engaged as I am in trying to promote the same general purposes, if I was authorized and the occasion seemed opportune. In so far as we differ now, the difference is an error of judgment on the part of one or the other. When we can agree upon what is right, we will have found the common ground where all will meet.

P. P. JOHNSTON.

Los Angeles.
A horse sired as you state would not be standard. He has not a single qualification.

J. F., Merced.
The pedigree of Butte was given in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of January 4th. Judge J. McM. Shafter, of this city, might furnish you with further information.

W. P. F.
1. I wish you would find out for me how many races Vashti trotted and what is her best record. 2. Who bred her? 3. Is this right or not: Vashti, by Chieftain, dam by Nena Shaib (thoroughbred(, grandam by Jim Crow (thoroughbred)?

Answer.—Five races, as far as we can find out. Her record is 2:32½. We do not know who bred her, but she was formerly owned by J. C. Pray of Stockton. You have the sire and first dam right, but we cannot verify the second dam.

T. G. D.
Is Muldoon a standard horse, and was he sired by George M. Patchen, Jr?

Answer.—Give his breeding as far as you know it, and also his owner or the breeder.

E. H. C.
Oblige by giving the full breeding of Dexter Prince, also of Peerless by Gen. Knox. Can you inform me where they now stand?

Answer.—Dexter Prince is by Kentucky Prince, dam Lady Dexter; 2d dam Dexter's dam by Seeley's American Star. We cannot place the other horse. Dexter Prince is standing in this State.

J. E. E.
Please give the records of Emma G. and Sunflower, sired by Elmo; also, please give the sire of L. C. Lee, pacer record 2:15.

Answer—Emma G, 2:27½. Sunflower 2:28. While L. C. Lee has been credited to Elmo for several years, it is now generally accepted that his sire was Walker's Elmo.

Jas. M. Givern, Saint John, N. B.
On page 532 in your paper, in answer to correspondence, you mention January's St. Lawrence's 2nd dam by Williamson's Belmont. Can that be the St. Lawrence horse that sired the Mackey mare now owned by L. J. Rose? If you can tell me I would be much obliged.

Answer.—The St. Lawrence to which you allude was probably a son of January's St. Lawrence and was called Roadhouse's St. Lawrence, but it is almost impossible to prove that he was the sire of the Mackey mare.

Laurel Dale.
The picture you allude to appeared March 2nd 1889. Have forwarded copy.

J. W. H.
Please let me know the pedigree of the horse Bummer and also that of Buccaneer, the first was owned at Rincon, and the other made two season there.
Answer.—We do not know either horse,

Playboy.
Kindly answer the following queries through your valuable columns. (1) Has McCracken's Black Hawk any record? (2) Did McCracken's Black Hawk get any trotters, if so, enumerate and give record. (3) Also pedigree and record of Jim Monroe.
Answer.—(1) No. (2) Sisson Girl, 2:28½. (3) Jim Monroe by Abdallah 15, dam Lizzie Peebles, said to be by Wagner. He has no record.

R. S.
Have the goodness to answer through your query column what registered number the stallion Kentucky has. He is owned by J. B. Haggin, is by Whipple's Hambletonian 725, out of Mossmare, she by Kentucky Hunter (sire of Borneo 2:23, Wormwood 2:25) and is claimed to be standard.
Answer.—Kentucky has no number; he is not standard.

R. A. R.
Will you please give, through the columns of your valuable paper, the breeding of Reveille, recently owned by Ben Hill of El Cajon? It is the general opinion here that he was sired by Shiloh, but there is a man here that says he knew the colt when John Treat bought him, and that he was not sired by Shiloh. This man, J. Green by name, says he has forgotten his pedigree, but he is sure that Shiloh was not his sire.
Answer—See answer to Los Angeles.

F. W. H.
Please inform me if the stallion Pick Pocket is a registered thoroughbred; if so send me the number of his registry, with his pedigree; also his record. I think he ran on the Bay District track and at Stockton in 1886; also what his position was in the races.
Answer—Horses are not registered by numbers in the Stud Book. He is entered on page 500, Vol. 5 Bruce's American Stud Book. He is by Joe Daniels, dam Mattie C. by Specter, 2nd dam Pet by Melbourne Jr., etc. He was owned by Col. C. Dorsey, and started four times as a three year old; he did not win a race that year (1886). He was last in each of two races at Glenbrook Park, and third in a race at Stockton.

Los Angeles,
1. Give extended pedigree of Dan M. Murphy. 2. Is he o' a racing family? 3. What near relations has he of note? 4 What is the pedigree of Shiloh by Cosmo? 5. What is the pedigree of Margery, dam of Shiloh? 6. What is the pedigree of Reville?.

Answer.—(1.) Dan M. Murphy, foaled 1886 by Imp. Speculator, dam Leona by Prolific; 2nd dam Peri by Hurricane; 3rd dam by Glencoe Jr.; 4th dam by imp. Onus; 5th dam said to have been by American Eclipse. (2.) As far as the records show, no. (3.) None of note. (4.) Shiloh foaled 1862 by Cosmo, dam Fanny Harper by Grey Eagle; 2nd dam Julia Ann by Medoc; 3rd dam by Imp. Eagle; 4th dam by Gallatin; 5th dam by Albert; 6th dam by Union, etc. (5.) Margery is not the dam of Shiloh, as you will see by the above. (6.) The pedigree of Reville is given as by Shiloh, dam by Norfolk,

J. W. M.
Please give the breeding in full of Jim Hawkins (sire of Tamarack 2:28, and Belle B 2:26½). He was bred and owned by Judge Hutton of Yolo, now deceased, and sold by him to Captain Johnson of Southern Calfiornia. Jim Hawkins is now standard under rule 3, and it will be of interest to many who have some of his descendants to know his breeding. He was certainly a remarkable horse. Living in comparative obscurity, with little or no opportunity in the stud, with nothing in his pedigree to induce any one to train his offspring, yet he has two fast trotters to his credit.
Answer.—Jim Hawkins is a son of Jack Hawkins, son of Boston. His pedigree and history is not recorded in any of the authorities.

Enquirer.—Can you give me the pedigree of the horse known as Die'z's St. Clair.
Answer.—Mr. Dietz was asked to answer and the following is his reply.—
EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—In reply to your favor of January 28th, the following is as correct a statement as I can give you as to the breeding of Deitz's St. Clair. The grandam was brought to this State from Kentucky, by James Hornet in 1859. She was of Diomed stock; color, blood-bay; height about 15½ hands In crossing the plains she got in foal by a Black Hawk stallion. The get was a black mare foal. At three years old I bred her to Miller's St. Clair. The get was a black horse colt, foaled in 1864, May 2d, I named him Young St. Clair, but within the last ten or twelve years he was known only as Deitz's St. Clair. His color was jet black, with heavy mane and tail; left hind foot white; solid built. His height was 15 hands and 3 inches, well coupled, fine disposition, rather high strung, good bottom and a square trotter. I drove him to a heavy buggy in three minutes. He died one year ago last Fall at Vacaville, Solano County. He was then the property of Mr. Hawkins.
In your issue of September 14, 1889, was a cut of Junio; it is a true picture of Deitz's St. Clair. I remain, Yours truly, L. DIETZ.
WOODLAND, February 1, 1890.

Names Claimed.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I claim the name Stammoor for my two-year-old black colt by Stamboul, dam Moormaid by The Moor.
Rayannette for brown filly foaled April 29, '89, by Anteeo, dam Debonair by Sultan.
Sparrow Wilkes for bay colt foaled March 1889, by Guy Wilkes, dam Birdie by Pelmere.
ROBT. S. BROWN,
Petaluma.

Foals of 1890.

On January 16th Alice B., by Admiral, foaled a chestnut colt by Woodnut. The only white is a small star. I have named him Alwood.
M. KEMPER, Oakville.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Following foals since last advice, viz.:
B c by Wildnut, dam Victoria by Don Victor.
B c by Nephew, dam Wildflower by Electioneer.

THOROUGHBREDS.

Br f by Flood, dam imp Goula by Exminster.
B f by imp. Cheviot, dam imp. Fairy Rose by Kisber.
Ch c by imp. Cyrus, dam imp. Laelia by Carnelian.
B c by Flood, dam imp. Rosetta by Struan.
B f by imp. Cyrus, dam imp. Getaway by Balfe.
Yours truly, S. C. FERGUSON.

Quarter Stretch Gossip From the South.

Santa Ana is the smallest two year old at the Santa Anita Ranch. She is a May foal, which probably accounts for her diminutive stature.
Here is a piece of news: Los Angeles can trot a mile any day in three minutes, and Bob Campbell thinks she could do 2:40 with a little training.
Ed Ryan, the popular lessee of the Agricultural Park track, now drives one of the finest teams in the State.
Horsemen here are anxiously awaiting the weights for the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps.
St. David, one of the greatest stallions ever seen on a track in this part of the State, is kept in obscurity at the ranch of Machado Brothers. He has only been bred to one thoroughbred mare.
Mayor Hazard drives Don Tomas every day in his buggy. He is the owner of the Del Sur gelding. Your correspondent enjoyed a drive behind Don several days since.
Jockey Monaghan is here. He expects to ride for the Rose string.
Magdalene is the only horse under the weather at Santa Anita.
It is on the tapis that Lucky Baldwin will breed a number of his mares to Cheviot.
George Vignola has sold Rosemeade, the Wildidler--Dutchess filly, to Stover & Davis.
Ex-Senator Del Valle is one of the staunchest admirers of fast stock in this section of the country.
A stallion who will be seen on the California circuit this season is Radcliff. His breeding is right for a good campaigner, being by Pilot Medium out of Fury by Durango. Ed Smith imported this stud last year.
Capt. T. B. Merry has been enjoying the balmy air of Southern California, but has returned to San Francisco.
A match is on the tapis between Charley Durfee's Leonora by Dashwood and Dr. K. D. Wise's mare Semi Tropic, and the first time he drove her the circuit was made in 2:32½.
Dal Williams, formerly under trainer for Lucky Baldwin, is now located at Latonia. He has a select string of three racehorses in training, one of which is Bob Campbell's Protection, the winner of the Junior Championship.
Genial Tom Rodman has sold out his pool rooms to Fitzgerald & Co. Mr. Rodman will in all probability locate in San Francisco. He will be missed in Los Angeles.
Lee Brown, the jockey, is no longer connected with the Santa Anita flyers. The youngster, who is a promising rider, has secured a good berth with a Kentucky stable.
Ogrita is the tallest two year old at the Baldwin Ranch.
The misses at Santa Anita are principally those who were stinted to Emperor of Norfolk.
Mr. Len Bush, who is shortly to retire from the Santa Anita Ranch, is of the opinion that Verano will make one of the best stallions at Santa Anita.
"Kentucky" John, who came down here with the Palo Alto horses purchased by L. J. Rose, is a great admirer of Argyle, whom he says is the greatest young stud in the West.

RECORD 2:28, (Full Brother to Rosa Wilkes, 2:18 1-4), Sire of Nine in 2:30 List at 10 Years Old.

First dam Gurgle, pacing record 2:20; trial of 2:15¼ for W. H. Crawford; by Pocahontas Boy, sire of Buffalo Girl, 2:12¼; Raven Boy, 2:15¼, and ten others in the list.
Second dam Matlock by Grey Diomed.
Third dam by Tom Hal.

DESCRIPTION.

Brown bay, right hind foot and left inside hind heel white. Foaled May 20, 1887. Bred by W. H. Wilson, Abdallah Park, Cynthiana, Ky.
He is a grand individual, large boned, fine size and appearance. When fully matured will probably be 16 hands, and weigh 1200 lbs.
Is of speedy conformation and level headed. His blood lines are stout and fashionable, being the Wilkes and Mambrino Patchen on pacing and thoroughbred foundations, and from a family of producers on both sides.
Can be seen until February 1st at Agricultural Park, Los Angeles, in charge of C. A. Durfee, after which he will serve ten approved mares at $60 the season, with usual privilege of return in 1891, at Lockhaven Stock Farm, Burbank, Cal. Mares kept on grass $3 per month, and extra charge where grain and alfalfa are fed. For further particulars, address

The Pure Trotting-bred Stallion

ILLUSTRIOUS

STANDARD No. 4178.

DESCRIPTION.

Dark bay, black points, 15 1-2 hands high, weight 1060 pounds, foaled May 30, 1885; bred by General W. T. Withers, Lexington, Ky.

PEDIGREE.

By Happy Medium, sire of Maxey Cobb 2:13¼ and 52 with records of 2 30 or better. First dam Abdalletta by Cassius M. Clay Jr., sire of Durango 2:23¾ Harry Clay 2:23¾ and sire of the dams of Minnehaha, Bertha 2:27¼, Charley West 2:28¾, Grandmont 2:25 1-2, Lottie K 2:26¾, Mambrino Diamond 2:26, Richwood 2 28 1-2, Topsy 2 29¼, Happy Thought 2 27 1-2, Pequot 2:23 1-2, Fairlawn Medium 2 27 1-2, Folley 2:27¼ and Mambrino Boy 2 26 1-2; second dam Laura Crockett by Almont, sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Puritan 2 16, Fanny Witherspoon 2 16¾, Piedmont 2:17¼, Alpine 2.19¼ and 37 with records better than 2:3 ; third dam Sally Tee by Alexander's Abdallah, sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14; fourth dam Kate Crockett, the dam of Lulu 2:14¾, by imp Hooton.

Illustrious is a horse of extra fine finish, large clean bone, good feet, back short and strong, loins and quarters well muscled, and powerful. He has a kind disposition and splendid trotting action, and is as handsome and bloodlike in form and finish as any trotting stallion in the land.

He is pronounced by his breeder, General Withers, to be the best bred son of Happy Medium living, and is undoubtedly one of the very best bred trotting stallions in the State. He has had but six weeks' regular training, and a part of that time was sick with epizootic, but was trotted quarters in 39 1-4 seconds, and barring accidents will certainly trot better than 2:30 this season.

TERMS—$50 the season. Mares not proving with foal may be returned next year free.
Good pasturage at $3 per month.

Season to begin February 1st and end June 15th.

STALLIONS, BROODMARES AND FILLIES

ONE STALLION FIVE YEARS OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lily Stanley, 2:17 1-2 Homestakes 2:16 1-2, etc.), dam Sally Gorham by Werner's Rattler. This horse is scarcely 15 1-2 hands high, but very compactly built. He breeds exceptionally large and well finished colts. Any one understanding the business could clear him in one season, or he would make a No, 1 road horse, as he can trot a 40 gait any time.

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD, SEAL-BROWN, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2: 17 1 2, Homestakes 2 16 1-2, etc.) dam Sally Gorham, etc. This ought to make a great General Purpose sire, and with opportunities get trotters. as he is compact, strong-boned, and will measure when grown about 16 hands and weighs 1,200 lbs. With a little road work last fall be developed a wonderful burst of speed.

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD, BLACK, by WHIPPLETON (sire of Lilly Stanley, 2 17 1-2, etc.), dam by Nanbuc (sire of the dam of Eva W, 2:23 1-2, etc.), full brother to Thomas Jefferson, 2 23. This horse will be fully 16 1-2 hands high. He is smooth. rapid gaited and from size and conformation should breed, like his sire, large, rangy, finished colts.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BRIGHT CHESTNUT, sired by DAWN 2 18¾, dam Alida (dam of Directa, three-year-old record 2:31¼, trial 2:26) by Admiral (sire of sister 2:19 1-2. Nona Y 2:25, etc). This colt is the making of an extraordinary horse. He is large boned and will be over sixteen hands high when grown; he is of the true Nutwood type, is clean gaited and can lead a piece as fast as any man's colt.

ONE TWO-YEAR-OLD, BLOOD BAY, (full brother to Alcona Jr. sire of Silas Skinner trial 2:23) sired by ALCONA (sire of Flora Belle 2:24, etc.,) dam Madonna by Cassius M. Clay Jr. This colt will make a trotter and a great stock horse if developed; he has the combined blood of Almont, Mambrino Chief, Cassius M. Clay Jr. and Joe Downing.

These colts are all sound and promising. The only reason I offer them for sale is, that I have three aged stallions in use, and the surplus is growing on me. If I were starting a breeding business for profit, I should consider either of these colts a representative to commence with. Also brood mares and fillies for sale. Correspondence solicted.

IMPORTANT SALE OF

Standard Trotting Mares Young Stallions and Fillies,

ROAD AND DRIVING HORSES

Farming Implements, Etc.

By direction of MRS. SILAS SKINNER.

Mrs. Skinner having determined to retire permanently from the breeding of Fine Stock, has decided to offer at

PUBLIC AUCTION

Thursday, March 6, '90,

at 12 M., on the Premises.

THE WELL-KNOWN

WOODSIDE FARM,

Near Napa,

The brood mares at Woodside are among the choicest in the State. Among them are mares by Almont, dam by Alexander's Abdallah; by Cassius M. Clay Jr., dam by Joe Downing; by Cassius M. Clay Jr., dam by Richelieu son of Mambrino Chief; by Duke of Orange Jr, dam by Cassius M. Clay Jr.; by Almont Mambrino, dam by Blood's Black Hawk; by Alcona—dam Fontana, dam of Flora Belle, 2:24, and Silas Skinner, trial 2 23¼—by Almont; by Alcona Clay—dam Metamora, dam of Clay Duke, 2:31¾—by Duke of Orange Jr. These mares have been bred to Director, Noonday, Mountain Boy and Wildwood, and are with foal. The young stallions are by Sitka, son of Alaska, by Electioneer, Whippleton, sire of Lillie Stanley, 2:17¾, Alcona Clay, etc. About twenty head well-bred trotting and driving animals will be sold in addition to the standard bred horses.

Catalogues giving extended pedigrees and full information are being prepared, and will be forwarded upon application.

At the conclusion of sale of horses,

WOODSIDE FARM

will be sold.

WOODSIDE FARM is situated three and a half miles from Napa City, up the river, upon what is known as the middle or big ranch road. It contains 57 1-2 acres of the choicest quality of land for alfalfa or any kind of grain, 40 acres being now in alfalfa over a foot high. The land produces from four to six tons of hay to the acre, of choice quality. Five of the fields are in pasture, four in alfalfa, one in timothy, the other kept in hay or grain necessary for stock, though well adapted for alfalfa. There is a nice orchard, small vineyard, and comfortable dwelling house of nine rooms. There is a good school house directly opposite, the best in the county. As to its adaptability as a stock ranch: There is living water in every field, and plenty of it, corrals and stock yards, stable room for forty horses, besides seven good box stalls two good stables, granery, etc. It is within two miles of the Napa Agricultural Society's race track, the finest constructed in the State for years. Should there not be sufficient land, 62 acres adjoining can be purchased at reasonable figures.

There is no more eligible location in the State for a small stock farm, and this affords a rare opportunity, with the stock, to at once engage in this remunerative pursuit.

The sale will be positive. Upon all sales of Live Stock and personal property, one years' credit will be given on approved notes. Interest 10 per cent. per annum. Three per cent. discount for cash.

Upon Land. one-half cash: balance can remain upon mortgage for a term of years to suit purchasers. Interest eight per cent. per annum.

Vehicles will be in attendance at Napa Depot to convey parties to the farm. Lunch will be served upon the ground.

Mrs Skinner having large interests in Oregon which will require her personal attention during the greater portion of the year, compels the sale of the Woodside Farm.

Parties are invited to visit the farm and look over the stock. The undersigned will be glad to give any information required, either as to stock or ranch.

A HALF BROTHER TO

ALMONT PATCHEN,

(2:25, trial 2:13 3-4).

JUANITA JR. is a beautiful bright bay, black points, with no white, foaled 1886. As a colt he has given much more promise than did Almont Patchen at the same age Instead of being a pacer, he is a good square trotter, with every indication of great speed, and is so gentle and kind, that a lady can drive him. The owner's only reason for selling him is that business calls him away from this section of the State. He will be sold at a reasonable figure. This is a splendid opportunity for a gentleman to secure a first-class trotter at a very low figure.

The pedigree of Juanita Jr. is by Juanita (sire of Almont Patchen), dam Nettie Moore by Old Tom Moore. For further particulars, address

The Bay Stallion

AFTERNOON, 6543.

AFTERNOON was foaled in 1884, sired by Almont McGregor 1 75. dam Minnie by General Hatch 39; second dam Lucy by Prophet [Weed's]. son of Prophet. He is a very gentle, intelligent, level headed and pure gaited trotter. He is a remarkable foal getter, and his colts are handsome, game and speedy. He will be sold at a reasonable price. Reason for selling, ill health of the owner.

ALSO

A Handsome Brown Road Mare.

Can trot easily better than 2:40 to a Chicago cart or light buggy. Stands 15¾ hands high, weighs about 1050 lbs. She is by Green's Bashaw, and is very handsome, tough and speedy. Will be sold at a reasonable price.

Anteros Nutwood

ONE OF THE

Best Bred Young Stallions in the State.

DESCRIPTION.

Bay horse; black points; no white. Foaled in 1887. Bred by M. Carter, at the Nutwood Stock Farm, by Anteros 6020, by Electioneer, and full brother to Anteeo, 2:16¼, and Antevolo, four-year-old, record 2:19¼.

First dam Newark Belle by Nutwood, 2:18¾, and half-brother to Maud S., 2:08¾—Queen of the Turf.

Second dam Tilly, 2:40, by San Bruno, by David Hill, by Vermont Blackhawk. This colt is very large of his age, and looks enough like Sunol to be her full brother.

If there is anything in breeding, this horse ought to make a good one.

Electioneer and Nutwood are his grandsires, both serving mares at $5 0 each. Nutwood is half-brother to the fastest trotter in the world—Maud S., 2:08¾; Electioneer, the sire of the fastest three-year-old, Sunol, 2:10½.

TERMS.

This colt will be limited to ten mares, outside of my own, for $50 the season.

Mares not proving in foal can be returned the following season by paying difference in price, if any.

The National Trotting Stallion

PILOT NUTWOOD (Cyrus R.)

Will make the season of 1890 at the stable of T. W. Barstow, corner of San Fernand Street and Wilson Avenue, San Jose.

TERMS.

$50 for the season, with usual return privileges, by paying difference in price. No fee if this horse does not secure a record of 2:30 or better in 1890, barring accidents. Limited to 15 outside mares. Season from February 1st to July 1st, 1890. The best care and attention given to mares, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. Good pasturage at $3 per month on 100 acres of the best feed in Santa Clara County.

DESCRIPTION.

Pilot Nutwood, 2:42, black horse; small star; foaled in 1881; 15¾ hands; was worked five weeks, and got a record of 2 42 as a three-year-old; he was not worked again until 1888; after having six weeks work, showed his owner a mile in 2:26, and the last half in 1 10½. Sired by the mighty Nutwood, 2:18¾, half-brother to Maud S., 2:08¾—Queen of the Turf.

First dam Belle by Jack Roberts, half-brother to Old St Clair; 2d dam by Shakespeare, thoroughbred, Jack Roberts by Eclair or Leck, and he by old pacing Pilot, and his dam by Copperbottom.

This gives Pilot Nutwood two crosses of the great Pilot blood, coming through both sire and dam. This is the kind of breeding that breeders should be looking after in order to get to the front.

CHALLENGE.

To back my assertion made in the San Jose Mercury in December last, I will match this horse against any trotting stallion in San Jose, one or two-mile heats, any time after July 1st. The parties accepting this challenge can set the time and track, and I the right to name the amount. For further particulars, address,

T. W. BARSTOW,

ST. NICHOLAS.

A Son of the World Renowned

SIDNEY,

Will Make the Season of 1890, at the Oakland Trotting Park.

ST. NICHOLAS was bred by Mr. G. Valensin at the Arno Stock Farm, Sacramento Co., California, in 1885. He is a beautifully proportioned bright bay horse, 15.3 hands high: is well muscled, lengthy, and lots of bone, with splendid natural action and a phenomenal turn of speed. As a three-year-old he easily worked three heats on the Oakland Track in 2:32, 2:29 and 2:27¼. His breeding is just what one would expect from such a highly formed bloodlike horse. Sidney, his sire is the most successful young stallion—whether for getting pacers or trotters—America has ever seen and no wonder for his blood lines are exceptional fine and are all trotting lines, Santa Claus, Strathmore, Rysdyk's Hambletonian and Abdallah, while Sweetness again runs back through that great sire Volunteer, to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and also through her dam to Rysdyk's Hambletonian and Harry Clay 45, the sire of Electioneer's dam. St. Nicholas' dam is by Echo, an exceptionally prepotent son of Hambletonian thus giving St. Nicholas four Rysdyk's Hambletonian crosses and further back a Harry Clay cross which with his grand dam's thoroughbred cross should make him invaluable in the stud.

TERMS: Fifty dollars the season, which will commence on the 5th of February and close on the 1st of July. Due care will be taken of mares, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes.

Mares taken and kept as desired by the owners, and at reasonable rates.

THE MAMBRINO Patchen Stallion.

MAMBRINO JR., 1789 (formerly Carr's) Sire of Lady Ellen 2:28 (dam of Ella 2:29), Maud H. 2:30, Mambrino Boy (Carr's) 2:31 1 2.

Will stand at my farm, 2 1-2 miles north of San Jose, on the Milpi as road. Season to commence February 1st, 1890, at $60, with return privilege 1891. Fifteen mares of approved breeding, besides my own, will be given him. Parties owning good mares, performers or out of producing dams, will find an opportunity to breed them on shares, and the best of care taken of them till colt is weaned, if so desired.

PEDIGREE.

MAMBRINO JR., 1789, by Mambrino Patchen 58 [full brother of Lady Thorne 2:18 1-4] by Mambrino Chief 11. First dam by Mambrino Chief 11; 2nd dam by imp. Jordan [thoroughbred]; 3rd dam by Bertrand, son of Sir Archy; 4th dam by Chewkees, son of Sir Archy.

The Great Son of Buccaneer

SHAMROCK,

Two-Year Old Record of 2:25, beating the World's Record 4 1-2 Seconds when made.

SHAMROCK

- Buccaneer 2656 — Sire of Shamrock, 2:25, Ivy, 2:31½, Flight, 2:29, (dam of Fleet, 2 24, at 2 yrs.), Flirt (dam of Memo, 3 y. o. trial, 2:20½, etc.), Orphan Girl, 2:32½, Pride, 1 yr. 2:42½; 2 yr. 2:32½, Cora, 2 y. o. 2:44, etc.
  - Iowa Chief 528 — Sire of Corisande, 2:24.
    - Green's Bashaw — 16 in 2 30 or better — By Vernol's Black Hawk
    - Topsy.
  - Tinsley Maid
    - Flaxtail.
    - Fanny Fern.
- Fernleaf, 2:28 — Dam of Goldleaf, 2:11¾, 4 yrs, Shamrock, 2 yrs, 2:25, Thistle, 2 y. o. trial, 2:26, Ivy, 3 yrs 2:31½, etc.
  - Flaxtail — Sire of Fernleaf, 2:28, Prairie Bird, 2:28¼, Empress, 2:29¾, Lightfoot, 2:32.
    - Pruden's Blue Bull.
    - untraced.
  - Fanny Fern
    - Irwin's Tuckahoe — By Herod's Tuckahoe — Sire of dam of Smuggler, 2:15¼.
    - Dau. of Leffler's Consul.

As will be seen from the tabulated pedigree and performances above, Shamrock is not only a phenomenal horse himself, but his ancestors on both sides have shown themselves to be uniformly producers of GREAT and PARTICULARLY early speed, and his record like many others of his family was made in a hotly contested race, instead of a trial against time.

HE IS NOW IN SPLENDID FORM, AND I TRULY BELIEVE WILL LOWER HIS RECORD TO 2:15 THIS YEAR.

TERMS, $100, with usual return privilege, for a limited number of CHOICE mares, season ending June 1st.

Electo.

By Antevolo 2:19½ by Electioneer, dam Captain Webster (sire of dam of Adonis 2:15), by Williamson's Belmont.

Electo, while but three years old this spring, is, as well as being grandly bred, a great individual.

TERMS, $50, with the usual return privilege, limited to 15 approved mares. Season to end June 1st.

Imported Cleveland bay stallion

Elegance.

(Registered in Cleveland Bay Stud Book No. 75.) Prize winner over twenty of his own breed in the GREAT YORKSHIRE SHOW OF ENGLAND.

The Cleveland Bays are the most prepotent coach horses in the world, and their get from ordinary mares makes the most stylish and serviceable horses for that purpose that can be raised. Rich bays with black points having the preference over ALL OTHERS.

TERMS $25, with usual return privilege, season ending July 1st.

Care taken but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. Pasturage, $5 per month. For further particulars call at or address me at my hospital, where horses will make the season.

WHIPPLETON is not only the sire of trotters, but he is the greatest sire of Carriage Horses on the Pacific Coast. Some of the best carriage and road teams in San Francisco are sired by Whippleton. A carriage team by Whippleton received First Premium at Napa, Petaluma, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton and San Jose. Whippleton and his colts have never been beaten in the show ring.

DESCRIPTION.

WHIPPLETON is black, tan muzzle and flanks, 17 hands, and weighs 1,100 lbs. Most of his colts are 16 hands or over, and with a few exceptions, bay, brown or black. He never sired a sorrel or white face colt. (If he does, I agree to refund service money.)

PEDIGREE.

WHIPPLETON, sired by Hambletonian Jr. (sire of Hancock 2.29), by Whipple's Hambletonian (sire of Graves, 2 19 Westfield, 2:20½, Express, 2:24, and 12 others in the 2 30 list), dam Lady Livingston (dam of Lady Blanchard, 2 26½, Bloomfield Maid, trial 2:22), by General Taylor (sire of the dams of Wells Fargo, 2:18¾, Nerea, 2:23½ Bickford, 2:29½, Lady Blanchard, 2:26½, etc., and sire of grandam of Hazel Wilkes, 2:20) by the Morse Horse 6, sire of Norman 25 (sire of Lulu, 2:14¾, May Queen 2:20, etc.).

TERMS at $50, limited to 20 mares, for the season, usual return privileges. I would like to get about ten well bred mares with the proper combination of blood to breed to Whippleton on shares this season.

Alcona 730.

Sire of

FLORA BELLE - - -	Record	2:24
CLAY DUKE - - - -	"	2:31½

ALCONA will be a great sire, but four of his colts have ever been trained, and all have shown full miles better than 2:30, and two of them as good as 2:20. Two of his first sons each sired a colt as a two-year-old, and last season one as a four-year-old trotted a full mile in 2:23½, and the other, a three-year-old, a mile in 2:31. With opportunities, Alcona is destined to be one of Almont's best sons. Almont, for his opportunities, is beyond doubt the most prepotent sire of his age. He has 36 representatives in the 2:30 list; 49 sons and 22 daughters that have already produced 2:30 performers. Almont died five years ago at 20 years old. If he lived he would be but 25 years old.

PEDIGREE.

ALCONA sired by the great Almont (sire of Westmont 2:13¾, Fanny Witherspoon 2:16¼, Piedmont 2:17¼, and 34 others with records better than 2:30, and grandsire of Belle Hamlin 2:12¾, etc.); by Alexander's Abdallah (sire of Goldsmith Maid 2:14), he by Rysdyk's Hambletonian. Alcona's dam, Queen Mary, by Mambrino Chief (sire of Lady Thorne 2 18 1-4, and 5 others in the 2:30 list, and sire of the dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17¼, Onward 2:25 1-4, Red Wilkes, Almont, Belmont and many other noted sires).

DESCRIPTION.

Alcona is a beautiful chestnut 16 3 1-2 hands high, and weighs 1300 lbs. His colts possess speed, style, finish and beauty, and if they don't trot they command the highest prices for carriage horses.

$40 for the season. Usual return privilege.

Grandissimo,

Full Brother to GRANDEE, Three Year Old Record 2:23 1-2.

Sired by Le Grande [son of Almont and out of Jessie Pepper, by Mambrino Chief. Jessie Pepper is the dam of Ione 2:17 1-2, Alpha 2:23 1-2, and granddam of Montezuma 2:29¾. First dam Norma [dam of Grandee 2:23 1-2], by Arthurton [sire of Arab 2:15, Joe Arthurton 2:20 1-2, etc.]; second dam Nourmahal 2:39 [full sister to A. GRANDISSIMO, with limited training as a three year old last year showed 1-4 mile in 3? seconds, and, barring accidents, will trot fast next fall.

Limited to 20 mares at $50 each; usual return privileges.

Season on Grandissimo ends June 1st, 1890.

Season on Whippleton and Alcona ends July 1st, 1890.

Best kind of pasturage at $4 per month. Mares kept in any manner desired.

DESCRIPTION.

SILVER BOW is a handsome bay, no white; 15-2¼ hands high; weighs 1075 pounds; of fine form, with the best of legs and a clean cut, intelligent head. Is remarkably level headed, seldom making a break; wears 8 ounce shoes in front. His record 2:37, is no mark of his speed; he can beat 30 easy, and with his gilt-edge breeding, he is just what he ought to be, a trotter sired by a trotter whose dam was herself a trotter and his grandam the dam of two trotters. His dam Sadie being by Hambletonian 10, shows him to be bred from the cream of the trotting blood.

TERMS: $100 for the season. Mares not proving in foal returnable for the season of 1891 free of charge. Good pasturage and first-class care taken of mares for $5 per month. No responsibility assumed for escapes or accidents. For further particulars, address

Limited to 15 approved mares.

ANTEEOP, 3 years old, by Anteeo

ANTEEO. Standard 7868. Record, 2:16 1-4. He by Stanford's Electioneer, and dam Columbine.

DESCRIPTIONS, PEDIGREES AND CONDITIONS.

"SUNSET" is a rich, dark bay, small star on forehead, portion of hind left foot white; was foaled March 1885; is by ANTEEO and the inbred HAMBLETONIAN mare, BESSIE G, she by KING PHILLIP, son of WHIPPLE'S HAMBLETONIAN. He is 16 1 2 hands high, and weighs 1,200 lbs. He is of perfect build and splendid action, cool headed and great speed for his size, having trotted a trial mile as a three-year-old in 2:36. He then entered heavy in the stud and was matched against Whalebone at the Healdsburg races November 2, 1889, winning just as he pleased in three straight heats; time, 2:47, 2:46 1-2, 2:52 1-2. He was then matched for a race to come off last Thanksgiving Day at Petaluma but owing to the heavy rains the event did not take place. A few days previous to Thanksgiving Day Mr. Lawrence worked Sunset out and then he trotted three square miles and heats in 2:33½, 2:34 and 2:37.

SUNSET will be bred to 40 mares only, at $50 each, no colt no pay.

"ANTEEOF" is a jet black. was foaled April 13, 1886, is 16¼ hands high, and weighs 1,200 lbs., has a very fine, heavy black mane and tail; is well proportioned, moves majestically. is of easy, lofty carriage; is symmetrical, in fact is a beautiful horse. He was sired by Anteeo and the O. A. Taylor mare "Nance," her dam, was raised by Dr. Oliver Plummer, of Consumnes, Cal., and sired by "Napoleon"; Napoleon was foaled May 1853, and raised by James Kyle of Butler County, Ohio. He was sired by Benj. Sweet's horse Bellfounder, and he by Old Bellfounder, his dam was sired by Doc. Daniel Melligan's horse, Cadmus, G. G. sire the celebrated Eclipse; his G. dam was sired by Big Shakespeare, G. G, sires dam by Messenger and Expedition.
ANTEEOF will be bred to 25 mares only, at $50 each. No colt, no pay.

"ANTEEOP" is a rich seal brown: was foaled March 7, 1887; by Anteeo and the inbred Hambletonian mare Bessie G., also dam of Sunset, his full brother and Midget his full sister; he is 15 1-2 hands high and weighs 950 lbs, and measures 22 inches around the arm, good head, fine neck, full, broad breast; withers and rump on nearly equal line, well proportioned bones, ankle, shoulders, loins and hips; strong legs all around, with great muscular development and splendid sinews; wirey pasterns and sound, compact feet; the lines from hip to hoof show power and speed; stands square and has excellent action, has a superb lustrous coat of rich deep brown fur of seal color without defect; an even, honest trotter, and has gone the mile as a two-year-old in 2:43, the last quarter in 38 seconds; is intelligent and of high spirit, with much temper, but is not vicious, has very fine eyes, is a handsome, showy colt; attractive in harness.
ANTEEOP will be bred to 15 mares only, at $50. No colt, no pay,
SEASON to commence February 1st, ending July 1, 1890. Book now ready. Apply to John H. Lawrence, "Manager and Trainer," on my fruit and hop ranch, 1 mile east of Court House, on Sonoma road, excellent pasture furnished with running water, also dry knolls with oak shelter, at $3 per month for mares. The Stanford Stakes for 1892.

FOALS OF 1889.

OPEN TO THE WORLD.

MILE HEATS.—Three in five. Entrance $100, with $100 added for each starter over two and up to five head, and $25 for each additional starter up to ten head. Payments: $10 on March 1st, 1890; $10 on January 2nd, 1891; $10 on January 2nd, 1892; $20 on May 1st, 1892; and $50 on the fifth day preceding the first advertised day of the meeting at which the stake shall be trotted.

CONDITIONS.

First payment, whether for purses payable in installments or for stakes, MUST ACCOMPANY NOMINATIONS, or they will not be considered.

Neglect to provide payments on the dates stipulated will incur forfeiture of all previous payments.

No horses and colts owned on the Pacific Coast by others than members of the P. C. T. H. B. A. are eligible to the above purses and stakes (excepting the Stanford stake), but horses and colts OWNED outside of the Pacific Coast are eligible thereto regardless of membership.

All States and Territories lying in whole or in part west of the Rocky Mountains are held to be part of the Pacific Coast.

The Directors reserve the right to change the hour and day of any race except when it becomes necessary to ante-date a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days notice of change by mail to address of entry.

Entries not declared out by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race, shall be required to start.

When there is more than one entry to a purse or stake by one person or in one interest, the horse to be started must be named by 6 P. M. of the day preceding the race.

Purses and stakes will be divided into four moneys, viz., 50 per cent. to the winner, 25 per cent. to the second horse, 15 per cent. to the third horse, and 10 per cent. to the fourth horse.

No added money will be paid for a walk-over. If only three horses start in a stake race, only first, second and third money shall be paid—if but two start, the Directors reserve the right to call it a walk-over, and divide the stake money paid in, two thirds to the winner and one-third to the second horse. In case of a walk-over, only the money received from entries to said stake will be paid. In purse races, three horses will be required to start.

A horse distancing the field shall only be entitled to first and third moneys.

The Board of Directors reserve the right to declare any purse or stake filled or not filled without binding itself to any specified number of entries.

Trotting and racing colors shall be named by six o'clock on the day preceding the race, and MUST be worn upon the track.

Otherwise than the above, National or American Trotting Association Rules—as this Association may select—will govern the stake and purse races offered.

Persons desirous of making entries in the above purses and stakes, and who have not as yet joined the P. C. T. H. B. A., should make application for membership to the Secretary, and remit the sum of $25 to cover membership fee before March 1, 1890.

THE PROGRAMME FOR

Aged Horses--Trotters and Pacers,

AND FOR SPECIAL EVENTS, will be announced at the proper time.

CALIFORNIA NUTWOOD

Will stand for mares the season of 1890, commencing February 15th, and ending July 15th, at the NUTWOOD STOCK FARM, one mile from Irvington.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE.

He is a dark chestnut, with star in forehead; foaled September 16th, 1881; is 16 bands 1½ inches high and weighs 1250 pounds. Has a beautiful flowing mane and tail, with remarkable style and lofty carriage, a bold, open movement like his sire, but has never been handled for speed. He moves and looks like his sire, except that he is a larger horse.

CALIFORNIA NUTWOOD by Nutwood, record 2:18¾, has 32 trotters and pacers with records from 2:15 to 2:30, and put 8 in the 2:30 list in 1889. He is the only horse that ever lived with a record under 2:20 that produced five under 2:20. He is now serving mares at Dubuque, Iowa, at $500 for the season, and his colts at yearlings sell from $2500 to $5000 each. He is out of the dam of Maud S., record 2:08¾.

Nutwood, by Alexander's Belmont, sire of 32 with records from 2:15½ to 2:30. Alexander's Belmont by Alexander's Abdallah, sire of Goldsmiths Maid, record 2:14, and 5 others in 2:30 list. Alexander's Abdallah, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, sire of 41 with records from 2:17¼ to 2:30, and is the founder of the Hambletonian family.

FANNY PATCHEN, dam of California Nutwood, by George M. Patchen Jr., record 2:27, and sire of Wells Fargo, 2:18¼, Sam Purdy 2:20½, Ben Ali 2:2 ¾, and 7 others from 2:21 to 2:30. He has 7 sons who together produced 12 trotters in 2:30 list, and 5 daughters who together produced 5 trotters and 1 pacer in 2.30 or better. He sired Alexander 2:31½. Alexander sired Alex. Button 2.26½; Alex. Button sired Yolo Maid, pacing record 2:14 at 3 years old, the fastest on record; George M. Patchen Jr., by George M. Patchen 2:23½, is sire of Lucy 2:18¼, and 3 others in the 2:30 list; he has 12 sons who together produced 40 trotters from 2:14¾ to 2.30, and 6 daughters who together produced 6 trotters in 2:30 list or better, he is grand sire of Hopeful 2:14¾, and best wagon record 2:16½, and sire of the granddam of Stamboul 2:12½.

George M. Patchen, by Cassius M. Clay, and he by Henry Clay, founder of the Clay family.

Laura, second dam of California Nutwood, was a fine large bay mare, a very fast roadster brought from Chicago by Wm. Wilson, of San Jose, and is said to have made a record of 2.35 in Chicago. Pedigree not traced.

TERMS.

$40 for the season, payable invariably before the animal is removed. Mares not proving in foal can be returned free next season. Pasturage $3 per month, but no liability for accidents or escapes.

For further particulars address the owner,

    - Sir Charles, thoroughbred.
    - Hosting Mare; s. t. b. of Messenger and Duroc blood.

DESCRIPTION.

Dark bay, 15 hands, weighs 1050 pounds, form stout and elegant, gait pure and rapid. He was foaled July 15, 1880, has done but little work in the stud, but enough to demonstrate that he is one of the best foal getters in the State. Only one of his get has had any systematic handling, and that could have gone into the 2:30 list last year as a two-year-old, had the owner desired.

It will be observed from an examination of Lynwood's pedigree, that he is one of the best bred sons of the GREAT NUTWOOD, who commands a service fee of $500 for the season.

The Thoroughbred Stallion

INTRUDER

Will make the Season of 1890 at Agricultural Park, SACRAMENTO.

Bay Horse, foaled 1871, bred by Sir L. Newman, England. Imported by D. D. Withers, Esq., New York

By Crater, Son of Orlando and Vesuvienne by Gladiator.

1st dam Lady Bountiful by Rataplan (Rataplan is own brother to Stockwell, and winner of 42 races, including the Doncaster Cup and 19 Queen's Plates, and proved himself the most distinguished race horse of his day in England).

2d dam Plentiful by Don John (the winner of St. Leger and Doncaster Cup).

3d dam Plenty by Bay Middleton (winner of the Derby and Two Thousand Guinea Stakes).

6th dam by Selim, winner of the One Thousand Guinea Stakes.

7th dam by Pypilina, by Sir Peter.

8th dam Rally, by Trumpeter.

9th dam Fancy, by Florizel. Fancy was full sister to Diomed, the first Derby winner in England, and after his importation into this country, sired the illustrious Sir Archy, etc. See English Stud Book.

Imported INTRUDER is a beautiful bay, standing fully 16 hands high, of great length and substance, and descends through close and strong currents from the most illustrious winners and winning lines of blood of which the English Stud Book bears record.

A careful review of the first six crosses of the pedigree of INTRUDER will show nine Derby winners; five St. Leger winners; two winners of The Oaks; two winners of the Two Thousand Guineas; two winners of the One Thousand Guineas; one Goodwood Cup winner; one Cesarwich Cup winner; one Cambridgeshire stakes winner, and four Doncaster Cups, in addition to a great number of Steeplechases and other races of less import.

INTRUDER, at the great fair held at St. Louis, Mo., in 1875, was awarded the highest stallion honors—the blue ribbon and the $?0 purse—in the sweepstakes ring for stallion of any age or blood. The list of competitors embraced the large number of thirty-three animals, and they represented England, Canada, Kentucky, Tennessee, and other states. He also took first premium in his class and in sweepstakes for the best stallion of any age or breed at the State Fair at Peoria, Ill., 1882. He is the sire of Tidal Wave, George Hakes, Bernice and April Fool.

INTRUDER is the sire of Interpose, who is the dam of Spokane, winner of the Kentucky Derby, in which he beat the great horse Proctor Knott and broke the record.

TERMS: $50 for the season. Mares not proving with foal can be returned the next season free of charge. Good pasturage at $4 per month. Mares cared for in any manner owners may desire, and fed on hay and grain, either or both, at reasonable rates. While every precaution will be taken, no responsibility will be assumed for escapes or accidents. Mares sent from a distance in care of the undersigned, will be met and taken to the park. SIRE OF

GUS WILKES, 2:22; ALPHEUS, 2:27; CLARA P, 2:29½; BALKAN, 2:29½ (3-year-old) and timed separately 2:22¼ in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track, October 14, 1889.

DESCRIPTION.

Black; sixteen hands; weighs, in exercise, 1,260 lbs. For style, finish, symmetry and proportion, comparison is challenged with any trotting bred horse. His colts follow in size, style and beauty. Balkan, for instance, being "facile princeps" of trotters in these particulars.

PEDIGREE.

Sired by Geo. Wilkes, sire of Harry Wilkes, 2:13¼, Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, and 60 other trotters in the 2:30 list, in addition to 6 pacers, and of the sire of Axtell, 2:12 (three-year-old) beating all stallions of any age, and the sire of Regal Wilkes, 2:20¾, best two-year-old stallion record.

First dam Lady Chrisman by Mambrino (Todhunter's), son of Mambrino Chief 11; sire of Lady Thorn, 2:18¼; Woodford Mambrino, 2:21½, and four others in 2:30, and of the dams of Director, 2:17, Piedmont, 2:17¾, Onward, 2:25¼, etc.

Second dam by Pilot Jr. 12, sire of nine in the 2:30 list, and of the dams of Maud S., 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See, 2:10, Nutwood, 2:18¾, Viking, 2:19¾, Pilot Boy, 2:20, Naiad Queen, 2:20¼, etc.

TERMS.

Mares from a distance will be received at the Dexter Stables, Oakland, or Livery Stable, Martinez, the owner notifying Smith Hill, Superintendent at the farm. Good pasture and plenty of water. For the purpose of placing the service of a Wilkes within reach of breeders, the same rate will be maintained as last year, to wit, $75 for the season. Although it is not admitted thereby that this horse is inferior as a producer to the horses whose fees are placed at from $150 to $500. Address

DAM FANNY FERN BY JACK HAWKINS

Son of Boston.

The grandam of Maud S, (2:08¾) was by Boston and the grandam of Jay-Eye-See (2:10) was by Lexington, son of Boston. So Balkan is the same remove from Boston that Maud is, and one remove nearer than Jay-Eye-See.

Fanny Fern has produced Molly Drew, Onyx, Fred Arnold Molly Fern and Balkan, all by different sir.s.

Balkan's sire and dam both being producers, and he being a trotter himself with a record of 2:29 1-2 (three-year-old) and timed separately 2:22 1-4 in 4-year-old Stake, Bay District Track, October 14, 1889—it is but fair to presume that he will get trotters of the high est order.

DESCRIPTION.

He is seal brown, 16-1 hands high, in style rivalled by few, and excelled by none with as pure a gait as has yet been exhibited in public—bar none.

Balkan will be at Oakland Trotting Park for the season of 1890, and will be limited to ten mares, at $100 fee, in order to be put in training early, as it is morally certain that if given a reasonable opportunity he will be fast enough to compete with the best of his age.     - Twilight, by Lexington, sire of the dam of Ansel, 2:20.

NOODAY is a dark seal brown, foaled 1884, 15 hands 1¼ inches high. Individually he is equal to l is royal breeding. He is all that can be desired in conformat on, intelligence, color and trotting action, and no s allion now in public service can show a pedigree with such fast records and royal game trottin; blood as Noonday.

DON MARVIN,

Record 2:28 as a five-year-old. Standard by Breeding and Performance

Standard No. 7927.

Don Marvin 2:28.

Don Marvin is a beautiful seal brown, foaled 1884, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford, Palo Alto, Cal., standing 16 hands, and weighs, in ordinary condition, 1200 lbs. He is a fine individual, good style and form, combined with great substance, and good temper. Is very level headed; in his first race the past season he only made one break in five closely con ested heats. He has great speed and endurance, with the pure, rapid Electioneer gait. He trots without toe weights, and wears only 8 oz. shoes in front. He gained his record the past season in the third heat, on a slow track, after making a season (serving over 60 mares), with scarcely any preparation. His record is no mark of his speed. He was a natural born trotter, and Mr. Charles Marvin considered him the fastest two year old at Palo Alto that season.

By FALLIS, 2:23, - - by Electioneer, sire of
Sire of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Sunol, three-year-old, 2:10 1-2, Palo Alto, 2:12¼, and 47 others in 2:30 list.

Dam CORA, by Don Victor by Belmont, sire of
Dam of Don Marvin, 2:28. — Ventura, 2:27¼, and sire of the dam of Bell Echo, 2:20, and six others in 2.30 list.

2d dam CLARABEL, - by Abdallah Star,
Dam of Clifton Bell, 2:24 1-2, and grandam of Rexford, three years, 2:24. — Sire of Hattie Maples, 2:33.

3d dam FAIRY, - - by Rysdyk's Hambletonian,
Sister of Sweepstakes, sire of 16 in 2 30 list. — Sire of Electioneer, George Wilkes, and many other noted sires and trotters.

4th dam EMMA MILLS, by Seely's American Star,
Dam of 4 horses that have 2:30 performers. — The great broodmare sire of the world.

The above pedigree should show every intelligent breeder that Don Marvin is "high" bred though very strong in trotting blood. All the comment it is deemed necessary to make as to the value of "thoroughbred blood" in the trotter is simply to refer to the very significant fact that the first and second dams of Maud S, 2:08¾, Jay-Eye-See 2:10. Sunol, three years 2 10 1-2, Palo Alto 2:12¼, Anteeo 2:16½, Nutwood 2:18¾, Wedgewood 2:19, and many other successful sires and sensational trotters of the day are thoroughbred.

TERMS—Don Marvin will make the ensuing season from February 1st to July 1st, 1890, at $40 the season, with the usual privilege of returning the mare next season if not proving in foal. Mares from a distance met at the cars or boats on notification, and carefully handled, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.

Good alfalfa pasture furnished (free from barb wire fence) at $4 per month. For further particulars or complete circulars address

These are the only colts alive by him that have ever had a harness on except one in New York that went a trial last July, and Hiram B, (dead) 2:28 (trial).

DESCRIPTION.

EROS is a rich seal brown stallion, bred by Hon. Leland Stanford at Palo Alto, and is the nearest living likeness of his celebrated sire, Electioneer. Stands 15.2 hands high, and weighs 1050 pounds.

In breeding to Eros, the owners of mares will strictly follow the great rule of breeding, viz., breed to a stallion by a producer and out of a sure producer of great speed. Eros is by the stallion that has produced more 2:30 trotters that any living horse, and is also the sire of more 2:20 performers than any horse living or dead.

EROS is out of the dam of Sally Benton, four years old, record 2:17¾, Sport 2:22¾, and Eros 2:29½ in the sixth heat, against a field of nine horses. He is from a family that is endowed with great natural speed, trot fast at an early age, train on, throw trotters from all classes of mares, are of good substance, bone, style and action, and breed solid colors.

TERMS.

$100 for the season, with the privilege of return next season should mares not be in foal and horse and mare still remain in the same hands.

Good pasturage can be obtained at $5 per month, but no responsibility for accidents or escapes. There are a large number of box stalls, and animals can be kept up and fed on hay and grain at reasonable rates if required. Mares already in foal can be sent to the ranch for foaling, and will receive all the attention bestowed upon our own mares. Mares left with Mr. Peter Pomyea, Broadway Street Stable, Oakland, or with Mr. F. H. Burke, 401 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, will be forwarded to the ranch free of charge. OSSIDINE

KALAMAZOO, MICH., Sept. 15, 1888.

GENTLEMEN:—We have used OSSIDINE for the past two years, and consider it invaluable for Sprung Tendons, Curbs, Ringbone, and Spavins; there is nothing equals it: and for us it effected a permanent cure where firing failed, although performed by one of the most successful veterinarians on the continent. We have recommended it to others with like success, and believe it has more merit than any blister ever used.

Very respectfully yours,
S. A. BROWNE & CO., Prop's.

This scientific preparation is an absolute cure for all bony or callous lumps on horses, and is a more powerful absorbent than "firing," without creating the slightest blemish.

Acknowledged by leading horsemen of the world to be the ONLY preparation that will remove a Bone Spavin after it has become ossified.

We have authority also to refer to Mr. JEROME I. CASE, Mr. FRED. GEBHARD, Mr. JOHN PORTER (Trainer to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales),

And hundreds of others from whom we have very flattering testimonials.

HAWTHORNE 10,935.

The property of L. U. Shippee, Stockton, California.

It can very justly be said, and without fear of contradiction, that California to-day has three of the largest trotting horse farms in the world. While this is merely an assumption, we verily believe that no other State can show a trio of breeders that can number among their possessions 1,200 well-bred brood mares. So much has been said about Palo Alto and the Rancho del Paso, that the writer thought that it was no more than just to look over some of the vast domain owned by the Hon. L. U. Shippee, a portion of which lies in San Joaquin Co., and at the same time he owns thousands of acres in Mariposa, Merced and Butte Counties. In all, the gentleman has about 30,000 acres, which consists of twelve farms, six of which are within a very short distance of Stockton.

Mr. Shippee arrived in California in 1856, being what would be called a "down east yank," with a keen eye to business, and the shrewd money making ability which is characteristic of those born north of the Connecticut line. He at one started in mercantile pursuits in Stockton, and rapidly made a fortune, and although the sale of merchandise has been given up for a long time, the gentleman is still heavily interested in many of the manufacturing interests which make the name of Stockton famous.

From his youth, he was always an ardent admirer of live stock of all kinds, and although we only propose to speak of the horses in the present article, still he has pigs, sheep, cattle and fowls of the very choicest blood and strains that money can procure. It has for many years been his aim and ambition to have a gentleman's stock farm, not for the purpose of making money, but to which he might look as one of the pleasures and amusements of his life. Although he has been breeding for the last twenty-five years, it is only within the last ten that his fame has become known throughout California.

Some eight years ago he was fortunate enough to purchase a well-bred son of Nutwood which is called Hawthorne. This was long before the time that the name of his sire was so celebrated as it is at the present day, and simply goes to show the judgment which is used by Mr. Shippee in nearly all of his stock-buying transactions. Hawthorne in himself is a most magnificent individual, standing about sixteen hands in height, a beautiful bay in color, with black points, one hind foot white, and a few white hairs on the forehead. He is all that could be desired in disposition, looks and perfect make-up. He is as "clean as a whistle," and will compare favorably with any stallion in the State to-day. His get are very uniform, their legs being particularly good, for while we looked over a large number of his yearlings and two-year-olds, we failed to detect a single one in which there was spot or blemish; that he is a producer of speed, has already been testified to by the performances of Tempest, 2:19, J. C. Shelly, 2:29½ Moses S., 2:29¼, and although this record is not very low, he was timed during the last season in a race, in which he came in second to Direct, in 2:21½. The following is Hawthorne's pedigree:

HAWTHORNE 10935	Nutwood 600	Belmont 64.
		Miss Russell, Dam of Maud S.
	Fidelia, Dam of St. Just, he by Electioneer, dam of Nutwood Chief.	Volunteer 55
		by Roe's Abdallah Chief, By Abdallah 1.

Mr. Shippee is confident that he can put at least eight of Hawthorne's get, now owned on the ranch, in the 2:30 list during the coming year, and making due allowances for the ordinary number of accidents which are liable to happen while horses are being prepared for campaign work, without such accidents, it is altogether probable that fully double that number could go in during the season.

A few days ago a visit was made to what is known as French Camp Farm, at which are located at present a number of youngsters which will be taken East between the 20th and 22d of the present month, to be sold one-half at Peoria and the remainder at Kidd, Edmonson & Morse's combination sale at Chicago.

When we arrived at Lathrop, a carriage was in waiting, and we found the genial Harry Whiting ready to drive us to the farm. As we journeyed along, the time was pleasantly consumed in narrating old horse anecdotes, in which Harry is a perfect mint of information, and it seemed but a few minutes for us to make the drive of 4½ miles. The proprietor was in waiting to receive the scribe, and after a pleasant salutation, the business of the day began. Colts and fillies were brought out in vast profusion, and comments were made on them as they passed under the eye of those present; one of the number, Judge Bennet of Stockton, proved himself a good judge of the equine race, his idea of the make-up of the little ones being first rate, and when we came to inspect the more aged ones, he seemed equally well at home.

A bay filly, two years old by Hawthorne 10935 was the first shown; her dam by Bonner, he by Gen. Knox 140; 2nd dam thoroughbred. She is a high spirited little Miss and a trotter.

Sheriff Thorne 11332 is a chestnut colt two years, old with white feet; his sire Hawthorne, dam, sister to dam of Tempest 2:19. He is a fine compact colt, splendid back and loins, and is well put up all over. This will be a rare prize for whoever may purchase him.

Attention was now called to a ch f two years old by Hawthorne, dam by Motion, he by Daniel Lambert 102; 2nd dam by Williamson's Belmont. This is a standard filly and has fine action, showing unmistakeable signs of being a natural trotter.

A perfect beauty, two years old, was next examined; she is by Abby, a son of Abbotsford, her dam being by Hawthorne; 2d dam by Chieftain; 3d dam by Belmont. This is a very racy-looking filly, and should bring a good price.

A black filly by Hawthorne was next led out; her dam is by Dan Lambert, which is guarantee enough of her excellence. The filly has an exceedingly fine gait, good knee action, and is fit to grace the stable of any owner of trotters.

The next was a bay colt two years old, by California Lambert, he a son of Addison Lambert, a son of Daniel Lambert. The colt's dam is the grandam of Tempest, 2:19, second dam being by Coburn's Jim Crow, a son of the thoroughbred Jim Crow; J. C. Shelly, 2:29½, and Brightlight are both out of the colt's first dam. This fine individual will be disposed of in the Peoria lot.

Another of the youngsters to be taken to Peoria is a two-year-old chestnut filly with white star, by California Lambert, and her dam is by Nutwood, the second dam being known as the Trustee Mare. She is a fine, rangy filly, with plenty of substance, and is very taking to the eye.

We now come to a black colt by Hawthorne, dam by Morgan Rattler, grandam by Belshazzer (thoroughbred); he has a small white strip in face; is a beautifully turned horse with fine quarters, good legs, and is double gaited. He should make, if properly handled, a trotter far above the average, although if trained to pace, he will undoubtedly be very fast.

Our attention was next called to a two-year-old bay filly by Hawthorne, her first dam being by Echo 462; 2d dam by Don Victor. This is a fine filly; solid colors, very clean cut, and will be a gem for whoever may purchase her.

We now come to another bay colt with two hind feet white, faint star; he is a level-headed animal, and was trotted up and down, so that we might see what he was capable of doing; he is very nicely gaited, a good size for a two-year-old, plenty of bone, well muscled, and should prove a very fast horse. He is by Hawthorne, dam by Reuben, he a son of Black Hawk 5; Reuben is the sire of Alice Garret, 2:31, and Skylark; 2d dam by Chieftain, and the third dam by Skenendoah.

One of the three-year-old fillies was now brought out, a bay in color, with black points, and without a single white hair on her; she is by Hawthorne, dam by Chieftain; 2d dam by Belmont, the second dam being the dam of Nellie Grattan, 2:32. This is a fine individual, full-sized for her age, and a very quiet disposition, still, at the same time, with plenty of life and spirit when being exercised. From her blood lines she should prove a first-class brood mare, if whoever may purchase her does not wish to put her on the track.

Another of the three-year-olds was a dark bay colt by Long Island, he by New York 524, dam by Nutwood; 2d dam the Trustee mare spoken of above. She is another of those that may be ranked with the best, her conformation being perfect.

Our attention was next called to a chestnut filly two years old, by Hawthorne, dam Overshot by Chieftain, the dam being a full sister to the dam of Tempest; 2d dam Old Tempest by Morgan Rattler. This filly has been sick for some time, but has almost recovered. She is built on speed lines, and will prove, barring accidents, a very fast mare, or appearances go for nothing.

A beautiful brown colt, two years old, was now brought for examination, he being by Hawthorne, dam by Tilton Almont; 2d dam the Boggs mare by Lodi; 3d dam by Norfolk. This is a splendid type of the trotter, with plenty of thoroughbred blood; he has any quantity of nerve power; has been worked single and double, and gives every indication of proving himself a very fast trotter.

The next brought out, was a chestnut with one white hind foot, by Hawthorne, dam by Hambletonian 725, she being a full sister to Kilrain, which was timed as a three-year-old, the second horse in a race in 2:28, this filly will make a trotter sure.

Another of the 3-year-old colts which will be sent to Peoria, is a solid bay in color by Hawthorne, dam by Echo; 2nd dam by Don Victor, he is a perfect model of the ideal trotter, and will without doubt bring a very long price.

We were rather taken with the 3 year-old brown filly by Hawthorne, dam by Chieftain; 2nd dam by Belmont, who acted as though she knew she were on inspection and trod the ground with the air of a queen; her disposition is of the best, her action more than good and she can show, even thus early in the season, a merry cl p.

A yearling filly, brown in color was next looked at, she has two hind feet white, with a white star, she is also by Hawthorne, dam Gen. Dana; 2nd dam by Belmont, this 2nd dam is the one mentioned above as being the dam of Nellie Gratten, 2:32.

A yearling colt which will be sent to the Chicago sale, was next brought out. He is by Breastplate 11,392 (full brother to Moses S., 2-year-old record 2:29¼), he by Hawthorne; the dam of this colt is by John Nelson Jr., a son of John Nelson 187, grandam by Deitz's St. Clair. This is a very racy looking animal, and when offered for sale should be productive of much competition.

When Mr. Shippee purchased the horse known as Campbell's Electioneer 2:22½, he also bought at the same time the horse Campaign, a horse that for beauty and conformation cannot be surpassed in the country; he is by Electioneer, dam Lilly B., by Homer 1235, 2nd dam Maggie Lee by Blackwood 74, 3rd dam Lucille by Alexander's Abdallah, 4th dam by Pilot Jr. This young horse Campaign, is particularly mentioned, as he is the sire of a beautiful yearling brown filly, which for its age is very large and racy looking. The dam of the filly is by Motion 1544, he by Dan Lambert 102. She is a great big, fine animal, and shows beyond doubt the same conformation as do all the Electioneers, if she does not bring a handsome figure, we will be much mistaken.

A very handsome yearling, bay in color, now came trotting down the road, led by one of the assistants. He is by Henry Thorne 10,997, a son of Hawthorne. The dam of the colt is Daisy (dam of Mt. Vernon 2:21), 2nd dam Old Beauty. Like most of those carrying Nutwood blood, he is solid in color, and has an easy way of going that is particularly striking, and as he is bred in such speed line, both top and bottom, he should be invaluable as a stock horse; in addition to what he may do at the trot.

We now come to a shapely little fellow, brown in color, one year old, by Hawthorne, dam by Tilton Almont, 2nd dam the Boggs Mare. He is very evenly turned, and already shows his trotting inheritance.

The next shown is a yearling, black in color, by Hawthorne, dam by Harry Lambert, he a son of Addison Lambert; 2nd dam Ellen Douglas. We again see in this colt the strong evidences of the thoroughbred showing up. He is a perfect picture, and at the same time a good square trotter.

Hawthorne is once more represented in a yearling bay colt whose dam is by Harry Lambert, 2nd dam Yorktown by Chieftain. He is another built on the racy order, and should give a good account of himself.

Still another of the unnamed ones is a bay yearling by Hawthorne, dam by Joe Daniels, 2nd dam by the Burrow's horse, he by the McKinney Horse.

We now come to a bay colt, one year old, by Hawthorne, dam by Harry Lambert, 2nd dam by Don Victor. His color is relieved by one white hind foot. Like all the balance of the Hawthornes, he has plenty of bone and muscle, is high spirited and has very good action.

The last of the yearlings at the French Camp Farm was a chestnut filly with two hind coronets white, and a small star. She is by Abby, dam by Hawthorne; 2d dam by Chieftain. This is a high-finished animal, with an excellent way of going; if she does not make a trotter we will be sadly disappointed.

One of the young stallions which we looked at was a bay colt which was particularly admired, not only on account of his form, but also on account of his pedigree, and he should prove a good stock horse; he is by Hawthorne, dam by Sultan; 2d dam by Hambletonian 725; 3d dam by Bonner, he by Hambletonian 725; 4th dam by Williamson's Belmont. This is another of the double gaited animals, but his exquisite form and fine points was the cause of many exclamations of pleasure. When going at ordinary speed he seems a trotter pure and simple, but when urged, he strikes a very fast pace.

Major Thorne 11328, is a four-year-old black horse by Hawthorne, dam the dam of Tempest, and also dam of Shelly, 2:29½, and Brightlight, 2:40; 2d dam by Coburn's Jim Crow, he by Jim Crow, thoroughbred. Mr. Shippee has had several offers for this exceedingly fine horse, but has as yet refused all temptations to sell him.

Chestnut Thorne 11330, as his name would indicate, is a chestnut in color, with white stripe in face; he is by Hawthorne, dam Mocking Bird (full sister to Honesty, 2:25¾); 2d dam by Chieftain; 3d dam by Coburn's Jim Crow. This grandly-bred individual will be disposed of at the Chicago sale.

Another one of those to be taken East for sale is a black filly by Hawthorne, dam Priam 1798; 2d dam by Black Hawk 767; 3d dam by Remley's Royal Oak.

When on a visit to the Stockten race track in the early portion of last year, some time before the circuit began, we had occasion to mention the good-looking Kilrain, which is as fine a specimen of the trotting horse as one could care to see; he is a bay with black points, and although at present high in flesh, looks as though he would like to be back at hard track work. Kilrain is by Hawthorne, dam by Hambletonian 725; 2d dam by Bonner, he by Hambletonian 725; 3d dam by Williamson's Belmont. Mr. Shippee has every confidence that before the close of the present season, the fame of Hawthorne will be still further augmented by Kilrain beating 2:20; he is fully 16 hands high, with plenty of spirit, and has an exceedingly fine gait. Kilrain will be sent to Stockton for active work as soon as the track will permit of it.

When Director commenced to prove how he was capable of breeding on, Mr. Shippee decided to procure the very best Dictator colt that could be purchased, and with that object in view, commenced corresponding with the prominent breeders of the East to find out where a choice representative of that family could be bought; after months of delay he finally selected one, and his choice proved that the animal was all that could be desired.

When Mr. Stemler started back East last summer, he was instructed to go and take a look at the colt which Mr. Shippee thought would suit him, with instruc ions to buy if he was a perfect animal. Mr. Stemler, after an examination, purchased the youngster, then only a yearling, and brought him back to California. This royal representative of the best blue blood of Kentucky has been named Dictator Wilkes; he is by Dictator, dam Manola by Geo. Wilkes; 2d dam Lizzie Brinker (dam of Budd Crook, 2:18¼, Adjutant, 2:27½, Lucy Fleming, 2:24¼, etc.), she by Drennan's Brinker; 3d dam by Million's Copper Bottom; 4th dam by a son of Blackburn's Whip; 5th dam by Bishop's Hambletonian. If this two-year-old does not make a mark in the breeding annals of this State, it will be very much of a surprise to all who have ever seen him; he is as perfect as can be, without spot or blemish, and is a kingly looking fellow. Mr. Shippee will breed him this year to four or five mares, then he will be gently exercised, and probably sent for a record before the season of 1890 ends.

We now come to a full fledged pacer, chestnut in color, called Chief Thorne 11331 by Harry Thorne, dam Daisy, 2:31½ (the dam of Mt. Vernon, 2:21); 2d dam Beauty by Old Doc. This colt has a regular pacing conformation, and is very speedy; he will be worked among others during the coming season.

Moses S. 11009 is so well known that it is hardly necessary to say much about him, he having made a name for himself and his sire in races, both in 1888 and 1889; he is by Hawthorne, dam the dam of Ha-Ha, 2:22¼; 2d dam Billing's mare, sometimes known as the Jim Eoff mare. Moses S. has improved very much in form since he made his two-year-old record of 2:29¼, and although his mark was not lowered last season, he was timed separately when he came in second to the great Direct, Moses S.'s time being 2:21½; he is another of the Hawthorne colts which it is confidently believed will be able to trot this season better than 2:20.

Pedro, a bay gelding six years old, by Hawthorne, is a full brother to Moses S., and has a mark of 2:36; he will also receive work before long, and if he shows any inclination to take his work kindly, will be sent among the 2:25 pacers on the coming circuit.

Where there are so many choice animals to look at, it is a hard matter to select one which seems to show better than the others, but there was one bay pacer, two years old, that caught our eye, as he seems to be built on very speedy lines; he is by Hawthorne, dam June Second by Ben Franklin 753; 2d dam Kitty Harris by Dan Lambert; 3d dam Gazelle. This is a very fine colt, and should go down the line at a rattling rate of speed.

Thornewood is a full brother to Kilrain, and is a very promising colt.

The stable boys have a great liking for the fine bay gelding, five years old, by Hawthorne, dam by Gen McClellan 145; 2d dam Lady Fine. He shows up well, and has evidently inherited a vast amount of speed.

Allen Thorne is a bay colt, three years old, by Hawthorne, dam by Dan Lambert; 2d dam Kitty Harris. We cannot help remarking that this colt resembles in a striking degree the old trotter Ethan Allen as we saw him many years ago, back in "Old York State."

Another of the likely looking colts is the chestnut horse Princewood; he has three white feet and strip in face; he is by Dexter Prince, dam by Nutwood; 2d dam Maud, the dam of Reliance, record 2:22½, and Magdallah, 2:23½; Princewood has evidently a great amount of speed, and it will require but little work to develop what there is latent in him.

As time was limited, and we had to return, it was impossible to examine the score of youngsters to be seen in the various paddocks; however, we hope in the near future to be able to give a more extended account of the horses at the French Camp Farm. A large majority of the above will be shipped between the 20th and 22d of this month, and forwarded to the East for sale.

It was well toward the evening hour before we finished the inspection, but not before a good look had been taken at the stable and barns, everything at which appeared in apple pie order. The entire consignment is under the charge of Mr. Jas. Thompson, who has lately arrived in this State, from Kansas, where he formerly worked for Mr. Campbell, the gentleman who now owns Campbell's Electioneer 2:22½, and Mr. Thompson is the driver who at Abilena, Kansas, on September 12th, drove Mr. Campbell's horse to his record. He is thoroughly posted in his business, a good judge of a horse, a splendid judge of gait and action, and should prove a most valuable man for Mr. Shippee. He will return immediately after the Chicago sales, and prepare some of Hawthorne's get, for records this year.

A short drive was made to French Camp where we took the evening train, and in a few minutes we were safely ensconced in the well known Yosemite Hotel in Stockton; after a bountiful repast, a visit was made to the bank, of which Mr. Shippee is President, and in his private office, horses, their pedigrees, their performances and prospective performances were fully talked over. Mr. Shippee is an enthusiast in horse breeding, as may readily be seen when it is stated that within a very short time he has spent about $200,000 for first-class s ock. It is not only the trotters that he adheres to, but his stable of runners are also well known throughout the State, and while he has but very few as in comparison with the trotters, the thoroughbreds that he possesses are of the very best strains known to American breeders.

Having a desire to see some of the thoroughbred brood mares, we determined to remain over another day, and visit a second of the ranches, which is known as the Oaklawn Stock Farm, situated midway between Stockton and the flourishing little town of Lodi, on the old Cherokee Lane. When Mr. Shippee first bought this thousand acres, in 1865, he set out, around the entire allotment, a number of fir trees, at an equal distance apart, and also planted the same specie of tree in all the roads and lanes running through the farm. The sight to-day to a stranger, who is visiting that portion of the San Joaquin Valley for the first time, is very striking, as the handsome trees are a pleasing change to the eye, from the monotony of the ordinary fencing, which becomes tiresome to him who drives through the San Joaquin.

When we arrived at Oaklawn, Mr. Miller, the manager was at hand to show us his favored pets, and as paddock after paddock was gone through, it was with pardonable pride that he pointed out, first trotter and then thoroughbred, a large majority of whom are in foal to the very best bred stallions in this State. It would take up more room than the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN can possibly spare, to enumerate each individual that was shown to us, yet it seems only right that mention should be made of a few of those that particularly struck us as being splendid individuals. The great storms of the past three months has not affected in any serious manner, the great paddocks which are here to be seen, and it was with no difficulty that we traversed some eight or ten of them, and viewed the royally bred matrons.

It might be just as well to state here, that Mr. Shippee owns quite a number of stallions in addition to "Hawthorne" previously mentioned; one of which, "Long Island" was purchased in the East for Mr. Shippee by Chas. Marvin, the manager of Palo Alto Stock Farm. "Long Island" is a son of "New York" 524, a splendid specimen of equine beauty. He is a rich brown in color, with three white feet and a little white over the coronet of the fourth foot; his second dam was by "Bonnie Scotland", and his neck and head strongly shows the thoroughbred blood that runs through his veins. His get are all that could be desired, showing plenty of substance and stamina, and good trotting inheritance, he is a grand addition to Mr. Shippee's trotters, and will without doubt make a name for himself.

"California Lambert" is a son of "Addison Lambert" 744, he a son of "Daniel Lambert" 102, and an inbred Morgan, for those who like this out-cross, he is one of the best that could have been secured. Mr. Shippee has always had a great deal of faith in the Morgan Stock, and some few years ago, purchased in Vermont, an entire carload of the very best that could be purchased; that he made no mistake can readily be seen, when one looks over their descendants now running at large over the acreage of Oaklawn.

Mr. Shippee has also a very well formed colt by "Hawthorne" out of a "Nutwood" mare, which particularly pleased the writer, he showing plenty of bone and muscle, great substance, and is a perfect picture of the horse now idolized at the Stout Bros.' Stock Farm at Dubuque, Iowa.

As the beautiful creatures passed us, notes were made of the following, which constitute but a very small portion of the animals now at Oaklawn.

Communication.

YOLO, YOLO CO., Cal.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I must beg your indulgence while I give expression to my admiration of the masterly manner in which Mr. Wilfred Page defends the excellent programme lately adopted by the Board of the P. C. T. H. B. A. and advocates equal rights among the horse breeders of this coast.

It has been the fear of the very condition of things which Mr. Page so ably denounces and condemns, and which the lately adopted programme is designed to avoid that has deterred many small breeders from joining the association. There has been a seeming tendency toward the establishment of a kind of horse aristocracy in this State.

It has been claimed, and perhaps not without good reason, that discriminations are made against small breeders at fairs in the awarding of premiums, and that the representatives of certain farms and horse families are often the recipients of undeserved favors to the injury and disparagement of less prominent breeders and sires. I do not assert these things as facts, but inasmuch as they are quite current among horsemen, there must be some foundation for them. If Mr. Page and the rest of the directors of the Association continue to govern their actions by a policy of equal rights among breeders they will have the hearty endorsement and co-operation of all fair minded horsemen, their membership will become greatly augmented, and it will become a still more potent factor for promoting the horse breeding interests of this coast. Let the Association discountenance any policy that tends to foster the growth of an aristocracy, and let it be governed by principles purely democratic, and its success is assured.

Salinas Colt Stakes.

Montery County has evidently determined not to be outdone by the more Northern districts, and has just closed a colt Stake which has received the support it so richly merited. Our correspondent forwards the following list of entries, and from the breeding there should be some rare good youngsters among those nominated.

Wm. Robson's sorrel c Harrison by St. Patrick, dam Maggie by Belmont.

H. P. Brown's b f by Sidney, dam by Belmont.

Jas. B. Iverson's b f Ivola by Antevole, dam Salinas Belle by Vermont, 322.

Jas. B. Iverson's br c Barsmark by Mul-Vorhees, dam Jennie by Kingston, a son of imp Hercules.

Jas. Dwain's br f Florine by Mul-Vorhees, dam Flora G. 2:29¼ by Altoona 8850.

Z. Hebert's b c Bruno by Junio, dam Dolly by Mozart.

M. Lynn's gr c Violante by Antevolo dam by Pirate a son of Buccaneer.

M. Lynn's sorrel f Lucy by St. Patrick, dam Kitty Patchen.

Robt. Garside's b f by St. Patrick, dam by Mambrino 1789.

John Kalar's br c by Junio. dam by Mambrino 1789.

E. P. Iverson's sorrel f Cinderella by St. Patrick dam by Anderson's Abdallah.

Jas. H. Harris' blk c Charley A. by Erwin Davis, dam Kitty by De Groat's Starr King

D. G. McLean's b c by J. L. J., a son of Del Sur, dam unknown.

Chas. Moulton's b f Lady M. by St Patrick, dam Gipsey, by Belmont.

Jas. C. Storms' br f Juniora by Junio, dam Minnie by General Taylor.

Z. Hebert's b c by St. Patrick, dam Laura H. by Altoona.

To the above list is to be added three entries by Hon. Jesse D. Carr which were received in time but names and pedigrees omitted.

The Doctrine of "Impregnation by Sire Strains" and the Theory of the "Control of Sex."

HARVEY W. PECK.

Mr. Fred W. Loeber, in the issue of this paper dated February 1st, refers to my comments upon the theory of Mr. C. Bruce Lowe, as advanced by him some weeks since. The slight attention I paid to Mr. Lowe's idea was done in a spirit of good natured raillery, though I consider what I stated to be truth.

Mr. Loeber does not seem to just comprehend what I meant. I shall now enter into a discussion of the subject, of sufficient length, and I trust of sufficient clearness, to have my position definitely understood.

Mr. Lowe quoted the instance of a thoroughbred mare that was bred to a thoroughbred horse. The mare, we are given to understand, was the stoutest and best bred of the two, the stallion being considered as second class. Mr. Lowe says the first colt was a racehorse; the second one not quite so good; the third inferior to the second, until when the fourth, fifth and sixth foals were reached, it is said they were only common plugs, in point of speed, ranking even below ordinary selling platers. The reason ascribed for all this is that the mare controlled the characteristics of the first colt, but when continuously bred to this horse she lost her prepotency, the horse gradually assuming control, the horse being inferior to the mare, the colts kept growing worse. The reason of the mare's losing her prepotency, Mr. Lowe says, is that she was gradually 'impregnated by the sire's strains through the foal's circulation previous to birth." According, then, to this theory, this mare was inoculated by this horse (through the foal's circulation previous to birth) to such an extent that she lost her own individuality; no longer showed her line of ancestry or her own racing proclivities, but her offspring were an exact counterpart of the stallion.

Now, presuming this mare, after having been bred to this horse, and having become so impregnated with his inferiority as to be unable to produce a good colt, should be bred to a good horse, a horse of great excellence, what then? Simply this, she would be unable to bear a good colt to the cover of this horse—at least for two or three years. Why? Because it would take that length of time to overcome the inferior impregnation derived from the first stallion. Neither could this mare exert any of her own individuality in the first or second colts by the second stallion. Why? Because her own characteristics would have received an overlay of inferiority from the first horse that would preclude the exercisal of her own good qualities, until this inferiority was gradually dispelled and absorbed by the impregnation of the second horse.

Does anybody believe this? I certainly do not! Yet it is a reasonable deduction, so plain as to not even invite criticism. That this theory is not true, I have every reason to believe, as I have witnessed a practical demonstration of its imperfections dozens of times.

I have followed the "impregnation of sire strains idea" for several years, and have made it a point to get all that has been written upon the subject, for Mr. Lowe is not the first man to advance the idea.

I have followed the idea of "controlling sex at will," my experiments and the experiences of others tending to show conclusively that the man does not live that can contol sex in horses.

I may therefore, with out egotism, claim some little knowledge regarding both of these alleged theories.

I may say that no such thing as Mr. Lowe claims is ever witnessed in the human family—with possibly a few exceptions.

We have all heard the saying that very smart men seldom have very smart sons! If Mr. Lowe's theory was applicable to the human race, that saying would be reversed, for if a man of great learning and intellectuality were to have say six children, the sixth being a son, that son should be the father right over, in personal appearance, mannerisms and intellect.

Mr. Loeber does not believe that the appearance of a Jack or a Zebra or a Quaggy could affect the brain and organism of a mare at copulation, to such extent that the strangeness of their appearance would come to her mind at some subsequent breeding.

To carry out this thought he says that I may pick five or ten mares of any 'off" color, barring pintoes, and breed them too Whippleton, and if all the colts are not bay, brown or black, he will charge nothing for the horses' service.

Well, does that prove the idea I advanced to be incorrect? Certainly not, for it is simply aside issue. Does Mr. Loeber see no difference between a stallion and a Jack, in the effect left upon a mare? The horse is of her own kind, the Jack is not. I have seen mares so badly scared when a Jack would attempt to cover them that it took three or four men to hold them. These mares were not young either, had been bred before, and if a horse had come up to them they would not have moved out of their tracks.

Now, let me give a practical illustration of the "impregnation with sire strains" theory. I will presume a certain mare bred to Director for seven years! She might not be worth $7 to start with. Her first colt would not be much good, for Director could not do it all; the second would be a trifle better; the third quite a trotter but when we got the seventh we had a sure enough race horse, of high speed and courage. Why? Because the mare had become thoroughly impregnated with Director's strains by the time the seventh foal saw the light. She was in effect inoculated with the blood of Director, the word "blood" signifying the trotting instinct, the courage and the ability to train on possessed by Director. As a breeder, then, this mare would be essentially Director, having acquired, through constant service by him for a number of years, a perpotency stronger than would be possessed by one of his own daughters!

At this juncture we will switch off and breed the mare to some fairly bred young sire that has no record and has never sired a trotter. The result of this cross, I will assume, is a great young trotter. Where does the speed come from? From this young sire directly, or from Director indirectly? The "impregnation" theory would tend to prove that Director was the source.

It would therefore appear that no stallion could be tested, as a speed producer, if bred to a mare that had previously had a colt! To secure an accurate test he would, of necessity, have to be coupled with a mare that had never been bred, or he would have to cover a mare a sufficient number of years to invalidate any tendency previously implanted by some other horse. It would seem unnecessary to pursue this subject farther.

As for superiority of pretotency, in either sire or dam, I believe the following rules, which were published some years ago, for the first time I think, in an Eastern horse paper, to be as nearly correct, and to embody as much truth as could be got into the same space. It will be understood that there are occasionally exceptions to all rules.

THE LAWS OF HEREDITY.

1. That from the male parent is mainly derived the external structure, configuration and outward characteristics, also the locomotive system of development.

2. From the female parent is derived the internal structure, the vital organs, and in a much greater proportion, than from the male, the constitution, temper and habits, in which endurance and bottom are included.

3. That the purer the race of the parent, the more certainty there is of its transmitting its qualities to the offspring; say two animals are mated, if one is of purer descent than the other, he or she will exercise the influence in stamping the character of the progeny, particularly if the greater purity is on the side of the male.

4. That, apart from certain disturbing influences or causes, the male, if of pure race, and descended from a stock of uniform color, stamps the color of the offspring.

5. That the influence of the first male is not infrequently protracted beyond the birth of the offspring of which he is the parent and his mark is left upon subsequent progeny.

6. That the transmission of diseases of the vital organs is more certain if on the other side of the female, and diseases of the joints if on the side of the male parent.

The above six laws are in the great majority of cases, correct. We have all seen horses of great speed eminate from the coupling of a fast and game stallion and a mare of neither speed nor gameness. This shows that Rule 2 is open to exception, but all of them represent the facts of the case in nearly all instances.

Several years ago I bred a brown mare to a bay horse. The produce was a perfectly black filly. I bred the same mare to a grey horse. The produce was a light bay filly! Every horseman has seen, and probably in many instances had the same experience. It was simply an exemplification of the law of reversal. I do not believe that a mare can give anything to a colt that she herself does not possess. She might be "impregnated" from time immemorial, but the offspring would still represent in appearance, disposition and speed, its sire and dam or their ancestors.

If Mr. Lowe's theory be correct, a mare could be bred to a jack sufficiently long to become thoroughly inoculated, each succeeding foal resembling the jack more and more, until the last foal would be a little jackass instead of a mule.

Every man who knows much concerning horse breeding is well aware that some stallions impress their own image and characteristics upon their progeny in a much more marked manner than do others. This trait we term prepotency. This prepotency arises from several different causes, such as extreme vigor and strength, strong inbreeding; certain traits that have been handed down from sire to son, generation after generation, until they become a fixed attribute, etc., etc. This is also applicable of mares under similar conditions. When therefore, one of the above described stallions is bred to any ordinary mare the offspring will be a miniature of him. When a mare of similar discription is coupled with any ordinary stallion, she controlls the appearance and disposition of the progeny. Lady Patriot, dam of Volunteer; Sentinel 2:29¾, Marksman, Hertzel's Hambletonian, Heroine, etc., practically verifies this statement. Her influence upon Volunteer was very marked, and not only upon him, but his descendants as well. It is claimed that in all her produce and most of their descendants could be seen the impress of this truly great mare. Most of her colts were sired by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, and strange to say none of them resembled the old horse as much as her grandson, Shawmut 2:26. Shawmut was sired by Harry Clay 45, his dam being Heroine, by Hambletonian out of Lady Patriot. Every line of Shawmut shows Rysdyk's Hambletonian, from ears to tail. This is again the law of reversal.

I shall briefly notice the "controlling of sex" theory. The most ingenious writer upon this subject that I have read is Thomas B. Armitage. His theory is that the germ of the male is always female and the germ of the female always male, therefore, the one of the parents that was in the highest state of vigor and strength would control the sex. Thus he said a horse that was kept idle while in the stud, fed highly, allowed to get fat and gross, would certainly beget fillies, with rare exceptions, as the mares to whom he was bred were in likelihood used as road horses, and were consequently much "harder and in better physical health than the horse." To raise fillies, the dam should be reduced to a state of "innocuous dissuetude," made as week and flabby as possible, and the foal would certainly be a female. He was clever in his illustrations and forcible in his arguments, but for all that, who does not know that his control of sex theory is a myth, a chimerea, that is reflected by the imagination of man, as a mirage is reflected through refraction of the lower strata of the atmosphere upon the desert? Who has not seen this theory controverted under exactly the conditions Mr. Armitage mentions? But so long as the world stands just so long will men have "theories." This, I presume is as it should be, for the world owes more to theorists than to those who are content to move along year after year in the same groove, having nothing and wanting nothing, content as long as the blue vault hangs overhead, the sun and stars shine, birds sing, and flowers blow, for all these conditions whisper to them that this "plane between two eternities" dons the same grab year after year, and why should they aspire to superiority.

VETERINARY.

Conducted by W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S.

Subscribers to this paper can have advice through this column in all cases of sick or injured horses or cattle by sending an explicit description of the case. Applicants will send their name and address that they may be identified. Questions requiring answers by mail should be accompanied by two dollars, and addressed, to W. Henry Jones, M. R. C. V. S., Olympic Stables, Sutter Street, San Francisco.

O. L. C.

I wish to avail myself of the privilege of a subscriber to obtain through your Veterinary Department advise as to the best method of treatment of saddle sores over the kidneys on cow ponies.

Answer.—If the wounds are in a suppurative condition, I would advise you to poultice or foment with warm water; afterwards dress with carbolic acid and glycerine, one part of the former to five parts of the latter. In the meantime give the animals perfect rest as far as riding is concerned.

Names Claimed.

On February 6th, Fusillade's Last, dropped a chestnut colt with star in forehead and both hind ankles white by Sid. I hereby claim the name of Fusilier for him.

On February 7th, Irish Lass dropped a brown colt with star in forehead by Woodnut 2:16½. I claim the name of Marcus Daly for him.

B. C. HOLLY.

TURF AND TRACK.

Umpire is now the property of Jas. Clare.

Dictator is 27 years old and in good healthy condition.

H. D. Miller's Ida Glenn will be bred to Prince of Norfolk.

The Pimlico track at Baltimore will be used solely as a trotting track henceforth.

Rancho Del Paso's Mabel (sister to Beautiful Bells) will be bred to Stamboul this season.

A two-year-old brother to Madstone, called Ascot, is said to be showing speed at Nashville.

Montana Regent, the once well-known race horse, is making a season in the stud at Denver, Colo.

H. D. Miller will take Daisy D., Captain Al, and probably other two, East this season, staying off at Denver en route.

While Favonia, Marcus Daly's crack mare, was being campaigned, a $10,000 insurance policy was always carried on her.

Charlie Johnson, of Denver, Colo., has in his string two fine Jim Douglass two-year-olds that are said to rival their sire in speed.

Dr. S. A. Browne has a $20,000 insurance each on Anteeo, Ambassador and Warlock, and all his mares and foals are insured at less rates.

Captain W. H., more generally known as Billy Boyce, now holds the position of superintendent at the stock farm of W. C. France, Lexington Ky.

Louis Grabenstatter, who made his reputation behind Balsora Wilkes 2:17¼ will assist in training C. J. Hamlin's Village Farm flyers the coming season.

The ten English Shire and Clydesdales sold at Springfield, Ill., last month, at auction, realized $7,500. $1,150 was the highest price for a single animal.

It is said that the Montana Agricultural, Mineral & Mechanical Association will confine its 2 and 3 year old trotting races to Montana-bred youngsters.

J. R. Ross will be seen on the Western circuit with Oro and Kitty Van. The latter should run a merry five furlongs with 105 pounds or thereabouts on her back.

The Hermitage Stock Farm declined an offer of $25,000 for Bow Bells, the three-year old brother to Bell Boy. Bow Bells will leave Palo Alto shortly for Nashville.

There are only three pacers that have beaten 2:12 one of them Gold Leaf, Mr. Salisbury's filly will be put up at the Pleasanton Stock Farm's coming New York Sale.

A colt by Bermuda, 2:20½, dam Baby Mine 2:27¼, property of N. T. Kirby, Jerseyville, Ill., paced an eighth of a mile in 22½ seconds, a 2:58 gait, when five and a half months old.

Jessie C., the two-year-old, who showed such promise last year, winning several races and was injured in her stall after the Blood Horse Meeting, has been bred to imp Intruder.

The Tuolumne County Fair Directors held a meeting last Saturday. Tom Hender was made Treasurer, and it was decided that the first fair be held in September of next year.

Charley Kerr, the owner of Apache, the sensational winner, in Bakersfield a few weeks, has sent Ona, a five-year-old mare by Onondaga out of Virgie, to Harry Howard to be trained.

George Middleton of Chicago owner of Jack 2:15 has another star performer he having puchase the gray gelding Pilot H. 3-year-old record, 2:19½ by Pilot Medium, dam by Tom Hunter,

D. D. Plummer, Gorham, Me., has an English thoroughbred broodmare weighing nearly 1,000 pounds, from which he has a nineteen months old filly, estimated to weigh 800 pounds.

Darby, record 2:16½, was started as a ringer under the name of June in a slow class on Long Island last season, but did not win. He struck himself, came near being distanced, and was drawn.

Colts cannot be reared like hot-house plants. They must have exercise to develop the muscular tissue, as on their strength and quality of bone the future supply of stamina depends.

A Southerner, who is a breeder, recently asked W. S. Bailey of Vermont to put a price on Cobden 2:28¾, sire of Helen M., two-year-old record 2:28. It is said that the price was $10,000.

"Plunger" Walton's imported horse Richmond has a remarkably fine lot of youngsters. The first of his get will race this year, and their appearance on the turf is looked forward to with much interest.

The first thoroughbred foal reported in the east for 1890 is from August Belmont's nursery shed near Lexington, Ky. The youngster is a bay colt by The Ill-used, dam Madcap by Matador. He was foaled January 16th.

W. McCormick resigned the trainership of the Winters' Stable about three weeks ago and is at present in Sacramento. Mr. Winters will train his own stable, assisted by Joe Courtney. The two-year-olds will shortly go East.

Johnny Campbell, who brought out the pacer Rich Ball, 2:12½, says that quinine is a first-class tonic for horses, and should be given to horses that are kept in training for a long period and that naturally become a little stale.

Abe Perry, the well known colored trainer, who last year handled Penn P., and in his time had under his care such horses as Checkmate, Vera Cruz and Joe Cotton, will train for E. C. Hopper, the popular Latonia Secretary.

Brown Dick who furnished Eastern racing men so many surprises last season at the New York tracks has a promising filly callen Fonsetta by Fonso-Aileen with which he expect to astonish Eastern turfmen this summer.

E. C. Walker ("Veritas") thinks that Harry Wilkes 2:13½ and Miss Alice 2:20½, hooked double would just about lower the double team record of 2:15¾ Mr. Walker drove Miss Alice in her successful campaign last season.

Marcus Daly, Anaconda, Montana, recently lost at his Missoula County ranch, the bay colt St. Val, foaled 1888, by Electioneer, dam by George Wilkes out of a mare by Clark Chief. Mr. Daly paid $5,000 for St. Val when a wealing.

Galatea 2:24¾, by Fearnaught 2:23¼, will be bred to Edgemark 2:16, next summer. She is already the dam of Grand Duchess 2:26½, and has produced colts besides by Alcantara and Viking. Her produce this year will be by Lumps 2:21.

President Phillip J. Dwyer, of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, is now at New Orleans enjoying what they call racing down that way. He will remain in the Crescent City until after Mardi Gras festival and its accompanying jollities are ended.

Lexington Wilkes 4878 one of the best bred sons of George Wilkes is the horse recently purchase by J. I. Case of Racine for $1000,00 one of the best bred sons will go to the highest bidder at the Kidd Edmonson & Morse, Chicago March Sale.

The stallion Red Cross, a son of Brignoli who made a record of 2:21½ several years ago under the management of G. J. Fuller, is to be sold at auction in New York City before long. He is well advanced in years, but is still a remarkably handsome horse.

Mr. Abington the English racing millionaire it is said intends in future to go in extensively for breeding bloodstock. As a purchaser of yearlings, Mr. Abington has been prominent of late years, but his luck with them in racing has been far from good.

The real estate on the National Fair Association, which included the Ivy City race track, was sold at auction for $133,-500. James Lansburgh, of Washington, representing a syndicate, was the purchaser. The property will be divided into building lots.

Jas. A. Dustin the well known driver and trainer, who in his day has driven many cracks, went down to Palo Alto last Wednesday under engagement for the rest of the season. Presumably Dustin will handle the stable while Marvin goes East with Sunol, Palo Alto, etc.

George Hankins, one of the principals of the Chicago Stable confederacy, has been indicted by a Chicago grand jury for keeping a gambling house. There were two former indictments recorded against him, and to secure his liberty he was required to give bail in $5,000.

A number of horse dealers in this country are doing a great deal of injury to the foreign demand for American horses by sending abroad a lot of played out and unsound trotters. This is a shortsighted policy that injures not only the rogues but unfortunately the reputable honest breeder and dealers as well.

Chas. Marvin the well known Palo Alto Superintendent will have his book on training trotters in print next month It should have any amount of valuable matter, the result of careful experience and long practice in the art of training trotters, in which business Marvin has proved himself facile princeps.

The month of March promises the greatest outpouring of richly bred trotting stock upon the New York auction market that has ever before been seen in a single month in any locality. California is better represented than any state in the Union, and the Rancho Del Paso entries will astonish even the California Breeders.

Many, horsemen—and they are horsemen in other respects —will insist in describing horses by the same sire as half brothers. It does not go. In just the same way they say he will be three years old (or whatever age it may be) in June, the first of January settles the age of a colt, and to be half brothers they must be out of one and the same mare.

The English, Germans, French, Italians and South Americans, have become regular patrons of our trotting markets. The American trotting horse will be in greater demand than ever, and the immense sums invested in breeding interests will pay as handsome dividends as almost any other legitmate business enterprise. The trotters hold the "age" and there is no limit to the game.

How is this for high? At the recent Melbourne Agricultural Show, Spondulix, a bay gelding, won the 12st hunters' prize with a jump of 6ft. 3½in Last year the same horse secured the same award with 6ft., and in 1887 also won with a leap of 6ft. ½in. At the Chicago Horse Show last November, Roseberry, a four year old chestnut gelding, cleared a bar 6ft 11¾ in., high The performances of both these animals are authenticated.

"What they want here in England," writes John Splan," is a 'cobby' built horse or mare; must be good gaited, able to draw weight, wear no boots or toe weights; for that kind of a horse that can step a 2;40 gait or better there are plenty of customers at long prices. They want sound horses, and are much better judges of sound horses than we are. One or two of the most influential newspapers are intending to make a strong effort to have trotting introduced here. What the newspapers here endorse is bound to succeed."

Reveille, B. C. Holly's son of Shiloh is well known as the sire of Gladstone, one of the crack sprinters taken east by Albert Cooper, Tycoon and other well known racehorses. Last week Reveille inadvertently appeared among trotting sires. If his trotters (have not heard of any) should turn out as speedy and reliable as his runners, racing men would soon have several, for his fee is only $25, and forgetting runners he is the cheapest sire in the list. Mr. Holly should raise to $75, for he has proved himself a sire among sires.

A Chicagoan intimates to the St. Louis Sporting News that Budd Doble will have Maud S. out for exhibition miles next season, and that the peerless queen will accompany his stable through a grand circuit, and if just right at any of the fast tracks will be sent to beat her own record 2:08¾. It is believed that Mr. Bonner while owning both of the great mares, Sunol and Maud S., would very much prefer that the latter should remain the world's fastest trotter, and to this end every chance will be given her.

Miss Russell is twenty-six years old, and is in foal this season to King Wilkes, 2:22½. Her two-year-old colt by Electioneer, who will do his first stud service this year, has been appropriately named Re-election. Like his dam his color is gray, and he resembles her in other ways, in fact he is more like her than any foal she ever dropped. After remaining in the stud for several seasons, he will be handled and driven to a record. He is highly prized at Woodburn, and will never be sold, as only recently his owner refused to set a price on him.

The gray gelding Jack is not the model of a trotting horse, and he would not be selected by an artist to represent the ideal light harness horse of America. Still he has a record of 2:15, made in 1889, and his owner, George Middleton, has issued a challenge that he will match Jack against any trotter in the world for from $5,000 to $15,000 a side.

Trainer McCabe appears to take even more interest in the horses in his charge than their owners. He spends his entire time at work and seldom leaves his stable. When his horses are taken out for exercise McCabe will be found riding a tailender and watching the movements of those in front. The Dwyers' entire string may be seen on parade along the Brooklyn Boulevard from the Park to Coney Island every day at this season.

To change the name of a horse having a record requires a fee of $50 to be paid to the American Trotting Horse Association, and when the same horse trots or paces under the National Association the owner again has to pay a fee of $50. It would seem to be the fair thing that a rule should be adopted so that to pay $50 in either association would make the animal eligible to both. By the way, it seems to me the racing associations, if ever they have a governing body, should insist on a big fee for changing names.

In regard to native half-bred horses, very evident does it appear that there are no grounds for the alarmist feeling that prevailed not long since as to their alleged scarcity. The Right Hon. E. Stanhope, in a speech recently delivered in Lincolnshire, was compelled to admit that Great Britain and Ireland can supply ample material for cavalry mounts, and that there will be no need in future to look abroad for available horses to serve that object. A register was some time since established for owners of British horses for sale to enter them, with their prices, on condition that the Army authorities may take them at any time they may be needed, and, according to Mr. Stanhope, no fewer than 14,000 have been registered.

The British Board of Trade returns show that during the eleven months of last year, ending with November, 13,255 horses of the value of £932,508 were exported, against 12,045 valued at £793,731, for the corresponding period of 1888. During the past eleven months British North America took from us 1384 stallions and 1188 mares; the United States 624 stallions and 418 mares; Belgium 15 stallions and 884 mares; Holland 31 stallions and 700 mares; France 79 stallions and 434 mares; and other countries 846 stallions and 1733 mares. Imports of horses have increased likewise, the numbers received in the eleven months of this year being 13,335, valued at £263,111, against 11,123, of the value of £186,737, for the corresponding period of 1888.

George Kinney who has made such a m rk in the stud last year, (his first season's foals which have raced) is the property of N. T. Harris, Kentucky. Mr. Haggin who sold Kinney has an elder brother in John Happy, whose colts have the true Scotland appearance. Mr. Harris who has been in New Orleans says he has 22 yearlings which will be sold in New York. Eighteen are by Geo. Kinney, two by Neptune, one by Leonatus and one by Saracen. The latter has not been given much chance in the stud, but Mr. Harris is confident of his ability to get race horses, and will give him more opportunity to prove it hereafter. Among the Kinneys are a sister to Flyaway, a brother to Grayson, a colt out of Batchelor's Princess, a filly out of Olivette, a filly out of Princess Ban, a colt out of a sister to Blazes, a filly out of the grandam of Dew Drop and others. They are a handsome lot.

Mr. Harris last spring purchased a filly by Longfellow, out of Augusta, a sister to Persimmons. She has shown so well that Mr. Harris has named her Louisiana, in honor of his native State. She is now two years old and is well entered. Sam Bryant is training her.

The stakes of the Louisville Jockey Club which will be run at the Spring meeting, commencing May 14th, are as follows: The Hurstbourne Stake, five-eighths of a mile, for two-year-old fillies, 53 entries; the Alexander stake, five-eighths of a mile, for two-year old colts, 43 entries; the Runnymede stake, three-quarter mile dash, for two-year-old colts and fillies, 47 entries; the Delbech handicap, for three-year-olds and upwards, one and one-sixteenth miles, closed with 30 entries; the Merchants' handicap, for three-year-olds and upwards, closed with 27 entries; the Kentucky Jack Pot stakes, for three-year-olds and upwards, 14 entries; the Kentucky Derby, for three-year-old colts and fillies, has 111 entries; the Kentucky Oaks, for three-year-old fillies, has 87 entries; the Clark stakes, for three-year-old colts and fillies, has 100 entries. The meeting last nine days, and $30 000 will be added in stakes and purses. Spokane and Proctor Knott, with Maori, Fairy Queen, Brandolette, Clara, Nevada, Hypocrite, Bettina and Ballyhoo, Famine, Unite and Milton, appear in the handicaps. There are many stables training there, and by March 1st, nearly 200 horses will be quartered at the track.

While in Sacramento last week after looking at several of the runners I took a glance through W. Field Smith's stable which is suitably located close to the main entrance to the track and includes a long stable, neatly filled up with several box stalls, and two or three adjacent lots in which some of the youngsters are occasionally turned out. The Stable was a model of neatness and order, indicating at once that a careful supervision was exercised over everything. Mr. Smith who was disengaged kindly showed me round the stables and expatiated on the horses which looked in very good trim, a neat racy looking two-year-old filly Felucca, is by Guy Wilkes 2:15¼ out of Cora by Buccaneer, grand dam Pearl by Blue Bull. Mr. Smith sold Cora to Mr. Corbitt last year. The three year old Kalibar with a true Sultan head is in every respect a grand looking three year old having good shoulders and a strong back with splendid legs and feet. He is a powerful bay colt and has done some fastwork. He is by Guy Wilkes 2:15¼, dam by Sultan, grand dam Inez 2:30 by the Moor. Mr. Smith who is one of our most successful trainers is well known all over the State for his straightforward driving, while having been almost bred in the business, he should certainly not lack experience, and is reputed—and worthily so—one of the most careful enlightened trainers of either old or young horses; Thapsin, and many others having been successfully campaigned by him for several seasons. Owing to Thapsin's break up at the Bay District last fall, from which place he has never been fit to be removed, Mr. Smith has not yet a horse fit to start in the 2:20 class but it is dollars to cents that he has one or two in his string when the bell rings that will bear watching, and the public will be pleased to hear it, for they always have a saver on Wilbur's entry because, as a well known bettor and owner said "we know him and consequently can rely on him. 'Multum in parvo' it expressed everything, implicit belief in his ability and also in his integrity, and don't you forget it; it is not misplaced.

Messrs. Clay & Woodford, of the Runnymede Stud Farm, Ky., will breed ten high class thoroughbred mares to Col. R. G. Stoner's noted trotting stallion Mambrino Russell. The event is an important one in the trotting horse world, and will be watched with great interest by all horse breeders.

W. M. Murry's three-year-old Kiro is moving in grand style now, and should be a good colt by the time racing starts. He worked a mile on the extreme outside of the Sacramento track in better than two minutes, which is about equivalent to 1:49, a little fast for this time of year.

B. C. Holly writes me that Fusillade's Last foaled a racy looking chestnut colt by Sid, while Irish Lass (with a mile record of 1:44½) foaled a brown colt by Woodnut 2:16½. The latter is called Marcus Daly, and the former Fusilier.

George Walbaum the eastern bookmaker has evidently determined to have a select stable. Already he has purchased Badge, Blue Rock, Sorrento, Kenwood, Folsom, Bradford, Mayor Nolan, and about a dozen others. Bergen is his jockey for this season.

Steps have been taken to form a driving club in St. Paul. There are to be 100 charter members, most of whom now belong to the Minnesota Club The new organization, which will be modelled after the Washington Park Club, proposes to hang up $20,000 for a Fourth of July trotting meeting.

R. A. Swigert proposes to take his yearling colt by Glenelg, out of Lady Wayward, and called Carisbad, to Europe this Fall or next Spring and try to capture fame and fortune in English races with him. He considers him the best thoroughbred yearling he ever saw, and expects him to be a "world beater," in every way equal to Donovan.

The employes of the Dwyer Brothers' racing stable, who make up what is called the Red and Blue Social Club held their annual ball at the Town Hall in Gravesend last week. Hardy Campbell, the trainer of the Dwyers second division is the president of the club and Jockey Neumeyer is its Financial Secretary.

A deed from the Maryland Jockey club to Oden Bowie, Robert C. Hall and John S. Gittings, conveying all of its property to them was recorded in the Clerk's office of the Superior Court at Baltimore, Md., Jan. 28. The property will be sold and the proceeds divided among the members.

The old trotting track at Saugus, Mass., known as Franklin Park was sold on Jan. 29 to Edward Heffernan, of Lynn, Mass., for the small sum of $17,650. The track is a full mile in circumference, and is one of the fastest in New England. It was built in 1855 and has been the scene of some important match trots.

The following three highly bred trotters have recently died in Montana: St. Val b c 2 by Electioneer, dam by Geo. Wilkes Marcus Daly paid $5000 for him as a weanling; Maximus b c 2 by Maxim. dam by Smuggler, being a full brother to Lady Maxim, 4. 2:26; he was owned by Huntley & Clark, as was also b f Montana Maid 2 by Maxim, dam by Mambrino Patchen.

W. B. Carr, in conjunction with several other well known local land owners, purpose building a race track at Bakersfield. The land is already selected and is beautifully located about a mile from town. Their motto is nulli secundus and they will act up to it in furnishing and adorning their track with fine shade trees and ornate grand stands.

It has been a doubtful point whether the New Jersey Jockey Club would have a stake race at its spring meeting to begin April 15th. Although no programme has yet been formulated, stakes for two year olds and older horses will be prepared, and Secretary McIntyre will announce them about March 1st, the stakes to close probably about April 1st.

Horsemen are devoting a good deal of time to the worship of Terpsichore just now. The Dwyer Brothers' employees had their annual ball last week at Gravesend, and later in the week the United Trainers and Jockeys' Association, of which James McLaughlin, the famous jockey, is President, danced at Tammany Hall. On the evening of March 7th the Clifton Club of horsemen, known as the C. W. Primrose Association, will dance at Washington Hall in Paterson.

Mr. W. R. Allen, proprietor of the Southern Hotel in St. Louis, and the great Allen Stock Farm, Pittsfield, Mass., writes: "I would have preferred and would have so ordered if I could that my name did not appear in connection with the monument to Green Mountain Maid. It was Mr. Backman's idea, and to him belongs all the honor that may be in it. I hope he understands the matter. Friendly feeling for him induced me to do it and not any desire to secure notoriety for myself."

A sad case of the downfall of a thoroughbred evinced at the last English Derby, when a caiman was summoned for driving a horse to this event which was in a totally unfit state for work, the poor animal being so weak he could hardly crawl. In the evidence it came to light that he had run in the Derby of 1874 under the name of The Hopeful Dutchman. True, he was last, but this does not lighten the sadness of the story.

If Spokane's leg does not give way this season, it is thought that he will add to his record made as a three year old in the Kentucky Derby and the Latonia and Clark stakes. A great feature about this horse is his even temper, and to this may be added his intelligence and obedience. Spokane does not get nervous if several false starts are made, but takes things as coolly and unconcerned as though he were not in a race.

Messrs. Huntley & Clark, Riverside Farm, Toston, Montana, recently lost the bay colt Maximus (full brother to Lady Maxim 2.26), foaled 1888, by Maxim, dam Lady Graves, (dam of Lady Maxim 2:26, Hailstorm 2:31, and Vera 2:34) by Smuggler 2:15½, also the bay filly Montana Maid, foaled 1888, by Maxim (sire of Ida D. 2:27 and Lady Maxim 2:26, dam Mary Patchen, her dam Susie (dam of Lemonade 2:27) by Melbourne Jr. out of Kate (dam of Talavera 2:30) by Alhoit.

Agent Brodhead, of Woodburn Farm, has reached the conclusion that thoroughbred blood does more than sustain the trotting action; it also intensifies it, and is really to some extent also a trotting cross. "Our consideration of this fact," observes the Sportsman, "has led us to believe the point well taken for it is a matter of fact that the thoroughbred knows only two ways of going, he trots or runs, and does not required to be converted to either."

It is reported that Wm. Rockefeller has decided to sell his entire stud and plough up his track, one of the best half mile speeding places in New England. Independence (2.21½), by Gen Knox, and Wild Rake (three year old record 2:22½), are at the head of Mr. Rockefeller's stud. The broodmares include Kate Sprague (2:18), Cleora (2:18¾), Urvanna Belle (2:20½), Calamus (2:24½), Enchantress (2:26½), and others.

While the trotting and light harness entries do not abate in the Kidd Edmonson & Morse sale, the draft horse entries are still booming. Many large importers of Clydesdale, Shire, Percheron and French Coach Horses have already made liberal consignments, with many more to hear from. Parties having any class of draft horses to dispose of should embrace this opportunity and make their entries, while on the other hand any one requiring draft horses should be present and purchase.

The breaking up of the Rosemeade stud brings under the hammer in New York next month one of the best lot of horses, from a breeders' standpoint, that was ever sold in one sale. The Rosemeade mares are by Guy Wilkes, Kentucky Prince, Alcyone, Sweepstakes, Director, Electioneer, Nutwood, Arthurton, The Moor, etc, and many of them are in foal to Stamboul, 2:12¼, and Alcazar, 2:20½. The latter himself will be sold, and also a full brother to the noted Mascot, the youngest foal of Minnehaha.

The money record made by the Dwyers since they left their butcher's stand in Washington Market to go on the turf, says a correspondent in the Richmond Times, is curious. Inside of fourteen years their best horses have won them in stakes $960,593. There is no account of bets in this amount. Hanover alone won $121,102: Miss Woodford $118 365; Geo. Kinney $64,660; Hindoo $62,075; Kingston $57,335; Inspector B. $56,837; Luke Blackburn $47,475; Fremont $40 450; Longstreet $38,390; Sir Dixon $37,740; Kingfish $36,6 0; Dew Drop $28,170; Bella B. $27,785; Bessie June $27,705.

It is said that while these stupendous efforts are being made to accomplish record breaking speed results with the light harness horse, an equally lucrative branch of horse breeding is being neglected—that of fine coach and carriage horses. Where there are thousands of men glad to pay for a trotter just for fun on the road, there are tens of thousands who want style instead of speed. One of the first things a traveller notices in England is the grand equipages that can be seen in and about London. Speed is not the aim there: style, action, quality and durability are what is sought and what they will have at any cost.

People, and even racegoers, seem not to notice the difference between December 31st and January 1st. For at least two months before the 1st of January fully 50 per cent. of the races contested over the winter tracks in the East were won by two year olds. Since the youngsters have become three year olds, however, they have changed form to such an extent that but few of them can win even place money. With an advantage of twenty-three pounds in weight, to which they were not entitled, it was not surprising that they showed such wonderful winning form; but where is their great form now when carrying their proper weight?

The stallion Mambrino Startle, full brother to Majolica, 2:15, and who has already sired several 2:30 trotters, is being jogged on the road by his owner, Mr. David Bonner of New York City. He is equally clever in single harness or to the pole, and will be trained next spring for the purpose of giving him a record better than 2:30, after which he will again enter the stud. His brother Majolica is to be sold at auction in New York before long. It is a good many years since he made his record of 2:15, and now one of his legs is in such a condition that he can never be trained again.

The thoroughbred stallions now doing service at the principal breeding establishments in Kentucky are nearly all getting well along in years. Pat Malloy is 25 years old, Glenelg 24, Longfellow and Kingfisher 23 each, Glen Athol and Harry O'Fallon 21 each, The Ill-Used, Springbok and Fellowcraft 20 each, King Alfonso, Woodland and Lelaps 18 each, Bullion 17. Lisbon, Outcast and Moccasin 16 each. Blue Eyes and Himyar 15 each, Falsetto, Jils Johnson, Strathmore, Spendthrift and Volturno 14 each, Elias Lawrence and Duke of Montrose 13 each, Hindoo 12, Powhattan, Onondaga and Macduff 11 each, and George Kinney, Leonatus and St. Blaise 10 each.

Henry Brown, one of the most widely known colored trainers of the race-horses in America, died on the 31st of Jan., after a short illness. He was for years the late James A. Grinstead's trainer, and with that gentleman handled many noted horses, among them being such famous performers as Lilatunah, Bradamante, (dam of The Bard), Pinafore, Jack Haverly, Mistake and many others well known on the turf. Of late years he has been training a public stable and in this line he was most distinguished for the campaign he made in 1888 was that good horse Autocrat In his early days he was a jockey of by no means small distinction. He was about 70 years old.

The leading editorial in the Montreal, P. Q., Sporting Life, of Jan 27, is as follows: "With this present number the issue of the Sporting Life under the present management comes to a close. Negotiations are now pending for its sale, and we trust will be concluded in time to permit of its continuing to come out without a break. We once more desire to thank our readers for their kindness and courtesy to us all round, although more than two thirds of their subscriptions never reached our hands, having been embezzled by our absconding collector, W. A. Daniels We may say that we would not extradite this miserable swindler if we could. All the horse editor yearns for is a quiet and uninterrupted quarter of an hour with him. At the close of that period he states he would offer a prize of $10 to any one who could identify him".

A carload of horses arrived from Hartford, Conn., last week, in charge of "Father Bill" Daly, had as passengers the Dwyer Brothers' well known racers Hanover, Sir Dixon and Bessie June. They were all in prime condition, having recovered from the effects of the blisters applied to their legs by Mr. Daly personally, to whom the Dwyers intrusted the delicate work. Mr McCabe will at once take them in hand and get them in condition for the early spring races. Inspector B., Long Island and Congress will remain on the Hartford farm until about the 1st of April. Mr. Daly expects his horses The Bourbon and Urbana to arrive in New York from Hartford to-day. Father Bill thinks he has a couple of good two-year-olds in Bassett Boy, by Ten Broeck—Highflyer, and Lizzie, a filly, by St. Blaise—Fru Follett. The latter ran a quarter with Wynne, weighing 142 pounds, in the saddle, in 0:24½. Best Boy is said to have beaten Glory a head in a three-eighths of a mile trial at Hartford in 0:35½.

I see no reason why a thoroughbred should not be as level headed as a cold blooded fellow. They are apt to have more courage, endurance and spirit, but if properly handled will act just as well as their half or quarter bred compeers. I had in 1854 a bay gelding, says C. W. Kennedy of Montgomery, Ala., by imp. Riddlesworth, out of imp. Allegrante, bred by Mr. Clay, who could trot in three minutes only, but he could go all day. He was kind and level headed as any horse I ever broke to harness, but I did not undertake, as a great many drivers do, to make him do just as I wished. No; I listened to him when he spoke (by his actions) as any sensible trained horse should do. The man who will not notice what his horses say to him should never undertake to train either a runner or trotter. When I visit a stable and see a horse fighting the currycomb I make up my mind at once that the manager is not the man for his place.

There are fourteen daughters of Lexington among the 83 broodmares now in the celebrated Woodburn stud. The oldest of these mares is in her 26th year, and the youngest 18 years old. The following is a list of these highly prized matrons: Bonita (dam of Apothecary and Bannach Lath), Crucifix (dam of Fair Play, Blanche J., Quito, St. Albans and St. Augustine), Geneva (dam of Silvio, Greystone and Blue Stone, Hester (dam of Springbok, Aspinwall and Panama), India (dam of Cathcart, Calcutta and Gallifet), Jamaica (dam of Foxhall), Lilly Duke (dam of Water Lilly, Lizzie Dwyer and Rose), Marguerite (dam of Katie Creel, Macola and Lizzie E), Miranda (dam of Little Minnie, Carey and Miracle), Mollie Wood (dam of Sagamore, Golden Gate, Woodlark and Falcon), Queen Victoria (dam of Albert, Queen's Own, Infanta and Jennie T), Quickstep (dam of Cromwell and False Step), Veritas (dam of Lady Prewitt and Vera), and Zephyr (dam of Edwin Adams Westwind, Falsehood and Cyclone). Of the other mares at Woodburn fifteen are granddaughters of Lexington and eighteen are his great-granddaughters.

Jimmy McLaughlin has acknowledged that he was a failure as a starter, says the St. Louis Republic. It seems to be very difficult to find a man who can throw the flag or tap the drum wisely and well. Men of worth who are above suspicion, and likewise possessed of vast turf experience, have gone to the post and made signal failures. Col. Bob Simmons, now the presiding officer at New Orleans, threw up the position in disgust. Col. Clark, president of the Louisville Jockey Club, has made several ineffectual trials. Capt. W. E. Conner probably did better than most men who have essayed the task of controlling jockeys at the post and getting the steeds away in good shape, but he pronounced himself a rank failure. Jacob Pincus never could start horses, and made but very few trials. Mr. Ferguson, of Lexington, did fair work here and in other Western cities, but was berated soundly at Jerome Park. Mr. Caldwell frequently comes in for an indignant outburst from the press and public, while Mr Sheridan frequently makes some wretched starts. Mr. Caldwell has probably stood the test better than any other man who has ever filled the unpleasant position of starter. It is stated that, though he is far from perfect and does not seem to have so much hold on the jockeys as he should, he is the only man available for the Eastern tracks. Perhaps Mr. Sheridan comes next, but he is a bad second, and it is fair to presume that Mr. Ferguson, in spite of his dismal failure at Jerome last year, is third.

Since the weights for the Suburban and Brooklyn handicaps came out the World has interviewed many well known racing men. Among those who expressed their views are.—

Starter Caldwell—Raceland should win either the Brooklyn Handicap or Suburban He could have won the latter event last year even with 128 pounds up.

Polo Jim—Raceland has a chance for the Brooklyn Handicap, but my choice for the Suburban is Retrieve or Firenzi.

Jim McGowan—I like Badge for the Brooklyn Handicap, though he is not over fond of going a mile and a quarter.

Billy Lakeland—Raceland will beat any horse in the Brooklyn Handicap, and if he stays my money will go on him.

Trainer James McCormick—Lakeland's horse Exile will win the Brooklyn Handicap and Senorita the Suburban.

James Daly—I like Proctor Knott for the Suburban, and when the Winter books open I am going to play him.

Jockey Taylor—Hanover for the Brooklyn, if he stands training, and Proctor Knott for the Suburban.

Trainer Dumas—If Fresno gets his two year old form back the one that beats him for the Suburban will know it has been in a race.

C. Satler—Major Domo will take some beating for the Brooklyn Handicap

Major Wheeler—It is too difficult this year for me to select a choice.

Sixty six entries were made for the City of Suburban in England, which is just half a dozen ahead of last year, when Goldseeker scored a runaway victory and gave the ring such a turn up. The horse has not been entered upon the present occasion, but such smart animals as Amphion, Veracity, Danbydale Philomel, Laureate, Friday, Quartus and Shall We Remember are a host in themselves The Duke of Beaufort, Mr Henry Milner and Mr. Abington are each responsible for four entries, while Prince Soltykoff has entered a trio. Harry Hall has nominated Friday and Quartus, so that it would seem as though one or other of these horses is expected to do something this year. Friday, it may be mentioned, has not been seen in public since he broke down after running in the Lincolnshire Handicap of 1888. The weights may be expected on the 30 inst.

Never since the Lincolnshire Handicap was brought up to its present value, sixteen years ago, has it closed with such a small entry as on the present occasion. The subscribers number only 48, or 16 less than last year and in 1888, but class is well represented. The hero of last March, Wise Man, appears in the entry again, as does The Baron, who was third to him, but Acme, who separated the pair, was expatriated to Buenos Ayres, where he recently had to be destroyed, having broken his leg. Veracity, who was successful two years ago, although still in training, has not again been entered, but Weever's Stable is represented by Danbydale, who has so far been a disappointment. Sheen, Laureate, Mortaigne, Claribelle, The Rejected, Ormuz, Evergreen, The Turcophone, Juggler, Pioneer, Aperse, Theophilus, Nunthorpe, L'Abbesse de Jouarre, Star, and Whiteleg, are all well known performers and of the veterans Tom my Tittlemouse and Greenwich are not strangers to the Lincoln course. Crowberry, who has not run for eighteen months, is entered, another that has been on the shelf for a long time is Friday, whose last appearance in public was for the Lincolnshire Handicap, won by Veracity. Mr. Hall has also nominated Quartus, and the Spigot Lodge Stable is further represented by Dauntless. The latter is one of the five three-year-olds engaged, and the others are not of high class. Still, taken on the whole, the entry is a good one so far as quality is concerned, and if the field is not so large as usual the race ought to prove as interesting as ever.

ROD.

Board of Fish Commissioners.

The February meeting, held on February 4th, at 220 Sutter street, Room 13, was one of the liveliest yet held by the Board, Hon. Joseph Routier and J. Downey Harvey present. After approval of the minutes, the monthly report of Chief of Patrol F. P. Callundan was then read, as follows:

THE HONORABLE THE BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS—GENTLEMEN:—The adversities which hampered the work of your deputies during the month of December, as detailed in the last monthly report from the Chief of Patrol, were more numerous, if possible, during the month last passed. In every portion of the State extreme high water has prevented illegal salmon fishing, and has made the pursuit of small fish hardly worth the while, even of Chinese. Such general rules as have been laid down by the Board have been observed, particularly with reference to regular inspections of the various warehouses which handle deer skins, and the docks where such skins are received.

It is gratifying to be able to repeat the statement made in the December report, namely, that not one doe or fawn skin has been delivered at San Francisco during the month. It is not believed that the killing of does and fawns has been entirely stopped, but the market for the skins has been destroyed through the efforts of your Honorable Board, and if strict watching of the tanneries and other avenues of entrance is maintained, there seems reason to believe that within a very few months there will be no reason for the slaughtering of does except the brutality of a few men who chance to live in sections where deer are plenty, and such men can readily be detected and punished.

Complaint has come during the month that certain persons claiming to be deputies of the Board have used their commissions as a shield to protect them in fishing the minor streams adjacent to San Francisco for salmon trout. It has not been within my power to investigate fully the charges made, but in a general way it is recommended that any one detected in stream fishing for "trout, salmon trout or any variety of trout," be at once placed under arrest, and if the offending person holds a commission as deputy from your Honorable Board, that such commission be recalled. The moral effects resulting from violations of what this Commission believes to be the law, by its deputies, is most disastrous both to the public standing of the Board and to successful work by such of your deputies as are guided by your wishes.

If your Honorable Board desires names and data, they can be furnished. Another complaint has reached the Chief of Patrol to the effect that Mr. La Motte of Glen Ellen, to whom this Board granted permission to take fish from Sonoma River for breeding purposes, has completely obstructed that river by a system of set nets, preventing the passage of fish either up or down the river, and practically insuring the taking of every fish of breeding size which may attempt either to go up or down.

The precise scope of the permission given Mr. La Motte I do not know, and the complaint is stated as received, with the remark that Mr. La Motte is one of the oldest and most noted fish breeders in the country, and presumably a man who would not commit any breach of the law or overstep the bounds of propriety.

At the last meeting of the Board a rule was made requiring each deputy to file a monthly report with the Chief of Patrol. I am not advised whether notice of the rule has been sent to the deputies, but not one such report has been received.

It is believed that such monthly reports will be most useful, both in enabling the Board to present to the public from time to time some statement of the work done and also in accumulating matter to be embodied in the biennial report of the Commission to His Excellency the Governor.

On January 31, before Hon. Hale Rix, in this city, the case of Antoine, a fish dealer, for having the young of fish in his possession, came up for trial, a jury being demanded. After ten minutes' deliberation the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and the judge imposed a fine of one hundred dollars. The case is now on appeal to the Superior Court.

January 6th was spent in visiting the various transportation companies. In every place mention of the purpose of the visit secured the utmost freedom to inspect all hides on hand, and also elicited the highest commendations of the Board of Fish Commissioners and its policy.

January 9th was spent in the Police Court before Judge Rix, a Chinese being on trial for having the young of fish in possession. The man was fined and paid fifty dollars.

On the 13th, 14th and 15th, in response to urgent demands, I visited Cazadero, at the head of Austin Creek to break up a salmon fishery in which the seines extended from bank to bank. The fishery and apparatus were found, but the high water prevented use of the seines and no arrest could be made. The place is being watched, however, and a conviction is anticipated.

On January 24th, in the Police Court of this city, Judge Rix fined four Chinese fifty dollars each for violations of the fish law, and they paid their fines.

The conviction on December 24th of three Chinese before Judge Rix, was mentioned in my last report. The men were fined seventy-five dollars each or as many days in jail. After serving twenty-five days they paid fifty dollars each into the City and County Treasury.

Deputy Thomas Tunstead is especially mentioned for faithfulness in the discharge of his duties.

With settled weather, your deputies expect to resume hostilities, and hope to present a more satisfactory resume of work done, at the next meeting of your Honorable Board

Respectfully submitted, F. P. CALLUNDAN,
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 4, 1890. Chief of Patrol.

The complaints mentioned in the report were taken up one by one and disposed of. Two deputies, Messrs. C. H. Ohm and C. F. Precht, accused of catching trout in Sonoma River during the close season, were examined, and upon admitting that they had killed fish in that river recently, their commissions as deputies were withdrawn. A general discussion of the fish which run up coast streams to spawn was then entered upon. Messrs. Ohm and Precht insisted that the fish were true salmon. The Commissioners and Messrs. Woodbury and Lamotte, two experts, coincided in believing the fish were salmon trout.

Being invited to address the Board upon the matter, Mr. Ramon E. Wilson, attorney for the Board, laid it down as sound doctrine that whether the fish which inhabit the coast streams are trout, salmon trout or salmon, they were the fish held in mind by the Legislature when it prohibited catching them, and the law was undoubtedly capable of enforcement. Mr. Wilson considered it advisable to arrest and prosecute actively all who were found fishing in the small streams for trout.

In answer to a complaint that Mr. Lamotte at Glen Ellen had entirely obstructed Sonoma River with fish traps, that gentleman replied that, acting under permission of the Board at certain hours of the day, he did obstruct the river, as was necessary to secure spawning fish, but the traps were lifted out for many hours each day so that fish might ascend the river.

Mr. Walter E. Bryant of the Academy of Science, was present to advise as to proper game birds to be imported. He thought Bob Whites and wild turkeys best.

Mr. C. F. Stout of Arkansas, from whom Bob Whites had been ordered, was unable to meet the order, and the Board decided to address C. C. Reynolds at Converse Station, Texas, in that behalf. The Board then adjourned, to meet on the first Tuesday of March.

Mr. Totty's Day Fishing.

FOR THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN BY MISS KELLY.

Con knew when Mr. Totty intended to spend a day at the lake as well as a Llewellin setter ever can know anything, and the way he jumped and coaxed and cavorted about, asking to go was a sight to see.

Mr Totty always set his starting time very early. "Call me at four o'clock in the morning" he would say, though he knew very well no one would be stirring at that hour, and he himself had no compunctions about dozing Holy Time away—'twas Sabbath time he chose for his sport, of a necessity, though, be it said to his credit, for the rest of the week, thus unholily begun, he devoted to bringing forth bread by the sweat of his brow.

Mrs. Totty never arose before her usual time, and generally had the satisfaction of seeing her lord well provisioned, as far, at least, as breakfast could go before he set forth for the day's victories.

I tell you frankly that Mrs. Totty had an objection to putting up lunches. She held that all members of all families should be present at all meals or go without. Besides, when Mr. Totty was absent from Sunday dinner it necessitated, in her mind, the saving of the leg of mutton, the regular bill of fare for this day, till Monday.

So, as you may imagine, the Totty family, there being but Mrs. Totty and a young Totty, looked with much disfavor upon these excursions.

Con being the only supporter, it sometimes took considerable courage for Mr. Totty, brave man as he was, to announce his intention of being called at four o'clock, but after he was once up and his preparations made none were braver than he. He could swear about his rubber boots not being in their proper place—(as he was not what you might call a particularly orderly man, proper place with him meant any place where he could readily lay his hand upon them)—he could heap abuses upon the little pail of bread and butter, flanked by a boiled egg and a dry doughnut which Mrs. Totty had hastily gathered from odds and ends in the pantry. He could kick Con out from under the little brown nag's feet with savage grace, and then tell him he could go along, poor fellow, as a salve for his wounds.

And may be you think Con did not understand these things. If you could have seen him lift up a paw scarcely grazed by the kick, and go around on three legs, howling woefully and looking the very picture of suffering doghood, and if you could have seen him recover at the magic words about going and jump all over and under the little brown horse, and then race from the barn to the house and back again just to show how very well and strong the injured leg had become, if you could have seen him cut around for a few minutes you would have concluded that Con had his tricks as well as most of us.

All this time, Mr. Totty has been busy getting his boat, The Belva Lo kwood, rolled up on the frame of the buck board, where he secures it with ropes and straps And when he gets the small horse hitched to this remarkable combination and gets in himself, he is a picture worth seeing.

He sits well toward the middle of the boat, and must lean forward and crane his neck a great deal to see if all is well with the little animal, who guided by the reins coming up over the bright red prow of the boat, goes much as she pleases. But she goes. There seems to be an understanding between Mr. Totty and herself that she is to go when he holds the reins.

Mrs. Totty says she would drive out oftener if that little beast did not go so much like a soap-peddler's cart, and, indeed, at these outings the little nag squares up accounts, as it were, by indulging in a lame sort of walk, which often merges into a stop, and she kicks up in such stiff-legged resentment to the whip, that Mrs. Totty is really afraid to use it.

Con has taken his stand under the vehicle, where he trots along in a most contented fashion, feeling himself the king pin of the concern, of course.

Mr. Totty's hat, a big panama, is tipped far back upon his head so that there is a well-defined semi-circle of brim across his broad shoulders.

The fish poles and the oars nodding out of the stern of the boat keep up a merry chatter of the sports they have had before, and Mr. Totty, when he is well upon the road, the sunshine warming him through and through, the birds and bushes seeming to say to him in unscriptural verse how good it is for man to be alone, forgets the turbulent sentiments about being "treated like a d——d Chinaman" which had been rankling in his bosom.

Just as he had been about to start, there had been a little domestic scene, from which, as the novelists say, we will not lift the curtain, further than to say that the new flies had been mislaid by Mrs. Totty, so Mr. Totty said, and that she refused to become excited and hunt for them.

They were found all safe in the pocket of his hunting jacket, where he, himself, had put them, and you would think peace might have settled upon the scene, and so I suppose it would, had not a rent in this same jacket been found to gape, though Mr. Totty had asked his wife to mend it a week ago. Then he remembered that a button was off his shirt, too, and he expressed himself in his favorite phrase which was his sole remnant of Anti-Chinese League fervor.

An hour's soothing ride brought him to a desolate sheet of water, plumped down in the midst of desolation.

Mr. Totty drives through the tules down to the water's edge, the little nag backs the buckboard into the lake, the boat is rolled off, the steed is loosed, picketed and fed, Con is coerced into playing guard, and Mr Totty, taking the oars is already in the midst of pure enjoyment, for the black bass are plentiful, though shy, and the catfish may some days be snared with a piece of red flannel and other days a catfish can not be caught with the fat of the land.

Besides the flies, Mr. Totty has on hand a can of angle worms, a bottle of grasshoppers and a can of shrimps. He is proud of catching fish when others fail and as soon as those other fishers are far enough away (Mr. Totty is not the only sinner from Bun City) he will try a shrimp and see how that will go. Go? They go like a charm and for half an hour Mr. Totty pulls in bass almost as fast as he can bait his hook.

What has he for bait? Oh, a few worms and hoppers. It's just skill that's all, and Mr. Totty very deceitfully changes his bait with his back to the enemy.

Now a lull. He gets a catfish now and then but fishing from a boat becomes slow.

He pulls in to shore and would eat his lunch with the unsuccessful spread out on the sand but that he remembered the meager lunch he has, (every man has a pride in his wife's cookery) and he strolls off to a little cove, puts on his rubber boots, wades out and begins the attack afresh, taking a mouthful of lunch occasionally from his pocket.

Mr. Totty often says his rubber boots would be three inches too short if they came up to his neck, and true it is he always comes home more or less wet from these trips, and is constantly taking port wine and horse radish for sciatica.

Something must be the matter with the fishing. They have ceased to bite. All the hot afternoon with the sun beating fiercely down upon him he keeps telling himself that they will bite again after the sun down—they always do. Then they might take a notion to bite just before dark. Some of the largest fish he ever caught in his life he got just before starting for home.

He knows very well that Mrs. Totty will sit up till he comes home, keeping his supper hot for him and that she will not forget to tell him of her sacrifice, but he seems in no haste. He finally counts out fifty-four shining bass and stows them carefully in a sack, then seventeen catfish, four of which are large, ugly looking monsters, are placed in another sack

Con, who feels the sharpness of an empty stomach, seems more delighted now than earlier in the day at the prospect of going. Besides, he is always a coach passenger on return trips.

Soon the little party is well under way, vague remembrance of oats in the manger leading speed to the little horse's heels, and Mr. Totty's tuneful whistle making music fitting for the trot.

What is this? As I live Mr. Totty drawing up in front of a saloon and taking out the bag containing the bass, when he is not four blocks from his own house. He may be going to guard against sciatica, but why take in the fish?

There he is amid a crowd of admirers displaying the beauties. Vanity and love of being thought a good fellow, how many have ye ruined!

Mr. Totty you make me weep. I would I had not chosen you for my hero, for with the story tellers power over time and place, I can see Mrs. Totty the next day, seated upon the wood-house steps driving nails into the flat heads of wriggling catfish, giving one turn with Mr. Totty's pocket knife (sharpened up to a proper edge on the stove pipe) around their necks, and then peeling the skins with both hands. One more slit with the knife and a writhing catfish is plumped into a pan of salted water.

Mrs. Totty often says these "pesky" things jump out of the frying pan, even after soaking all night, and she doesn't see why people can't catch something worth catching. It's precious seldom he brings home a bass. She wouldn't call herself a fisher, and spend days and nights at the lake if she had to come home with a few catfish, so small one could scarcely take hold of them to clean them. Besides, she would never clean another catfish, so there!

Mr. Totty with Monday meekness wanted to know why she didn't use the big fellows and leave the little ones in the tub to grow.

And hadn't she taken them all, big and little to make a mess? But he had brought seventeen catfish and—that is, he counted them himself and he guessed he could count, if his wife did know so much.

To have his fishing ability aspersed sat ill upon Mr. Totty's proud achievement and guilty conscience, but he experienced nothing, and went to the tub to see if he could solve the mystery.

That there was another fisher with great skill in the family did not occur to him until he heard the young Totty relate how she had watched Puss that morning sitting near the tub, licking her paws and seeming most unwilling to put them into the water until a big fish appeared at the surface, when quick as a flash he was speared in the back by the claws of Puss, and landed on the grass to struggle there till the black paws were well polished again, and then began the task of biting off her head without being stung by his wicked spines. Puss was far too careful a little mother to provide her kittens with food that had pins in it.

Puss has patience, too, another proof that she stands side by side with Mr. Totty as a fisher, for in the loft of the barn were found the mutilated bodies of nine large catfish.

Mr. Totty vows that if she ever fishes the cream of his fishing again he will hang her higher than Haman, kits and all.

The Sutter City Enterprise says: During the last high water fish were found in Willow Creek, which comes down through the Pass of Buttes. This is something never before known by the oldest settlers hereabouts.

A more open, keen and attractive face than that of Captain Thomas H. Chubb, as shown in his fishing tackle advertisement in another column one would need go far to seek All the honesty in the face is backed up by the excellence of the rods and tackle sent out by the Captain. Send to him for his '90 catalogue, which contains articles by our peerless Petronella, Dr. Henshall, Rev. W. H. H. Murray, Geo. P Goff and other classic writers.

The Salinas Democrat is authority for the statement that during a recent storm a shower of fish fell near Blanco, Monterey County. The fact of fish falling from the cloud is not an unheard of occurrence, but fish such as fell at Blanco were never heard of before. They were of a bright silvery color about two inches in length, and instead of fins they had sharp spines about one-fourth of an inch long where the pectoral and dorsal fins should be. Mr. W. H. Crowe of Blanco, has preserved a couple of them as specimens of great curiousity, as they are unlike any fish he has ever seen or heard of.

THE GUN.

Still Hunting vs. Hounding Deer.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—Still hunting vs. Hounding has been a much mooted question among sportsmen of late, both methods of securing the wily deer having plenty of advocates, the supporters on both sides denouncing their opponent's tactics as unsportsmanlike. They may both be right or both wrong under different circumstances, conditions and surroundings.

The Virginia deer should be found and killed in most instances by the still hunter in comparatively open timber.

The black tail deer of our northwest country is a bird of another feather, possessing wonderful intelligence, of an extremely shy and timid disposition, frequently hunted by the cougar, lynx and wild cat. In our heavily timbered country he is never seen unless on rare occasions Having an extraordinarily keen ear and eye, he knows well how to keep out of sight in his almost impassable forest home. Tracks may be seen by the dozen, but seeing tracks does not mean by any means seeing the maker of them. Very few black tail are killed in this country, and most of them are killed with dogs, although our forests contain vast herds of them.

I met an old hunter on a ferry boat on the Nooksack River lately. He had come to our State from the East, where he had hunted for the market since his boyhood, coming here on the same errand. He was through with our State, he said, having spent four months constantly in the mountains. He had killed in that time only one deer, the only one he had seen in that time. He had seen a few bears and plenty of cougars, but he wasn't out for them. The meat was what he was after. He didn't believe there were any deer in the mountains, or he'd have seen them, as he had hunted early and late, and could always find and kill deer in any locality where he had been heretofore East of the Missouri. He was tired of it, and was returning home disgusted.

I smiled a smile quietly up my sleeve, always feeling glad to lose a neighbor who killed game for a living. I could have to him a tale unfolded, but "ignorance being bliss 'tis surely great folly to be wise" 'Tis an old saw, truly, but contains a wonderful amount of truth in it. So he went his way and I mine, never to see each other again.

I was reading an account of some of the early day hunts the other day, when Ohio, Kentucky and many other now thickly settled States were in their infancy and considered to be then the "wild wooly West," and was much amused at the idea of the wonderful changes which have occurred.

The railways have wiped all such hunting grounds out of existence most completely. An account of a hunt in Kentucky, where a band of fifty deer are quietly feeding within a stone's throw of a pair of hunters and a dog, who refrained from shooting (the hunters did), as they had already seen and killed more deer than they could use. The usual method of hunting being to 'jist knock around and blaze away when one got near enough,"a track being seen, it is followed a short way, and the deer found standing; feeding quietly or rubbing his horns against a tree. Such easy chances would never be offered by our deer, for even if overrun with deer who never saw a hunter nor heard the rifle crack, nor heard the ping of a bullet, they instinctively keep out of sight and possess the faculty of concealment and noiseless movements on all occasions in a wonderful degree.

Many descriptions of deer hunting in Eastern States where deer (one naturally would suppose) would be wilder from being hounded and hunted more, and far more wily, tell how the boys went out and jumped a deer out of a thicket and broke him down, or trailing one to thick timber, they ran into him as he stood watching and listening, or may be "jest ran acrost a ole buck as he stud rubbin his pair of six prong antlers against a limb." Perhaps a bunch of five or six are walked into like walking into a bunch of girls coming home from school, who, timid, shy, but coy, would like to run, but, inquisitive, stay.

Gentlemen, such things, though maybe possible with the Virginia, are impossible with the Columbia deer. You can't go out before breakfast and bring in a deer in time for the daylight meal, like you would go and fetch in a quail or prairie chicken, or go into the hen-house, catch and kill a chicken. Oh, no; if you do go out before breakfast, and won't return till you get your deer, perhaps you will sleep out in the woods on an empty stomach that night.

No wonder the market hunter, who was broken on Eastern deer, weakened at the prospects of a fat living on our Columbia's, and considered it a long time "'tween drinks" The latter animal is a great discourager for the market hunter. Now although still hunting results in very little killing, with a hound we can get a deer within an hour in any direction. I can put a hound into a dozen patches of heavy timber within a mile of my home, and get from one to eight deer from each place. Thank goodness! hounding is prohibited!

Our impenetrable forests and thick undergrowths, heavy and close brush and tangle, keep the hunter out of half of the territory in most of our forests. The deer can multiply and increase for countless ages if not hounded. The deer-hound can enter anywhere and bring the game out where it can be slaughtered with comfort. The scared, affrighted animal running anywhere to get away from the dreaded bay of the dog, paying no heed to danger in front; all his senses excited to get as far as possible from the keen-nosed hound.

There is little danger of our deer being thinned out by still hunting, and if not driven out by hounds, or railways, or the encroachments of civilization among our mountain fastnesses, he will last long beyond the ages of our great grandchildren's children.

The cougar, wolf and lynx hunt them, and kill many of their number, but they do not compare with the numbers that would be killed by hounding, and in the majority of cases the cunning deer will outwit the feline or lupine marauder.

Still hunting is a pleasure to the lover of nature, a fascinating, healthy pastime. To out wit the cunning of the most timid game in existence, to match human reasoning and experience against his cunning, affords the sportsman great delight, but when it comes to a question of meat, why then we can't get along without canine assistance.

That hounding is far more destructive to the game, must be evident; that the same skill or experience is not required, must be acknowledged. Skill with the rifle is the main consideration, aside from the knowledge of proper stands and ability to keep quiet.

Great sport and comfort are to be derived from this style of hunting, also the certainty of getting a deer if a good shot and deer are in the neighborhood, makes the pleasure sweeter, less work and wear and tear are certainties. I will give a brief description of the two styles of getting the wily animal in our county.

Six or eight deer having been located over the line in British Columbia in the heavy timber near Boundary line lake, while still hunting we repaired there with three good deer-hounds who understood their business.

A is placed on a stand on a runway making towards Section One lake, B is placed on a deer trail near the head of Lake Leman, C is placed in an open place in the timber commanding a view of a run or stream which meandered through its bed in the valley, while D takes up his stand in a meadow near a burn along another lake.

The dogs are separated and put onto three different trails, hunting individually. A deer is soon started by one of the dogs, and is run into Boundary lake, crossing the open, flying wildly for the water, a long running shot is made by B, an excellent shot which wounds the deer, and a second shot breaks it down, the 50-calibre bullet killing it instantly.

Another deer is started and run into the burn and meadow near D, who also scores a kill after firing four shots from his Winchester repeater, a 45-60. A doe soon appears to D, as it, frightened and bewildered, emerges from the timber upon the burn, a long shot, but he succeeds in killing it.

The bay of the hounds is heard, one hound in particular, an old veteran, has a deep, rich, musical voice; he roars on in full sight of the quarry, which he drives out, and down the bed of the stream it is vainly looking for a hiding place in the latter, but nothing can escape the nose of the approaching hound, who trails on in full cry, putting the deer out of the shallow stream in full view of C, who is ready, but being an indifferent shot, he misses it as it dashes by and disappears in the brush.

The dogs start several more deer, but fail to drive them out. The hunters not being bloodthirsty, are satisfied with three deer, call the dogs in, and getting a horse from a rancher, pack their game home, two fine buck and one doe.

Four deer having been seen and shot at, several more started, all in the course of two hours, if a day had been devoted to the sport and three different localities worked, two or three times as many deer would have been killed by the four men.

Now the two best shots of that party put in an entire day still hunting where a larger band of deer were wont to roam, and not a deer was seen, although both are as good stalkers as there are in the country, and if deer can be got by still hunting, they can get them. Not only one day, but many days, and parts of days, have they returned home empty handed, having trailed many deer, but failed to get a sight of them.

I will relate a day, when a fine buck was killed, as being one of the best; other bucks and does they have brought in at different times from a still hunt, but the one mentioned will fairly describe any.

A fresh snow had fallen, covering the ground with a soft white mantle, rendering tracking easy and the footfall silent. Much cold and snow having occurred for the past two weeks, the lakes are all frozen over, and surrounded on all sides by deep snow, the deer, therefore, do not go near the lakes. The open places and burns being buried deep under snow, those places are avoided. Wind, snow and storm have put the deer down off the mountains into the green timber, where but little snow is on the ground, and fine shelter from wind and cold afforded. The deer will lie close and hide in the thick jungles and windfalls, penetrating where the hunter cannot.

Three fresh tracks are discovered upon penetrating the thick timber east of section 1 lake. The trail is taken up and followed some distance to the highland or upland. Here are fresh droppings and evidences of having fed in the vicinity. The snow is now tramped down all around. A rabbit jumping in the brush brings our rifles to our faces, but the mistake discovered they are lowered. There is a cougar's track, a hunter ahead of us, it will make hunting still doubly difficult.

There is a lynx track. He also wants to get his share of the meat.

Under a low lying tree trunk goes the trail so low that we wonder the deer could pass under. We follow, but now the deer have separated; the big track goes to our left while the other two keep to the right. We follow the big fellow, but soon it is joined by the others.

The trail approaches nearly to the edge of the heavy timber, then circles around clean back within a few yards of where we first started to trail, but keeps more east. We keep along quiet as two Indians trailing a coon. Now the track enters the thick brush where we can't get in without making noise enough to scare all the deer out of the county.

As we imagine they are hiding there, we separate, one passing around the jungle (which appears to be some 200 yards through) to the west, while the other goes east agreeing to circle clean around if possible, and meet on the other side, to discover if the track comes out anywhere.

We soon meet again, having found no track out. Now it is settled to a certainty that the deer are hid in the midst of the close underbrush and jungle.

Whether they have discovered us or are hiding from four footed hunters we know not, but know they will not stir unless driven out.

We select a rather promising place for an entrance being more open than the rest of jungle, one goes in while the other passes around to where the deer entered, taking up his stand there as the most likely place for them to come out if they do so at all.

Each cautioning the other not to shoot unless the deer is plainly seen, as accidents frequently happen where two hunters are separated, one mistaking a movement or dark object for game, when possibly it may be the other creeping or crouching hunter.

Now entering a thick windfall or jungle of 200 yards in extent seems easy enough in print, but the reality is a stern hardship, a slow, laborious process, hard on the clothing and cuticle, and very trying to the patience.

It is needless to tire the reader with a description of the big trunks buried in snow to be climbed over, or the thick growth of vine maples covered with snow, a touch shaking the damp article all over one, filling coat, collar boot-tops, sleeves, etc., the encounters with "devil's clubs, miserable weeds covered with sharp needle like spines which break off and stay in the flesh like the festive cactus. Thorns with sharp strong points which made things very warm for a silent man, and many other unpleasant obstacles, suffice it to say these things were overcome after about an hour's hard scrambling and the thickest of the jungle reached. Here or very close by should be the deer, but as nothing is to be seen for a foot on any side of us, we can't use our rifle any way, so we will just make a grand racket and a hideous pow wow and try and give our partner a shot, and will drop down in this soft bed of snow out of the way of any flying bullets, as he shoots like lightning, and the whole chamber can be emptied into a band of deer so quick that it will make ones head swim. If we can scare the deer enough some of them may rush out with a racket, or again they may not get out at all, or may go out as quietly as they came in, so quietly that not a sound will be heard. However, we jump upon a log so the noise will reach further, and seem louder, distending our broad bosom to the utmost, till the healthy full sized lungs are full of wind. We take a young tree in each hand, and roar at the top of our lungs, at the same time stamping like mad on the dead, hollow trunk with both feet, which we had previously cleaned of snow, snapping the two young trees violently together, we flatter ourselves we made a champion noise. A rush like that of a pheasant whirring is heard, as one deer which doubtless had been very close to us at the time of our outburst, makes direct for our Tillicum.

Down with a dull and sickening thud we drop into the "white, beautiful snow" which envelopes us in its cold and clammy embrace, compelling us to rear our head aloft to get our wind, which one sudden immerson had caused to forsake our former boasted powerful lungs.

Bang goes the rifle of our Tillicum, a 50-110 Winchester Express, which has a beautiful sonorous voice, which rings sharp and clear with a peculiar roar.

No more shots following, we know that only one deer has gone his way and that one lies dead before him, or more shots would have followed.

We pick ourselves up, shake the beautiful show off our person, pick a peck of stuff out of each boot leg, a same amount imperial measure out of our coat collar, our pockets are emptied one after the other, our hat picked up and scraped out with a young maple.

When we notice our Tillicum's merry voice telling us to come out and see the "boss buck," when we have got enough snow out of our ears to hear plainly and freed our mouth sufficiently to answer, our joy is exhibited by means of a yell, which threatens to dislocate our collar bone, or blow up another lung as we solemnly declared to the partner afterward that we had exploded one lung when yelling, to scare out the deer.

But privately we don't mind stating now our last joyful yell was not so much one of joy at the success of his shot as for the termination of our travel in the thick jungle and snow banks. We get out after repeating our experiments upon entering but somewhat easier and faster as all restraint is now removed and noise is no object.

Tillicum is seated upon a splendid big buck, his arms crossed upon his chest, his gun carelessly reclined against his shoulder, he indifferently looks around at everything but the buck. His pose and general bearing denoting an absolute carelessness, such fine bucks one would infer to be a regular thing to kill most any time, same as you would pick your teeth, a matter of extreme small moment.

But his grand attitude not striking us dumb or "speechless", we enjoy a hearty laugh over our tribulations in the wilderness, and fall to admiring and discussing the merits of our noble quarry.

The other two deer had acted differently from this one, and had as they usually do when alarmed, quietly got out without giving a months notice.

This one had as luck would have it rushed headlong out in Tillicums arms, where he almost had to jump aside to escape its rush.

His 50 caliber ball had pierced its brain square between the eyes, but about 1½ inches higher than the line of the eyes, the most fatal shot of all, and most satisfactory, instant and sudden death being always the result.

The head being well back at the time (as it rushed beneath the limbs) to prevent striking the branches overhead the ball broke up inside the skull, the brain being scattered completely, some pieces of bullet came out back of the ears, while others came out back of the neck. Truly, a terrible wound. This ended one of many similar still hunts.

Tillicum many times since has chaffed us in the presence of others about our style of driving out deer, and diving into snow banks.

But we always loftily reply in our superior way, "That we are the only truly original deer driver."

The above process of getting deer out of a jungle is not patented, and while I would not recommend it to others as being the most sportsmanlike, still they are at liberty to use it if they can find no other way. If they are satisfied I surely ought to be.

Still hunting, as seen from the above, has more hardships attached and a smaller percentum of chances than hounding, and in our country in particular, if hunted in no other way, deer will mostly live happily till they die at a good old age, surrounded by a large and interesting family. JAY SEE EN.

A New Oliver in the Field.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—I suppose field trial week was a gala week for all lovers of setters and pointers. It was a hard blow to me in not being able to attend, family sickness preventing. I eagerly await the reports of the trials, and I do hope the best dog won and that you all had a very pleasant week. I saw a letter written by you last week to Mr. Will Howard, now a resident of San Diego, formerly from the Western States. I formed the acquaintance of Mr. Howard since my return here, and I find him to be a sportsman of the first water, a jolly good fellow and one of the best posted men on the Llewellin setters I have had the pleasure to meet, and another thing, I have found out that a quail goes into his bag most every time his butt plate strikes his shoulder. I have had several pleasant hunts with him in the hills near our home.

I will tell you of a little hunt I had with him last Friday. The early train from San Diego brought friend Howard and his new 7½ 12 guage Parker hammerless. After a morning salute he took from his pockets a book, and pointing to some writing on a leaf said, "Read this," and here is what it said: "I bet Mr. McCarty $5 that I can go to Pacific Beach tomorrow and bring back thirty-six quail killed on the wing between the first and last trains to and from the beach."

"Well," I said, "I will be ready and with you in a jiffy."

It took but a few moments to lace up my hunting boots, don my coat with a good supply of shells, and open the kennel door and call out my old standby Romeo, and we sallied out for the foothills. We soon found a small covey which flushed and flew over a hill and we expected to find them in a small canyon, but we were disappointed, not a trace could we find of them, and after one hour's hard work we gave them up and struck out to find a second covey, which we found after a long hunt. It was a good large covey, and the birds were very wild, getting up at long range and going like a bullet, but we succeeded in bagging a few. We hunted hard till one o'clock, when we retired for refreshments beside a cool running stream and counted our bags, which netted only eighteen.

"It is no use," said Howard. "Luck is against me. McCarty will 'set 'em up' on my $5."

"Don't be too sure," said I. We have two long hours yet before we start for the station."

Well, after we took a good rest and washed our throats down with a nice drink from the cool stream we started out again. The writer took the side hill with Romeo, and Howard preferred the level ground. I soon heard Howard's voi saying "Look out. Romeo is froze stiff just ahead of you." And sure enough. I was soon beside him, when up went a brace and they both went to grass. When I ordered Romeo to fetch dead bird a few jumps brought him up stiff again, and two more quail bit the dust I will not tell you here how many quail were bagged on that side hill; modesty prevents. Then again, my old friend, J. K. Orr, might see this article and he would know I was singing the old "chestnut," but I will say that Romeo made some beautiful points and every bird killed was nicely retrieved. Friend Howard stood in the canyon below and said he enjoyed the sport, and one of the first questions he asked after we started for the station was, "What will you take for Romeo?" My answer was, "That question has been asked me many times. My only answer is, Not for sale."

Oh I almost forgot to tell you that Mr. Howard went to San Diego with a fine bag of quail, and counted out enough to satisfy the referee that Howard would "set 'em up" on McCarty's $5.

C. A. Loud.

A Candidate for Field Trial Judge.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—We had just emerged from the brush and tangle surrounding Elk Lake on to the trail, with our guns and dogs, each of us carrying on our back a goodly load of ducks, when we ran across a specimen, in fact a genius, the specimen being one of the neighboring ranchers' help.

Standing over six feet in height, dressed in a suit of homespun, faded, patched and frayed, the pants reaching to high water mark, a pair of twinkling bead like eyes shone forth from a mass of fiery red hair which covered the entire face, projecting out in front and on either side of his face in wild disorder, a coon skin cap covering a shock of hair of the same fiery hue.

Upon perceiving us he dropped the butt of his gun into soft mud, which ancient piece of ordnance stood at full cock, fondly resting one huge palm upon the muzzle, then the other palm upon it, he scraped the ground with his foot.

"How do, strangers."

"Good day."

"Bin huntin?"

"Yes, sir."

"Got right smart o' ducks."

"Yes, fair."

"You live hyur?"

"No."

"You've got a right pert gun."

"Yep."

"Taint got no hammers, nuther."

"Nop."

"Kill fur?"

"Yep"

"Them bird dawgs?" pointing to the setters.

"Yep."

"Do they uns bark?"

"Nop."

"No good; you want a dawg as will bark at the birds. Si Willis has the best bird dawg in this hull kentry; he went aout last night and killed twenty-nine pheasants; he got five at one shot. "Oh, yes, Si is the Jim candy shot, and he's jest got the boss gun, too. I seen him kill a pheasant on the very top of the highest tree in that timber yonder. Si won't sell that gun for love or money."

"But what good are them red dawgs if they don't bark?"

"They point the birds."

"They what."

They find the birds and point them with their noses.

"En! What's yer givin' us," neighbor?

Sure.

"Honest injin."

You bet.

"Wall, I never," by gum, I kin hardly b'lieve you uns. Lem Weiser would give five dollars for a dawg thet will do thet, then he could kill em all a heap, thet's what he would.

But you musn't shoot birds sitting or standing, and only on the wing when they are flying.

"Eh!"

A barking dog is a pot hunter's dog, and no true sportsman will shoot a bird when sitting.

"Kin you uns do thet? cos ef yer kin hit will be a new wrinkle in these parts. Let's hunt up a bird and you fellers sh o' it a flyin.

Suiting the action to the words, we sent the dogs ahead, and one of them soon stiffened on a point into the brush, backed by the other dog, moving up, up, whirred with a great roar a cock grouse.

The choke bore boomed, and down like a wet rag the bird fell, limp and lifeless, a cloud of feathers floating off on the breeze. At a wave of the hand the obedient dog brings the bird in.

"Wall naouw, ef thet wan't the slickest piece o' work I ever did see Ye'r chained lightnin' stranger."

After looking carefully at the bird he took the hammerless gun in hand and examined carefully every particular, squinting along the rib and into the barrels. He next turned to the dog, we expecting to see him look down their nostrils to see if they too were choke bored

"Wall, boys ef thet don't beat all," ejaculates the now thoroughly puzzled rancher. "sech doin's not havin' been heard tell on in the experience of the oldest setter.

As he turned to leave us after a pressing invitation to go down to the store with him, the engineer asked him if there were many bears around.

"Wall, yes; thar's right smart o' bars mosyin eround on the Korduroy. I seen several tracks thar this mornin'.

"Jim Bowman had a narrer escape from a old she a few days ago. He wus a slashin' in that piece o' timber acrost the tel graf road a-thinkin' o' nuthin' except what he was a-workin' at, when a big ole she bar riz right up elongside o' him, and reached for him.

"Wall, as Jim says, says he. 'Ef I wan't took all of a heap. My bar riz up on my ole scalp and I got as weak as I did the time I had the typhoid fever. Yer could hev erknocked me over with a straw.'

"Wall, I jest climbed aout o' thar in a hurry, I tell yer, and no mistake. After a-runnin' till I got to the edge o' the slashin', and jest as I wus a-climbin' eround a big root of a old fir I'll be gol darned ef I didn't run kersplunk into another big bar, the he, I guess it wus; anybow, he wus jest as urprised as I wus, but I didn't know it at the time. In course I went one way and he went the other, but I didn't stop a-runnin' till I got home, all aout o' breath, and all the time I kerried my ax in my hand.

"Wall, I used to hev lots o' grit, but sence that encounter with those ole 'no count' bars I've bin no good.

"Yaas, neighbor, there's a power o' bars all through the kentry, and don't you go and forget it, nuther," remarked the six-foot "innocent" mass of humanity as he shambled off.

Not till his shock of magenta hued hair, surmounted by the coon skin cap, had disappeared over a ridge like a setting sun did we recover our equanimity and proceed on our homeward way.
